"RUNNING ALONE."

Heretofore, the TRIBUNE has been, in a financial way, running under the firm name of "M. C. Russell & Co." That name is now defunct, and existeth not, either in name or fact. Although the TRIBUNE, together with its extensive job printing department, etc., has grown from a simple acorn into a giant oak, we, the senior partner, have taken upon our shoulders the entire business, as publisher, editor, printer and proprietor--and on this line we are fully prepared to fight it out. We thank the citizens of Brainerd and the surrounding country, with the warmest feelings we possess, for their liberal patronage and kind encouragement throughout our adventure of establishing a successful, permanent and paying newspaper, and printing establishment. We feel, too, as though our good people will accord to us merited praise for the hard and incessant work we have performed, the self denial we have underwent, both in our living and outside enjoyments, while endeavoring to establish the TRIBUNE as a creditable mirror of our town, our people, and defending our interests and good name, at home and abroad.

Everybody in this community, however, with but the fewest exceptions, have readily recognized our efforts and appreciated our labors as being in GOOD FAITH, and no wild cat speculation, and have most generously seconded us, both substantially and otherwise. The Northern Pacific Railroad Company, too, both individually and as a corporation, are entitled to our heartfelt thanks for their aid and countenance. The aid they have given us, not in gifts, bonuses, etc., but in a straightforward business patronage, has been of great value in the establishment of our enterprise. For what the Company have done, and are doing, to encourage us, we feel very grateful indeed. We hope to be able in the future as in the past, to defend in our feeble way the rights and interests, and assist in developing that rich and almost boundless country traversed by this great Road, and opening it up to the settlement of thousands of honest people who have no homes in land elsewhere, and who, through proper inducements on our part, may be encouraged to immigrate hither and secure to themselves what is most valuable in this world—a self-sustaining and happy home in the country.

In the future we hope to succeed in doing what we have always aimed to do—mete out justice to everybody, and everything. If we ever should injure any one, or mar any one's feelings, it will be entirely unintentional, for if we have one love above another, it is to be at peace with all men, and see kind feelings and actions between all members of the human family. But it is often very difficult in the conduct of a square-toed, independent journal, to miss the shoals of contention, but that we may stear clear of all injustices to our fellow men, so far as possible, is the heart-felt desire of

The General Disbursing Agency of the N. P. Railroad, which has up to the present been located in St. Paul, has been removed to Brainerd, where Col. R. W. Newport, the N. Paymaster Thomson has also removed his quarters hither, and with this branch of the Treasury department we have also to welcome to the Gem city of the Pines, Cashier Gardner and Messrs. GRANT CLUB meeting at the Court House to-night. Everybody invited.

BRAINERD AND HER CHURCH INTERESTS, ETC.

We take the following interesting description from the Church Journal of July 18th last:

