The story that Mrs. Palmer is to write a history of women at work at the world's fair is calculated to evoke a panic stricken entirely that the fair historian will suppress the history of that part of the feminine work so startling the demonstration of female ability to conduct very lively debates at the woman's board.

Miss. Sarah Grand, whose "Heavenly Twins" is only now being thrown from hand to hand in the thick of enthusiasm, is a remarkable woman. She was born in Ireland of English parentage and was married at 16 to an army officer, finding herself altogether too boys. Several subsequent years were spent in China, Ceylon and Japan.

Man is never so helpless as in an earthquake. He can dodge convulsions of the air and even though he be rooted to a tornado he can sometimes hold on if he can get a grip on the earth. But when the earth and the rocks are convulsed there is no hope for him in the present undeveloped state of aerial navigation. The people of Greece are to be pitied.

It is confidently believed that petroleum has been struck in Somersetshire, England, in such quantity as will well pay for working. The discovery of oil was made some weeks ago, and experts have since been making experiments in the region. Professor Redwood the "chief petroleum authority in England," says better results have so far attended the experiments than have been noted in some of the best American oil fields.

Since his retirement Mr. Gladstone has received many hundreds of invitations from admirers all over the United Kingdom, and the gifts are still pouring in. He has received several dozen walking canes and a number of canes, a box of oddments clubbed together and sent him a handsome armchair, and many more pretentious presents have come to him. The items are always entirely spontaneous, no suggestion of such a thing having been made in the newspapers until their number became notable.

One of the little known curiosities of the far west side, in New York is a tiny restaurant whose walls are completely papered with play bills. Nearly all are lightly framed in wood, and they are hung so close together that no space shows between the frames. Along with them hang portraits of actors and actresses. One of these is a somewhat rare engraving of Ada Rehan in early youth. The proprietor is the son of a former restaurant keeper at Newark, N. J., whose place was frequented by actors. The son was thirty five years in collecting his treasures and for nearly twenty years they have been displayed on the walls of this obscure little restaurant. Billy Birch, the retired minstrel, visits the place once or twice a week, and other theatrical men drop in now and then.

STRIKE IS SETTLED

THE GREAT NORTHERN MEN WIN THEIR FIGHT.

Mr. Hill Concedes Nearly All of the Demands of the Strikers, and President Debs, of the Railway Union, Declares the Strike Off.

St. Paul, April 28.—The Great Northern strike has gone into effect at St. Paul, Minneapolis and at all points on the line from this city to the coast. Within five minutes after the committee had arrived at Mr. Hill's house to call all the men out the order had been sent out to President Debs, and the fight is now on in dead earnest. The company claims that it has enough men now in its employ who will remain at work, while the American Railway union assert just the contrary.

President Debs was seen by a reporter last night and made the following statement when asked what was the situation, he replied:

"Everything is at a standstill in the Great Northern yards in this city, and the men have already received notice to quit the order to strike. These trains were started in the yards in South Minneapolis.

Two of these were freight trains, respectively, of the Chicago, Burlington roads on their way to the Minnesota transfer, but unable to proceed on account of the strike. Switchmen being out with the strikers, and the passenger train of the Great Northern railroad, which is part of the Great Northern system, was also standing at the same point and the engineer and fireman had deserted their engine. The conductor was standing near by and he had refused to talk. The train left the depot at 10:05 on its way to Seattle, but it was only partly heard of the order to go out until they reached the yards. It is said that the action of all of its crew except the conductor, and the baggageman and brakeman, will be the same. The train is occupied by quite a number of passengers and is made up of the express, passenger and Pullman coaches, mail car, baggage and express car. It is said last night that the committee that the strike should apply at once to the Great Northern, but the officials of that road are apparently determined not to be behind their competitors in the fight.

It appears now that unless the strikers get their demands granted they will and commit depredations other than that of merely refusing to work. In calling on the United States authorities for protection against the strikers in the care of United States marshals, the state authorities appear to believe that the Great Northern management has placed the matter in the hands of the federal government. The state officials are not able to cope with the strikers the United States troops will be called to their assistance. It is stated that the Third infantry at Fort Snelling is being held in readiness to start at a moment's notice to any point where there may be trouble. It is thought that it will be ordered out as soon as the public sentiment this morning, but found that nothing new regarding the strike had been received. All of the officials had heard was a vague rumor that the Great Northern men had struck, and early afternoon had been stopped and discontinued at St. Paul. Later in the afternoon Debs reached the governor's or any of the other officers of the state relative to the strike. The train was abandoned owing to the fact that the road could not be operated.

