[Written for the BRAINERD TRIBUNE.]

I do not ask you to remember—
I defy you to forget—
In your halls of brilliant splendor
There will mem'ry haunt you yet;
Ev'ry moment will remind you,
Ev'ry hour remembrance bring;
There, remorse perchance will find you,
O'er thy joys its venom fling.

How I labored ne'er to grieve you,
Loved, and hoped alas in vain;
I go since thus you bid me leave you,
Ne'er on earth to meet again.
When from earthly flatterers turning,
Into solitude you flee;
When your fevered brow is burning,
Then alone you'll think on me.

Should your faithless friends forsake you,
Sorrows o'er your head may hang;
Thoughts of me will overtake you,
To those sorrows add a pang.
I do not ask you to remember—
I defy you to forget—
In your halls of brilliant splendor
There will mem'ry haunt you yet.

Appointments for the N. P. Railroad.

From the Pioneer we learn that Mr. Charles W. Meade, of Omaha, President of the Omaha Smelting Works, has been appointed General Superintendent of the Northern Pacific Railroad, and will enter upon his duties on the 15th inst. Mr. Mead is a prominent railroad man, and for several years was Assistant General Superintendent of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Also that Mr. J. S. Sherman, the well known landscape gardener, and, until the great fire, the Superintendent of Parks in Chicago, has been appointed chief of the Agricultural and Horticultural Bureau of the North Pacific road. He arrived in this city on Monday, and leaves this morning for a trip over the North Pacific. Mr. Sherman expressed considerable surprise at seeing farmers all through the southern part of this State sowing wheat. He says the frost is nearer out of the ground in Minnesota than it is in northern Illinois, and the season farther advanced.

That Old Woman.

The newspapers all over creation, and the rest of the world, have been claiming the honor of having in their respective localities the oldest person living—mostly a female—and now it's our turn. Some have got up as high as 132 years, but that will not win, as near as we can figure it. We have interviewed an old Chippewa maiden, who in fact looks quite old, and confesses herself to have lived a good while. She spoke no English—we no Indian; but, by considerable sharp signing we speedily arrived at conclusions. She said she had lived 2,364 moons, which would place her age, beyond a doubt, at 197 years, the 22d of February. We admit this is only an estimate, but the probability of the thing is very probable indeed. She had buried seven husbands and been divorced four times. She was an own cousin to Pocahontas, and sister to Black Hawk—as near as we could make our signs come out—and was at Philadelphia during the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Of course she finds no trouble in reading ordinary print without specs, and is an expert knitter. The old lady converses freely, and although her educational advantages were very limited during her girlhood her conversation is quite interesting, not to say edifying—as near as we could tell by the signs—and she walks two miles and back nearly every day to the postoffice to get her mail—feeling a deep interest in the adjustment of the Alabama Claims. That's all.

Boston Colony.

The advance guard of the coming Colony that is to settle at Detroit Lake—ninety-one miles west of this place on the Northern Pacific Road—has arrived in the form of some forty or fifty members thereof. They are nearly all heads of families, and come thus early in the season, in order to get in a spring crop. The grand body will be along in a few weeks, which will probably be composed of over a thousand persons great and small. It is almost strictly New England in its cast, and will be composed of first class citizens. They are coming to a choice country, and we hope every blessing may attend them in their efforts to secure to themselves comfortable and independent homes.

How to Put Out a Fire.

FRIEND RUSSELL—Now that the snow is disappearing and the dry weather about to set in, it behooves the inhabitants of Brainerd to guard well against fire. Take, we will say, the bodies of two very small pine trees, trim them, and nail pieces of boards between them, about a foot apart, for a ladder, to be placed in such a position that they will reach, on the side of the house, to the top of the roof. Next, secure your ladder well, by spiking it to the house.

To walk securely on the roof, take a stout, wide board—one, or more—so as to reach the whole length of the roof. Nail this, for a walk, on the peak of your house, securing it well by stout cleats on both sides. Now, in an emergency a child, even, can go up the ladder and on the platform above. A barrel of water, well salted, is very handy.

All a person has to do is to run up the ladder with an empty pail, and dash on the water, as the flames burst out of the roof. Now any handy person, with a saw, ax, hammer and nails, can rig up the ladder and platform in a few hours, and thus render any one able to extinguish any ordinary conflagration on his premises. If any one objects to the upper platform, then make two small ones with narrow boards, on each side of the roof near the top. I hope our townsmen will make no delay, but take this matter in hand promptly, and thus secure themselves, as much as possible, against any future ravages of the Fire Fiend. Yours truly,

JEREMY JABSAMY.

Cold nights and warm days is just what's the matter now.

From Moorehead.

Mr. Hanson, of H. A. Hills' establishment here, returned a few days ago from a week's visit to Moorehead. He reports rather lively times in that country, but says there are a great many men there who are idle, so to speak, waiting for the full opening of spring, and the onward movement of the road west. A few of the business houses there are doing a good trade, while others do comparatively little; society is rather muddled as yet, and law is only run by public opinion. Living there is dearer than in Brainerd—board is from 7.50 to 9.00 per week. Great interest is felt in the to be location of the town on the line of the road at its crossing of the Missouri River, and very many are simply hanging about till some knowledge of the point of its crossing may come to light, when there will be a grand pell-mell rush. Mr. Hanson is fully of the belief that Brainerd is the best town on the line, so far, by great odds, in every respect.

