From our special correspondents.

November 6th, 1883.

It was with a feeling of sadness that I stood looking at the man putting the desks in place in the Senate Chamber the other day. It is a pity that the close of a session of Congress to store these desks had in many cases, historic significance and value.

They are now being put back in place again preparatory to the coming session of Congress. The desks of the Senators are made of mahogany and oak. Some of the representatives who use their oak desks very roughly, they are prepared with great care.

Strong butter.—An eight year old man. There will be a comet visible to the naked eye Nov. 21. Matthew Arnold is surprised to learn that the Americans eat with forks.

Compositors are the most generous people in the world. They are always setting up. A postmistress in Ohio resigned her office to get married. She will continue, however, to look after the male.

There will be 401 electoral votes next year, of which 201 will be necessary to the election of a President of the United States. A Nebraska widow with twenty-one children is advertising for a husband.

There is great virtue in paper. It is brought forth for the men and women but we don't know a double column advertisement inserted must read twice every day for six months, voting a husband to a widow with twenty-one children—three of them are in the background, or underground or somewhere.

We think we have met our match, but the line must be drawn somewhere.—Narrative. The Republicans of the Young-Low (Ohio) district elected one Fassett to the state senate. It seems, however, that the district is a fugitive from justice.

An indictment being pending against him for stealing clothing, which indictment was found at Erie, Pa. The situation is rather awkward, and Mr. Fassett will have all he can do to escape dwelling at Columbus for a period in a different capacity from that of a state senator.

Down an Embankment. Between 11 and 12 o'clock on the 15th morning the West Shore railroad construction train was derailed on the track and three box cars loaded with workmen were down an embankment. All the workmen are reported more or less hurt, and several had legs and arms broken and skulls fractured.

One of these men is reported to be still in a perilous condition. The wounded were taken to Saybrook, Conn., where they are being treated. The train was broken up. Thirty men in all were injured. The car went down about 20 feet high.

Set Your Clock Back. Next Sunday, the 15th, the new standard time system goes into effect throughout the United States, which, it must be remembered, has nothing to do with the twenty-four hour day system proposed a few weeks ago.

Representatives in the United States and Canada met in Chicago to arrange a universal system of time. The result is a standard time system. As it has been, many standards, taken from the local time of several of the larger cities, have existed. The plan is to have one standard time for the entire country.

A Terrible Holocaust. Charleston, S. C. dispatch: Fire broke out Monday afternoon on Hague street in Wilbur's clothing manufactory, and spreading to Robinson, Taylor and both buildings were gutted. Ludwig's bag factory adjoining was damaged.

The loss is estimated at $60,000. Eight women and one boy were employed in Wilbur's factory, most of whom are now in the hospital. Ellen Eron was killed, and Isaac Bond was fatally injured. Mary will recover, but Guy and Anna Green are badly hurt, but will recover.

Major Quinlan and Louis Tyler were badly hurt, but will recover. Guy and Anna Green are badly hurt, but will recover. The fire broke out on Monday afternoon on Hague street in Wilbur's clothing manufactory.

A Youthful Hero. West Louisville, Indiana county. A night of a brutal double murder—Sergeant, at 17 and respecting his father, had an altercation with his son Joseph about putting a kitten in the house, when the latter drew a revolver and shot his father in the hip. The old man died, but the boy recovered.

The bullet crashing through his father's hip, killing him, the boy fled to his mother's room and hid. He then fled to his mother's room and hid. He then fled to his mother's room and hid. He then fled to his mother's room and hid.

Beginning of the President. In a compartment of a large passenger train at the White House a number of large brown envelopes are piled, marked "Secrecy." The contents are the most interesting letters from all parts of the United States, addressed to the president for aid in carrying out private enterprises.

One is from a lady who signs herself a mimic of a great house, in the hope of purchasing a piano, in order that she may give moral lessons to support her house. Another from a veteran of the late war, calls attention to the fact that his pension has been long to get.

He asks for prompt action in the matter. All sorts of schemes are proposed for the distribution of the president's salary, but thus far he has declined to pay any at all. A number of other letters are cranked send a weekly communication in relation to a patent for perpetual motion.

Everything with the program is that a few thousand dollars are alone needed to insure its success. The chief necessity of the program is the only consideration that obtains. Nearly all of these letters are received and opened by the president, who refers them to his secretaries.

BURNED UP A MILLION. A Great Conflagration at Shenandoah, Pa. Remonstrance to the National Assn. for Aid. Shenandoah, Pa., Nov. 12. The fire broke out at 10 o'clock on the 11th morning, and in a few minutes had reached the three-story frame structure corner Main and Center streets. The building was soon in flames, and the fire spread to the block on the opposite side of the street.

not the principal town of Northern Nebraska. The advantages and natural resources of this section of the state are now becoming known and appreciated. The villages that are being established, and the farmers who are occupying the land, are laying the foundation for a new and more prosperous community.

From Sioux City west, and from Omaha north to Hastings, the new line of railroad runs through fertile territory, having a number of stirring villages, most of them being of late date and considering their age, possessed of considerable wealth and population.

Wayne, Dixon and Cedar have perhaps, greater natural resources than any other country, and where the stream of coming emigration shall cover the land, their labor shall develop its natural wealth, they will take their place in the ranks of the great cities.

A Chicago paper says that the Chicago yards have 40,000 hogs. Lower prices are expected. A man named John Washington, Va., died of a spider bite last week.

Miss, the missing Milwaukeean, seen Friday night at Darin, Wis. New York has a hospital for consumptives. It had 119 patients last year.

A Kingston, Ont., man is sleeping in a tent on his wife's grave to protect it. Three companies in Maine packed 5,000,000 cases of sweet corn this season.

Teas imported at Portland, Oregon, will be inspected by sample at San Francisco. Southern California farmers are burning over their stubble to kill a species of grain aphid.

The San Francisco market cost 128,000 lbs. of wool and 4,000 standard dollars in October. Kansas has a civil rights bill with a $1,000 fine for keeping negroes from the polls.

Higby & Co., of Sandusky, an elevator proprietor, have reported a liability very heavy. A careful examination of the Cincinnati poll-books failed to detect frauds in the October election. Five deserters were sentenced by the military court at Columbus, Ohio, to two years imprisonment each.

A stork arrested in Pittsburgh, Pa., was found to be a male of the species, which, when seen in the city, is a rare occurrence. The Memphis AY-launch counts 20 captains, 17 majors, 7 generals and 108 colonels among Southern soldiers. At his trial, Joseph Dobbins and his wife, both adults, were brought with horses attending to cross Carter's creek.
