The Walker Pilot says that Chief Flat Mouth, head of the Pillager Tribe of Chippewa Indians, who was driven from the reservation six years ago by threats of death from his tribe for not agreeing to their views in matters relative to Indian affairs has returned to the Loon Lake reservation. Times has demonstrated that Flat Mouth was absolutely correct, and his tribe sent for him at the Lake of the Woods, where he has lived since his exile. The pipe of peace has been smoked, and now the Pillagers acknowledge his wisdom and authority. Flat Mouth will soon go to Washington in behalf of his tribe and their interests. The Pillagers will abandon their Bear Island home and take up quarters at the agency.

Secretary Bliss has announced the appointment of Edward Warren of Wise Earth and George W. Jenkins of Pine River, Crow Wing county, as members of the Fine estimator corps. These appointments were made to take the place in the past made vacant by the death of five estimators detailed on other duty as supervisors of cutting of dead and down timber on the reservation. Warren, who is a half breed, is appointed at the special request of the Indians to protect them in these operations. It is said at the interior department that Chief Sooley of the estimator corps will be made chief supervisor of this work and that three other members of the estimating corps, in addition to Warren, will be detailed on the same business.

F. N. Dickson pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a bicycle Wednesday morning and was sentenced by Judge Alderman to pay a fine of $50 or spend 60 days in the county jail and on account of a lack of funds he is confined with Sheriff Erickson. The prisoner stated to the court that he was under the influence of liquor and not responsible for his acts. The stolen bicycle was the property of A. L. Nitting and when he found it was in the express office billed to Kenosha, Wis., and was being held for him until he could raise $5 which will repay the express on it.

Board of Education.
The board of education met in regular session on Monday evening and routine business was transacted. Andrew Mead was granted permission for the use of a room in the Sixth street building for a school of $8 per month and certain repairs. County Supt. Wilson was also granted the use of a room for the use of the Crow Wing County Educational Association on Oct. 9th.

The committee on grounds and buildings were granted further time to which to report on moving the old East Brainerd school building.

The committee on finance was granted further time to report on salary of C. C. Hewitt, of Minneapolis, was elected to fill vacancy as teacher at salary of $80 per month.

The bills of the examining board were laid on the table until the next meeting.

Miss Mueller's Dressing Class.
Miss Mueller, of Minneapolis, who so widely known throughout the Northwest as one of the most efficient dancing teachers, will open classes for adults and children at Gardner hall on Tuesday Oct. 12th. Miss Mueller has made frequent social visits to our city and has always been very popular among the dancing set.

She has gained a wide reputation not only throughout her knowledge of the art of dancing but by her affable manner and agreeable way in which she imparts all the social manners characteristic of the ballroom. Miss Mueller has recently returned from an extended visit to the east where she went to gain the new steps to be used during the winter all of which will be introduced together with the new German figures. She will be in Brainerd on Sunday and Monday previous to opening of the school and will be the guest of Mrs. Grandmeyer where she will be pleased to meet all those interested in the art of dancing. We are informed that the evenings are to be made thoroughly enjoyable in every way, instruction beginning at 7 and lasting until 9 after which there will be an informal program until 11:00. This is a rare opportunity for all and for those who feel a bit "rusty" it will be an excellent chance to "brush up."

The Boston Transcript calls Chicago a "hotbed."

Let us be just. If the St. Louis big-assed who has seen wives had lived in Chicago, he would have married the entire female population.

A New York man who tried to commit suicide one day last week married a widow the next. It is strange that in these days of prosperity any man should be so desperate as that.

It is pleasant to read that the straight up-and-down version of writing has been introduced in the St. Louis schools. Created writers have caused a lot of trouble to teachers and others from time immemorial.

On one occasion P. T. Barnum walked into Dr. Collier's church just as the preacher entered the pulpit. Barnum was put in a lock seat. "The clergyman asked him, and he said, 'I'm reading desk, and I'll tell you what I'm reading. I'm reading the Bible. When I go to his show he always gives me a front seat. I don't see why he should care equally well at my show.'"

Under the newspaper head-line, "Batter Times Coming," printed in a Kentucky paper, is the sub-headline, "Whiskey and Tobacco Sales Is Encouraging." Much depends on the power of the press, the most encouraging whiskey and tobacco article is that it is the most recent report of the United States commissioner of internal revenue, showing that in the last fiscal year there was a decrease of nearly a quarter of a million dollars in the tax on wine and liquor and a decrease of $1,000,000 in the tax on tobacco as compared with the year before, indicating a corresponding decrease of consumption.