Mail Service on the N. P. R. R.

We are happy to record the fact that we are to have hereafter, mail service on the North Pacific line from Duluth to Moorehead—dating from the 10th inst. Every body along the route will also be glad, for the absence of it had become a grievance, almost sore in its character. Conductor Sherwood had the honor of bringing the first mail over the road on Wednesday last, and acted, we believe, in the double capacity of conductor and mail agent.

Broke Jail.

On Wednesday evening last, about dark, and during the time Sheriff Gurrell and Deputy Cassety were gone to supper, the prisoners in the jail went through that institution and betook themselves to tall timber. They were all in, charged with larceny of various kinds and degrees, and were committed for their appearance at the next October term of the District Court. There were five of them—John Langdon, John Chisholm, John Lynch, Patrick Morrow and Charles Monroe. The first two had too much to do with a lot of blankets that came up missing last winter; Lynch and Monroe, for implication in the trunk mystery, and Morrow, for stealing a watch. They made their exit through the floor of the rear of the building—the day time quarters—and crawling out from under the building—it being set up some ways from the ground. The sheriff is of opinion, from the appearance of the orifice, that they were assisted by some outside party, cutting from underneath the building, while the prisoners were provided with a case-knife saw above. The cells were carefully inspected daily, by the sheriff, and although the greatest vigilance was used, it proved of no avail. The whole transaction was done through with inside an hour, and although the floor was made of two by four pieces set edgewise and spiked, there appears to have been no spikes in the way of their cutting. There can no blame be attached to the sheriffs, so far as we can learn, and outside of the principle of the thing, it is a god-send that the county and community are clear of them.

Minor Locals.

Dan. Shumway, the notorious character who shot and killed Campbell recently at the Junction, stabbed a man to death at Moorehead a few days since, named Devitt—so report has it.

LATER—Since the above was in type we learn that Devitt is not dead, but is recovering—though stabbed severely in several places. The fight resulted from a game of cards, and a regular knock down first took place, and they were parted, after both had been severely punished. Not long after the fray, Shumway again attacked Devitt with a knife.

Captain Houghton, owner of the steamer Pokagoma, which was frozen up last fall, twenty miles above the mouth of Sandy River, passed up last Monday to look after his steamer, and bring her down as soon as the ice goes out. He expects to make one or two trips from here to Pokagoma Falls this spring, in bringing out the lumbermen in that upper country, when he will lay her up till early autumn again; then she will be run during the fall months in taking up the Pinery supplies for next winter's lumbering operations.

More men have been in the city during the past week than we ever saw before in Brainerd. At evening time our streets have been almost jammed at times, and our business houses have been inundated with trade.

The American House with two lots of ground, billiard table and hotel outfit is offered for sale—Capt. Russell, the proprietor, designing to change his location. This is one of the most desirable business corners in Brainerd, and is beautifully located—corner Fifth and Laurel. A great bargain can be had for ready cash.

We claim that the Brainerd TRIBUNE is the finest appearing newspaper in Minnesota, typographically speaking. We think our Brainerd folks may well feel proud of the TRIBUNE and lend it a hearty support, as we doubt not they will—judging the future by the past.

Mr. H. A. Hills has bought in St. Paul a magnificent rig in the shape of an express wagon, a draught horse, and outfit complete, for delivering all goods bought of him to the homes of his customers in any part of town. This outfit—which will be a most wonderful convenience to our citizens—cost him over $600. He has also employed an experienced and careful man to take charge of the delivery department. Now, says he, come along with your orders and have goods delivered without other expense, labor, or trouble.

Last Monday was the first real rainy day of the season here, It rained steadily all the time, and closed the performance in the evening by a grand display of heaven's fire works in the shape of lightning accompanied by heavy thunder.

We have a power job press coming from New York, and when it arrives—in a week or ten days—just try the TRIBUNE Job Office for nice printing and lots of it. Don't be afraid of overrunning us with orders, for work is our hold, and good job printing is a "falling" we have.

The Chicago House is having its upper half-story heightened to a full story.

John O. Sargent, of New York, now in London, has notified the Mayor and Corporation of Duluth that as the largest owner of Minnesota Point, he proposes to institute proceedings for the recovery of immense damages he has sustained in the digging of a canal across the Point and the construction of the dike across the Bay, as soon as he returns home to this country. Verily Duluth has a stormy time in "establishing."

Mr. Clapp, late of the firm of Kimball & Clapp, of the St. Charles Restaurant in this place, has gone to Denver, where he will engage in business permanently. Our friend Kimball, however, will continue to run the St. Charles, and we are sure he will fully sustain its good reputation as a first class eating house.

Mr. L. B. Davis, while digging a well on his farm in the town of Getty, ten miles south of this place, last week, found pure stone coal, at a depth of eighteen or twenty feet from the surface. It is believed there is plenty of coal in that locality at no great depth.—[Sauk Center Herald.]

The Northwestern Hotel which was burnt down (or up) in the recent conflagration, has been revived again by Mr. Combs, in name and style at least, at the stand on Front street recently known as the California House.

