MINNESOTA is the banner butter-making state of the Union and that is something to be proud of.

WHEN the Wisconsin pups want to fight, they run over into Minnesota and we get the credit for it.

FERGUS FALLS is lucky in having a bill appropriating $175,000 for a federal building in that city pass the senate.

IT isn't a rash thing to state that four-fifths of the voters of Minnesota favor McKinley for the nomination of the republican national convention.

THE board of managers on Wednesday elected ex-Senator W. H. Houlton, of Elk River, to succeed Wm. E. Lee as superintendent of the state reformatory at St. Cloud.

THE candidacy of Wm. E. Lee for governor has so rattled the Pioneer Press that in an article on state affairs it credits him to Clay county and the Seventh district. Whether it is done intentionally or not is a question, but in either case it shows the ignorances of the writer and does not add any credit to the political sagacity of the political editor of that paper.

WITH seven avowed candidates for governor in the field before March 1st the average voter will certainly not be lack for the opportunity of expressing his preference for a "favorite son" for the nomination. There is hardly a section of the state that is not represented in the list. The northern part of the state is looked to to solve the problem.

THE Duluth Commonwealth evidently sees the hand writing on the wall and makes the following comment: "If silver is the issue and the rest of the district is against free silver then Towne can hardly be renominated. What the situation will be outside of Duluth we have no means of knowing, but it appears that many exchanges, of which we may not represent the opinion of their constituents, are pronounced against it. All that remains to be seen."

Wm. E. Lee's Announcement.

Hon. Wm. E. Lee has finally concluded to enter the race for the nomination as governor, and makes the following announcement in the city papers:

"I cannot afford to sit idly by and see my friends continue to boom my name for the governorship. I am no spoonie one way or the other is absolutely necessary to be made at this time. And after giving the matter the most careful and conscientious consideration, and with the advice and co-operation of those who have been my lifelong political friends and personal friends, I have decided on the course to be pursued. That course is to be a candidate for the office, in the interest of no faction, but to aid the candidacy of my other worthy aspirant for the office, but simply to comply with the expressed wishes of the great number of my friends who have repeatedly urged me to enter the field. I fully understand what this move means; it is to leap in the dark, but the result of careful consideration of the prevailing conditions. I hope I am not over sanguine. I trust that my reformation of the situation is not gained from any but the most reliable sources. In justice to those here, as well as long supported me for office, I could not longer maintain silence in respect to the gubernatorial situation. From now on I shall be in the fight to win. I shall conduct a campaign free from abuse and vilification of all other candidates, but I shall make a campaign that will count. One thing on which I shall rely more than any other is the feeling of friendliness of which I am assured from men who are best known and highly respected throughout the state. To these I trust my future."

WITH SUICIDAL INTENT.

Mrs. James Burton Takes a Quantity of Carbolic Acid and Will Undoubtedly Die.

Mrs. James Burton, wife of Yardmaster Burton, of the N. P., about 8 o'clock this morning took a quantity of carbolic acid, said to be three tablespoonfuls, with the avowed intention of ending her life, and as a result lies in an unconscious condition at her home on Sixth street south with no hopes of her recovery. Mr. Burton returned from a six weeks visit to Indiana on Tuesday, having been accompanied by his little son. The evening nothing unusual was noticed in his wife's actions, until after breakfast, and they had gone across the street to the residence of Claude Burton, where some business matters were being talked over. Mrs. Burton left the house to return home before Mr. Burton did and when she entered she went to a stand and picked up a bottle, had one or three table spoonsful of the contents, when the attention of a nephew of Mr. Burton's, who was in the room, was called to what she was doing by some remarks she made, and he saw by the label on the bottle that it contained carbolic acid. He at once rushed to her side and dashed the bottle to the floor and a physician was called, but it is thought that so much of the acid went into the stomach that her recovery is impossible.

The attending physician tells the Dispatch that there is no doubt but that the lady was laboring under temporary insanity when the rash act was committed.

No New York senator has presided over the senate since 1798, and only twice, in 1820 and 1823, has a New Yorker been elected speaker. But New York has furnished eight vice presidents, so her sons, after all, have had their share in occupying the chair of the senate.