"You may not be aware where this infant is, nor what progress the church is making on this frontier. Eighteen months ago, where now is the village of Brainerd, with its schools, churches, stores, hotels, machine shops, and newspaper, and all the other concomitants of an enterprising town, was a dense pine wilderness, where only the foot of the red man had trod. It is situated on a beautiful level plateau, covered with pine trees, sixty feet above the Mississippi River, at the point where the N. P. Road crosses it, and yet some three hundred miles below the head of navigation. It is 150 miles north of St. Paul, 115 west of Duluth, and 137 east of Moorehead on the Red River, to which point seven trains a day each way are now running to and from Duluth. There are now about 1,500 inhabitants, assembled from all parts of this country and Europe, and all busily engaged in business, which the Northern Pacific Railroad has called into existence. While it is only about 18 months since the first stake was stuck by the engineer for the railroad bridge here, yet those who have congregated have made arrangements for the erection of four church buildings, although the only one completed as yet is the Episcopal church—costing some $5.000. The President of the N. P. Road was in town with several strangers and officials of the Company from the East on Sunday last, and attended service at the church and so far as the services are concerned, might have imagined themselves in one of the old cities of the East, instead of a town in the wilderness not two years old. I give you a brief description of the church, which is a gem in itself, and admired by all. The design was prepared by the Rev. J. H. Hopkins, Jr., as well as the working plans and drawings. St. Paul's church, Brainerd, is made mostly of timber cut on the spot. The ground plan shows one chamber 72 ft. long by 32 ft. wide, with southern porch. The chancel is made by a bold rood beam, separating 20 feet of the length of the building, of which 16 feet in width in the center is the chancel, and 8 feet on the north side forms the sacristy, and a similar space on the other side is for the organ and singers. In the center of the rood beam is a large floriated cross. The beam is supported by two large upright beams that run all the way up to the roof, placed at either extremity of the chancel projection; and two lighter shafts divide the central space into three equal parts of which the middle one is occupied by three steps that ascend from the nave, and from the southern one projects the platform, on which stands the lectern, just outside the rood beam. The chancel itself is divided into choir and sanctuary. In the latter is an alter and super-alter, credence and three sedilia, with Bishop's chair on north side. Towards the organ chamber there is a wainscot about three feet in hight, the space above being open wood work, between the organ chamber and nave. The sacristy is ceiled behind with woodwork of the same character. Three arches of open wood work occupy the three spaces from the rood beam to the ceiling, which is of five chants, ceiled longitudinally throughout the building. On the sides the internal ceiling is longitudinal, with an upright wainscot running all round next the floor. The altar window is a large triplet of stained glass, with the sacred monogram of the Trinity, the Lamb and the Dove, and the chief west window is an octagon subdivided geometrically, so as to give somewhat the effect of a rose window, and it is flanked by two single lower side lights. The other nave windows are low couplets. The headings of all these are pointed, but not arched; the convenience of easy timber construction requiring, in this new country, where machinery and experienced mechanics are wanting, the abandonment of the curved arched form in all cases, except the three arches over the rood beam. The space arranged for the front is near the door. Externally the main framing timbers are shown projecting beyond the upright battened surface, and giving character to the whole, while the main framing timbers rise into a bell-cote above the roof ridge, surmounted by a picturesque cap. Orientation is observed, and almost of the original trees of the forest which lately covered the whole ground remain as ornaments on the church lot, which is ample enough for a rectory and parish school. Inside the woodwork is white pine to be oiled; outside it is painted once, to be finished in two well matched tints as a protection to the weather. The Rev. Jos. A. Gilfillen has been sent here by the Right Rev. Bishop Whipple to officiate and organize the parish. Already there is a good congregation and choir of singers. The ladies have raised money by their own labors to complete the chancel and choir. The Sunday school class of Mrs. Thayer, of St. Paul's church, Burlington, Vt., have presented the church with a communion set, and Miss Hall, of Muncy, Pennsylvania, is preparing as a donation a beautiful altar cloth and lectern hangings. The initial steps have been taken for the erection of a building for a parish school, and the zealous Rector is fast becoming acquainted with the people and children, and organizing them into Bible classes and Sunday Schools. C. T. Hobart, the Superintendent, and Dr. S. W. Thayer, Head of the Medical Department, with Messrs. Lindsley Rosser, Spaulding, Engineers, and Mr. White, and others, have shown great zeal and energy in getting up so fine a church building, which Bishop Whipple pronounces to be one of the best in his diocese, and which is now paid for and ready to be consecrated. The friends of the church may be congratulated upon having made such a good beginning upon the line of this great, continental highway, and upon being the first in the field. We trust the far scattered members of the church, who have left their homes in the East to carry forward she work of civilization in this vast country, may receive such assistance from their more wealthy brethren in the East as may enable them to keep the work of the Church in the front, hand in hand with the progress of settlement and civilization.

A PIONEER."

GRANT & WILSON CLUB.

On Saturday night last a live club for the campaign was organized at the Court House, agreeable to previous notice in the TRIBUNE. T. F. Knappen was elected President, H. G. Coykendall Vice President, W. W. Hartley Secretary, and M. C. Russell, Treasurer. An executive committee was also elected, consisting of five, working Republicans.

The club already has over fifty members, and will very soon be increased to two or three hundred, which for this young city will at least be respectable.

We are promised many good things for the campaign if we get up a spirited club, among which will be several speakers sent us from abroad. General Averill, our last and next Member of Congress, will be with us, at some time ere long, and here he will find the people almost a unit for him, and his visit to Brainerd will be one among his many warm friends and admirers.

Let the ball be kept rotating, and the enthusiasm be increased till after the election of GRANT & WILSON, and General JOHN T. AVERILL. Saturday night of each week has been fixed upon as the meeting night of the Club, and we hope to see a general turn out of our Republican friends at every meeting.

BRAINERD SELECT SCHOOL.

This school, which has had a most successful period of three months, closed for vacation on Friday of last week, until the first Monday in next month—September. Miss Fitzgerald, the accomplished teacher, has, during her stay in Brainerd, greatly endeared herself among the patrons of the school, and particularly among her scholars, who grew to love her as a patient, faithful teacher and kind friend. It was with the greatest feelings of regret that they bade her adieu, even for the short vacation which she took to visit her home in Faribault, and they long for her return. Our citizens were fortunate to secure the services of so accomplished a teacher, and it is to be hoped they will, by their liberal patronage, on her return, induce her to keep a six month's term, as with her for a teacher our little ones can progress as fast as they wish in education, and the higher they go the better she will be pleased. Miss Fitzgerald is a natural teacher, and loves the little ones, and is never so happy as when she is engaged in teaching them the things most essential to them in their future life. We very much hope our citizens who have children will be alive to their interests, and when she opens school again on the first Monday of September will send their children in, and give them the rare advantages offered them while the opportunity is at hand. She has agreed to teach three or six months, as the committee desires, and as the scholars are limited to a certain number, those desiring to engage schooling should do so early. The committee are M. C. Russell, N. R. Brown, and E. U. Russell.

Terms, $2.00 per month, strictly in advance. All applications for admittance must be made to N. R. Brown, who only will receive pay and give certificates of admission.

