MISS SARAH POLLARD owns half a section of land in Polk county, Minn., which she works without any help except in harvest season.

SNOWDON mountain is the highest in all Wales, and when Mr. Gladstone had climbed to the top of it the other day he was even higher than the present price of coal.

M. HIRSAN says he is planning to open about 45 kilometers more of the Panama Canal, and then ask for money to complete the work. This has a very familiar ring.

PROFESSOR BRUCE has revised the whole of his "American Commonwealth" and has added seventy entirely new chapters. It will probably be published next month's in its new form.

CHARLOTTE M. YONGE, though 70 years old, is one of the most prolific women writers in England. She writes regularly, except on Sundays, from 9 in the morning till 1 o'clock and again from 6 to 7.

THE White Horse has been taken out of the German cavalry, it having been proven that it can be seen at such a distance as to make it a special mark for an enemy. The red-headed vivandiere goes with it.

EIGHT thousand five hundred red, 2,000 white, 3,200 blue, 1,800 green and 800 yellow incandescent electric lights were used for street displays along the line of march of the Knights Templar parade in Denver recently.

THE little black spots on the end of the snail's horns are the animal's eyes. He can see with them very little, but they serve to distinguish for him light from darkness, and enable him to observe objects at a distance of an inch or two.

WILLIAM F. COMLY, of the Dayton (Ohio) Journal, at 83, still holds his position as night editor, and is as spry and energetic as much younger men on the staff. What a book he could write on "Fights I have had with the foreman."

SOME recently discovered manuscripts in the cellars of the Wesleyan conference bookroom, in London, contain some hymns and poems of Charles Wesley in his own hand-writing. A volume of poems by Samuel Wesley was also found.

THE London Police are giving up their old bull's-eye lanterns, which, up to the present, have been their only means of flashing the light of intelligence upon the dark spots where criminality lurks. They are now supplied with little electric lamps.

MRS. FRANZ VETTA, best known as Lizzie Macart, the charming young contralto of the American Opera Company, has agreed to sing at the Grand Opera House next week in her favorite part of Lazarillo, in "Maritana." Her appearance will be warmly welcomed.

THE jungle horn was once called the buffalo horn, and it appears that it derives its name from the bugle, or extinct aurochs, the wild ox of Great Britain. In the Isle of Wight the bull's head on its signs is often accompanied by the word bugle, and in the French term for the lowing cattle is still bougler.

THE King of Siam has been asked to send an exhibit to the Chicago Fair, and will probably forward a few of his sacred white elephants if there is any encouragement given that the circus men will not try to paint their own animals in the same whitewashed colors and advertise them as being wood-dyed.

AN Abilene Kan. man recently advertised that he would like to buy a second-hand mower, and to address "X. L." postoffice. He received one answer that struck him favorably, and, after corresponding some time, hunted the party up and found it to be his wife, who was trying to sell him their old one.

THERE is a jumping procession is held in honor of Saint Willebrod, the Apostle of the Frisians. The fashion of the procession, which goes around the towns and to the chapel, is this: The worshipers sing prayers than antiphonal manner, and jump two steps forward and one back, thus progressing one step to every three.

THERE is said to be a great rivalry among fashionable women when giving dinners, to have the favorite novel, real and unique. Originality in dinner favors undoubtedly adds to the eclat of the occasion, so far as the fashionable women are concerned, but the men who sit around the table want a good deal more interested in getting something good to eat.

THERE hundred new houses have been built in Jerusalem since the railroad from Joppa came to town and real estate men are getting thick on all the street corners. As the Jews themselves are not the slowest people on earth, when the race for the nimble dollar is on, there is hope for the nation that it will land in its ancient capital in time to lay the first two bet corners have been gobbled by the gentiles.

BERNHARDT, who was recently in Brussels, expressed herself bitterly with contempt regarding the cholera. Indeed, according to the London News, she felt sure there was no such malady. There might be an atmospheric state involving its production in unhealthy people, but that was all. The cholera microbe seemed to her the most absurd child of the human imagination. She is willing to go to any single cholera stricken town to give a benefit in favor of the so-called victims of cholera.

HE WAS JEALOUS.

