BRAINERD, ... MINN.

The idea of placing saleswomen instead of men in the boys' clothing department has been adopted by a firm with large stores in several cities.

The Pollard-Breckinridge suit is dividing the honors with congress. There is no lack of racy amusement in Washington this season.

London is to have a university that will rival Oxford and Cambridge. All the preliminary details for its establishment have been arranged.

The system of numbering the hours of the day from one to twenty-four has been adopted by the Italian railroads, and is in use for all time schedules.

The secret of Gladstone's perennial youth is suggested in the news item that on the day he resigned the office of prime minister he completed an English translation of the Odes of Horace. He renews his strength by change of work and is apparently never idle.

It has been discovered that Boss McKane robbed the citizens of Gravesend of about $500,000 in addition to his other little eccentricities. He was a man of many talents and none of them were done up in napkins, as he would have told his Sunday school pupils if any one had happened to ask him.

John Redmond, member of parliament for Waterford, finds himself brimming over with a lack of confidence in Lord Rosebery, and so far as Lord Rosebery is concerned he has to use an oyster dredge on his inner consciousness to bring his confidence in John Redmond to the surface.

Hazing in New York is to be a criminal offense hereafter. This will be a great blow to the popularity of Cornell university, and will narrow its curriculum shamefully and all because a most unnecessary person died while a party of savants were objecting to a gang of mere freshmen.

The sovereign of a little Greek island during the middle ages styled himself: "The Protector of Religion, whose Fame is Infinite, who Exceeds the Sun, the Moon, the Unexpected Buds, the Stars, the Jewels; whose Feet are as Fragrant to the Noses of Other Kings as Flowers to Bees; the most Noble Patron, the God by Custom."

In round numbers the total amount of life insurance written by the different insurance companies of the world is $12,000,000,000. Of this sum $5,500,000,000 is placed in the United States. Between the years 1880 and 1890 there was $2,500,000,000 new life insurance written in this country, and but $1,000,000,000 in the whole of the British Empire.

The following is a characteristic extract from the manuscript diary of King James II., which is preserved in the Imperial library at Paris: "I did not retire from the battle on the Boyne from a sense of fear, but that I might preserve to the world a life that I felt was destined to future greatness."

Philip D. Armour is not confining his benefactions to Chicago. He has just donated a million dollars to San Francisco for the purpose of founding a manual training school on the plan of the Chicago institution established by him. Mr. Armour wants the world to be better by reason of his having lived in it.

The town treasurer of Middleboro, Mass., has discovered $300,000 in the treasury which he cannot account for. It will be necessary to coin a new word for this case. If the money had been missing from the treasury it would have been a shortage. The present discrepancy must therefore be a longage.

Theatrical talent of the female gender in New York is paid $15 a week this season, as against $50 last. We knew that the drama was deteriorating in New York, but we are rather surprised at so marked a slump as this. Still, business is business, and $15 is a whole lot of money to give for some of the acting that Gotham gets.

The man who profanely threatened to break his son's blank neck unless he experienced religion and joined the church now lives in Indianapolis. Saturday he attempted to blow up a newspaper office because its editor is an infidel and antagonizes the Christian religion. If that stalwart sort of Christianity gets to heaven, all peace-loving people will be anxious to move out.

Florists say that the cyclamen, which bears those marvelous winged blossoms that seem to hover over the plant rather than to be part of it, produces finer blossoms when raised directly from the seed than when the bulb is planted and allowed to germinate. Amateurs, when they attempt the clamen, usually buy the bulbs, and a single bulb sometimes costs nearly as much as a small blooming plant.

The weight of different kinds of wood is exceedingly variable. White pine is the lightest of the common woods, a cubic foot of it weighing 34 pounds; willow wood weighs 36; red pine, 37; yellow pine, 38; pitch pine, 43. Poplar weighs 46 and hickory 52. Logwood weighs 57; mahogany, 66; live oak, 67; and lignum-vitae, the heaviest of all, weighs 83 pounds to the cubic foot. A block of lignum-vitae, thrown into the water, will sink like a stone.

The latest news from Roncador Reef is that nothing but the hull of the wrecked Kearsarge is left. But as the purpose of the wrecking force now bound for the reef is practically to rescue a sentiment, its occupation is not yet gone. If only the stem, keel, sternpost deadwood, and part of the ship's frames are brought from the reef the wreckers will have recovered all that remains of the Kearsarge that sunk the Alabama.

An electric motor attachment has been applied to the Gatling gun, which promises not only to more than double the destructive capabilities of that particular machine, but to effect a grand advance in the efficiency of all machine guns. The motor is detachable, is of one horse power, is very small, weighing but a trifle over fifty pounds, and is placed on the breech of the gun, amply protected. The motor increases the present rate of firing 1,200 shots a minute, to more than 3,000 shots a minute.

A PARIS SWINDLE.

A married couple from the country, desirous of keeping a small hotel or lodging house in Paris, were recently deceived in a scandalous manner by a man and woman said to be of foreign origin. The country people, enticed by the description given in an advertisement of a hotel in the Luxembourg district—the proprietors of which wanted to retire from business—came up to Paris in order to inspect the establishment. They were received in a most courteous manner by the landlord and his reputed wife, who conducted them round the hotel, pointed out that every room was occupied, and then showed them a well stocked wine cellar. Furthermore the lodgers seemed to be bibulous persons, for they were continually giving orders for Burgundy and Bordeaux while one lady, occupying room No. 8, on the first floor, and said to be very rich, appeared to have an insatiable thirst, which caused her to quaff frequently magnums of champagne. All this promised well, and the hotel seemed to be a sound investment, and to bring in prompt returns, the country people gave £80 to the outgoing proprietors on the spot. The remainder of the purchase money was paid by means of short-dated bills. Having received the cash the vendors departed, leaving an address. Next day the bibulous lodgers also vanished, including the rich lady with the permanent thirst, which could only be allayed by "bottled sunshine from Epernay or Ay." The new landlord and landlady thus found themselves without lodgers and fearful suspicions arising in their minds they went down to the wine cellars. There a new surprise awaited them! The bottles of champagne, Burgundy and Bordeaux, which they had not examined in their haste to come to terms, were full of water! The victims of deception rushed to the address of their predecessors, but the swindlers were unknown there. Later on they met a waiter who had formerly been in the hotel, and who told them that the place had only been hired a few weeks before their arrival by the persons who duped them. The case was then placed in the hands of the police, who have since arrested the swindlers.—London Telegram.