The total attendence for the last term has been 22 males and 23 females. Average attendance, 30 1-6. There have been no cases of corporeal punishment during the term. Their studies have been: 8 Alphabet, 37 Reading, 24 Penmanship, 35 Spelling, 26 Arithmetic, 2 Grammar, 17 Geography, and 5 History.

JOLLY TIMES IN BRAINERD.

While we hear of dull times down in the towns and cities below here, we have to say that we know nothing of hard times, or a scarcity of either employment or money in Brainerd. Everything is animated, and every man, woman and child seems busy at some honorable employment the livelong day. There are probably 2,000 able bodied men permanently employed in and about Brainerd, and a large proportion of them either have families here or are building neat little residences for their families yet to come. Real estate for the last two months has been steadily on the rise, and hundreds of lots have been bought within the past few weeks by actual residents. Since the announcement that the Brainerd Branch Railroad is to be completed immediately, it is remarkable to see the renewed impetus it has given everything. The beauty of the whole is, that there is no unwarrantable rush at all, but a steady, sound and rapid growth and general development all around. No one fears now, to invest his last cent if need be in property here, as any one can see with half an eye the permanent solidity of the growth of our young city.

ST. LAWRENCE Co., N. Y., instead of being one of the banner counties for Greely, as claimed by that party, is at least 7,000 majority for Grant—which assurance we received from a gentleman just from there, who was born and raised in that county, and KNOWS.

NOTICE.

If perchance we employ a man to do our collecting, and that man happens to be a lawyer, our friends must not construe it that we have "put our accounts into the hands of a lawer to FORCE collection." Oh, no; this idea is the furthest from our mind; for we have no patrons, and don't want any patrons, that would render it necessary to do such a thing.

STILL THEY COME.

Laurel street is fast becoming an important business thoroughfare in Brainerd, and already several trading houses are being established thereon, besides there being several of the best hotels in the city located on Laurel street.

Mr. Jo Lamont, of Hastings, has purchased a lot adjoining the Norman House, on which he proposes to establish a first class grocery store. He has chosen a good location, and being a "hale fellow, well met," will do a good trade.

A. B. Tuttle, Esq., also one of the good men of Hastings, has driven his stake on Fifth street, second door from Laurel, adjoining the American House, where he will open out in a few days, a full line of groceries, clothing, notions, etc., etc.

We are informed that Mrs. Chapman, of Crow Wing, will soon commence the construction of her large first class hotel, to be located on corner of Laurel and Sixth streets —northwest corner. This is a splendid location, and her intention is to put up a hotel that will be an ornaments to the street and a credit to the town.

N. R. Brown, Esq., is also getting his handsome store building, on Fifth street, near Laurel, all ready for an active campaign in the green grocery business. Being well known, and withal a good fellow, our friend Brown will no doubt do a fine trade. His location, too, is No. 1.

RESOLUTION OF THANKS.

At a meeting of a Congregational council which has recently convened at Glyndon, Detroit and Brainerd, to organize churches at these points, upon the motion of C. C. Salter, the thanks of the council were returned to the officers of the Northern Pacific Road, for the generous hospitalitels extended, and for the use of the Superintendent's car, to visit the busy, capacious, and costly machine shops of the Road. We gratefully recognize the liberal and large-hearted policy of the Road towards these pioneer churches. The thanks of the council are also extended to the families and friends in Detroit, Glyndon and Brainerd, for the cordial welcome which has made their visit so delightful in Lehalf of the council.

MORE FIGHTING IN CROW WING.

Crow Wing, Aug. 14, 1872.

On Monday, the 12th inst., two young men, named Jim Hikes and Jo Watab, got into a dispute, and were trying hard to raise a fight all day, but it seemed that one was afraid and the other was rather shy. At last the town boys concluded it was best to have them fight and settle the dispute at once. So they chose them seconds, water and sponges were set out, two men detailed from the crowd to hold the pole to fight over. They were let to time, and the battle commenced. Watab got in the first blow, which set Hikes on one knee. Second round Watab got a blow under the chin which staggered him a little, but he soon came to time. After the 3rd round they were taken and sponged off; time was called, and the fight went on till 14 rounds were fought. The 15th Hikes failed to come to time, and made the remark that he had got enough. The two have now gone out haying. Watab goes without a scratch, but Hikes goes with one eye closed and a tremendous big nose. Now we admit that this fighting is bad business, but when two men are trying to get up a fight for a whole day, we think it best to urge the thing on a little and have it done with. Watab wears the belt.

MONTGOMERY & WEST have concluded to remain in Brainerd a few days longer, and will close out their stock of Dry Goods and Clothing at prices far below New York cost.

SPREADING OUT.

Our friend Starcher, the grocer, directly "forninst" the TRIBUNE office, is building a large addition to his grocery store, which indicates both "business" and merited prosperity. Starcher is up to the times, both in goods and liberal enterprise, and our worst wish is, that his shadow may never grow any "thinner."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—CEREMONIES OF LAYING THE CORNER STONE.