A Bohemian at Stillwater Crazed by Jealousy, Shoots His Sweetheart.

Being Pursued by Several Men, He Turns the Revolver Upon Himself.

STILLWATER, Special, Sept. 28.—Insane Jealousy, a lover dead by his own hand and a young girl seriously shot, are incidents of a tragedy occurring early this morning at the cottage of Dr. Edward Walther on the east shore of Lake Elmo, three-fourths of a mile from Stillwater.

Stefan Zecha, twenty-three years of age, and Mary Mendlik, nineteen years old, have engaged to be married. Zecha, a Bohemian who had been living at Winona, was wildly jealous, and when in April last Mary came from Ellsworth, Wis., to work as a domestic at Dr. Walther's cottage, Zecha threw up his job as printer in Winona and endeavored to obtain work on the Post newspaper office at Stillwater, so as to be near his love. Failing in that, he hired on the farm of Charles Kern at the lake. At 2 o'clock to-day, in the absence of the doctor's family, he visited the cottage and accused Mary of unfaithfulness. Mary denied the charge, when she drew Zecha of the engagement ring, after which Zecha went to the stable, procured a 38-calibre revolver, the doctor's family were at supper and the two hired men were eating in the kitchen. Mary stepped into a closet veranded off the her lover a dish of ice cream, and as she leaned over to receive it Zecha put his arm about her and placing the muzzle of a revolver fired. The men in the kitchen sprang out into the dining room when the shot was fired, and gave chase. Zecha ran north up the road 500 feet to a point opposite the Capt. Owen cottage, where he shot himself in the forehead. The bullet ranging downward and lodging at the base of the brain.

He was dead when the pursuers came up. Dr. Walther found Mary on the veranda floor bleeding from the ghastly wound in the back of the neck. Coroner Clark pronounced her wound dangerous, owing to the interval between Zecha's first and second shot. The girl's cottage he had mailed at the station postoffice a letter addressed to himself to his and Mary's parents in Bohemia. The letters, which were recovered by the coroner were of a tender nature, merely saying that he had seen things in a moment of anger that he could not undo. Three weeks ago, during a heat ride on the lake, Zecha had accused Mary of an infidelities and struck her in the face. Though she had not spoken of it until after the shooting. Dr. Walther, who lives on Eighth street, at the head of Sibley, St. Paul, says Mary is a good girl of irreproachable character. She has for years been employed in his family as a domestic. Mary's parents live in Bohemia. The letters, which were recovered by the coroner were of a tender nature, merely saying that he had seen things in a moment of anger that he could not undo. TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The climax to a dream of wild and extravagant speculative projects of a hazardous kind came this morning in the suicide of William P. Canaday of North Carolina, formerly sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate and prominent in Republican politics during the early as for years one of the leading Republicans in the South. The suicide was full of sensational features and created a great excitement.

A Grand Forks special says:—Threshing from the shock is nearly completed, the balance of the crop being in the stack. The weather is superb and grain in fine shape. Many are through stacking early. 15 bushels, mostly No. 1 and 2 northern.

A man named August Kelly has been arrested at Grand Forks charged with the murder of Hans Halverson, of East Grand Forks, 12 years ago last June. Kelly is a farmer in the East Grand Forks. The warrant was sworn out by the widow of the murdered man. The accused waived examination, and was committed to the county jail at Crookston, to await the action of the grand jury.

Wm. F. Jones, alias "Texas," arrested at Devils Lake on complaint of Rev. Wm. Lore and discharged for want of evidence, was arrested again on Lore's complaint and tailed. Before leaving his pen he broke up bottles and other paraphernalia of the blind pig. Before he was released he was arrested for the same offense on the same complaint.

The Minneapolis Special says: There has been nearly a week of good threshing weather and a great deal of the grain is threshed. More remains than could be forc ara in the country. Reports indicate that in the eastern part of the state work is well along toward completion. The yield on No. 1, 2 and 3 northern; much of it going to No. 1 hard. The quality of the wheat getting less and the area of the same seems confined to a few counties; since drying thoroughly grain is in fine shape and better condition and it being eagerly bid for by elevators and millers.

IOWA.

