General Land Office.

Washington, D. C. Dec. 1, 1887.

This is a fac simile of the General Land Office letter heading.

The initials in upper right hand are those of Chas. H. Babbitt, for nearly eleven years a clerk in that office.

From March 1878, to Dec. 1, 1887, in charge of matters pertaining to the Public Lands & Railroad Grants in Minnesota.

Now engaged in Prosecuting said Claims before the Interior Department.

Cases examined, & advice given, for $5; carried to final decision on reasonable terms. Letters containing stamps answered promptly.

Address Chas. H. Babbitt, 933 Cass Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

RE-FERS TO Hon. H. B. Strait, Shakopee, Minn. & John C. Clark, New York, Minn. & Clerks of Courts generally.

ROBERTS & WELAND, Publishers. BRAINARD, MINNESOTA.

Dr. Parker, the eminent English divine, in a recent interview admitted, amazed, and expressed his wonderment that I could have no opinion of the subject.

The report of holding operations in Philadelphia during the last two months, make a splendid showing of torres and weapons erected during that time.

The latest grim joke is the number of bogus dynamite bombs now being discovered over the country. The antidynamite men fails to discover any thing funny in such practical jokes.

Our consular agent at Pirana, the port of Athens, reports that Greeks are emigrating to this country in great numbers and that most of them are practically penniless and many of them are penniless. Our consular agent at Pirana should keep a sharp watch.

The Bonapartes delicately hinted that one of their number could be induced to accept the Presidency of the French Republic, but the results which follow upon making a Bonaparte President were too well labeled by precedents to be very attractive to the French people.

Albert Keller, a Cincinnati lawyer, wanted to live in an apartment house of his own, but he had larger bank account, he committed himself to organizing $150,000 upon his own family and friends, and when the money was expended he committed suicide.

According to the census of 1890 the total population of the United States, including Territory, was 50,133,717, males 25,518,820, and females 24,614,897. The percentage of increase from 1870 to 1890 was about 37.5 per cent, according to that the present population might be given in round numbers at 69,000,000.

The annually large number of young men who have been committed to the State House Asylum of Minnesota in the last year and a half has led to the discovery that almost all of them smoked cigarettes to excess. In many cases it is said to be absolutely certain that cigarette smoking was the cause of insanity.

Sir William MacArthur, an ex-Lord Mayor of London and member of Parliament, was found dead in a dergard railroad carriage recently. The picturesque English contingent of railway travelers in that car, it is possible to determine whether he died from natural causes or was choked to death by a highlander.

General Master Workman Woodley has resisted another appeal that he reconsider his determination to retire from the office of Master Workman of Labor. As a reason for his resignation he says his health and general condition are such that he is unable to perform his duties, and that the constant friction between the various factions of the union is too much for him.

Capt. Bruce of the United States Army is very vigilant at the report out from Washington concerning the letter of the navy department and estimated to cost $1,500,000. He is reported to have written a long letter to the secretary of the navy, in which he pointed out the various changes on the Atlantic. He says that $1,000,000 of the money was to be used for the purchase of submarines, and that the changes he recommended were not such as to warrant an increase of the vessel is practically worthless.

H. J. Taylor, who was appointed United States minister and consul general to Havana, Cuba, has returned from his post. He is not very enthusiastic about the situation in that city. He thought that the United States was large enough for all the colored people who are crowded into the country. The population of Havana has decreased from 230,000 to 190,000 and development in every part is exceedingly slow.

In Denmark during the first five years of the system, 113,488 cases were brought before the "courts of arbitration," of which 74,742 were settled, and during the next five years 120,800, of which 87,000 were settled, and only half of the remainder were ever carried to actual litigation. The "thumb plan" is advocated by many American papers, as a remedy for excessive litigation, but the law does not take kindly such a proposition upon their source of income.

J. Weaver, the designer of the cutters Greaves and Galston, the British contractors in 1885 and 1887 for the American navy, has obtained a good business position in New York and an American bride as a result of his visits to this country in vain endeavors to capture the famous iron-making trolley. The late George Burges, the Boston giant, who designed the Puritan, Mayflower, and Columbus in succession, built the Greaves, Galston, and Thistle. He found his reward in numerous contracts and a technical education worth over $200,000, which is pretty sure to be $250,000 before the subscription.

Arms, the great showman, seems to be one of that class of people who thrive by indulgence. He has had a greater number of reverses than any other man on the age, and yet he is a greater millionaire than any other man. He is nearly like an undivided great victor and suffered from extreme poverty. He has been burned out, was ruined thirty by railway accident. He was ruined thirty by railway accident. He was ruined thirty by railway accident.