The following names for Stations along the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad have been permanently adopted in place of those now in use, to wit:

Withington, for Reno.
Motley, for Welwood.
Aldrich, for Lindel.
Perham, for Negawnoma.
Anthon, for Milton.
Lake Side, for Marion.
Hawley, for Bethel.
Glyndon, for St. P. & Pac. Junc. with N. P. R. R.

The above change "reminds us of a little story." A waiter brought a guest a piece of very rare meat. The guest asked what he called that. "Rare beef," replied the waiter. "Well," replied the guest, "just take it back and 'rare' it again." And that's the way we feel about the "change."

Kate Fisher is playing Mazeppa in St. Paul to crowded houses.

Miss Edith O'Gorman, an escaped Nun from St. Joseph's Convent, Hudson City, New Jersey, is ventilating things on the subject of Nunneries, and life in a convent, in a series of lectures in St. Paul and Minneapolis. She draws crowded houses, and is highly spoken of by the papers as a finished speaker, and master of her subject.

See the advertisement elsewhere of the Inman and Cunard line of steamships, which is changed in this issue. This is the oldest, best, quickest and safest line of steamships that sail between this country and Europe, and all persons desiring passage tickets to or from any part of Europe should certainly buy them on this celebrated line. B. S. Russell, at E. W. Clark & Co's Bank, Duluth is agent for this line. The rates of passage is given in the advertisement.

We understand that the printers of Duluth have been on a "strike" this week—what they "struck" for, or who was "hit," we did not learn. More trouble.

A grand scheme is on foot whereby the California House and lot is to be raffled off. Tickets are placed at 5.00. See advertisement.

We are indebted to John M. Fulton, Esq., for a copy of the Monthly Journal, (published by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers at Cleveland, Ohio,) for the present month. It is full of good and interesting reading for all, and must be of especial interest to all locomotive engineers.

Harry Brintnell, who runs on the train from here to Duluth, is one of the valuable men on the road—trustworthy, active and industrious. He is always at his post, and is a man of superior business qualifications. We feel sure that he is on the way to promotion as a railroader, and we hope the time may not be far away when he will hold a train by the horns.

We have received from the Agricultural Department at Washington some cabbage and turnip seed, and orders for these vegitables will be received at this office from and after October 1st next, provided the bugs deal gently with us.

PUB. DOCS.—Hon. John T. Averill will please accept our thanks for several public documents he has kindly sent us.

Political.

CINCINNATI, April 10.—The Chronicle's Washington special says an important conference was held there yesterday, between Liberal Republicans and leading Democrats, in and out of Congress, to reach some understanding by which co-operation might be secured at the Presidential election. The Liberals insisted that it would be indispensible to nominate two Republican Reformers at the convention at Cincinnati, and that they could not put forward a ticket divided in Politics.

The Democrats urged that as the Columbus ticket was composed of one Republican and one Democrat, the Liberals ought to accept it as a compromise. The Liberals would not yield their original position, so finally the Democrats signified their willingness to take Judge Davis and ex-Governor Curtin, and requested the Liberals to advise their friends that this was the extremest point the Democrats would yield. The Democrats said that with a ticket composed of other than Davis and Curtin they would lose the vote of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Illinois and Indiana. Among the prominent Democrats who took part in the conference were Geo. H. Pendleton, Gen. Morgan, Dan. Voorhees, and ex-Senator Doolittle.

The California Earthquake.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Letters from Lone Pine say the whole of Owen's valley has been moved southward 14 feet. Over 7,000 shocks have occurred to date, and still continue, but not with sufficient force to damage.

A Strange Visitor.

As we entered our office the other day,
We found a little chip-monk, strange to say,
running about the office-floor—
He came in at a crack, and went out at the door.

What the little scamp wanted in so strange a place
We couldn't imagine, as we gave him chase,
But he probably wanted to see the house,
Or to "buckle on" to an office mouse.

He might have had an eye to business and crumbs,
For he had the ink-roller 'tween his fingers and thumbs—
His nose was all black, his feet all "bedab'd,
He'd been in the ink-keg, we know he had.

He'd pawed the type-boxes all around into "pi,"
Then probably thought, "how is that for high!"
If he ever comes back to this office again,
You bet the little scamp will say, "amen."

TERRIBLE times exist among our national politicians, and our national parties just now, and in fact "the devil's to pay, and no pitch hot."

Greely,
Davis,
Doolittle,
Curtin,
Pendleton,
Black,
Tom,
Dick, and Harry,

all want to be Presidents, or Vice-Presidents, or at least become a big toad in the puddle in some capacity. All the parties, parts of parties, old parties, defunct parties, new parties, no parties, and the whole political rag-tag-and-bob-tail of the nation seem bent upon having at least one finger in the political pie this time. All the platforms and names for parties that can be hatched up, to catch the favor of voters, are thrust forward. There is the Republican, straight,

Ditto, crooked,
Democratic, unterrified,
Ditto, terrified,
Liberal, a new garment out of old cloth;
Reform, which is too "thin,"
Temperance, an unpopular name, and we cannot tell how many more, but that is only a commencement. There is a heart-rending struggle all around. Democrats are still trying to get half a loaf rather than no bread by coaxing the Cincinnati Convention to mix with them and go halvers in the game. The other political parasites are snapping at their heels and exclaiming, "we're here, too, and want a hand in!" Meanwhile, the Republican party, proper, is pursuing the even tenor of its way, never fearing that order can grow out of such disorder, and calmly relying upon their past works for the future verdict of the American people.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention is hereby called to meet at the Academy of Music, in the city of Minneapolis, on WEDNESDAY THE EIGHTH OF MAY next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of electing ten Delegates to the Republican National Convention, to be held in Philadelphia, on Wednesday June 5th, 1872. Also to nominate five Presidential Electors, and a candidate each for the office of State Auditor and Clerk of the Supreme Court.