The Rock Island passenger and milk train was wrecked near Farmus the other day. Engineer Injured, but the loss to the company will be about $50,000.

John Brown was arrested at Des Moines, wanted at Council Bluffs for bigamy. Information was sworn out by his first wife ago, but brown had disappeared, but was captured easily.

Walter Wray, the 10-year-old son of William Wray, living near Sloan, was crushed to death by the cars at Sioux City Junction, but being unable to hold them they ran away. The wagon striking an obstruction overturned and the boy's crushing him so badly that he soon died.

A gang of negroes tried to run the town of Grinnell recently. Fifty shots were fired in the race war. Five negroes are now in jail. Great excitement prevails among the people and threats of lynching are indulged in. The negroes were tramps, and took possession of the town after the fashion of looting it.

Two negroes, Florence Winters and Lora Waldron, attacked Tom O'Day, an attorney at Sioux City, who has been filing complaints against prostitutes and bawdy houses, and is charged with blackmailing them. They beat him severely over the head and face with clubs and revolvers, and when started to run pelted him with eggs.

Fire destroyed the elevator out a warrant at Des Moines, for the arrest of W. J. Culbertson, on the charge of rape. Mrs. Marks is authority for the statement. Des Moines Recently she visited her sister, Mrs. Culbertson, and found that little woman living as the city as soon as able and swore out the information.

PARODIES ON OLD PROVERBS.

A Clever English Writer Gives His Epigrammatic Views on Marriage.

A correspondence has been opened in the pages of the Daily Telegraph on the vexed question of marriage in general, and of English wives in particular, says "The Linkman" in London Truth. As a bachelor my experience of wives—in the plural—is extensive, and it is the more desirable therefore that I should contribute my share towards the discussion. I have tried to condense the views which I uphold on this subject, and the more important of these will be found in the following distorted proverbs of the Dail Mail:

Marrying is believing.

Two's matrimony and three's diversion.

Divorce is the mother-in-law of invention.

A little matrimony goes a long way.

Infidelity begins at home.

Put not your trust in love.

Marriage is a knot—and a tangle-marriage has two.

To marry is human, to divorce is divine.

Set a wife to catch a wife.

Matrimony breeds contempt.

A lover in time saves mine.

You must go to the divorce court to hear what news at your house.

When the lover pranches beware of your wife.

When a woman falls every man calls.

Wives of a feather flock together.

Every smart woman has her day in the box.

Home rules often insures peace with honor.

Where there's a wife there's away to the court.

A divorcing man will catch at a straw.

It is easy to marry down hill.

Wife, life and strife rhyme together, but there is very little reason in either.

Marriage is paved with good adventures.

What matrimony conceals divorce reveals.

There are none so vived as those that will not marry.

Fine friends make fast wives.

Some men marry because they are young, some because they are old, some because they are busy, others because they have nothing to do. There is but one valid excuse for marrying—because you want to.

THE SUN GOING OUT.

In About Ten Million Years There Will Be No Light.

It seems that the sun has already dissipated about four-fifths of the energy with which it may have originally been endowed, save for an occasional change. At all events it seems that, radiating energy at its present rate, the sun may possibly hold out for 4,000,000 years, or 5,000,000 years, but not 10,000,000 years.

Here, then we discern in the remote future a limit to the duration of life on this earth. It does not seem to come from any other source of heat to be available for replenishing the waning stores of the luminary.

It may be that the heat was originally imparted to the sun as the result of a great collision between two bodies which were both dark before the collision took place, so that, in fact, the two dark masses coalesced into a vast nebula, from which the whole of our system has been evolved.

Of course, it is always conceivable that the sun may be reinvigorated by the repetion of the same startling process. It is, however, hardly necessary to observe that so terrible a convulsion would be fatal to life in the solar system.

Neither from the heavens above nor from the earth beneath does it seem possible to discover any rescue for the human race from the inevitable end. The race is as mortal as the individual, and so far as we know, its span has not under any circumstances to run out beyond a certain number of years which can certainly be told on the fingers of both hands, and probably on the fingers of one.

FIRST BEAUS ARE BASHFUL.

