Washington Letter.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.

The question of a return to annual sessions of the legislature will be raised in St. Paul this evening. A young and rapidly growing state like Minnesota where changes are so rapid and need legislation is made every day, legislative sessions results in great inconvenience, not to say serious embarrassment. It is said that the Farmers Alliance element in the legislature will favor a return to annual sessions.—Herald.

Christmas Presents.

New York, Dec. 12.—The visit to this city of the wife of the president has created much small talk in official and society circles. It is stated that Mrs. Cleveland made some rather notable purchases in this hour. A clerk in one of the stores has patronized her yesterday. The papers say that she will be seen in St. Paul at the store of Mr. Cleveland's representative. What she will buy is a matter of speculation. Mrs. Cleveland is also credited with having purchased a little lace cloth, a large gown, a pair of fairy, several tiny suits of lamb's wool and long hair and some trimmed baby dresses, with lambs-wool attachments.

Cost of Raising Wheat.

Various estimates of the cost of raising a bushel of wheat in the West Walla valley, Washington territory have been given in the past two years. The estimates range from twenty-five to forty cents per bushel, depending greatly upon the average yield. Where the case on the big Blackfoot farm, on the big Blackfoot farm, the actual cost of raising a bushel of wheat in the West Walla valley, Washington territory, is said to be about fifty cents, which would be about an average of 20 to 25 bushels a acre, which would be about an average of 20 to 25 bushels a acre. J. Q. Adams, of Chicago, raised 40,000 bushels of wheat in the West Walla valley, Washington territory, this year, which he sold at 25 cents per bushel, counting interest on unpaid debt, and the cost of his own services and the pay of his hands. In this calculation he leaves out the cost of the interest on his debts, which would be "clear profit."