The Committee would suggest that the delegates to the State Convention from the several Congressional District should select District Committees empowered to call the next Congressional Convention.

The apportionment of delegates is made upon the basis of the Republican vote of last fall for Governor, as follows: One delegate for each 250 votes, or major fraction thereof, and also one delegate for each county at large.

Republican State Central Committee.
Dated Minneapolis, March 1, 1872.

—A western editor, during the late frozen period, thus accounts for the dearth of local news in his paper: "Our reporter started out this afternoon in search of local items. After an unusually long absence he returned but, alas! in a most deplorable condition—frozen stiff as a poker and minus one ear. We stood him up against the wall behind the stove, and ordered the 'devil' to pile on the fuel. We finally succeeded in prying his mouth open with the ash shovel, when a dozen or so of words fell out upon the floor and broke into pieces. We set the 'devil' at work putting the pieces together, and he finally reported the following as the result of his labor: "Coldest day of the season; everything frozen stiff; saloon keepers selling hot whiskies by the stick."

—A facetious individual not many miles from Danbury, sought to "draw his wife out" by pretending to be found dead with an empty laudanum bottle by his side. And that lady was a good deal shocked at first, but having read a needle introduced into the human flesh would indicate on its surface whether the flesh was dead, and being a woman of eminent practicability, she at once armed herself with a polished instrument of nearly two inches growth, and, with throbbing heart and bated breath introduced a good share of its length into the deceased. What the surface of the needle really indicated was not learned, as he took it with him as he passed through the sash.—Rushford Journal.

—A young man was recently robbed of $4,000 at Omaha, and wrote about it to his father at Fort Wayne, Ind. The father went to bed with his mind full of the subject, and straightway dreamed that he was in a certain room at a hotel at Omaha where two men were talking over the particulars of the robbery and dividing the plunder. He noticed the number of the room, went down stairs, and learned from the register that the occupants were John B. Wilson and James Frank. On waking up he immediately wrote to his son to ascertain if these persons were at that hotel on the date of the robbery, and if so to have them arrested. His instructions were followed and the money was recovered.—Stillwater Messenger.

WAITING FOR THE EVENING TRAIN.

The following beautiful sketch was written by the late Thurlow Weed Brown, for the Winchester Chief in 1859:

"The speaker was the oldest of a crowd of people, moving by restless about the depot. His form was bowed with years and hard toil; his hair was white and his hand tremulous. There was that in his countenance and manner which always wins confidence and respect, and brings up a pleasant dream of a substantial farm-house, a worthy family and a life teaching in the principles of industry, integrity and honor.

"And the old man will not wait long for the train is sweeping in on the down grade. The hours wear away. The sun is going down, and the shadows are already thickening over the track beyond. And there is but one change the in route—that by the deep river which rolls between this and the other shore.

"More than twenty years ago he received a through ticket over the strait and narrow way, whose terminus is in the eternal city. Death is the mighty engine, and for thousands of years it has swept this down grade, hourly with loaded trains. It stops at every station.

"We are all waiting for the train. There are the morning and the noon trains; those filled with the children; with the pleasure-seeking and the sorrow-stricken. We know not the time when due, but with noiseless speed they are coming. 'All aboard!' has a startling thrill, and the gentle good night is spoken not again, for no passenger returneth."

—At Carbondale, Pa. on yesterday trestle work of a coal breaker, one hundred feet hight broke down, carrying with it a number of men and boys, who were at work on it at the time. The crushed and broken timbers from some cause almost immediately caught fire and it was with the greatest difficulty that the breakers were saved from destruction. Two men and a boy were fatally injured, and others are believed to have perished in the flames.

—The monk who was recently tried in Rome for murder has been found guilty, and sentenced to twenty years' hard labor. This is the first instance of a monk being tried by an ordinary criminal court. Henceforth in the Italian States the clergy are on the same footing before the law with other citizens. The killing was not denied, but drunkness was pleaded in his defense.

—In "A Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue," published in 1785, we find the saying, "The nine of diamonds is the curse of Scotland," thus accounted for: "Diamonds imply royalty, being ornaments to the imperial crown, and every ninth king of Scotland has been observed for many ages to be a tyrant and a curse to that country."

—Dr. Prime, in his "Travels in Japan," says: "Passing through a street and seeing some forty or fifty coppers hanging on as many nails in front of a shop, (the copper coin has a hole in the centre) I inquired what they were there for, and was told that they were placed there by the shopkeeper to save time and trouble in answering the calls of mendicants. When one came along he simply took a copper and passed on, never abusing the charity of the shopkeeper by taking two.