The first beau appears along about when we are 14 to 15. There have been, of course many little boy admirers, but a writer in the Philadelphia Times says the genuine gallant does not materialize until we put on long dresses and commence making ourselves up for coming ladies, a comprehensive phase that all girls will understand. He is usually the brother of some especial chum of ours, and in this way we are enabled to see him more often than if we had no reason for going to his house. He is exceedingly bashful before people, but can talk a blue streak when we are alone. He squanders his allowance on ice cream, soda and caramels, and on rare occasions invites us to a church, sociable or concert. He is always one of the group of youths who wait outside the church on Sunday-school door, and he is the one always to escort us to our homes on such occasions. We are teased unmercifully about him, and really enjoy it, though pretending to be fearfully indignant and provoked about it. This sort of thing goes on until something happens, as some other fellow's way of doing, and either he goes away to college or we leave for boarding school, or perhaps a quarrel or a change of residence. Of course at any rate, years perhaps will roll away before we see a boarded man who bears not the slightest resemblance to the blushing, rosy-cheeked boy we called our first beau.

Affectations and Peculiarities of Persons About a Pose.

"Well," said the photographer to a New York World man, "its funny how people will take entirely different ways to find the camera pointed at them. You tell them to look pleasant and at once their facestake an expression of ghastly mirth, of the bitter be a young lady she almost always wants to be taken side face, looking through a conscious simper. The people with turned up or very long noses invariably wish to be taken in profile, while those with short noses of a huge mouth is always taken front face.

"It's no use, I've been in the business for years and now I don't argue with them any more. I just let them have their say and then I try to have mine.

"Now, see this tall man coming in. He'll cross his legs and put one foot back of the other and stretch them so it will take the nine of two, and this old lady with two or three chins will be taken with her head and look like Humpty Dumpty."

They both did.

Dangers of the Copper Kettle.

A correspondent of the "Sheffield Telegraph" says: A Sheerer gentleman was always unwell at home, and invariably got better when he left it. The symptoms were those of lead-poisoning, including the much-dreaded "drop wrist." The idea struck him—it was the copper kettle. He had it cut in two, and found the alleged "copper" was three parts lead, in which the hot water had liberated and assimilated with the sufferer's system. The copper kettle was then discarded, and there is no more illness in the household. A gentleman brought me the lid of one of Tobin's tubular copper kettles. The surface only was copper, the whole of the inside, which is the copper freely to the thumb touch. It is said that a large number of people are ill, it does not seem to be the effects of lead-poisoning, and the evil has been traced to the copper kettle, the use of which is discarded utensil in many households.

A Wedding Tour in a Balloon.

M. Thisi, a Brussels aeronaut, carried out a wish he had formed to make his wedding trip in a balloon. Accordingly on leaving the town hall, the newly married couple bade farewell to their relatives and took their seats in the car, which was in full readiness, and which had been named the "Happy moment" in honour of the occasion. There was a cloudless sky when they started, and the voyage promised to be delightful.

CHAPTER XIII.

A FAIR VICTIM.

With such a man as Alexlef revenge was almost a creed, and now that the daughter of his enemy lay helpless within his power he felt a joy that he could hardly control. His hands trembled as he placed her into his presence, and she, all unaware of the danger she had fallen into, was glad at tears that opportunity of pleading for her unfortunate father had come at last.

A moment before she came into his palace the Czar had been speaking to his hasty words on a slip of paper, and handed the slip to Pavloff as he entered. Pavloff read the words, and a cruel smile played about his handsome features.

For a little while Rachel stood, bashful, embarrassed, and veiled as she found herself face to face with the Chief of Police, of whom she had heard so much, and whom she had come to regard with fear as the character of an ogre.

"Unveil yourself, woman," said Alexlef at last, speaking imperiously.

Rachel trembled by obeying the command, for it was a command, and she stood revealed before him in all her beauty, her cheeks blood-stained, her bosom heaving with suppressed excitement, a sorry but shrinking bashfulness. For be it remembered this is a fresh matter, for in such position was unused to addressing men, save those with whom she had been brought up under her father's roof.

Alexlef stared at her for some moments. Then, with a sneer, he said:—

"Report belies you not. You have beauty, and, save for the accursed Jewish blood in your veins, I could have pitied my son for paying you homage. But I would rather see you dead—much as such a girl in St. Petersburg than wedded to you."