Basic Slag as a Manure.

Metallurgy is becoming one of the most efficient producers of manure in the world. Twenty years ago thousands of tons of phosphoric acid were wasted in the production of cast iron, but the basic process has changed all this, and the apparatus attached to the furnaces for the recovery of the ammonia from the furnace gases furnish a new and important source of sulphate of ammonia for use as manure. Another very new valuable manure is basic slag. It would seem that the British farmer, notwithstanding his present doleful dumps, would rather have small crops than be weaned from the methods of his forefathers, and the lofty way in which he has declined to recognize the unquestioned value of basic slag has deprived him of a good deal of the sympathy that misfortune usually induces. The German agriculturists, on the contrary, are keeping alive to the importance of the slag, especially upon land devoted to potatoes and such like crops. Contracts have been concluded with the steel makers of the Black Forest district for 10,000 tons of slag for Germany during the present year, and satisfactory freightage rates have been conceded by the carrying companies for the transmission of the material to its intended destination.

The Honest Dentist.

"Harry, dear, I found an honest dentist to-day," said Mrs. Cumso to her husband.

"You don't say," tell me about this wonderful freak of nature!"

"Well, he examined my teeth and said they didn't need anything done to them."

"What did he charge you for that?"

"Only five dollars, when he might have worked all day, and charged me ten or fifteen. Don't that show he was honest, dear?"

"No; it shows he was lazy."

It Was Too Great.

"I'll not stand your abuse any longer, sir," thundered an irate judge who had been violently criticised in his rulings by a junior counsel. "You are fined $50 for contempt of court."

"If you want to find me for it," was the attorney's reply, "$50 won't come anywhere near covering it."—Town Topics.

A Pressing Engagement.

Young Husband—I think I shall have to go out to-night, my dear. I have an appointment.

Young Wife—Oh, Tom, what is it?

Young Husband—An appointment with my tailor, love. He is to call here to-night to collect his bill.—Life.

The internal temperature of trees has been observed for some time past by M. Prinz of Uccle, in Belgium, who finds their mean annual temperature at the heart of the trunk the same as that of the air, but the mean monthly temperature of the trees sometimes differs from the latter by 2 or 3 deg. centigrade.

Chicago butchers have been serving horse meat to their customers as prime beef, and several of them have been arrested. They can only be punished for a misdemeanor, however, for there is no law which forbids the selling or cutting of horseflesh. The only statute that can cover the case is that relating to the sale of one article as an entirely different one, for which the punishment is merely nominal.

Prince Colonna, the profligate husband of Millionaire Mackay's daughter, wanted to challenge an American editor for exposing his nefarious conduct towards his wife, but was dissuaded by a friend, who evidently knew the stuff that American editors are made of. But for this fact the princess would now be a widow.

It is believed that whales often attain the age of 400 years. The number of years these huge creatures have lived is ascertained by counting the layers of laminae forming the horny substance known as "whalebone." These laminae increase yearly, just as the "growths" do on a tree.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

RESUME OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Condensed Record of the Important Transactions of Our National Lawmakers—The Work Done in Both Branches.

Washington, March 15.—The test vote which was to be taken to-day on the seigniorage bill—the vote on Mr. Allison's motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed the third reading—had the effect of attracting a large attendance to the gallery. The senate early took up the consideration of the bill, and Mr. Teller of Colorado and Mr. George of Mississippi spoke in favor of its passage, the former criticising severely some statements made by Senator Sherman in his recent speech against the bill. Before Mr. George had concluded his remarks the hour for a vote arrived and Mr. Harris insisted upon the vote being then taken on Mr. Allison's motion, with the result that it was defeated by 28 to 45. It is expected that the bill will pass by about the same vote tomorrow. Mr. Manderson moved then to commit the bill to the finance committee, and this motion was also defeated by a vote of 27 to 44. The vote in detail is as follows on Mr. Allison's motion:

Nays—Allen, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Blanchard, Butler, Call, Camden, Cockrell, Coke, Colquitt, Daniel, Dubois, Faulkner, Gibson, Gordon, Hansbrough, Harris, Hill, Irby, Jones (Ark.), Kyle, Lindsay, Martin, Mills, Mitchell (Or.), Morgan, Murphy, Pasco, Peffer, Perkins, Pettigrew, Power, Pugh, Ransom, Roach, Shoup, Squire, Stewart, Teller, Turpie, Vest Voorhees, White, Wolcott—45.

The house is making wonderful progress with the sundry civil bill. To-day forty pages of the bill were disposed of making in all eighty-three in two days, and leaving sixteen pages more exclusive of two paragraphs, those relating to the coast and geodetic surveys and the Missouri river commission, which were passed over temporarily. No amendments of importance were adopted to-day although the Northwestern members made a vigorous effort to increase the amount for the survey of public lands. The appropriation for the geological survey which usually encounters bitter opposition, to-day passed unchallenged, the amount appropriated being $414,000.

Washington, March 16.—The seigniorage bill has passed the senate 44 to 31. The following is the detailed vote:

Friends of the bill say President Cleveland will sign it, while others claim that it will be vetoed.

The senate also passed the bill to amend an act authorizing the construction of a high wagon bridge over the Missouri river at Sioux City. The amendment extends the time for the construction of the bridge until March 2, 1896. A charter was also granted the Iowa & Nebraska Pontoon Bridge company, authorizing it to build a bridge across the Missouri river near Sioux City, Iowa, and to after an executive session of thirty-five minutes the senate took the adjourned a bill granting to the Duluth & Winnipeg Railroad company a right of way through the Chippewa and White Earth Indian reservations in Minnesota. Bills to extend the time for completing a bridge across the Missouri river between Kansas City and the town of Sibley, Mo., and granting right of way to the Duluth & Manitoba Railroad company across the Fort Pembina reservation in North Dakota were passed, and the senate adjourned until Monday.

Washington, March 19.—The house today resumed consideration of the sundry civil bill. When this is disposed of, which will probably be done to-night, the house will take up the four contested election cases which are pending — the O'Neil-Joy case from the Tenth Missouri district; the Williams-Settle case, from the Fifth North Carolina; the English-Hilborn case, from the Third California, and the Whatley-Cobb case from the Fifth Alabama. The O'Neil-Joy and English-Hilborn cases, which were both decided against the sitting members (Republicans) by a strict party vote in the committee on elections, are the most important and will require the major portion of the time.