President Hill was called on immediately after the order for a general strike had been promulgated, and stated that he had very little additional to say further than what had already been given out. The company, he said, proposed to operate its lines with such men as it could obtain to do the work, and I do not anticipate any difficulty in securing a sufficient force of the men will obey the order, and I do not anticipate any difficulty in securing a sufficient force of the trains. I intend that every wheel on the line shall be moved if it can be done in time as possible, and this latest move of the committee does not change the situation so far as the company is concerned."

Judge Sanborn has made his injunction permanent.

St. Paul, April 30.—Arbitration has been rejected by the Great Northern strikers and it is now believed that it will be a fight to a finish. Late Saturday afternoon work was ordered by Gerry Byron, of the Commercial Club of Minneapolis, and Chas. Kellogg, of Minneapolis, Board of trade, Commercial club and kindred organizations to meet in conference committee whereby they might furnish expression to the belief that no settlement can be effected unless satisfactorily settle all questions now in dispute between the road and its employes, and asking him if he would not what could be done in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Mr. Hill replied that to constitute a committee to attempt to confer with the strikers would be to put the Business Men's union, received a similar message, and plans were immediately taken by the executive board, and it was decided that the action ought to be taken at once.

The Great Northern restored the wages of the employes and the men went to work on the Eastern division on the 1st of March. The morning 300 regular troops left on a special train for Duluth to assist the United States marshals there in making arrests.

When interviewed regarding the restoration of wages, President Debs said that if the wages of the shopmen, the switchmen and engineers were restored he would call off the strike, whether or not the American Railway union was recognized by the road.

"The new schedules were not accepted by the engineers or firemen," he said, "yet the Great Northern apparently has restored the old rates. The organization can, of course, make whatever demands they see fit, but the strike will not be called off until the road has been settled with all of its employes."

The strike order did not apparently attach any importance to the restoration of the wages of engineers and firemen, except that he considered it a sign of weakening on the part of Hill.

St. Paul, May 1.—A meeting of the executive committee of the Minneapolis Central Labor federation, composed of delegates who composed of C. A. Pillsbury, J. S. Pillsbury, H. T. Wyman, W. D. Washburn, F. G. Winston and F. R. Hubbard. The St. Paul committee waited on Gov. Clough, Kelly, Richard Gordon, George R. Finch, C. W. Hackett and Channing C. Seabury. Upon the executive committee of the Minneapolis federation of labor, and the following representative body met President Debs and Vice President Howard of the A. R. U., for the avowed purpose of finding out the exact measures for settling the strike as speedily as possible. The committee of the strikers would not be recognized by the committee of the strikers would not be recognized by the committee of the strikers would not be recognized by the Wired Sleeves and Wheldoned Revers.

Among inconvenience devices for holding expanded sleeves in the desired shape Worth is using a single threadlike wire stitched in the upper edge of the sleeve drapery. This is not put in simple but loon puffs, but in a scarf around the top of close sleeves, starting in the inside seam, then swinging out at the shoulderth, dropping to show the sleeve nigdemeath, and swerved to it without meeting. The open draped top is then faced with ribbon of a contrasting color, and the ring wire is stitched along the upper edge in the seam which adds the finish. Thus a shot pink and green taffeta suit has sleeves of this kind faced with black moire ribbon two inches wide. Using a wire in the edge of the top. Other trimming on the waist is a full ruff of white crepe lisse falling low from a stock of black moire ribbon, and almost reaching a belt of the same.

Another novel way of giving breadth to sleeve drapery is that of putting a slender whalebone in a rever of huge open-set triangular storage reaching from throat out on the wide sleeves. This is an extreme fancy, however, and not as the fine plaited reverse and bows of the Directory period. A straight length of silk four or five inches wide is folded across in fan pleats, then stripped in the middle, and a whalebone is bunched in about the upper edge. When set on at the throat the pleats catch side of the scrap full like an open fan from below the whalebone top, and thus makes an effective drapery for the shoulder. A very rich gown with waist of white Venetian guipure lace has such a bow of pale blue silk bracketed with purple violets. The huge sleeves have wired tops of the silk, and the side of each full of the lightest shade of Parma violets.—Harper's Bazar.

Local News Notes.

John Denis was in the city from Little Falls yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Parker have been in St. Paul during the week.

The street sprinkler made its first appearance Monday morning.

J. W. Koop and Con. O'Brien were St. Paul visitors Wednesday.

Miss Carrie Morrison has been spending the week in Minneapolis.