The council of eminent Congregational clergymen who honored our city with their presence on Tuesday and Wednesday last, performed on the latter day, at 9 A. M., the imposing ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new chapel at this place. The morning was a most propitious one, and as the sun streamed its mellow light down through the pine groves, all nature seemed at peace and in harmony with the beautiful ceremony being performed in laying the corner stone of another temple of worship in our midst. The ceremonies opened by singing, and an invocation by the Rev. C. C. Salter, of Duluth. Reading of the scriptures by the Rev. Mr. Lee, of Cleveland, Ohio; laying of the corner stone, and accompanying remarks, by the Rev. D. D. Hall, Sup't of Missions for Minnesota. The Rev. H. N. Gates, Congregational Missionary, N. P. R. R., then read a statement of the contents of the stone, which was as follows: Holy Bible; Congregational Manual; Minutes of the Congregational Conference of Minnesota; History of the Church in Brainerd, with names of members; History of the Chapel, with the names of the members of the Council; Minutes of the present Council; one copy each of the "Congregationalist," "Advance," "Independent," "Christian Union," "Brainerd Tribune," and "Duluth Daily Tribune."

The exercises, incident to the occasion, closed by an able address by the Rev. C. M. Terry, of St. Paul.

A CITY GOVERNMENT.

Measures have been taken, as we understand, to incorporate Brainerd into a city, with all the machinery necessary to bring our town under the lawful discipline so necessary to the well being of every community of the proportions and importance of ours. We commend the movement, highly, if all things looking to the consummation of the object be done "decently and in order." Two thousand inhabitants are necessary to effect an organization of the kind, and we dare say the census now being taken will show no less than 2,500 than 2,000. We hope to see no wrangling, nor any irregularities indulged in while the matter of incorporation is being proceeded with, but desire that the law, in all its particulars, shall be respected and complied with to the letter, for the law is very plain on the subject of incorporation.

While speaking of this matter, we would but merely refer to the matter of seeking office, which we see is being sought by a few parties, even at so early a day as this. We hear of nothing but "Peoples' Ticket" candidates as yet and we assert that it is time in the day when members of the straight Republican party should cease to become identified with these "tickle you, tickle me" tickets in our local politics. This suggestion, we deem particularly well timed during this present year, when parties, clear down to the most trivial local elections, should define their outlines and show who they are and what they are. The people of the whole country are now divided into two political divisions, and with the dregs of all parties let the "Peoples' Tickets," heretofore so popular in Brainerd, be forever consigned. Our citizens now belong to either one party or the other, certainly, and hereafter let them collectively and individually show their hands, and support either one ticket or the other. The candidates for office who generally seek a place on a peoples' ticket, do so in hopes to get strength from both parties, through, probably, personal popularity. If these same men understood themselves they would find that in accepting such nominations they gained nothing, and lost much. A man's personal popularity stands out even with a much brighter lustre by being independent enough to identify himself with the party of his choice, and thereby become a candidate before the public, standing squarely upon some definate platform, instead of trying to ride on the wagon of both parties by straddling the fence. There are now two parties here and hereafter, in Brainerd, let each hold their convention, make their nominations, and then let both political and personal popularity tell their tale—which they will be sure to do. But out on these mongrel, button-hole, "wishy washy," mixed up messes in our local politics, and if any man is too limber-kneed to stand by his party, abide its direction in convention and support the candidate of its selection, let that man be known amongst us.

THE POLITICAL COMPLEXION.

A stranger asks what the political complexion of this country is, up here.

Minnesota at large, will give Grant and Wilson a large majority this fall, and is soundly Republican.

This, the Third Congressional District, will give General Averill, our Republican candidate for Congress, an overwhelming majority.

This, the 30th Senatorial District, is heavily Republican.

Crow Wing County is also Republican, straight, by a clean sweep, all the time.

Brainerd is emphatically Republican, and Greely will probably not receive over a dozen voters or so, out of a population of over two thousand.

SESSION LAWS.

W. W. Hartley, County Auditor, has received from the State the session laws for 1872, a copy of which can be obtained of him by all persons entitled to the same under the statutes, by calling on him at his office.

HORSE RACE.

A race came off, we understand, at Crow Wing on Saturday last, for $200 a side, between the Little Falls horse, "Kizer," and J. G. Morrison's "Crazy Gray," of Crow Wing. Three, quarter mile heats was the thing, and "Crazy Gray" won the race—best two in three. Our informant thinks that Kizer would have come out winner, only that he run over a dog on the second heat—nearly killing the dog, and came near breaking his own dog-on neck. Kizer is hereafter to be a Brainerd horse, his owner, whose name we have forgotten, having removed from little Falls to this place.

THE HARDWARE AND TIN TRADE.

Outside the considerable amount of hardware and tin ware sold at other establishments, our good friend, Mr. E. H. Davie, has succeeded in establishing a large business in this line of trade in Brainerd. His mammoth store room is crowded with every thing in the way of Hardware, Tinware, Stoves, Nails, Mechanic's Tools, Iron, Agricultural Implements, etc., to say nothing of the thousands of articles more on the fancy and ornamental order. Mr. Davie has recently closed out his large interests in the hardware trade at Minneapolis, and turned his whole attention to the hardware trade at this place. He is a gentleman whom, to know, is to esteem, possessing all the characteristics which go to make up an honorable man, fair dealer and valuable citizen, and in the possession of such thorough, enterprising men as Mr. Davie, any town is fortunate. We are glad to know that his trade is rapidly growing, and already exceeds his expectations.