Mr. Tenney's Down in the name by which the inhabitants of the little town of Waverly in the state of Tennessee, in the face of a little company of English and American admirers gathered to unveil and dedicate a statue in memory of the great poet. The memorial is in the form of a Greek cross, and stands high above the rocks and ferns on a landmark. It is a tribute to the memory of the poet, a tribute to the memory of the poet, a tribute to the memory of the poet, a tribute to the memory of the poet.

Dr. Wier Mitchell, lecturing to a school of nurses lately upon the necessity of self-control in the treatment of the disease, and the following incident: "One of his patients, white, a low nervous condition, and was a case of nervous prostration. She was hysterical. The nurse, feeling that the patient was going into convulsions from terror, when she would be impossible to control, she then frightened her nurse, taking a mouthful of the nurse's hair. She then went outside to rub her mouth with a doctor and a stomach pump. Her remarks said the life of the patient."

Left to Destroy the New Property and the Huge Main Col. Lapsed With a Crash That Could Be Heard for a Mile-Property Workmen Were Injured in the Mass of Broken Timber-All Were Promptly Removed, Two Believed Dead and Many Others Injured.

Charlevoix, Mich., Oct. 7.—The hotel at Ludlow Park, which was to have been the largest summer resort for the Northern Michigan resorts, fell with a crash and a new total wreck. It was all enclosed and red roofed, but the storm, which is so common here, caused the most exposed end to water and gathering momentum as it fell, the huge main rose like a water tower and with a crash, which was heard for a mile, having first worked and a mass of broken timber and splintered boards. In a few moments hundreds of willing hands were chopping and cutting away the wreckage, and in a short time the injured workmen were all removed to the ground floor. It was a terrible accident, and had not been the largest one of the season, but the loss of the property was a heavy one.

INGERSOLL & WIELAND.

Official Paper of Crow Wing County.

Published every Friday morning from 8 o'clock A. M. until 12 o'clock P. M. by W. W. Willard, Editor and Proprietor. Office in the building on the corner of Third and Second streets, Brainerd, Minn. Entered as second class mail matter, January 1, 1897. Accepted for mailing as second class matter, January 1, 1897.

Legal Notice.
We, the undersigned, hereby give notice of our intention to publish in the respective newspapers during the month of October, 1907, a list of names of persons who have been convicted by the courts of this county of offenses for which a fine or imprisonment is imposed, and who have failed to pay the same.

Friday, October 8, 1907.

The loss of life by the recent floods in China is placed at 20,000.

The murder trial in Chicago has been very detrimental to the exchange business of that city.

Courts evidently look pointers from Bryan and is conducting his campaign for governor in Ohio from the tail end of a passenger car.

The October appointment of state school funds was made on Monday.

Miss Duvaine has bought a bank and it goes without saying that she will have more money and less glory in the future and less to be envied.

Next, the father of prohibition died at his home in Maine Saturday.

Charles Cleveland wants to go to the United States Senate. The millions Grover accumulated while president will materially aid him in his future political aspirations.

At St. Michael's the usual order of the policemen to put a stop to the wide open gambling in that city and the mayor to get down with this counsel for interfering with law enforcement, refuses to sign any necessary warrants. The mayor evidently wants to be the whole thing.

Orders are strict.
The postmaster general has issued an order forbidding clerks, printers, publications or any substitute intended to induce the public to make these gifts or presents, to sell tickets for theaters, concerts, balls, fairs, picnics, excursions or places of amusement or entertainment of any kind, or to sell or borrow money or contracts when they do not have a reasonable prospect of being able to pay. The order is the result of complaints made generally by postmasters from various cities. It applies to all postoffices and to the department officials.

Tough on the Chink.
The agricultural editor of an eastern paper thus answers a correspondent who wanted to know how to keep his neighbor's hens out of his garden:

Dear correspondent: Take a lot of small, stiff cards, about 1 1/2 inches wide on them: "Please keep your darned old hens out of home." Tie a short string to each card, with a grain of corn at the other end of the string, and scatter them where the hens congregate. When the hungry birds gobble up the grain that brings the price, she follows up the string, stopping it every until she comes to the card. Then you will see her put her poor, carrying in her month your polite request.