A. G. Gallup will close out his stock of confectionery and retire from business.

A. E. Veon is moving his jewelry store to the corner of Seventh and Laurel streets today.

John McGinnis left Monday for his old home at Caledonia where he will remain for some weeks.

The ordinance relating to cattle and horses running at large will be strictly enforced after Monday next.

T. P. Wood, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. left Monday for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to attend a meeting of that society.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McMullen, of staples, passed through the city Monday on their way to Shackopee on a visit.

Geo. R. Franklin, of Pillager died on Tuesday at the age of 63 years. The funeral was held on Wednesday, Rev. Clark officiating.

S. Goltnar, practical hatter and furrier, will clean, dye and block all kinds of hats, for a few days, at John Orth's, the tailor. Bring in your hats to repair.

It is understood that a local lodge of the A. R. U. will be organized in this city to-night, a meeting having been called for that purpose at Peabody & Baker's hall.

Bert Steadman, formerly an employe of the N. P. company here but who for two years past has been located at Berlin, Wis., is in the city renewing old acquaintances.

Andrew Morse, aged 54 years, died at the mill boarding house this morning of consumption. The funeral will be held from the Catholic church tomorrow, Rev. Fr. Lynch officiating.

Commissioner Joel Smith has gone to the state school for homeless children at Owatonna with a lad named Raymond Turrel, who will be placed in that institution. The boy's mother is dead and his father deserted him.

Rev. P. Knudson, leaves the city to-day for Hinckley, where he has accepted a call as pastor of the Presbyterian church. Mr. and Mrs. Knudson have many friends in Brainerd, who wish them success in their new home.

The board of education held a meeting on Tuesday evening for the purpose of acting upon the report of the committee on teachers. The report recommended the hiring of C. E. Young as principal of the high school at a salary of $900 per year, and was adopted by a vote of seven to two.

Frank Carlton, a river driver claiming to be a resident of Iowa made a great stir at Wadeda, claiming to have found two dead men and a dog with a hunting and trapping outfit in a cabin in the forest in upper Cass county. He was afterwards arrested for burglary and finally confessed the story to be a fake. The sheriff, coroner, and a posse of men from Wadena hunted two days for the cabin, but of course, couldn't find it.

The Norwegian citizens of Brainerd have decided to celebrate their independence day, May 17th, and A. Mahlum, M. J. Quam and J. M. Johnson, have been appointed a committee on arrangements. The exercises will take place at Columbian Hall, and Prof. W. W. Wenaas, of Minneapolis, has been invited to deliver the principal address. Speeches will also be made by A. J. Halstead, H. C. Stivers and A. Mahlum. Good music will be in attendance, and a social dance will follow.

The notice of the DISPATCH has been called by a subscriber to the careless use of firearms by boys in the city. An instance is recalled where a lad in the presence of other smaller children was shooting at a mark with a revolver in an alley in the second ward, and it is but a matter of time if such things are allowed to go on, that some one will be seriously injured if not killed outright. Parents should see that their boys do not have revolvers, and the authorities should investigate such reports and act accordingly.

The Grand Rapids Magnet says that during the past winter D. M. Gunn has been quietly but effectually at work negotiating for the necessary means to rebuild the Hotel Pokegama, which was so unfortunately destroyed by fire in March, 1893. On account of the stringency in the money market, Mr. Gunn has been delayed in perfecting his arrangements. But through the assistance of several of the lumberman he has succeeded in getting his business affairs in such shape as to begin the rebuilding of his hotel at once, providing nothing unforseen transpires to interfere. And it is going to be a daisy. No ginger bread affair, but a handsome structure that would ornament any town five times the size of Grand Rapids.

Hon. G. W. Holland will hold court at Grand Rapids next week.

The fire department made a run to Ninth street south this morning, a burning hay pile causing the alarm.

Memorial Day will be duly observed in this city, and the G. A. R. Committee having charge of the arrangements are perfecting them as fast as possible. T. Merrill Edmands will deliver the Memorial address at the Congregational Church on Sunday morning preceding Memorial Day, and he will be invited to act a chaplain. Rev. Geo. H. Davis and Rev. Fr. Lynch will be invited to deliver addresses on Memorial Day. The exercises at the cemetery and the decoration of the graves will take place in the forenoon, while the speaking and exercises at the park will occur in the afternoon. The city schools will be asked to assist and W. A. M. Johnston will drill a company of school boys to march on the occasion. The city council has been asked to cooperate with the committee in making the observation of the day as successful as possible. The secret societies and the public generally will be invited to participate in the parade.

The Evangelistic Meetings.