TRUDELL'S RESTAURANT.

Our friend, P. H. Trudell, Esq., has opened a first class restaurant, on Front Street, where he will receive regular boarders, or give meals at all hours. We wish him abundant success in his new enterprise. Advertisement next week.

THE CITY RESTAURANT IMPROVEMENT.

Mr. Dennis McNannay, at his old City Restaurant stand, Front street, has substituted a splendid two-story hotel building in place of the big tent of old, and next week he will open for the accommodation of his many friends, and the public, a first-class hotel, which same our friend Mac knows just how to keep, in order to please and make comfortable his guests.

THE NEW YORK "POST" ON MR. SUMNER'S LETTER.

The New York Evening Post of Wednesday has a long and searching review of Mr. Sumner's letter, which draws attention especially to the spirit of personal animosity which pervades that epistle, and blinds Mr. Sumner to everything except his own narrow and bitter prejudices. The Post says:

How strained and inflated Mr. Sumner's opposition is may be gathered not only from the whole tenor of his elaborate discourse, but from its smaller details. To impute it as a demerit to Grant that he was educated at West Point at the public expense, and to charge him with having been a Democrat, and voted for Buchanan, at a time when pretty nearly every officer in the army was of the same mind, not on political grounds so much as on the general assumption that the Democratic party was the dominant and orthodox party of the nation, is, as some of Bret Harte's characters are in the habit of saying, playing it low down. How intense the antipathy which leads a man not destitute of judgment or kindness to indulge in a comparison of this undiscriminating and one-sided sort!

Surely the abuse of Grant, all whose good qualities and high services are disregarded as if they were not, is just as untrue and unjust as the praise of Greeley, who is not a statesman, nor magnanimous, nor acquainted with history, nor honest in the proper sense of the word, is undeserved and preposterous. Mr Sumner looks through a pair of spectacles so colored by his prepossessions that he sees nothing in its proper proportions. His conclusions are those of the partisan, and not those of the statesman, or of the just, impartial, fair-minded judge.

THE BLACK FRIDAY LIBEL.

The New York Tribune has got so far back as the "Black Friday" in trying to revamp Satanic slanders against General Grant. The New York Times thus squelches it by a reference to the Tribune of October 18, 1869:

"The insinuation that the President was in collusion with the gold gamblers never had a fact to lift it above the level of audacious calumny, or a motive save the coarsest, sensationalism or clumsy malignity.—There was a combination to put gold up. When it assumed dangerous proportions General Grant interfered and crushed it. Thereupon he is charged with having been a member of it! The country knows its President to be incapable of such conduct. If it did not, it would still be able, in so plain a case, to reason that men are not secretly seeking that which they openly, determinedly and effectively destroy. By their fruits ye shall know them."

—"There are in this world countless sorrows, which, so far as appears, we actually bring on ourselves and others by our own folly, wickedness, or weakness—which is often as fatal as wickedness; and then we blame Providence for it, and sink into total despair. But when, as sometimes happens, His heavy hand is laid upon us in a visible, inevitable misfortune which we cannot struggle against, and from which no human aid can, then we ought to learn His hardest lesson—to submit. To submit—yet still, while saying, 'Thy will be done,' to strive so far as we can to doit. If He has taken from us all but one talent, even that, let us not bury in a napkin. Let us rather put it out at usury, leaving to him to determine how much we shall receive again; for it is according to our use of what we have not that He will call us good and faithful servants,' and at last, when the long struggle of living is over, will bid us 'enter into the joy of our Lord.'"—From "A Noble Life."

The "ring" has run the August price up far beyond what it will be in September, without a doubt, and he thinks the farmers had better come in and share the surplus funds the ring managers evidently don't know how to lose in any other manner than to get up a "corner." His course has taken the Democracy by surprise. His example, it is stated, has been followed by other Democratic business men. The Germania, the oldest Democratic German paper in this city, and the Anzeiger, till recently a Greeley German paper, have both come out for Grant.

PROSPECTUS.

Seven-Thirty Gold Loan.

In its First Mortgage Gold Bonds the Northern Pacific Railroad Company furnishes to the public an Investment Security which combines the ready Negotiability, the Convenience, and the high Credit of a first class Railroad Bond, with the Solidity and Safety of a Real Estate Mortgage on Land worth at least twice the amount loaned.

These Bonds, WHICH AFTER FULL INVESTIGATION, WE STRONGLY RECOMMEND AS RELIABLE AND UNUSUALLY PROFITABLE INVESTMENT, AND WHICH NOW STAND AMONG THE MOST SOLID AND FAVORITE SECURITIES, have the following leading features:

1. The issue is limited to $50,000 per mile of road; holders are exempt from United States tax, the Principal and Interest are payable in Gold—the Principal in thirty years, and the interest (at the Banking House of Jay Cooke & Co., New York,) semi-annually, first of January and July, at the rate of 7 3-10 per cent. per annum—nearly 8 1-4per cent currency. Denominations, Coupon, $100, $500 and $1,000. Registered, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. Present selling price, PAR AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY.