The senate devoted itself to routine business of no general interest. It is probable that the fortifications appropriation bill will be reported from the committee, and if it should be, an effort will be made to take up the discussion and put it upon its passage. For the rest, there will be an effort to dispose of the government printing site, the Russian thistle appropriation and the McGarrahan bill, and of a large number of special bills on the calendar.

Washington, March 21.—The sundry civil appropriation bill was passed by the house without division. The amendments to the appropriation for the general land office, amending the provision of the act of 1891 repealing the timber culture and pre-emption act, which was adopted in the committee at the suggestion of Mr. Holman, and which was bitterly opposed by the Western members, was defeated in the house. The clauses which sought to require an accounting by the disbursing officers of soldiers' homes to the treasury department, and annual reports by the boards to the secretary of war, failed, as did Mr. Black's point of order. The bill as passed carries $217,000 more than it did when reported from the committee on appropriations.

The tariff bill was to-day fairly launched on its way in the senate, Mr. Voorhees, the chairman of the finance committee, reporting it to the senate, and giving notice that on April 3 he will take it up for consideration. The rest of the day was taken up by Senator George of Mississippi in a discussion of the legal aspects of the Hawaiian question, defending the action of the president. There is but little interest manifested in the proceedings, and there was a very slim attendance in the galleries, while the Republican side was almost deserted. Several unimportant bills were passed in the afternoon, and after a brief executive session the senate adjourned.

GOV. RICH SUSTAINED.

Lansing, Mich., March 21.—The supreme court this morning rendered a decision sustaining Gov. Rich in removing Secretary of State Joachim, State Treasurer Hambitzer and Land Commissioner Berry for gross negligence in failing personally to canvass the returns of the amendment election of 1893. They hold that it was within the power of the governor to remove such officials under the constitution, and that he has power to determine as to the facts. A judgment of ouster is entered. As soon as the decision was read, Col. Atkinson, for the canvassers, announced that he would appeal the case to the United States supreme court and asked for a stay of proceedings. Chief Justice McGrath refused the stay, saying the point could be determined just as well if the ouster went into effect immediately. The cause took the removal of the officials by permitting the manipulation of the returns of 1893, whereby their salaries and that of the attorney general were largely increased. All of the above officials and several clerks have been indicted by the grand jury on various charges of fraud.

ITALIANS INJURED.

Altoona, Pa., March 21.—A mob of 300 men and boys went out to the edge of the city yesterday, where twenty-five Italian laborers were at work, and with sticks, stones and pistols drove them into the woods. One of the victims was seriously wounded in the neck by a pistol bullet; another was so badly beaten that he may die, and several others were seriously hurt. The men attacked were brought here yesterday by a Philadelphia contractor, and put to work on a new electric railway to be built from this city to Bellwood. Repairing to this city, the mob repaired to the Italian quarter and notified the residents of that portion of the city that they must leave at once. A large number of them have already obeyed the order, and men are guarding. Mayor Heress and Sheriff Hughes called the mob together and begged them not to go any further in the matter, and promises were made that all the Italians would be discharged and none but resident labor be employed on the new road. This had the effect of quieting them somewhat, but there is still a very ugly feeling among them.

NOW IN THE SENATE

TARIFF BILL REPORTED FROM THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Consideration of the Measure Will Begin April 2—Important Changes Are Made by the Committee Before Reporting the Bill.

Washington, March 21.—The Wilson tariff bill, as amended by the senate finance committee, has been reported to the senate by Chairman Voorhees. In reporting the bill, Chairman Voorhees gave notice that it would be called up in the senate on Monday, April 2.

The provisions abrogating the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty are struck from the revised bill and a specific declaration is inserted repealing the reciprocity treaties negotiated under the McKinley act. Other changes made in the revised bill from the bill as agreed upon by the subcommittee, are as follows:

Glycerine is changed back to the rates fixed in the house bill, which are 1 cent per pound for the crude and 3 cents for refined, instead of 20 per cent ad valorem, in the senate subcommittee bill; licorice, 15 per cent ad valorem instead of 25 per cent ad valorem in the senate subcommittee bill, and 5 cents per pound in the Wilson bill; blues containing ferocyanide of iron are restored to the Wilson bill rate, which is 6 cents per pound, instead of 20 per cent ad valorem in the senate subcommittee rate; lime is placed at 15 per cent ad valorem, instead of 20 per cent in the senate subcommittee bill, and 10 per cent in the Wilson bill, and the duty is made to include the value of the covering or barrels; plaster of paris, which was not changed in the Wilson rate of 10 per cent ad valorem on the ground article, is to pay a duty of $1 per ton; calcined plaster of paris, $1.25 per ton, instead of 15 per cent ad valorem in the Wilson bill; cast polished plate glass, finished or unfinished, and unsilvered, not exceeding 24x60 inches square, 20 cents per square foot, instead of 18 cents in the Wilson bill; all above the dimension given, 35 cents per square foot, instead of 30 cents as in the Wilson bill; all sheets of iron or steel, common or black, thinner than No. 25 wire gauge, and black taggers, iron or steel, pickled or cleaned, is changed from 9-10 of 1 cent per pound to 3-4 of 1 cent per pound, and the provisions which have been held for the tin plate and which was stricken out of the original bill, that the tariff shall take effect after Oct. 1, 1894, is restored; tin plate, terne plate and taggers tin, 1 cent per pound, instead of 1 1-5 cents as in the Wilson bill, the senate subcommittee not having before changed from the Wilson bill in this paragraph the subcommittee provision that the rate shall take effect after Oct. 1, 1894, is restored; cast iron pipe of every description, 22 1-2 per cent ad valorem, instead of 25 per cent in the Wilson bill and 20 per cent in the senate subcommittee bill; crosscut saws, mill pit and draw saws, 15 per cent ad valorem, instead of 25 per cent, the Wilson bill rate; aluminum in crude form, 15 per cent ad valorem, instead of 25 per cent, the Wilson bill rate. The leads and lead ore duties are left unchanged and iron ore duties as in the senate subcommittee rates, as are the iron ore and coal duties.

An increase is made in duty on shirts to 50 per cent. Tariff in playing cards is left as in the Wilson bill. The provision for a 20 per cent duty on pineapples and bananas is struck out. Cocoanuts, brown straps and horn tips are restored to the free list. In internal revenue the tax on cigars and cigarettes is made as in the present law.