—We are not surprised that Theodore Tilton should close a notice of Rev. B. F Barrett's new book entitled, "New views of Hell," with expressive words like these: "Save us from the God that damns!" His abandonment of purity and virtue to become the champion of Mrs. Woodhull, is enough to make any man dread "the God who damns" Poor Theodore! may his "gay gazelle" eventually lose her hold upon his heart and mind that he may escape the damnation that is so great a terror to him.

—The nuptial usages and phrases now common in England are chiefly of Roman origin. It was a rule among the Romans that the bride should be brought to her husband with a covering or veil. The ceremony of putting on the wedding-ring was imported into that country by the Normans.

FUTURE PRICE OF BREADSTUFFS.

The New York Daily Bulletin states the following facts on this important question, which will be read with interest by the farmers of Northern Minnesota:

"First. That notwithstanding the receipts of wheat have been light at the lake ports during the last few months, it is partly because of the lack of storage room. The storage room capacity of Chicago was diminished by the fire, and the quantity of corn seeking a market has been so large that the storage room for this, as well as other lake ports east of here has been monopolized by that grain to the exclusion of wheat.

Second. That notwithstanding the stock of wheat in the lake ports is less than it was last year, the difference is more than made up by the excess in eastern stocks, and that the stock in New York and on the Erie canal, for instance, is nearly double what it was at this time last year.

Third. That the favorable aspect of the season in both England and France has almost stopped the orders from those countries, and that the export demand in New York has fallen off very largely. The total exports of wheat from New York for the week ending Friday, March 22, were only 18,000 bushels, while for each of the four previous weeks it had averaged about 140,000 bushels, showing a decline of 70 per cent. in the rate of during the last ten years.

In addition to the foregoing facts, the prospects of an extraordinary crop in California and the present favorable weather for planting in that country, must be taken into consideration.

—A Worthy Quaker thus wrote: "I expect to pass through this world but once. If therefore, there can be any kindness I can do to any fellow-being, let me do it now. Let me not defer nor neglect it, for I will not pass this way again." Were all to act thus many would be made happy.

REFERENCE TO THE PRESS.

[illegible] the power of the press [illegible] the following quotation from the judgment. An inveterate novel-reader speedily becomes a literary roue and this is possible at a very early period of life. It now and then happens that a youth of seventeen becomes acquainted with an intellectual idiot or an educational cripple by living habitually upon the soft, enfeebling cream or the poisoned stimulants that are sold so readily under the titles of tales and novels. An apprenticeship at a reform school in literature, with a spare diet of statistics, and a hard bed of mathematical problems, and the simple beverage of plain narrative, is much needed for the recovery of such insane and half-demented mortals."—College Courant.

A TRUE STORY.

From the Concord Monitor.

On a certain day in 1853, a young man whose noticable points were a fashionable coat, pantaloons with wide checks, and a large watch-chain at the end of which dangled a seal, walked into a large hardware store in Boston, and asked for employment. Mr. Peter Butler, one of the proprietors, inquired if he had ever worked at the business. He had not. What had he been doing? Studying law at Cambridge.—Where did he belong? His friends lived in Maryland.

The firm were not in need of help, and the service of the applicant were civilly declined. On the following day he addressed a note to Mr. Butler saying that he feared he had not made himself fully understood and would call again on the morrow to explain farther. At the second interview he said he had graduated at Harvard University, and commenced reading law; that he had become acquainted with a young lady in Cambridge whom he proposed to marry; that his father had written to him forbidding him to wed a Northern girl, on penalty of disinheritance, and banishment from home. He intended, however to keep faith with his betrothed and as he must paddle his own canoe in future, he was looking for employment. Mr. Butler engaged him at $400 a year, and gave him certain duties to preform.

Next morning, the young man, whose name, we may as well say, was John Pace, walked in from Cambridge, with his dinner packed in a tin pail, and went stoutly to work. He kept steadily at this for a year, doing all he was told to do, and more besides; for his comrades, of whom there were more than sixty, finding him able and willing, set him at all the menial tasks of the establishment, until the proprietors discovered and stopped the imposition.

At the end of the year John's salary was increased $100, and he named an early day for his wedding. When that day came, Mr. Butler gave him a new suit of clothes (he presents everybody he takes a liking to with a tip-top suit once in a while), and a holiday. Mr. and Mrs. John Pace went to live with the bride's father and mother, and John continued to walk in to his business, tin pail in hand. Among all the merchants and tradesmen who rode in from Old Cambridge to the banks and counting-rooms of Boston, there was not one whose heart was lighter or happier than that of John Pace—a clerk at $500 a year. He was always on hand when the warehouse was opened, and stuck by until it was closed. During the second year of his service he received a letter from his sisters, who were at school in Brooklyn, asking him to get leave to make them a short visit. He did so, and returned to his duties. Not long afterward another letter came. His father wanted him to come home for a few days, and bring his wife along with him. Mr. Butler furnished the necessary funds for a comportable trip to the old home and back again. During their stay in Maryland, the young people won the love of the old folks, if, indeed, they had ever forfeited it; for John had not long been back at the store in Boston when his father desired him to take charge of one of his plantations. He should have a living off it, one thousand a year besides, and two saddle-horses, and his wife should have a carriage and pair. His employers hurried him away, and bade him God speed.

At the death of his father, John fell heir to an immense estate. Every year he writes to Peter Butler, whom he justly thinks one of the best men in Boston, to come out and join him in a fox hunt.