2. The bonds are a First and Only Mortgage on the Road, its Equipments and Earnings, and also on a Land Grant which on the completion of the road will exceed 25,000 Acres to each mile of track, or 500 acres of land to secure each $1,000 bond.

3. They are at all times receivable at TEN PER CENT. PREMIUM (1.10), in payment or exchange for the Company's Land at market prices—a provision which practically gives the holder of these mortgage bonds the power of foreclosure at will.

4. The proceeds of all sales of land are required to be devoted by the Trustees of the bondholders as a Sinking Fund to the purchase and cancellation of the first mortgage bonds, or temporarily to the payment of interest thereon, if necessary.—This provision will make the Railroad Company itself a constant and heavy purchaser of its own securities in the open market from the time the road is completed until the bonds mature, or are all bought in.—The effect of this will naturally be a steady rise in the value of the bonds.

EXCHANGING U. S. 5-20s.—In view of the ability and fixed policy of the Government to call in all its 6-30's and substitute a low interest bond, many holders of 5-20s are exchanging them for Northern Pacifics, thus adding to their principal the present premium on Government Bonds and increasing their yearly interest income nearly one-third.

All marketable stocks and bonds will be received (by express or otherwise), at current prices in exchange for Northern Pacific seven-thirties without expense to the investor. Pamphlets and full information will be furnished on application.

THE STEVENS BATTERY.

From the New York Star.

In case of a war between the United States and any foreign power the Stevens battery will, without doubt, play a most important part in any sea contest. In view of the miserable condition of our navy the attention of naval officers has been directed to this formidable craft. Anxious enquiries have been made recently to ascertain its condition. The result, although not flattering is in a measure encouraging. Suffice to say that should hostilities be inaugurated this ship of war will be in such a forward state of completion as to warrant its being ready for action within thirty five days at the utmost. Orders have been issued for an additional force of men to commence work upon it, and it is expected that by the latter part of the week fully one hundred will be employed As the battery now lies in the yard in Hoboken, it presents an unwieldy appearance; but ere a fortnight a vast change will be apparent. It has been pronounced by naval men to be one of the most formidable of marine engines of war. It is nearly 300 feet in length, is 25 feet in width, draws 21 feet of water. Its keel was laid down in 1840. Since then it has undergone three complete changes, but the change in naval architecture have been so numerous and important that its frame has been taken apart to conform to these improvements. The battery's frame now is built of staunchest live oak, covered with teak planking and backed by teak slabs two feet thick. These are faced on the inside by two-inch wrought iron plates. Its outer armor consists of chilled iron plates five and a half inches in thickness. They are secured to the woodwork by copper bolts without heads By this method the sides of the vessel are perfectly smooth, and afford no opportunity by which shots can displace the plates. Its battery will consist of seven guns en barbette. Four of these are rifled Rodmans, capable of throwing a solid steel shot of five hundred pounds The other guns are rifled Parrots, each throwing a 250-pound steel-pointed missile. Her battery has been completed and only awaits shipment. The engines are in an advanced state of completion and can be placed in the hull within twenty days. Her prow is sharp and shaped like a wedge. It is composed of an immense mass of iron, backed by teak logs, and will form an effective "ram." It is confidently expected that she will be enabled to steam at the rate of twelve knots an hour. Taken altogether, it is a formidable ship.

—The most remarkable engineering feat now in progress is said to be the crossing of the Andes by the Lima and Oroya railroad. The mountain chain will be crossed at an altitude of fifteen thousand feet by a tunnel three thousand feet in length. The grades are the steepest known on any ordinary railway. The workmen employed are Cholos Indians, the only operatives who can endure for a prolonged period the rarified atmosphere of this great elevation.

—The Morrisania (N. Y.) Journal has placed the name of Grant and Wilson at the head of its columns, and gives the following in its explanation of its opposition to Greeley: "He was nominated by trickery in pursuance of a bargain. In that bargain, fellow Democrats, we were included; we were bought and sold like cattle, but we are not yet delivered."

THE SAME OLD FIGHT.