Rachel shuddered. This dreadful man had now aleady said horrible things, and had not anticipated such a reception as this. In her terror she could not find a compelling Richt; but in the absence of any such Pavloff, He stood there silent, motionless, like a statue. Alexlef spoke again—this time in the brusque, harsh, official way which such an Alexlef revenge was in addressing anyone who had incurred his displeasure. Rachel stood in the land of the Czar is at once coarse, and the Chief of Police, seeing that Rachel or Alexlef in his own proper person represented all that was hated in Russia. He wielded his power like a tyrant, and ruled like one.

"What want you, woman, and why come you hither?"

By this time Rachel's heart had sunk, and her courage was gone, but she had managed to summon out:—

"You, sir, would lead to you for my father."

"Your father," laughed Alexlef, coarsely.

"Your my father," she repeated, stretching her white hands towards him appealingly, but he let every word be filled with tears. "He is a good man," she went on, "an upright man, and incapable of one wrong thought, or illegal act."

"You lie, woman!" exclaimed Alexlef, striking the desk with the palm of his hand. "I say again you lie. Behold me; I am the Chief of Police, and have seen, and your father destroyed one of these days. Now, what is the act of an upright man?"

"A deed of blood!" murmured Rachel, overcome with agitation; and covering her face with her hands she recovered before the man, who, with the relentless cruelty of a cat, was torturing her. But before he attempted to speak a word she had been compelled to force to be able to say:—

"You must have known him grievously. You must have stung him with your words. Yet, sir, never a gentle, peaceful man whose heart strove at all times for good."

A fresh accession of strength and resolution came to her as the memory of her father's goodness and kindness to her rushed into her mind, and she recovered before the man, who, with the relentless cruelty of a cat

John Bubar, the Brainerd lumberman and landlord, was in the city Tuesday on business with the Pine Tree Lumber company. He cut several million feet of logs for them last winter.—Transcript.

J. L. Smith, secretary and treasurer of the Minnesota Saving Fund and Investment Co., of Minneapolis, was in the city Wednesday on business. Mr. Smith was very much pleased over the improvements in operation here.

Hope Hose company No. 1 have engaged Gardner hall for Thanksgiving night and will give their grand annual ball on that occasion. The boys have commenced in time and propose to make it the most successful of any yet given.

Chairman Hartshorn, of the republican legislative convention, has appointed a legislative committee as follows: H. R. Mallotte, Mille Lacs county; J. H. Rhodes, Morrison; N. H. Ingersoll, Crow Wing; and B. F. Harshorn, Todd county.

The people's party and the democratic party of this county are conferring on the feasibility of fusing on the county ticket which will be placed in nomination today and tomorrow, but it is quite unlikely that the deal will go through. There will be no fusion on the legislative ticket in this district.

At the Congregational Church next Sunday morning the pastor will give the substance of his address delivered at the state association last week, on "Endeavor Loyalty to the Church—What it Means," He would be pleased to see every member of his endeavor society present. In the evening the address will be on "The Atmosphere of the Home."

At the Ladies Aid Society at Mrs. J. N. Nevers on Wednesday was exhibited three as fine specimens of the Japan Lily as we have ever seen. These rare and beautiful flowers were raised by Mrs. F. M. Cable, who, by the way, has as fine a display of cultivated flowers as one could wish to see, especially roses of all kinds and varieties abounding in great profusion.

Speaking of the log drives the lumberman says: This drive will be the last one made from Brainerd this year and will be a clean one, but the rear is very heavy and progress will be slow. All logs are now sluiced through the Brainerd dam except the Indian reservation logs which will probably lie in the flowage of the dam until next season. They are still in the hands of a government commissioner.

A. E. Losey leaves tomorrow for Louisville, Kentucky, where he will attend the International Convention of Funeral Directors, as a delegate from Minnesota. Mrs. Losey will accompany him.

A double wedding occurred at St. Francis church on Tuesday morning, the Rev. Fr. Lynch officiating, the parties to the contract being Arthur Reinthal and Miss Josephine Basch and Joseph Basch and Miss Kate Manogue. The parties are all of this city, the gentlemen being the members of the firm of A. Reinthal & Co., of East Brainerd.