THE soldiers homestead, act, which became a law on Tuesday last, provides that every private soldier and officer who has served in the army of the United States during the recent rebellion, for 90 days or more, shall be entitled to 160 a of land.

—THE Governor appointed Peter Sonlberland, C. S. Paterson and S. W. Turner, County Commissioners fo Wilkin county.

A HERO.

Don Platt tells the following touching story: A Sunday School superintendent out in Alaska treated his entire charge to a sleigh ride. There were just forty-one of the cherubs and six-Horse sleigh. On the way home they were beset by a pack of ferocious wolves. Cool and collected in that hour of fearful trial, the superintendent saw at a glance that he must soon be overtaken In an instant his quick mind grasped the only chance of escape. Seizing the child that always sang "I want to be an angel" two notes to high, he flung it to the rapacious horde. It stayed their onward rush for a moment. Next came the urchin who never brought any pennies to the heathen. And so on swept the pursuers until the last infant was exhausted. But the brave fellow economized his material nobly; and besides a whole Sunday School slows off a pack of wolves perceptibly. We have always noticed this. In another moment the sleigh dashed into the villiage, and the grand, noble, true hearted man knew that he was saved.

HOW TO PUT CHILDREN TO BED.

Not with a reproof for any of that day's omission or commission. Take any other time but bed-time for that. If you ever heard a little creature sighing or sobbing in its sleep, you could never do this. Seal their closing eyelids with a kiss and a blessing. The time will come, all too soon, when they will lay their heads upon their pillows, lacking both. Let them at least have this sweet memory of a happy childhood, or which no future sorrow or trouble can rob them. Give them their rosy youth. Nor need this involve wild license. The judicious parent will not so mistake my meaning. If you have met the man or the woman whose eyes have suddenly filled when a little child has crept trustingly to its mother's breast, you may have seen one in whose childhood's home dignity and seqerity stood where love and pity should oave been. Too much indulgence has ruined thousands of children too much love ont one.—Fanny Fern.

QUICK WORK.—At Newbury, Eng., a gentleman recently made a wager of $5,000 that at 8 o'clock on a particular evening he would sit down to dinner in a well-woven, well-dyed,, well made suit of clothes, the wool of which formed the fleece on sheeps' backs at five o'clock the same morning. The sheep were shorn, the wool washed, carded, stubbed, roved, spun and woven; the cloth was scoured, fulled, tented, raised, sheared, dyed and dressed; the garments were made. At a quarter past six he sat down to dinner at the head of his guests in a compiete damson colored suit—thus winning his wager with one hour and three-quarters to spare.

—Already we have had it shown by Republicans themselves that the St. Cloud Land Officers have made $50,000 in five years on a salary of less than $3,000 per year. And now, as an item from the Waseca News elsewhere shows, the Land office at New Ulm has organized a regular plunder of ignorant homestead and preemption claimants, by throwing them first into the clutches of "sharpers" who hang around the office and divide the stealings. This is done by a relative of Tibbett's, the Register, who, in fact, is an old offender—having played the same game at St. Peter from 1860 to 1864, while the office was there.

The truth is, and it is well known to hundreds of men, that at about every U. S. Land office in Minnesota there is first an inside Land Office "ring," and then a sub-"ring" of outside sharks the two "rings" operating in close communion as a sort of banditti, to not only pluck unsuspecting settlers, but to gobble up all the choice pieces of land in the District.—St. Anthony Democrat

A CORRESPONDENT of the La Crosse Leader writing from Washington, refers to the Minnesota delegation in Congress as follows:

"Minnesota has a pair of noble representatives in the House in the persons of General John T. Averill and Hon. Mark H. Dunnell. If we add to them the two Senators, ex Governor Ramsey and Senator Windom, it may truthfully be said the Minnesota delegation presents the finest appearance of any in Congress Mr. Dunnell has already acquired a high reputation as one of the few speakers who can get the attention of the House."

THE St. Paul Dispatch came out on Monday enlarged to an eight-column sheet.

SEED WHEAT.

From the Farmers' Union.