There is no stopping the movement. A new woman in Nebraska who has been running a boarding house and supporting a husband, advertises the fact that he has left her bed and board and that she will no longer be responsible for debts contracted by him. The medical experts in the Dusstrow case seem to have got the "paranoia" and its winding way through the newspapers. It was a total strangee to everyone but the experts when it came about it at Union, Mo. And now we find in a New York paper an item about a horse that was a paranoiac, and was shot. He became too wicked to be allowed to live—fighting, biting and kicking so as to endanger the lives of all who went near him.

The French senate proves itself to be a more powerful body than the British house of lords. As a "second chamber" it is not quite so potent and aggressive as its American counterpart, but now that it knows its importance it can be relied upon to be more self-assertive hereafter. At any rate, the illusion that the chamber of deputies could be as omnipotent, in a crisis, as the British house of commons has been destroyed forever.

Madrid, March 2.—No one may judge by the things that have been said and done by the ministry that the country—to-day, the Spanish people are enthusiastically disposed to go to war with the United States, and to speedily avenge the insult which has been heaped upon Spain. Among the cap- to the haughty pride of Spain by the tured in the Cuban waters there is no account and fitting out expeditions and reinforcements of soldiers and ammunition of war while combatting the insolence of the United States in Cuba. The day has been characterized by many manifestations of public enthusiasm. Processions in favor of Barcelona 15,000 Spaniards went to the extreme of using violence upon the consulate of the United States and stoning it breaking several windows in the building. The bodily harm was done to anybody except to certain members of the United States consular charged by the police and dispersed.

Some of the organs of public opinion declared that unanimity of the Spanish government would not prevent the Spanish people from taking the initiative in the matter, and that Baby's Nap.

When baby is put down for its usual nap by the day time, it sleeps for about so long and then gets restless. If one can lift the child very carefully, have some one shake the pillows up and rearrange them comfortably, then lay the little one down on the other side in an easy position. It is almost always the case that the nap will continue for an hour or so longer; but if the child gets uncomfortable in its clothes, the pillow is bother it and it will wake up as cross as the proverbial young bear.

If the baby awakens fretful and out of sorts it is either sick or hungry, or has had too much sleep. There is another thing that few people seem to realize, and that is arranging the child's clothes with a view of ease and giving it plenty of room. We all know that if we lay down in the daytime in our usual warming apparel we do not sleep half as long as when our clothes are loosed. Indeed, nervous people sometime find it impossible to go to sleep with the clothing in the ordinary fashion.

It is a good idea to take off the little one's shoes, sometimes the stockings, and in cold weather to have a warm cloth around the feet. Canton flannel is one of the very best resisters of warmth that can be found. It is far ahead of wool for this purpose. Unplug the lamb and untie the strings and let all the garments be loose, then the baby, especially if it be a very nervous child, will sleep quite as long as one wishes. Some mothers completely undress the little one, putting on its night clothes, and they find it greatly to their advantage to do so. •

A Wealthy Tramp.

John Swinn, a misg, well known over the Central Western states, through which he has roamed as a tramp for the last fifty years, died on his farm, near Alton, Ohio, the other day, aged 94 years. Many rich wealth have been published from time to time, but his miserly instincts kept even John J. Chesser a long distance in his generation. Even knowing the extent of his possessions. He owned a farm on which he was living, consisting of seventy-eight acres, and is supposed to have a large amount of money hidden.

Ten years ago Swinn was robbed of $10,000 while on a tramp, and as he recognized his assailants, he had them arrested. At the trial they alleged that of the old man, saying that he had never seen so much money. To which the judge replied that he might have had the $10m he took from the belts about his body at the time Swinn was arrested if before their eyes. Swinn told his attorney afterward that he had buried this new Indianapolis.—New York Sun.

An Interstate Cellar.

A miliant escort from the city was called into North Georgia to report upon a supposed gold find. He had got wet through, and when seated before a roaring fire in the old-fashioned fireplace he asked his host: "Is it possible to get anything warm to drink?"