Children and Schools.
The law in regard to sending children to school is not generally known and the following information from the statutes will serve to enlighten those who are ignorant of the provisions:

All children between eight and sixteen years of age, are required to attend either a public or private school at least twelve weeks every year, at least six weeks of which shall be consecutive. Children may be exempted by the school board for the following reasons: (1) poverty; (2) weak mental or bodily condition; (3) instruction at home, subject to the public school examination; (4) proficiency in the ordinary branches; (5) residence at a distance of more than two miles from the nearest traveled road. Persons having control of children and failing to comply with these provisions are subject to a fine of from ten to twenty-five dollars for the first offense, and from twenty-five to fifty dollars for every subsequent offense.

Interesting Report from Alaska.

O. R. Cook, of Stigler, who went to Alaska the early part of July in connection with his two brothers intending to prospect the White Horse or Chilkoot pass and get into the country overland has arrived home and in an interview he states that their trip was a failure and that they will try it again in the spring, when Mr. Cook will join his brothers, who are still at Dyea. Mr. Cook says that anybody who is willing to work on gold, get work paid $10 per day for unskilled labor. Men who are strong enough to "pack" can make as high as $25 per day. There are several prospectors who try to spend the summer packing, and they make $25 per day and board during the entire season. Mr. Cook says that the trip by way of the Chilkoot pass, although 2,000 miles shorter than up the Yukon by boat, is very difficult to accomplish. The cost of packing from Dyea to Lake Umbagog is a distance of thirty miles, is now nearly 50 cents, being an increase of 25 cents since the first of the season. Late last season the cost of a trip by the only route, prospectors experience a great deal of trouble on account of high winds. In the course of Alaska it is no uncommon thing to see waves five feet high on a river less than a quarter of a mile wide. The Chilkoot trail with the uncertainty of the channel and the daily way to reach the land of the yellow metal now is by the back-door route.

Mr. Cook estimates nearly 2,000 people have gone over the Chilkoot pass, while nearly 500 have started over the new route known as the White Horse pass. People have an idea that there is a scarcity of women in Alaska, but that is not the case. Nearly fifty of the last pack have gone over the Chilkoot pass, while a few have even attempted to make the trip over the more difficult of the two, the White Horse pass. Many women in Alaska dress in men's clothes, wearing high-top boots. The women who have gone to Alaska in the course of the yellow metal have stood the climate nearly as well as their more sturdy companions.

There will be no more teams to Circle City and points in the gold region until the middle of next July, and all supplies must be transported over the passes by the native dogs. These dogs are valued at $150 apiece in Alaska. Dogs have been transported from the United States for this purpose, but they do not stand the cold. Their feet are easily frozen, and the native dog is the only one that gives satisfaction.

The Indians of Alaska look to Americans very much like Japanese. They are inclined to be friendly, but are somewhat lazy and their services cannot be had as guides or packers for any reasonable amount.

There will no doubt be a great deal of competition for the Alaskan trade next spring and summer. Competition among the transportation companies will open up the country in a way that nothing else could do. The facilities for transportation have been very meager this summer, and the companies engaged in this business have been unable to care for half the business.

One reason for the scarcity of provisions in the gold region is on account of the steambot companies refusing to receive outside weighing over 200 pounds. Prospectors start out with a full year's supplies had to dispose of over half of it at Dyea before proceeding. Next year everything in Alaska will be cheaper, and the great influx of people which are certain to come to the shores, will make Alaska a more habitable place.

FORTUNE MADE OUT OF A LABEL IN WOMEN'S HATS.

Marie Covelli on the Hastings Mart—Putting Up a Posture—Women in Harbored—With Postcards—Our First Women.

A jet skyrocket, a bit of colored ribbon, a feather and a Vireo label—that's all. The whole business probably cost $1.50 at wholesale rates, but a "Vireo" trademark gave it a particular twist and earned the Vireo label label, and you are paying for the twist and the label, my dear lady, and you know it.

He, whoever that is who pays your bills, stores, frets, perhaps sweats, but you gayly lobbed the bill through the house with all sorts of feminine coquetry, and it was paid. And there were others—many others—the also fell victims to the Vireo twist and label and who looked the Vireo bills through the house, and from those bills sprang the Maison Vireo, limited, with a capital of over $1,000,000.

How much capital you must have done, my dear lady, to establish this business, preferred shares in which may be had at $10 apiece and ordinary shares $5 apiece.

The Earl of Warwick, whose wife (better known as Lady Brooke) took the Princess of Wales from attending Mr. Whiteley's dinner a short time ago, is to take the chairmanship of the company. "Think of it! Who would be strong enough to laggle over the price of a Vireo hat after this, when they say you buy a Vireo in an earl's pocket?"