On the subject of seed wheat, allow me to give you a few points. Enclosed in New York Produce Exchange daily official circular, which please examine. In milling my experience in Minnesota dates from 1895. You will observe the New York quotations of flour vary from time to time, but does not change one long well established fact, that is that Minnesota spring wheat flours bring more money than that of Wisconsin and Iowa. For instance, sales February 24, 1872, Iowa flour ranges $7.25 to $7.75, while Minnesota stands $7.25 to $9 per barrel. This is no accidental matter. The average of the year or of years gives Minnesota steadily $1 to $1.25 per barrel more money than is paid for Wisconsin or Iowa spring wheat flours. The cause for Minnesota taking the lead cannot lie in the superior knowledge of her millers, or of machinery, over the other States named. This being a fact, we must go a little further to find the true cause. In the early settlement of our State, seed wheat was introduced by various persons, ordinarilly a mere matter of fancy as to what kind. The result was that in Rice and adjoining counties we had several varieties, such as Scotch Fife, Rio Grande, Mammoth Tea, Canada Club and Black Sea. There may have been other varieties, but these were all distinctive kinds. Of spring and winter wheats there is grown several varieties, whose distinctive qualities are all enumerated under the following headings, of hard or flint, medium hard, and soft.—Scotch Fife and Tea class as medium Black Sea as hard, and the others named as soft. The writer imported Scotch Fife from Canada at different periods, and the result of a few years without any effort, except that which the common sense observation of our farmers furnished, we had but the one variety Scotch Fife. It is a fact seemly well established, that wheat becomes acclimated in about eight years, and should be renewed by new importation. Local charges are good, but the more effectual are importation from a distance, a more northerly to a southern section Years of use of the same kind of wheat, coupled with otwo frequent croping of the same land, has resulted in diminished production, and a consequent desire for new things, new kinds of seed wheat. The question naturally arises, what is best, and in connection with it, why has Minnesota wheat and flour stood so high in our eastern markets? For milling, Scotch Fife as a medium hard wheat, has been found superior to all others. Being glutionous, it makes a strong flour, needed as a baker's mixture to give character and lip to the winter and spring wheat flours, made from soft wheat, and while Wisconsin and Iowa have been growing the soft varieties, in fact the whole Western country, Minnesota has been left comparatively alone in the production of hard wheat making strong flour, and without competition in our large Eastern cities. The question may naturally be asked, why is not the great difference in flour not more observable in our wheat. Milwaukee North wheat is worth more than Chicago, but as our wheat does not reach the purchaser at Milwaukee or New York without being subjected to mixing in the elevators at Milwaukee with shipments of Wisconsin and Iowa, its distinctive merits are lost. The question to-day is, are we to lose our supremacy by the foolish introduction of soft wheats? Millers have in the past year paid on an average within ten cents of Milwaukee prices, often within five Place Minnesota flours on a level with those of Wisconsin and Iowa, and our wheat production is at once lessened in value with all millers of our State, full 18 to 20 cents per bushel. Practically it is self evident that we will best serve our pecuniary interests in the production of wheat, by growing those kinds, or that kind, which will pay best in price and certainly of an average crop yearly. Those kinds of wheat usually known as the highest or finest grades are more subject to casualties, such as smut, rust, winter killing lodging, etc. As one raise but one crop in the year, that kind which gives assurance of the most certain, largest average yield, is our necessary point. For instance, Scotch, Fife stood up well, never rusting, more hardy than any of the other varieties, a medium float; this or some other variety possessing the same qualities is what we now want. Siberian, imported in 1869, from Russia, by the Messrs. Laymans of Montreal, Canada, in a few years gave to Eastern Canada and a portion of Upper Canada a surplus, at a time when all other failed. This after a time ran out, and Scotch Fife took its place.

The origin of the Scotch Fife I have never been able to clearly ascertain. Supposing at one time it was an importation from Scotland; but from good authority learn it was first introduced by a man named Fyfe, living near Peterborough, Canada, and led to believe it was a chance production. The idea presents itself, as Russian is so distant. Cannot we find what we want nearer home? The Selkirk settlement on the Red River of the North has grown wheat for a long time successfully, and it is asserted by good authority is quantity more per acre than Minnesota. The season there must be shorter than with us, and consequently the change will be in the right direction. We want to get seed wheat (there or anywhere) and a person who can understandingly make the right selection; to do some personal observation of the growing crop, at or a little before harvest, is requisite, to note, is it bald, or bearded, does it stand up well, does it shell too medium hard wheat. The subject is one calling for earnest attention of our agriculturists, millers, etc.

Hoping others may take up the question and bring it to useful and practical results, I am very truly.

J. S. ARCHIBALD.

Dundas, March 25 1872.

REMEDIES FOR COLIC AND OLD LOW HORN.

FOR COLIC IN HORSES—Take cotton rags; first dampen them with water, then roll them in sulphur; place them on live coals in a frying pan or some vessel suitable, and smoke the animal's nose a few minutes. The remedy is simple but often effects a cure, even in the worst stages of colic. Try it and save your horse.

FOR THE HOLLOW HORN.—The spring of the year is the time for cattle to have this complaint. Take three or four spoonfuls of vinegar add about half the amount of butter and one small spoonful of ground or pulverized black pepper; warm until the butter is melted, then pour a spoonful into one ear of the animal affected; give it a moment liberty, after which apply the same to the other ear. If the first application does not effect a cure, the second or third day repeat the dose or application, and nine cases out of ten you will save your animal. You will also find it very beneficial to pull or pinch the hide loose from the backbone, which often becomes tight in that complaint. This may appear useless, but try it and prove its efficacy, and thus save a good cow for your family's use, or an ox to plow your fields.

C. WHITING.

—Earthquakes seem to be the fashionable excitement. California has just been stirred up by a slight shake, and the insurance companies out that way are beginning to take earthquake risks. But the jarring which California has suffered is the mere rumble of a wheel in comparison to the disaster reported as having occurred in Syria. A great part of the city of Antioch has been reduced to ruins, and 1,600 persons, out of a population estimated at 10,000, have been killed by an earthquake of late date. The ruins of the ancient city have now a rival of even sadder interest in the modern wreck. Scientists will find in the almost simultaneous earthquakes in California and Syria, the occasion for additional speculation on the laws which govern the waves of the central fires.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Our County Finances---School Matters, Etc.