The provision in the income tax amendment relating to a tax on building and loan associations, which was exempted by the house and stricken out when the senate subcommittee reported the bill has been restored with the proviso that the tax shall not be levied upon those institutions which make no loans except to stockholders for the purpose of enabling them to build homes.

Clauses are inserted in the bill defining more strictly who are manufacturers of and dealers in tobacco.

The language of the bill repealing the McKinley act has been modified to a considerable extent. The house bill provided for the repeal of "all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith."

The senate committee bill, when first reported, struck out that language and named the McKinley bill by title and repealed it, together with its parts inconsistent with the present bill. The bill reported to-day provides specifically for the repeal of section 3 of the McKinley act, the reciprocity section, and inserts the following, abrogating the treaties made by this section:

"All agreements or arrangements made or proclaimed between the United States and foreign governments, under the provisions of said section are hereby abrogated, of which the president shall give such notice to the authorities of said foreign governments as may be required by the terms of such agreement or arrangements."

Sections 15 and 16, of the McKinley law, are repealed specifically.

These sections provide that the producer of the forests upon the St. John and St. Croix rivers, in Maine, and their tributaries may be readmitted free of duty.

The section which was inserted in the bill by the senate subcommittee, regarding the Hawaiian treaty, has been eliminated from the bill, the effect being to leave the Hawaiian treaty in full effect and force.

Tramp Who Needs Hanging.

Bruce, Wis., March 21.—A tramp attempted rape on the 12-year-old daughter of D. Arrance last evening, about three miles from this city, entering the house while the parents were away, demanding supper and then making his brutal attempt. Officers are after him, and if he is caught it is feared he will be roughly dealt with.

Death of a Redwood Farmer.

Redwood Falls, Minn., March 21.—John March, a wealthy farmer residing near this city, died this morning of heart disease. Mr. March was 71 years old. He was born in Canada. He leaves a wife and two grown up children.

Maj. O. F. Hayes Dead.

Hastings, Minn., March 21.—Maj. O. F. Hayes, one of the survivors of the old First Minnesota regiment of the late rebellion, died from diabetes to-day. He was 60 years of age and a member of Dakota Lodge No. 7, A. F. & A. M.

Old Tickets Renominated.

Providence, R. I., March 21—The Democratic state convention met here to-day and nominated the ticket which they had in the field in 1892. The Republicans did the same a few days ago. The Democratic ticket is: Hon. David Baker for governor; Dalton E. Young for lieutenant governor; John J. Offerman for secretary of state; James A. Alrich for attorney general and John M. Penny for general treasurer. The platform commends the repeal of the Sherman coinage; the pending tariff legislation; the repeal of the federal election law and the conviction of Boss McKane.

Blind Pig Raid.

Glenwood, Wis., March 21.—A wholesale raid of blind pigs was made to-day. Ed Tuttle, John Schuster and Fred Auener were arrested, charged with selling liquor without a license. They furnished bail for appearance March 23, but the fight is in prospect between the liquor and no license elements.

THE POLLARD CASE

THE SENSATIONAL SUIT AGAINST BRECKINRIDGE.

Washington, Special.—The suit for breach of promise instituted by Miss Madeline Pollard against Congressman Breckinridge of Kentucky, which has been on trial for the past week, promises to be the most sensational in court annals since the famous Beecher-Tilton case. The time so far has been taken up with the selection of the jury, reading of depositions, and taking of evidence in support of Miss Pollard's claim that Mr. Breckinridge had promised to marry her. Friday Miss Pollard took the stand and commenced her story of how Breckinridge played on her affections and so completely gained control of her as to accomplish her ruin under promise of marriage. She also testified that Breckinridge was the father of four children born to her.

Washington, March 20.—Madeline Pollard faced her opponents on the witness stand to-day under a continuous fire of cross-questions, and the trial was like a play in which one actor is starred to the exclusion and belittlement of all accessories. Maj. Ben Butterworth, the ex-congressman from Ohio, played a minor part as the questioner, all the interest centering about the slender black-robed plaintiff in the case.

It was the most interesting day of the sensational trial, and it was made more so by the masterful display of the intellectual resources of Miss Pollard, and the telling replies which flashed forth at every turn of the plot as the lawyers followed up every possible trail which might lead to admissions casting any sort of shadow on the life of the woman apart from those passages which had been identified with the career of the Kentucky congressman.

Miss Pollard told of the illicit relations which had existed between her and Col. Breckinridge for many years. She said they continued until May 17, 1893. This produced a sensation, as Col. Breckinridge secretly married Mrs. Wing, his present wife, April 29, or nearly a month before his last visit to Miss Pollard. When Miss Pollard was asked how long she and the colonel remained at a certain assignation house in Washington she replied: "Two or three hours, wasn't it, Mr. Breckinridge?" at the same time looking directly at the defendant. This caused a general laugh which the judge rebuked. The witness said that Col. Breckinridge compelled her to give one of the children away. At one time during the examination Miss Pollard wept and was on the verge of fainting. Once during the testimony she declared that justice would be done, and "these men (looking at the jury) will see that it is done."

Washington, March 21.—The cross-examination of Miss Pollard was resumed to-day. A letter was handed to the plaintiff, which she said had been written by her to her protector, Mr. Rhodes. After looking at it she inquired why the heading had been torn off, Mr. Butterworth replying that he did not know, and her lawyers cautioning her that it was not her place to ask questions. Mr. Butterworth read the letter to the jury. It was dated Lexington, Nov. 20, 1884.

"Miss Hoyt has just asked me for the money for my board," it said. "Please, dear, get me that $40 before Saturday without fail. I know any one with as many friends as you can get it; you can come Saturday evening at 7 and stay until half-past 8. Be careful in talking and we can have a pleasant time. Put the money in an envelope and hand it to me at the door as you go. Yours truly, Madeline," was the signature. There was a reference in the letter to people who lived across the street whom she did not want to know or be made known to.

Another letter was presented to the plaintiff, scrutinized by her lawyers and read to the jury. "It was dated Nov. 27 and began "Dear Mr. Rhodes," and expressed worry at not receiving the money. Other letters of much the same character were read. One dated Feb. 9, 1885, spoke of her disappointment at not having received money, and told him not to come to see her unless he brought it. This was just before Miss Pollard was going away for the birth of her first child.