"I dunno of any hote' made in the gal't of Georgy, sah. Some over on Sand mountain, I reckon, thirty miles from hyar." The escort thought slightly that the man was afraid he was an informer and succeeded in convincing him to the contrary. "Well, mister," said the host, "I tell yo' the truth. I ain't much of a hand in this part of Georgy. I'll sen' my boy to Tennessee an' git some licker." The boy soon returned. "Sam to the store, Tennessee an' got some licker." The boy soon returned. "Sam to the store, Tennessee an' got some licker." The boy soon returned. "Sam to the store, Tennessee an' got some licker." The boy soon returned, "Sam to Alabamy, then." In about ten minutes the boy returned with a bucket filled with brandy. Upon investigation it was learned that the house was in the corner of three states with a separate cellar in each.—Philadelphia Times.

Romance of a Grown-Up Baby.

A romantic marriage occurred in Atlanta on Sunday afternoon, the parties to it being Mr. J. P. Bailey of Jackson, Mich., and Miss Hodges of Virginia. Mr. Bailey is somewhat past fifty years of age and the bride about thirty. The acquaintance began during the war, when Miss Hodges was a baby.

It happened when the Northern soldiers approached Jackson, Miss. The parents of Miss Hodges resided there at that time, and when the grand rush to avoid the Yankees was made, Mrs. Bailey, then a Confederate soldier, secured a wagon and removed his wife. Hodges family, in the hurry and excitement the little girl was forgotten, and she was not missed until the family had gone several miles. Mr. Bailey returned to Jackson and found her, which he did. The child was found in the road, near her home, crying. Mr. Bailey carried her to her parents. Soon after that Mr. Hodges moved with his family to Virginia, and Mr. Bailey saw them no more for thirty years. Recently a letter from Mr. Hodges informed Mr. Bailey that he had returned to him to look up his old friends and see what had become of them. The letter also told of saved from the invaders in the long ago. He went to Virginia and found her residing school. They corresponded and agreed to meet at Atlanta and wed

The admission is 25 cents, and the date is March 11th, next Wednesday evening.

PRYDE PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER.

The Grand Jury Brings in Twelve Indictments, Being Two Murder; Manslaughter, Forgery and Lesser Crimes.

District court has been in session since Monday morning, Judge Holland presiding, and from the number of indictments returned and their character, the indictments are that another week or ten days will be consumed before the calendar is cleared.

The grand jury finished its labors yesterday afternoon and the following are the indictments returned:

John Pryde, murder in the first degree. Pryde was brought before the court this morning and plead guilty to the charge as set forth in the indictment. He will probably not receive his sentence for some days. Leon E. Lum was appointed as counsel by the court.

Charles Dahl, manslaughter in the second degree. Dahl is charged with hitting Nick Johnson, and last night entered a plea of not guilty. W. A Fleming has been appointed by the court to defend him.

John McElroy, assault in the first degree. McElroy is charged with pointing a loaded gun at James McQabe and threatening to shoot him.

John Boland, forgery in the first degree on two accounts. Boland has plead not guilty, and Judge S. F. Alderman has been appointed by the court to defend him. Boland changed his plea to guilty this morning.

Sam. McMeekins, forgery in the first degree on two counts and grand larceny. McMeekins entered a plea of guilty to the first indictment and the last two were dismissed. J. H. Warner was appointed counsel by the court.

Ed Powers and Nat Wells, burglary in the third degree. These are the men who were charged with breaking into C. M. Hyers' store. They entered a plea of guilty.

Chris. Hacey, misappropriation of money. Mr. Hacey was treasurer of school district No 18 and it is charged that he appropriated $165.85 of the school money to his own use.

Sol. Williams, wilfull injury to personal property.

The grand jury made the following report:

To the Hon. G. W. Holland, Judge of the District Court, Crow Wing and Cass Counties.

We, the grand jury, of the counties of Crow Wing and Cass, for the March, 1898, general term of the district court, respectfully report that we have examined the county jail in and for said counties, and find that the same is in a good sanitary condition and well managed. In our opinion the present jail is entirely too small to properly accommodate the number of prisoners usually confined therein, and we would respectfully recommend that the same be enlarged.