A man named Gibson has purchased 1000 acres of land near Ft. Ripley and will start a sheep ranch on the land as soon as possible. He has just returned from a trip to Europe and the Transcript says:

In all, the industry will represent outlay of about $50,000. If the enterprise proves to be a success the business will be enlarged. A number of other persons are talking of going into the same business next year. Experienced sheep men who have been in this part of the country state that it is particularly well adopted to sheep raising. Mr. Gibson was formerly an architect on the World's Fair buildings at Chicago, and fell heir to nearly half a million dollars a few months ago.

Having a Good Time.

A satchel belonging to Deputy United States Marshal Robert Beaulieu was found on the vacant lot at the corner of Third and Laurel streets yesterday containing a revolver, handcuffs and a number of warrants for people in this section of the country. The satchel had been cut open with a knife and the contents pawed over. A little farther was found his pocket-book containing passes on every railroad in the state. It looked for a time as though Mr. Beaulieu has met with foul play and the articles were taken to the county attorney's office, but later in the day the gentleman's whereabouts were located, and it was ascertained that the articles were stolen from him while he was enjoying the sociabilities of the city. It would seem that he is not a very safe man to be retained in the position which he occupies, as he has been in a state of insensibility at the Bismarck house the greater part of the time since he arrived in the city, produced by over indulgence. It is probably his last trip in an official capacity.

The Electric Line.

The contract has been let by C. N. Parker for the boiler and engines which will furnish the power for the new street car line and they are to be here by the 15th of October. The rails have been bought for three and a half miles and the poles contracted for and they also are to be delivered here by the 15th at which time active work will be commenced. The electric power house will be located on the piece of land which Mr. Parker acquired from the city at the meeting on Monday evening being about one acre in the southeast corner of lot 4, section 18.

Will Run Independent.

H. Patterson, the present county commissioner from the Fifth district, after due consideration and at the request of many of the voters in his district has decided to become an independent candidate for re-election.

Joel Smith will also be a candidate for re-election from the First Commissioners district as there are many voters in his district who have requested him to do so. His candidacy will also be independent.

Died.

Bert Robinson, aged 16 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Robinson, died Wednesday of dropsy, the funeral occurring yesterday from the Baptist church, Rev. J. A. Jenkins officiating. The young man had been a great sufferer for some time and his death was not entirely unlooked for.

Call on J. F. McGinnis & Co. and see the bargains they are offering in clothing, boots, and shoes for fall and winter.

Pulpit notes.

Speaking of the log drives the lumberman says: This drive will be the last one made from Brainerd this year and will be a clean one, but the rear is very heavy and progress will be slow. All logs are now sluiced through the Brainerd dam except the Indian reservation logs which will probably lie in the flowage of the dam until next season. They are still in the hands of a government commissioner.

People's Party Organize.

A meeting was held on Saturday afternoon at the Tenth street hall according to the call issued by the people's party for the purpose of calling a county convention to place in nomination a county ticket and to elect delegates to the Little Falls legislative convention. The meeting was not largely attended, there being twelve or fifteen present who participated in the proceedings. Chas. Banks called the meeting to order and A. F. Ludwig was elected chairman of the day and also of the county committee, Mr. Banks being elected secretary. A motion was made to hold the county convention on Saturday but after some discussion the date was changed to this (Friday) evening at 7:30 at the Tenth street hall. The chair appointed the following ward committees: Second ward—Jas. Rodgers, Chas. Fegg and Fred. Wehrle. Third ward—John Atkinson and Geo. Halladay. Fourth ward—O. P. Erickson and Soloman Johnson. Fifth ward—S. W. Quinn and John Gabion.

J. F. McGinnis & Co. are showing the most complete line of Gents suitings displayed in the city. Call on them before leaving your measure.

Will Not Fuse.

It is quite probable at this writing that the democrats and people's party will not fuse on the county ticket although there will be great clashing between them. The people's party tonight will nominate Chas. Banks for auditor, Ole Erickson for sheriff, and will give A. F. Ludwig a place on the ticket. The remainder of their ticket will be chosen from the democratic ranks, people who have never been identified with their movement. What the democrats will do tomorrow is not certain only in one particular and that is that they will not endorse the people's party ticket. What nominations they make will be done in the true democratic style and while they will probably name some man who are on the other ticket it will be put in the field as straight democratic.