Among the letters were two dated at New Orleans and postmarked Toolesborough, Ky., in which the writer told Rhodes of her arrival in New Orleans, of the weather, and other inconsequential matters. Other letters, same dated at Cincinnati and others at Lexington, asked Rhodes for money, the sum varying from $10 to $40. Mr. Butterworth desired his questioning principally to the New Orleans letters, and the plaintiff frankly admitted that she had never been in that city.

"Mr. Breckinridge knows very well where I was at that time," she added.

"But I was not asking Mr. Breckinridge," Mr. Butterworth remonstrated. Her explanation when again asked was:

"Did your mother know where you were when you wrote those letters?"

"Mr. Breckinridge planned them all—dictated them to me. Some of them he wrote on the typewriter when I was in the asylum and not able to write, saying in explanation that I was learning the typewriter; some of them he wrote in advance and dated ahead. He would mail them on the cars or wherever they would not be postmarked."

She said that she received various sums from Mr. Rhodes.

Miss Pollard admitted that she threatened to shoot Col. Breckinridge in New York and he promised to marry her if she would not. The day after he was married to Mrs. Wing. She said people had sent her anonymous letters, telling of his relations with negro women. When Miss Pollard spoke about her dead baby she broke down and wept audibly. As she could not compose herself court adjourned.

Mrs. Eysbrood Will Live.

The Industries.

Washington, Special.—The census bulletin on manufactures in the United States was made public to-day. The statistics are given for all classes of mechanical and manufacturing industries. The total number of manufacturing establishments in the United States is reported as 355,401 against 253,852, in 1880. The summary of totals given the following figures for 1890: Capital, $6,524,475,305; miscellaneous expenses, $630,944,058; aggregate of the average number of employments, 4,771,832; wages, $2,282,823,265; cost of materials used, $5,158,868,353; value of products, $9,370,107,624. The number of establishments and aggregate capital invested in Northwestern states is as follows: Iowa, 7,440, $77,513,097; Minnesota, 7,505, $127,686,618; Montana, 280, $4,203,794; North Dakota, 382, $2,864,553; South Dakota, 499, $3,207,796; Wisconsin, 10,417, $246,515,404.

Nova Scotia Elections To-Day.

Halifax, N. S., Special.—A general election is in progress throughout the province, the legislature having expired by limitation. The last general election was in 1890. The party headed by Premier W. S. Fielding, which has been successful in the last two general elections will again carry the province.

Robbery at Newport.

Decorah, Iowa, Special.—Burglars broke into the postoffice at Freeport last night, broke open the safe and took $700. Freeport is located about five miles from here, and is a town of 500 inhabitants. The postoffice is connected with a general store. Snyder Bros., the proprietors, tracked two men from the store to the Bridge on Water street, and there lost the trail. Snyder Bros. offered $200 for the capture of the parties.

Gold on the Lahn.

New York, Special.—The steamship Lahn, which arrived this morning, brings 225,000 francs gold consigned to this city.

KOSSUTH IS NO MORE.

Turin, March 21.—Louis Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, died here at 10 o'clock last night. He had been residing for the last twenty-five years at Turin, engaged in completing his biography. Lajor (Louis) Kossuth was born at Monok, in the county of Zemplin, Hungary, in 1802. His parents were poor, but of noble rank. Choosing the legal profession, Kossuth studied law at the Protestant college of Sarospatak. In April, 1848, at Debreczin, the national assembly declared the independence of Hungary and that the Hapsburg dynasty had forfeited the throne. Kossuth had urged that this radical measure be taken. It was followed by his being appointed provisional governor of Hungary. He was speedily beset with difficulties, being disappointed in his hopes for the intervention of the western powers and having to cope with a Russian army which had come to assist the Austrian cause. To put an end to dissensions between himself and Gorgei he resigned the dictatorship to his rival. The Hungarian patriots were defeated at Temesvar Aug. 9, 1849, and Kossuth fled into Turkey, where he was held a prisoner, but safe against both Austria and Russia. In September, 1851, he was liberated, and sailed in an American frigate to England. There he was received with the warmest evidences of admiration, as subsequently in America. He landed in America in December, 1851. His speeches aroused the greatest enthusiasm wherever he went. Kossuth returned to England in June, 1852. He resided in that country until the Italian war against Austria broke out. This led him and most of the other expatriated Hungarians to leave for Italy.

St. Paul, March 21.—Among the compositors employed on the Pioneer Press is William Waigli, whose father was Louis Kossuth's private secretary from 1848 to 1852, comprising the whole period of the Hungarian revolution and the sojourn of Kossuth in the United States. Mr. Waigli had full charge of all the patriot's affairs, correspondence, etc. He accompanied Kossuth upon his travels in this country, and when Kossuth returned to Europe he entrusted the Hungarian refugees in the United States to the care of Mr. Waigli, who took them to St. Louis. Mr. Waigli remained in this country and took up his abode in Milwaukee, where he died in 1870. His widow, who still lives in Milwaukee, has possession of many valuable papers left by Kossuth bearing upon the revolution in which he bore so prominent a part.

HIGH WATER.

The Ouachita River in Arkansas Breaks Its Record.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 21.—The high-water record of the Ouachita is broken. Rain has continued to fall almost incessantly all day, making the fifth day and night it has poured almost without ceasing. Every small mountain stream has been converted into a roaring river, while the Ouachita is raging, sweeping everything in its path. No trains have yet moved on the Hot Springs railroad, as the track is still under water to the depth of nearly eight feet at one point where it runs near the river. There is no telling when trains will move, as the river is still raging, and an old river man says it will continue to rise until 12 o'clock to-night. He says the river is now nine feet higher than it has been in forty years, and he is doubtless correct. The Gaines farm at Lawrence Station, on the Hot Springs railway, is under water, and the old Gaines residence, which has stood there for nearly fifty years, is inundated. Never before has the water been high enough to touch this house, so this is conclusive proof that the river is higher than it has been in fifty years. The ferryboats along the river have been swept away, and all farms in the bottoms have been swept of fencing and left as barren as a bald prairie.

THEY WILL NOW WED.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 21.—The final decision of the secretary of the interior in the land case of Francis L. Box and Jerry Dunnmon against Jessie M. Sinclair has been received. Box is knocked out because he went upon the land prior to the date of opening under the law, Dec. 20, 1890. It seldom there is a tinge of romance about a land office case. There is in this one. Miss Sinclair, whose home was at Durand, was a school teacher. Her affections had been gained by a worthy young man, whose home is not far from the Sinclair homestead in Pepin county. Both were poor. She determined to do her part in giving herself and her future husband a start, and with this purpose she settled on the land in question, a portion of the water reserve territory. The land she gets is worth about $4,500, having valuable pine on it. Friends of the young lady state the wedding will now take place in the near future. Hoke Smith's decision has settled that.