EDITOR TRIBUNE—Can you give us any light on the financial condition of Crow Wing County? Thus far we have failed to see the annual statement of our County Auditor, such statements having been published, we notice, in some other counties in the time prescribed by law. We do not know upon whom the responsibility rests, but it is an affair that interests alike all the citizens of the county, and especially the tax payers; and we insist upon knowing the condition of our financial affairs; and we understand it to be the duty of those to whom such matters are entrusted to come promptly forward and publish to the community a candid statement of the financial affairs of the county. I hear considerable complaint made against the ex-County Treasurer as standing in the way of the annual settlement. How true this may be I cannot vouch for. The officials ought certainly to understand that these matters belong to the people generally and not to themselves. Are we to have a public school this summer? No one seems to know whether we have any school funds or not. It is about time we should hear from those having charge of such matters. We do not know who the school board are, but suppose, of course, they are public spirited citizens. "Let us have light." Yours,

WIGWAM.

REMARKS—In regard to why the financial statement of the county has not been published ere this, we know that our worthy Auditor stands ready to make it out for publication just as soon as the ex-Treasurer fixes up matters with the new Treasurer, which we agree should have been done ere this; but as to WHY he has not turned over the books and had a settlement with him is a matter beyond our knowledge. We presume Auditor Hartly is anxious for the transfer to be brought about, so that he CAN make his statement of the county finances, and is doubtless doing what he can, properly, to bring it about. In regard to our school interests, we are a little rusty on the subject. A few weeks ago we endeavored to arouse an interest on behalf of school matters, and if we succeeded, it merely resulted in a "flash in the pan." Like Alexander we wept because there was nothing more to say on the subject, and subsided—feeling that we had done and said enough, for a boy, we settled back to see what the men would do, and they promptly went into committee of the whole and did nothing. Seriously, however, we feel a deep interest in the matter of establishing a thoroughly valuable and permanent common school in Brainerd, and do hope that the School Board—if there exists any such body—and our citizens generally, will take immediately hold of this important matter, as it is high time in the season that a school be started and kept up for at least six straight months during the present year.

GENERAL HANCOCK in a letter to the editor of the Sioux City Times, contradicts the reports of rich gold discoveries in the Black Hills, and also says that the section referred to is set apart as an Indian reservation, by treaty with the Sioux, and the faith of the Government is understood to be pledged to protect it from the encroachment of, and settlement or occupation by, the whites. "Accordingly, any parties or expeditions which may organize for the purpose of visiting or "prospecting" the region in question will be engaging in an unlawful enterprise, the consummation of which it will be my duty, under the law and my instructions, to prevent, by the use, if necessary, of the troops at my disposal.

"In this connection, I may mention that I am just in receipt of an official letter from Gen. Stanley, in command subordinate to me, on the Missouri river, in which he refers incidentally to the Black Hills gold reports, and says no gold has been found there."

SEVEN-THIRTY GOLD LOAN.

In its First Mortgage Gold Bonds the Northern Pacific Railroad Company furnishes to the public an Investment Security which combines the ready Negotiability, the Convenience, and the high Credit of a first-class Railroad Bond, with the Solidity and Safety of a Real Estate Mortgage on Land worth at least twice the amount loaned.

These Bonds, WHICH AFTER FULL INVESTIGATION, WE STRONGLY RECOMMEND AS A RELIABLE AND UNUSUALLY PROFITABLE INVESTMENT, AND WHICH NOW STAND AMONG THE MOST SOLID AND FAVORITE SECURITIES, have the following leading features:

1. The issue is limited to $50,000 per mile of road; holders are exempt from United States tax; the Principal and Interest are payable in Gold—the Principal in thirty years, and the interest (at the Banking House of Jay Cooke & Co., New York,) semi-annually, first of January and July, at the rate of 7 3-10 per cent. per annum—nearly 8 1-4 per cent. currency. Denominations: Coupon, $100, $500 and $1000; Registered, $100, $500, $1000, $5000 and $10,000. Present selling price, PAR AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY.

2. The bonds are a First and Only Mortgage on the Road, its Equipments and Earnings, and also on a Land Grant which, on the completion of the Road will exceed 23,000 Acres to each mile of track, or 500 acres of Land to secure each $1000 bond.

3. They are at all times receivable at TEN PER CENT. PREMIUM (1.10), in payment or exchange for the Company's Land at market prices—a provision which practically gives the holder of these mortgage bonds the power of foreclosure at will.

4. The proceeds of all sales of Land are required to be devoted by the Trustees of the bondholders as a Sinking Fund to the purchase and cancellation of the first mortgage bonds, or temporarily to the payment of interest thereon, if necessary. This provision will make the Railroad Company itself a constant and heavy purchaser of its own securities in the open market from the time the Road is completed until the bonds mature, or are all bought in. The effect of this will naturally be a steady rise in the value of the bonds.

EXCHANGING U. S. 5-20's.—In view of the ability and fixed policy of the Government to call in ALL its 5-20's and substitute a low interest bond, many holders of 5-20's are exchanging them for Northern Pacifics, thus adding to their principal the present premium on Government Bonds, and increasing their yearly interest income nearly one-third.

All marketable stocks and bonds will be received (by express or otherwise), at current prices in exchange for Northern Pacific seven-thirties without expense to the investor. Pamphlets and full information will be furnished on application.