Call on J. F. McGinnis & Co. and see the bargains they are offering in clothing, boots and shoes for fall and winter.

The City Council.

The council met in special session last Monday evening.

A report of the city engineer was read and accepted. It stated that three bids had been received for paving part of Sixth street, the bidders being W. J. Bowen, of St. Paul; Thomas Reilly, of Minneapolis; and Time & Mitchell, of Duluth. The council examined the figures, and decided to defer the matter of awarding contract until the following evening.

An application of the Northern Pacific Railroad company to connect its fire alarm system with that of the city was granted.

The finance committee was authorized to borrow $1,800 for the city, to pay interest on bonds.

The street commissioner was directed to repair leak in sewer on Laurel street, near the river.

A proposal from C. N. Parker to purchase ground for street railway purposes was granted, and a motion was carried directing that a deed of same be drawn and executed. Mr. Parker's proposition is as follows:

BRAINERD, Minn., Sept. 26, 1892.

To the Honorable City Council of the City of Brainerd.

Gentlemen: I hereby make application to purchase from the City of Brainerd the land hereinafter described; and, in the event of a favorable consideration by the council of this proposition, I will pay to the city the sum of one dollar for a quit claim deed of said land.

My object in purchasing said land is to use the same in connection with my street car franchise, and to erect thereon an electric power house, a car stable and such buildings and structures as may be necessary.

The tract which I desire to purchase is all that piece of land belonging to the city which lies east and south of the right of way of the Northern Pacific Railroad company's mill track, and consists of about one acre, in the southeast corner of the city property situate in Lot 4, Section 18, Township 45, Range 30.

Trusting that my motives in making this application will be considered by you to be a sufficient inducement to the granting of the same, I am, gentlemen,

Very respectfully yours,

C. N. PARKER,
Per F. S. PARKER.

There was no quorum at the meeting Tuesday evening, and no business done.

J. F. McGinnis & Co. are showing the most complete line of gents suitings displayed in the city. Call on them before leaving your measure.

Republican City Convention.

The Republican City Executive Committee, chosen at the last city convention, held April 27th, 1891, met on Thursday evening, the 29th inst., a quorum being present, and decided to issue a call for a city convention, to be held in the Republican League Club Room in the Dressen building, on 6th street, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 12, 1892, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for Mayor, Treasurer, Judge of Municipal court, Associate Judge, and Assessor, respectively, and for the transaction of such other business as may demand attention.

The different wards will be entitled to representation in said convention as follows:

First ward.....3 | Third ward....3
Second ward....6 | Fourth ward...3
Fifth ward, 3.

The ward committees are requested to call their ward caucuses without delay, said caucuses to be held on Tuesday evening, Oct. 11. Each ward caucus will place in nomination two candidates for aldermen, and also candidates for members of the school board where there may be members to elect.

By order of the republican city executive committee.

A. J. HALSTED, Chairman.

Prof. D. M. Bristol's Wonderful Horses.

Prof. D. M. Bristol and his famous school of thirty perfectly educated horses, mules and ponies will begin a two nights engagement at the opera house next Monday evening. On Tuesday afternoon a matinee will be given, at which all children attending will be given a free pony ride. This will be Prof. Bristol's first visit to this city, and all who desire to see a novel, unique, interesting and amusing entertainment, should not fail to attend. In addition to the horses the Professor carries with him twenty-five people, a full military band and a superb concert orchestra, the whole concern being transported from place to place in magnificent palace cars, built expressly for Prof. Bristol and under his personal supervision. We menthese feats that our readers may form some idea of the magnitude of the concern. To make it the best and largest show ever organized, the management have invested the sum of $60,000, and it is now the only show of its kind—exclusively horse—in the world. These horses go promptly and precisely through all sorts of exercises, including an admirable display of military drill. Mathematical exercises, trapeze and tight rope performances, balancing sets, leap-frog and reasoning from cause and effect are a few of the entertaining feats performed by these wonderfully trained animals.