QUINCY HAS GOLD.

Quincy, Minn., March 21.—While the Rainy Lake and Redwood Falls gold excitement is at its height another "find" is reported from an unexpected quarter. Jacob Mello, a small farmer living on the middle branch of the Whitewater river, who has recently secured title to a large tract of wild (and hitherto worthless) land comprising several thousand acres, known as "the pines," has made public the discovery of both "free gold" and an immense vein of gold-bearing quartz on this property. An old forty-niner, who has fully explored the property, pronounces the prospects equal to anything he had ever seen in the palmiest days of California mining. Operations for improving the mine will be commenced at once.

Mooresfield, Ind., March 21.—It is currently reported that Miss Alice Hicks of Napoleon, Ripley county, a college student here has fallen heir to a fortune of $100,000. Her aunt in Texas willed her entire fortune to the young lady.

Russo-German Treaty.

Berlin, March 21.—The Russo-German commercial treaty ratifications were exchanged to-day at the foreign office, between Baron Marshall von Bieberstein, the secretary of state for foreign affairs, and Count Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador.

Nickells Nabbed.

Minneapolis, Special.—A highly sensational finale to the Graham-Nickells series of episodes was sprung yesterday when Clint Nickells was arrested at the home of Mrs. Maud Davenport Graham, at Twenty-second street and Aldrich avenue south, on a charge of adultery preferred by the injured husband in the case, Willis H. Graham. The warrant was served upon the amorous Clint by Inspectors Morrissey and Courtney, who relate something of a sensational parting between the man and Mrs. Graham as Clint started for the police station. Mrs. Graham has just returned from Wahpeton, N. D., where she has instituted divorce proceedings against her husband. Mrs. Graham is the daughter of the late "Tony" Mason, as he was familiarly known at Kansas City. He was worth over $1,000,000, and lived in a castellated mansion in the swellest portion of the city. Maud was Mason's eldest daughter, and is said to have been a gay girl from her early days. She married Willis Graham in Kansas City in 1883. She inherited a big fortune from her father. Nickells, until the time of his going to Wahpeton, was a druggist at Kansas City, and is also said to have been a hummer. He was married to a highly respectable young lady of Kansas City, and is still so. It is told of Nickells that he has neglected her to give his attentions to Mrs. Graham.

Mello Has Fled.

New York, Special.—The Herald's Rio de Janeiro special says: Admiral Mello has just been seen in the streets of Montevideo. He has deserted his followers as Admiral da Gama deserted his officers and men on the harbor fleet. The insurgent sailors here will be pardoned. The officers will be court-martialed.

Scarlet Fever Epidemic.

Winnebago City, Minn., Special.—Scarlet fever has been prevalent in the vicinity for some time, not only in Winnebago City but in the surrounding towns. The schools and churches will be closed.

DOES IT WORK QUICKLY.

The striking thing about the execution of Vaillant was the appalling quickness of it all. Action was so rapid, says a writer in the New York World, between the instant he appeared in the doorway of the prison to the moment the knife fell that it was almost impossible to distinguish the slight details of incidents. He flung himself regularly against the plank, was strapped to it and in the flash of a glance the plank was pushed forward on the platform of the guillotine. An instant's vision of a recumbent figure, face downward, in the same moon of a head, with two staring, wide open eyes, which almost defied gravity, as it seemed, and with a slight zigzag movement, to the right ward, while simultaneously the plump body rolled in it, convulsive, into the capacious basket at the bottom of the frame of the guillotine. The swiftness, the mechanical promptness of the business fairly crippled the spectator's faculties. It is impossible to realize that a human life could end in less time than it would take to draw a full breath. The guillotine had done its work and Vaillant was a shriveled sense of horror in the sight. Twenty-four hours later no one could have associated Barbis with perhaps the most impressive vengeance society has ever taken upon the reverse. He March even festival was being kept as he Mardi Gras known since the beginning days of the republic, in spite of the London weather, as it is called, all Paris gayety was given over to French fun-making were unobtainable visible in every quarter. Pageants of needless idle folly streets in theatrical garb. The concert halls contributed a carnival immensely successful in merry making. Scores upon scores of high chariots, bedecked with every fanciful device known to stage management and crowned with the dedicated horns of the season, kept the population in spot mouth delight from early morning to midnight

Embroidering Flowers.

It is not the polisher alone who uses natural flowers for studies. They are also of great use to those who embroider them in their natural forms and colors. If this work is done perfectly it is well for one who has the least power to paint studies of flowers in water color to be used in the winter, and the same every flower study that she owns it across so that she may get the right shadings for buds, leaves, stems and blossoms. A handsome bang ing of crossed ribbon satin with a tinge of pink in it has across one side and the foot a band of rapid blossoms in which the colors selected for the embroidery have a very real effect. Wood brown is the color used for the stems, four shades of sage green for the leaves and white and pink for the leaves, while for the flowers that one wide deep cream white is used, with a faint tint on the edges, and a little deeper touch of pink on here and there a pistil. In the heart of the flower there is a little pale green and one faint touch of yellow pistils. Embroidery nowadays is so much used on art that shading has to be carefully studied, and it will be found as well for the novice to select conventional patterns, or, if a bird or flower conventional coloring, which may often be used with excellent effect.—New York Tribune.

Found a Red Hot Place.

"What on earth are you stopping here for with the weather at 11 below," asked the bright young man with a cigar stuck at the corner of Woodward avenue and Congress street, as his companion halted suddenly.