Disguise the opposition under whatever name you please, the impending conflict must be narrowed down to the two parties that have confronted each other for the past sixteen years The mere title of the opposition is nothing Its men and principles are too well known to mislead the people. Greeley, Trumbull, Schurz and other dissatisfied politicians have left our camp but the mass of the people are intelligent enough to detect the motive which led to their secession. They hope to gain in the Democratic party what they failed to extort by threats in their own. Their first move in the camp of the enemy was to demand leading positions. They said to their new-found friends, "Make us your leaders, or we shall return to our love." The Democracy, believing these old men who have many followers, have been led to surrender their ancient policy so far as to accept these deserters as figure-heads for the campaign, knowing that the defeat of the Republican party places the administration of the government in Democratic hands. The pretended virtue of these ambitious gentlemen is too transparent to deceive even a blind man. We may lose a few from our ranks, but we shall more than recover our loss by the gain of honest men, who have hitherto been prejudiced against our party, but who have made up their minds that the best interests of the nation demand the continuance of the same party in power that has already done so much towards the development of our resources, towards the payment of our debt and the reduction of taxation, towards the establishment of prosperity and good government throughout the nation. Every day we are receiving into our ranks men who have opposed us in the past, who clung to the Democratic party until it surrendered its identity into the hands of Greeley and Brown. They object to being bought or sold without their consent. They are the advance guard of thousands who will take this occasion to leave a party that long since sold its honor to the devil, and which would have been buried years ago but for the vitality imparted to its corrupt form by the few honest men who, looking at its old traditions, were blind to its faults. Horace Greeley has had influence in the past, but his arm is powerless now. Like other prominent men who have traveled the same track, he will waken to the truth that men are influential and powerful so far as they are right, and when they desert the right their followers will desert them. Horace Greeley carries no strength with him. In the renewal of the old fight we shall not miss his presence, nor will the enemy be stronger for it.

STACKING GRAIN.

From the Minnesota Farmers Union.

The annual loss to the farmers of the Northwest, in consequence of the careless stacking of the grain, amounts to a large sum of money. We know not, neither does any one else, how much, but we believe, in this State alone, it will reach millions of dollars every year. There is not a farmer in the State but knows that we are liable to have a succession of most fearful storms from the 15th to the 25th of September. Some years, perhaps, a little later, some years a little earlier, but these storms seldom ever miss us in September, and the result is large quantities of No. 1 wheat is transferred to No. 2, perhaps No. 3, frequently almost ruined. The cause arises from poor stacking, and a most wretched policy it is.

There is as much a trade about stacking grain as there is to build a house, or to make a plow. No sardine or novice can build a stack properly. It requires experience. A man to make a stack that is proof against the driving storms of the northwest, must serve an apprenticeship at the business. Every sheaf of grain must be placed in just such a position, and the position must be just right. The throwing together of a mass of sheaves in any way and form won't suffice. The stack must be of proper size; it must be of a good form; it should be filled out at the top with hay. A good foundation should always be built at the bottom of the stack out of rails or timber for the purpose of putting grain at the commencement of building the stack. Not a single spear of the grain should ever rest on the ground. It has a tendency to make the grain musty when the straw reaches the earth No matter if it is the butt of the straw that rests on the ground, the effect will be the same.

A driving, pelting storm, generally accompanied with high winds, penetrates toward the center of a stack, unless the grain is packed in such a way as to prevent it. Those who are learned in the art or in the mysteries of stacking, will weave every sheaf in such a manner that the hardest and most severe storms will fail to reach any distance at all Even the outsids of the stack won't be injured in the least It will be seen at once that the services of such persons in stacking time are most valuable, and it is the bounden duty of every farmer to secure such workman if they can, regardless of price. And it is the duty, too, of every one who works in the harvest field, to learn to stack grain. It is one of our most important branches of work on a farm. It can not be learned in one or two seasons. But there is a commencement to all things, and the sooner the farmer can stack his own grain and be master of the situation, the better it will be; but until that is the case, let the utmost care be observed in stacking grain this fall.

—The character of the "Liberal" candidate for President in thus tersely described by the Atlantic Monthly: "Mr. Greeley is believed to be capricious, conceited, peculiarly open to flattery and prejudice, bold in opinion, but timid in action, and with that indefinable something in his character which makes it impossible not to laugh at him, however much we may esteem him. He is unsteady, groteeque, obstinate, and ridiculous—epithets never yet justly applicable, all at once, to a President of the United States."

—Paragraphs appear from time to time saying that Miss Anna Dickinson is going into the political campaign on one side or the other—generally the other. Miss Dickinson is quietly pursuing her lecture studies at home, and these paragraphs will be without authority till she is herself heard from.

—There is a little railroad at Bayou Sara, La., that runs to Woodville on a very uncertain schedule. A stranger came in the other day and inquired how often the steam cars made trips to the country. The party interrogated said, "Tri-weekly." "What do you mean by tri-weekly?" The answer was, "It goes up one week and tries to come down the next."

MIDSUMMER.

BY R. W. EMERSON.

Around this lovely valley rise
The purple hills of Paradise.

Oh, softly on yon banks of haze
Her rosy face fair Summer lays.

Beculmed along the azure sky,
The argosies of cloudland lie,
Whose shores, with many a shining rift,
Far off their pearl-white shores uplift.

Through all their long midsummer day
The meadow-sides are sweet with hay;
I seek the coolest sheltered seat,
Just where the field and forest meet—
Where grow the pine trees tall and bland,
The ancient oaks austere and grand,
And fringy roots and pebbles fret
The ripples of the rivulet.

I watch the mowers as they go
Through the tall grass a white-sleeved row;
With even stroke their scythes they swing;
In tune with merry whet-stones ring;
Behind the nimble youngsters run
And toss the thick swaths in the sun;
The cattle graze, while, warm and still,
Slopes the broad pasture, basks the hill,
And bright, when Summer breezes break,
And green wheat crinkles like a lake.

