This is our Indian summer such as Minnesota is seldom.

The Duluth Herald improves with each succeeding number.

There seems to be quite a penchant among Minnesota journalists to edit post-office as well as newspapers.

Also now the Mormons are migrating to Central and southern Idaho.

Unlike elsewhere bank cashiers no one will come to see them back.

They may be over and New York has fairly won the baseball championship.

What will become of the cranks who season upon again next summer.

In Maryland who besters are sentenced to twenty-five lashes and a year in jail.

It is a pity that such a law is not on the statute books of Minnesota.

Canada thistles are getting quite a fad in this country and even in the city.

Some effort should be made to remove them before they get too numerous to make it impossible.

Ben Dow's answer to the Wadena Pioneer in regard to the right to the post is right to the post.

The fresh young man of the Pioneer should get acquainted with his subject before he proceeds to criticize.

The democratic postmaster at Little Falls expresses himself as being very much surprised at the result.

He should have adopted the policy of some of his brother postmasters and resigned in advance.

Manoson county has become disreputable with its poor farms and all the stock, household effects, etc., has been sold at public auction.

The resignation of Alderman O'Brien is a very good thing.

There are plenty of good men and it is hoped the council will make a wise selection.

The figures from State Superintendent Kiehl show that there are 214,978 school children in the state.

271 of whom are from Hennepin county, and 14,695 from Ramsey county.

The state school tax is $915,764.46, or $3.70 per capita.

It is probably a peculiar fact that the older students in the state of Connecticut, Connecticut by the latest report speak with the new ones as acting and speaking in a peculiar manner in their constitutions.

The question now arises, is experience a good teacher.