"Getting warm," said the tall man at the end of his sentence dropped down on the frozen pavement. "Say, you fellow," and a little deeper touch of pink on here and there a pistil. In the heart of the flower there is a little pale green and one faint touch of yellow pistils. Embroidery nowadays is so much used on art that shading has to be carefully studied, and it will be found as well for the novice to select conventional patterns, or, if a bird or flower conventional coloring, which may often be used with excellent effect.—New York Tribune.

is if you're a suffering woman, demands Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There's no other medicine so good for women's peculiar ills. No matter what distressing your symptoms, it relieves you promptly and permanently, if faithfully used. It makes weak women strong, sick women well. It's a permanent cure in every chronic case of weakness or displacement, in catarrhal inflammation, and in the displacements of women. Red Liberty, O.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I can cheerfully recommend your "Favorite Prescription," "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Pleasant Pellets" to any one suffering from a disordered liver, or from any disease of the female organs. Anyone taking these medicines according to directions cannot help but receive benefit. I was troubled with leucorrhœa, and after taking two bottles of "Favorite Prescription" I was entirely cured. I have also used the "Discovery" and "Pellets" with good results. Yours truly, Mrs. Hannah Hoffman.

THE DENTISTRY OF TO-DAY.

When we think reverently and admiringly of the father of our country, and of all the dangers he dared and the evils he encountered so as to get out to remount one of the hardest trials of his life; and that must have been the accomodation of his mouth to a set of teeth manufactured from ivory and taken from that mouth, and carved, it is said, from a whole block of ivory. When he had contrived to accomodate himself to the annoyance, the affair became to been a singular revelation that his smile made, and Lady Washington may have found something trying in the face opposite her of the greatest and grandest of men. What a marvel in comparison is the dentistry of to-day, that knows how to preserve the teeth indefinitely while that is bestand so to preserve the shape of the face and the delicate beauty of the lips and gums necessity can absolutely remove the bone, and put in its place the prepared rubber, so that the face shall be devoted and clamped, till a fair face is the envy of a queen, and what a difference in the teeth made to-day to supply deficiencies, so light, so useful, fitting so readily to the place, that the wearer most longs to see nature replaced and improved upon universally.

Yet in spite of the beautiful delicacy and regularity of the modern artificial teeth in general, a certain kind of effect is obtained when the teeth are not so perfect, and such an effect is due to a typical prototype. A little gold filling here, a wedge-like arrangement in the gap, a hint of overlapping, an atom or two of unevenness at the end, all these give the unlassdidance look, mischief and precise perfectness does. This, however, is a mere surface artifice for the unfascinance in giving individuality to the mouth. All and each of these little peculiarities are the result of unconsciousness of the person possessing them; they are the natural result of retaining points to the memory or the imagination And provided they be not too obtrusive, and the work be sufficiently wholesome looking otherwise they do not at all interfere with the charm of "sugared lips parted with sugar breath." It is with difficulty, indeed, that many of the teeth that give they are so in ugly and projecting shape, and the difficulty, and is never for and life of the countenance. A man whose beard largely hides his teeth can even more than a woman, have a great advantage, so far as teeth are spoken of, that a man's mirror of these teeth are not all they should be. But great is the marvel of dentistry and life-like and comfortable as artificial teeth can now be made, under skilful manipulation, and the wearer

A tarantula is on exhibiton at Beach, Cole & Beach's grocery store that was found in a bunch of bananas on Wednesday. The animal, which is a large specimen, was put into the glass jar to which it was transferred and since then hundreds of little tarantulas have hatched out. Mr. Cole now has enough of the variety to give his friends each one—if they desire a souvenir of that character.

H. H. Hart, secretary of the State Board of Correction and Charities, was in the city today on official business, his visit being for the purpose of inspecting the jails and poor farm in this county. Mr. Hart informed a Dispatch representative that he was very much pleased with condition of the county institutions, the county jail being in the best possible shape all things considered. He spoke very highly of the management of the poor farm, stating that the buildings were clean, neat and tidy and expressed the opinion that Overseer McCulloch evidently knew his business although he is a new man in the position. Mr. Hart left for Atkin on the 10 a. m. freight.

Four for Stillwater.

District court has been in session during the week, and will probably be finished to-night or to-morrow. The grand jury, of which W. D. McKay was foreman, returned indictments against Geo. Vyvette and John Sullivan, the men who passed forged checks at J. H. Koop's store last week and also against B. Howard, John Karl and John Gallagher, the three men who robbed Veon's jewelry store. Howard turned states evidence in the latter case, and the other four men plead guilty to the charges and were sentenced to one year each in Stillwater prison yesterday afternoon, Sheriff Spalding taking them to that place to day. Indictments were also returned against J. W. Porter for grand larceny and also burglary, and against J. Guiett for assault. Mr. Porter pleading not guilty.

The civil cases of importance were: M. Hagberg vs. G. G. Hartley; verdict for plaintiff $179.

Flint Wagon Works vs. Gray & Wheatley; verdict for plaintiff for $1087.

S. E. Olson vs. H. Spalding, verdict for defendant $8,500. This is the case where the real parties at suit as defendants were H. Rosenblatt and J. S. Gardner, the latter gentleman having attached the Rosenblatt stock, and while it was in Sheriff Spalding's the fine instance case was begun by S. E. Olson and shipped to Minneapolis.

J. Guiett was convicted of assault and sentenced to pay a fine of $30 or 40 days in the county jail.

When court adjourns it will be until April 26th at which time it will be reconvened.

To Help Brainerd.

Brainerd was honored with a visit from Ex-Gov. A. R. McGill and B. F. Nelson on Wednesday, the latter's business being an inspection of the Northern Mill Co.'s interests here. The former gentleman represents the Northern Trust Co., of Minneapolis, and the latter is a member of the lumber firm of Nelson, Tenny & Co. An offer has been made for the mill property and the visit was to determine as to whether the price named was enough for the plant. Mr. McGill stated that the deal would be closed up on his return to Minneapolis. It is altogether probable that the transfer of the property, together with other deals that are being made will help Brainerd materially.

James McCabe Shoots Tom Murry.

A serious shooting affair occurred on Fifth street Monday night at 12 o'clock—James McCabe, commonly known as "Farmer," and Thomas Murray being the parties who figured in the affair. Several stories are current as to what lead up to the shooting, and just how it occurred, but the exact details will probably not be known until the matter is aired in the courts. As near as the writer can learn McCabe and Murray have not been on the best of terms owing to some account which the latter owed. It is stated that the two men met early in the evening at Crowley & Hait's saloon on Sixth street, and McCabe refused to shake hands with Murray and some words passed. The latter left the place and about midnight they met near the building formerly occupied by L. W. Burrell as a blacksmith shop, on Fifth street, and after some words a fight ensued. At this juncture several men came upon the scene, among whom were Charles Katz and Mr. Conley. The men were both down on the sidewalk pounding each other, finally getting on their feet. McCabe then pulled a gun and fired, the ball from the 38 caliber revolver striking Murray on the left side under the arm, and he fell to the sidewalk, while McCabe turned and walked a short distance toward his place of business, and it is said made the remark "I had to protect myself." Patrolmen Hurley and Quinn, who were near the Last Turn saloon heard the shot and hurried to the scene as fast as possible and placed McCabe under arrest. Murray with assistance walked to the jail where his wounds were attended to by a physician, and later on he was moved to the Lumberman's Hospital on a stretcher. McCabe was then turned over to Sheriff Spalding, and placed in the county jail. On Wednesday the ball was removed from Murray's body being taken out near the back bone, and he is now in a fair way to recovery.