The butterfly and humble-bee
Come to the pleasant woods with me;
Quickly before me runs the quail,
The chickens skulk behind the rail,
High up the lone wood-pigeon sits,
And the woodpecker pecks and flits;
Sweet woodland music sinks and swells,
The brooklet rings its tinkling bells,
The swarming insects drone and hum,
The partridge beats his throbbing drum,
The squirrel leaps among the boughs,
And chatters in his leafy house,
The oriole flashes by, and look!
Into the mirror of the brook,
Where the blue-bird trims his coat,
Two tiny feathers fall and float.

As silently, as tenderly,
The dawn of peace descends on me.
Oh, this is peace! I have no need
Of friend to talk, or book to read;
A dear companion here abides,
Close to my thrilling heart he hides;
The holy silence is his voice;
I lie and listen, and rejoice.

—Always avoid the company in which you are willing to tell a coarse jest, because, for you, it is a demoralizing company. Grossness is never humorous; profanity is never admirable; and if your manner and speech once begin to travel out upon that edge, all their manliness and charm are in danger.

—One would naturally suppose that if there was anything at all exempt from the depredations of bugs it would be fish. It is said, however, that fish are dying by the thousand in Oneida Lake from the bite of a little white bug which attacks them under the scales.

—Among the Greelyites of New York are Peter B. Sweeney, A. Oakey Hall, James H. Ingersoll, and Tom Fields. The country does not need to be told who these men are. That service was performed last summer when the New York Times was exposing the Tammany frauds.

ORGANIZATION OF THE AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL ASSOCIATION.

As time rolls on Brainerd and surrounding country is fast developing into a full-fledged, enterprising community, adding weekly to its laurels some new society or organization, which looks to the good and well-being of society. On Saturday evening last an Agricultural and Mechanical Association for Crow Wing County was successfully organized, and claimed to itself a membership of some twenty-five members, then and there. The following is a copy of the Secretary's report, which explains itself:

Pursuant to notice given a nmmber of prominent citizens of Brainerd and vicinity met at the hall of E. H. Bly, corner Front and Sixth streets, on the evening of August 10th, for the purpose of organizing the Crow Wing Agricultural and Mechanical association. On motion of Maj. Hibbard the meeting was called to order, and Hon. Mr. White nominated for chairman. On taking the chair Mr. White proceeded to state the object of the meeting, after which W. F. Bailey was elected secretary. On motion of the chairman the secretary read the constitution governing generally other societies of a like character in the State, and on motion of Mr. McArthur said constitution was adopted, subject to such amendments as such association may deem necessary at any time in the future. On motion of Lyman Bridges the chairman appointed David McArthur, Dennis McNannay, Wallace Beane, Lyman Bridges, Ahens Bros., and E. H. Bly, a committee to solicit names for membership. It was also moved that a fair be held some time during the fall, at such place as may be hereafter designated, which motion was adopted, after which the meeting adjourned to meet at the Baptist chapel on the 20th of August, at 2 o'clock P. M.

W. F. BAILEY,
Secretary.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING.

Although we knew nothing of it at the time, and are acquainted with none of the particulars even yet, we understand that on Saturday evening last the members of the "Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers" held a meeting here, and made all the preliminary arrangements for the organization of a Lodge of that order in Brainerd. We are glad to hear of this, and hope they may succeed, as no finer body of men can be found than the locomotive engineers of the N. P., in any community, and we feel sure our citizens will encourage the organization in all proper ways.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

On Sunday last Church service was held at the Baptist chapel, both morning and evening, and the attendance was good. The Sabbath school at 2 P. M. was encouragingly attended.

A liberal collection was realized at the close of the morning service, to aid in seating the chapel—$21.35 being contributed. Lyman Bridges liberally tendered the church 75 chairs in aid of the same object.

The chapel will be opened regularly on the Sabbath, and its use freely given to all denominations not otherwise provided for.

The Rev. Mr. Wood preached a very able discourse last Sunday, and will be here as often as his labors west on the line will permit.

The Rev. Mr. Ingham, our resident Congregational minister here, will officiate hereafter regularly when others do not.

ACCIDENT.

By an accident near Glyndon, on Monday night last, conductor Lockwood, of this place, had both his hands severely scalded. Although painful and quite severe, his many warm friends will be pleased to know that his injuries are not serious, and he will be able to be about again in a week or two, as we understand.

PERSONAL.

The Right Rev. Bishop Whipple, of the Episcopal diocese of Minnesota, visited most of the points on the N. P. this week, and spent a day or two in Brainerd. The Bishop's health, we believe, is quite good this summer, although Time is telling upon the distinguished clerical gentleman, and he looks much older and more feeble than when we first saw him. We wish, however, that many years may yet be accorded him in his useful life as a Christian minister.

E. H. BLY, at his mammoth and palatial store rooms, cor. Front and Sixth sts., is prepared to supply either at wholesale or retail, everything in the line of family groceries, provisions, camp outfits, and general supplies.