The English aristocracy has never been so keenly interested in the Vireo as they are now. The English aristocracy has never been so keenly interested in the Vireo as they are now.

The business amounting to over $80,000 a year. The exhibition year, 1908, the net profits amounted to $180,000, but has been increasing in the past few years, by means of the profit—New York Evening World.

Marie Covelli on the Hastings Mart.
The subject of "Barbells," writing in The Lady's Realm, finds a congenial theme for her lecture in the modern marriage market. Beginning by declaring that there is a greater generation of civilized bachelors than ever before, she goes on to say that the Turkish slave market and its victims have been the subject of her lecture.

"It is an absolute grim fact that in England women—those of the upper classes, as a rule—are not today married, but bought for a price. The high and noble institution of marriage is entirely lost sight of in the solving, the lady's world, and the price."

True marriage is to the writer a religious duty, and she makes marriage an absolutely sacred thing except the great love, combined with the pure and faithful institution of the human pair. They may realize this if all that a God exists, and that before God, whom they solemnly acknowledge and believe in, they are one.

She tells a sweet story of an artist who lives in perfect happiness with his wife in a cottage in Capri, on a hundred year and ends his plain living and high feeling as an example to English women. This she draws her contrast: "There can be nothing more hideous, more like a forest of hell itself, than the life to life position of a man and woman who have been married into matrimony, or rather, as I prefer to put it, sold to each other for so many thousands per annum, and who, when the wedding feast is over and the 'fictitious' have done their full duty about the millinery of the occasion, find themselves alone together without a single sympathy in common, with nothing but the call of gold and the rattle of bank notes for their best mate, and with a barrier of steadily increasing repulsion and disgust rising between them every day. And this is what happens in nine cases out of ten in fashionable modern matrimony."

Women who are troubled with frequent headaches should be careful about washing the head. What is necessary to wash the hair, should instead of soap may be used in the water, which leaves the hair dry and more quickly.

The happiest woman is she who does not spend half her time undressing. She says the gray hairs her age warrants her in possessing.

The Pioneer Alaska railway is the Northern Pacific, and to that company belong the credits in connection with the Pacific Coast Steamship company, having inaugurated the sale of through tickets to points in Alaska.

SCIENCE OF HERALDRY.

The Crest in the Tree Badge of Chivalry and Nobility.

The real meaning of a crest is quite obscure to many people. The crest is, in fact, simply the ornament on the top of the helmet worn by a commander...

The crest is always, unless specially stated otherwise, placed upon a wreath upon the top of the helmet, and is always painted there. The crest was in use long before armorial bearings were, and is the true mark of chivalry and nobility...

"What Does That Mean." The letters "S. G. G." in chalk on sidewalks, fences, barrels and starting one in the face at every turn have called forth the above question many a time during the past few days.

There was a very much mystery about the matter but the usual inquisitiveness of the public was aroused and until it was announced that "S. G. G." meant Smoke Great Game cigars there was that feeling of unrest manifested every time a man came into the chalk letters. Then of course came the inquiry "Why Smoke Great Game cigars" and the answer to that is because they are a brand of goods being turned out at home in the factory of C. H. Kylo and are superb smokers. On Friday evening last Alderman and Mrs. D. D. Smith were surprised by about 40 of their friends, who took the house by storm and proceeded to make merry, the occasion being the 20th anniversary of their wedding. Among the many remembrances was a handsome Dresden china clock presented by the Hard Times club. The evening was a very enjoyable one.

W. I. Stager, well known in this city and who has been confined in the Fargo Falls insane asylum, escaped from that institution Sept. 5th and although every effort has been made to find the missing man no trace of him has as yet been discovered. Stager was clad only in his night shirt with his shoes on his feet and there is not much doubt but that he drowned himself in some lake or stream in that vicinity.

Improvements are being made at the post office this week by the addition of a new vault which is being built in the rear of the building by which Postmaster Johnson expects to be able to protect Uncle Sam's cash and stamps from the light fingered gentry who have been invading various post offices in the northwest during the past few weeks. The fixtures in the building have also been moved five feet forward which gives more room in the rear for the working force of the office.

On Monday morning Frank Whitaker while fishing below the dam near the old brickyard discovered the skull of a human being lying in the mud near the river with six or eight inches of the back bone attached to it. Six at once reported his find to Coroner Deas and the pieces of human anatomy was picked up and brought into the city. It is thought that the high water this spring washed the body up from its burial place at some point up river and that the skull floated into the place where it was found.