On Tuesday McCabe was brought before the municipal court and Judge Chipperfield continued his examination until March 30, remanding him to jail without bail. On Wednesday his attorneys McClenahan & Mantor, applied to the district court to have the prisoner admitted to bail, and the application was granted, bail being fixed at $2000, the bond being signed by J. C. Jamison, A. C. Gould, L. W. Chase, Wm. Gergen, J. H. Kelehan and C. E. Peabody.

Easter Opening.

A grand opening of spring millinery will take place at Mrs. C. Grandelmyer's parlors to-morrow (Saturday) March 24th. The finest and most fashionable line of goods obtainable in the eastern markets will be displayed for public inspection. Something exquisite in Easter hats. The ladies of Brainerd and vicinity cannot afford to miss the opportunity.

Republican Club Meeting.

A very enthusiastic republican club meeting was held at the municipal court rooms on Wednesday evening, and was presided over by President John T. Frater, who made a very neat fifteen minutes speech at the opening. In the absence of C. E. Chipperfield, secretary, N. H. Ingersoll acted in that capacity pro tem. The object of the meeting was to elect delegates to attend the state club convention at the Minneapolis on the 28th, A. J. Halstead, A. T. Kimball and R. H. Paine being chosen as such. An informal talk was had after the election, at which time the names of several gentlemen were brought before the club, who had signified their desire to become members, and the fact that several of them had heretofore been life long democrats it was taken as a significant fact that the people are beginning to get their eyes open to the duty they owe the country.

It is expected that at least twenty gentlemen from this city will attend the McKinley demonstration at Minneapolis next Wednesday as tickets to that number have been reserved for Crow Wing county.

Please call early at our store on the 31st of March to avoid the rush. Everybody will be there with one or more keys to get that $25 in gold and silver.

Only one team was seen hauling wood to the station Wednesday during the storm. Not even the man who hauls wood with a cow was in.

Some people around here are getting pretty light fingered lately. A short time ago a jar of pork, a jug of kerosene and a lantern was taken from Becker & Palmer's camp. This is not the first instance we have heard of but hope it will be the last. The parties concerned have a pretty good idea who the thief is and will be ready for him next time.

John came home the other morning after being absent for two days. He said he had not slept any during the two nights and had had a good time. He did not mind being up on such occasions, but did not tell us, however, where he had been—we can guess pretty near. We expect to be able to tell something more next time.

We were visited by a man the other day looking for work who claimed he had been in Brainerd after his winter's work in the woods, and while there had been robbed of his money and shoes. Such cases are frequent and nearly all are caused by the cursed drink, alcohol.

We have heard a rumour among railroad men to the effect that the Gull River depot is to be moved to this place. We cannot vouch for the truth but would like to see it come just the same.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

The Patron Saint.

Even the elements vied with each other in doing honor to St. Patrick's Day, which was fittingly observed in this city Saturday last. The chief attraction, however, was the entertainment given by the young people of St. Frances Catholic Church at the opera house in the evening and which was a success in every respect.

The entertainment was billed to open at 8 o'clock, but at 7:30 every available seat was occupied, and by the time the curtain was raised standing room was at a premium. At exactly 8 o'clock Brainerd Lodge A. O. H., in regalia, marched into the opera house to martial music in a body and filled the seats in front of the parquet which had been reserved for them. The stage decorations were very pretty and called forth many a complimentary remark. Music was furnished by Whitford's superb orchestra, and several pieces of music suitable to the day were listened to with great pleasure by the audience before the curtain went up on the first act. The play "A Soldier of Fortune," was presented in a manner highly complimentary to the young people who took part in it, and exhibited a vast amount of hard work on their part, as at no time were there tiresome delays in the progress of the play, and the lines were perfectly rendered, something unusual in an amateur entertainment. C. D. Johnson, as Col. Fitzmoodle, the soldier of fortune, a soldier to whom the glimmer of regimentals and brass buttons was more acceptable than the smell of gunpowder, was immense, but as Charlie has appeared before the Brainerd public many times before, the audience expected him to do his part well, and he did not disappoint them. J. F. Gerrity, as the villian, was well up in his part, and did the sly underhanded work to perfection. J. C. Hart, as the bankrupt guardian, impersonated the difficult role with intelligence, and many compliments were tendered him. J. P. Early, as Orril Clifford, and H. J. Linnemann, as Dr. Fargo, were both good, and rendered their respective parts in a manner that commanded the approval of the large audience. Jas. Willis, jr. as the spoiled boy, was a pleasing feature of the entertainment. R. E. Atkinson, as Snowball, the negro servant, was void of sight, and brought down the house, as did also James Somers as Barney, the Irish gentleman. Miss Mamie Carney, Miss Carrie Morrison and Miss Sarah Canan, in their respective roles of Miss Agnes Belmont, Miss Ida Lowewell and Miss Pricilla were all very pleasing, and rendered their parts in a manner that captivated the audience.

Between the acts orations suitable to the occasion were delivered by Rev. Father Lynch, H. C. Stivers and A. J. Halsted, each of which was well received by the assembled audience. Songs were also rendered by Mrs. H. Thevret, S. F. Alderman and J. P. Gardiner, and in each case the singer was brought before the audience a second time so loud and long was the applause.

The occasion was one of financial benefit and enjoyment, and those who attended were highly pleased with the home entertainment. The receipts amounted to $301.25, the expenses being $67.15.

Cheap Rates to California.

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company has put into effect a series of low round-trip rates to California points. Tickets are good until July 15th, 1894, and are good for stop over under certain conditions.

These rates will enable those desiring to do so, to spend the winter in southern California, or to visit the mid-winter fair to be held at San Francisco. This latter event will undoubtedly be second only to the World's Fair and will repay a visit as it will exhibit the resources and capabilities of California.