The evangelistic meetings in Gardner Hall are a great success. Over 800 were present Sunday evening. Monday night, in spite of the rain, an immense audience, the majority of whom were men, gathered to listen to Mr. Hunt's experience as he told how he was led to give up a lucrative law practice to engage in evangelistic work. The most marked feature is the character of the audience. All classes, religious denominations and nationalities are gathered to hear the gospel. Never was there such unity among the churches and Christian people. In the testimony meetings all alike testify to the saving power of Christ. All have remarked the good order and the close attention given to the speaker and the reverential spirit manifested by all present. The interest is growing and deepening. The joy of the Christian life is particularly emphasized by Mr. Hunt. The programme for the coming week is as follows:

Friday night, the Power of Choice. No meetings Saturday.

Sunday at 2 p. m., children's meeting, "Daniel." Special music.

Sunday night, men's meeting, "Salvation."

Women's meeting at the Methodist church at the same hour.

Monday night, Christ before Pilate, legally considered.

Tuesday night, How long halt ye between two opinions?"

Wednesday, all day meeting, "Naaman."

Thursday evening "God is calling you."

Friday evening "Why should the work Cease?"

Bible readings take place at 3 p. m. daily, excepting Saturday and Sunday. Good Gospel songs are sung at all these services.

Brainerd & Northern Minnesota Sold.

An order was granted by Judge Russell this morning authorizing the sale by the Northern Trust Company of the stock of the lumbering road leading from the Northern Mill Company's plant to the lumbering region at Spider Lake. It was shown by the testimony of C. A. and Geo. S. Pillsbury that the road had no commercial value except as a lumber road. The stock of the road had been held as collateral by J. S. Pillsbury & Co., and the sale of the road to the big lumbering syndicate recently formed by Nelson, Tenny & Co., Carpenter Bros., E. W. Backus and others. This syndicate has purchased the land and the road would be of use to them only. The price agreed upon between the parties is $275,000, less the debts incurred in the construction of the road. Possession of the road is to be given Aug. 1, and $25,000 to be paid at that time, deferred payments bearing 5 per cent.—Minneapolis Journal.

Cut in Two.

The Pioneer Press, always abreast of the times, has reduced its subscription rates just one-half. The new rate on the daily and Sunday editions is but 50c. per month, $5.00 per annum, in advance; for the daily without Sunday, 40c. per month, $4.00 per annum in advance; Sunday only, $1.50 per annum, in advance, 50c. for three months. The Pioneer Press is now the cheapest metropolitan newspaper in the country. Its high standard will be thoroughly maintained, and, in view of the largely increased circulation which it will most assuredly have, it has entered into arrangements to even greatly improve the paper. Every one can now afford to have a daily paper, as it costs but 4 cents and a fraction per day. All orders should be addressed to the Pioneer Press, St. Paul, Minn.

Bids for Work on County Road.

May.

This month, the fifth in our calendar, was the third with the Romans. The origin of the name is somewhat doubtful, but the best etymology seems to show that it is derived from the goddeness Maia, the mother of Mercury, that swift messenger of this month, in one respect they deemed it to be unlucky,—to contract marriages in May. In our mother-land of England, from time almost immemorial, the first day of May has been a time for floral festivities, and innocent out-of-door jollity. During Cromwellian times the severe sectaries abolished the may-pole dances and did all they could to turn the world into what they declared it to be,—a vale of tears. "Happily that day of prejudice and bigotry has passed, and we welcome the month of flowers, as we should, a charming gift from the Creator. Travel in the Northwest is never pleasanter than in this month, and no part of this section is more attractive than the beautiful valley of the upper Mississippi. A journey along the east bank of this picturesque river, if taken in the elegant fast trains of the Burlington Route, will always be a pleasant memory. For tickets, maps and any information, apply to your local agent, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul.

A torpid liver is as contrary as one creature who possesses it. One seems to be the appanage of the other. Simple remedies are better than medicines unless the case is of long standing and is serious. Sometimes a pint of water, not ice cold, however, taken immediately on rising, is beneficial. An orange, eaten on rising, is not bad to take and sometimes is all that is necessary. A diet of vegetables and fruits and abstinence from the usual sweets are an excellent corrective. Exercise of a vigorous character is a necessity.—Washington Star.

Cheap Rates to California.

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company has put into effect a series of low round-trip rates to California points. Tickets are good until July 15th, 1894, and are good for stop over under certain conditions.

These rates will enable those desiring to do so, to spend the winter in southern California, or to visit the mid-winter fair to be held at San Francisco. This latter event will undoubtedly be second only to the World's Fair and will repay a visit as it will exhibit the resources and capabilities of California.