Of the civil cases for trial by jury but two have been completed. The jury in the case of Michael Weichselbaumer vs. Receivers of the N. P. Railroad company, returned a verdict of $72.50 in favor of the plaintiff, the claim being for stock killed on the railroad track near Wheelock.

The jury in the case of Earl Tucker vs. Justin M. Gray, is still out.

Among the attorneys from abroad attending the term of court are Lagerquist & Lagerquist, of Minneapolis. Crowell, of St. Cloud, B. F. Hartshorn, of Staples, Oscar Taylor, of St. Cloud, and C. M. Johnson, of Detroit.

A Fine Attraction.

Manager Silvers, of the Sleeper Opera House is securing some very fine attractions for the theatre-going people of this city these days.

Wednesday the John Stapleton Co. one of the finest dramatic companies traveling, delighted a fair-sized audience with a splendid production of "The Wife," and next Thursday evening Marie Wainwright, the favorite actress, will appear in the splendid society drama, written expressly for her, entitled "Daughters of Eve." Miss Wainwright has the reputation of being one of the strongest and most pleasing actresses on the stage, and her appearance here will be a rare treat to our people. She appeared here several years ago, it will be remembered, with Louis James, the great tragedian, in Virginius, appearing in the role of Virginus. Those who had the pleasure of seeing her then, will not fail to attend, and let their friends know of her worth, that they too may have the pleasure of seeing her. "Daughters of Eve" is pronounced by critics to be the strongest American play written in recent years, hence it will readily be seen that a great treat is in store for the amusement loving public.

Peterson Died Sunday Morning.

Andrew Peterson died on Sunday morning at the Lumberman's Hospital from the effects of the wounds inflicted on Monday evening previous by John Pryde. An autopsy was held Sunday afternoon, at which time it was ascertained that neather of the two bullets that hit him in the back of the head penetrated the skull. The ball that entered his head near the right eye and ranged downward into the one which caused death. A. Peterson, a son of the dead man, arrived in the city from Belgrade, Stearns county, on Sunday, to take charge of his father's remains. He stated that his father was 67 years old, and that he leaves a family of Mankato. He was a widower, his wife having died three years ago, and he leaves children all of whom live in Minnesota. The remains were taken to Belgrade for burial.

Willard I. Stager Attempts Suicide.

Willard Stager, for some years a resident of Brainerd in the employ of the N. P. railroad company, attempted attempted suicide in a cell at the Pryor Avenue police station at 5 o'clock yesterday morning says the Pioneer Press. The noose which he made of his suspenders for the purpose of hanging himself, failed to support his weight long enough to cause death. The jailer heard the noise and hastened to Stager's rescue. It did not take long to revive him. The man was in such a state of nervous exhaustion that it was found necessary at 10 o'clock to remove him to the city hospital.

Stager had been locked up for fear he would commit suicide. It had been reported to the police that he had sought death by pounding himself on the head with a coupling pin. The attempt at suicide in the cell was real enough, however. Stager made a noose of his suspenders and then tied them to the bars with his neck scarf. The noose he tightened about his throat. Then he bent his knees, bringing the weight of his body to bear on the unprovised gibbet. Strangulation is slow by such a process. Doubtless Stager would have had the patience to endure it had the suspenders not given way. The man is considered flighty. He has had more than his share of domestic troubles, and may have preyed upon his mind. It is said that his wife left him some time ago and secured a divorce on the grounds of desertion. She also succeeded in getting the custody of their only child. Stager decided that life was not worth living. That Stager intended to kill himself was evidenced by a note found upon his person bidding good-bye to his parents and wife and child, of whom he begged forgiveness for his contemplated deed.

A SPECIFIC

—FOR—

La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs, AND LUNG TROUBLES,

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day in a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—MRS. E. WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

CAMPBELL & SMITH.

"Doing my own work."

How often have you heard a tired woman make this remark? Very often, no doubt. The

Majestic Steel Range

Was made for these noble women who devote their lives to the comfort and welfare of others. There are many things that commend this invention, but not the least is this: It makes housework no longer a drudgery, but a pleasure.

We have tried it; we know what it can do; we recommend it.
