Farmers' Institute at Brainerd.

Dr. J. C. Currier, assistant superintendent of the State Farmers Institute announces that on Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 14 and 15, an institute will be held in this city. This will be the first of our farmer friends and undoubtedly the attendance will be much larger than in former years. The corps of instructors are fully equal if not superior to any heretofore sent out and it is hoped that many will take advantage of the instructions on the first annual course. Let every farmer in the county attend.

DEATHS.

Anna John, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. John of Rice Ave., died on Sunday of lung trouble. The funeral was held Tuesday, Rev. Fr. Lynch officiating at the grave.

Mabel Larson, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Larson, died on Friday afternoon last of lung trouble. The funeral was held on Sunday at the church at Long Lake, Rev. Halladay officiating.

Myrtle, the 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fallon, died of pneumonia on Tuesday, the funeral services were held on Wednesday, Rev. Fr. Lynch officiating at the grave.

Lottie Elliott, aged 13 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Elliott, died on Thursday morning of appendicitis. The funeral will occur Saturday morning from the Catholic church, Rev. Fr. Lynch officiating.

A Matchless Woman.

Speaking of the Combs-Waldorf Co. that will appear at the Slesper opera house on Thursday evening, Dec. 3rd, the Cleveland Herald says: Before a face lovely in its every expression, a character so endearing and so genuine so majestic, the proper posture seems to be that of the benedict. It would seem as if in no other way could we fully express our appreciation of the matchless woman who, during the present week, has afforded us so much pure and genuine pleasure. To those who have seen Miss Combs in her varied and ever so different delineations of character, all other artists must fail to express in a satisfactory manner any idea of the imaginary beings whose secularities she portrays. The sweet and merry laugh, the too painfully natural sigh, quick changes of expression, such more attractive and wonderful than the last, the complete forgetfulness of things during the beautiful enunciation of words that seem to be the natural expression of the thoughts of her heart and worthy only of her make. "This daughter of the gods most easily fade." Probably never before, at least in our day, has there appeared upon the theatrical stage one whom charms of person and brilliancy of talent, combine with levelness of character, to win the personal love and interest of all who know her. It will only be difficult for those who have not been privileged to see her to realize this, and yet every expression of approval, so far as words are concerned, must be quite unworthy of her. These delightful evenings are soon passed. "Themselves shall fade, but not their memory" and we will be left to recollect how we sat spell-bound and silent before this brilliant woman and could not indeed tell what was nature and what was art, so did every tone, gesture and look seem almost the result of inspiration.

Teeth filled and crowned with Gold or Porcelain, and teeth extracted with Odonander, at Dr. Ribbel's.

DEERWOOD ITEMS.

Mr. Rathron intends starting up his saw mill after Christmas.
Mrs. James McCarville has been visiting in Brainerd for the past week. The Grave Lake saw mill will be removed to the grave pit five miles from Deerwood.
John Hoving, of Fergall Falls, assistant road master, spent Sunday with relatives and friends.
Nels Thompson, a brother of Mr. Rogers is visiting relatives here. Mr. Thompson lives in Southern Minnesota.

Miss Jessie Whitten and Mabel Peterson spent Thanksgiving week with their parents and friends here returning Sunday evening to resume their studies in Brainerd.

Dan Whitten returned home the day before Thanksgiving, his foot being very sorely well. Mr. Whitten will not be able to do outside work this winter but we are pleased to learn he is so much better.

The school entertainment was a decided success in every way. The little folks did exceedingly well and the parents present on all occasions showing interest in the work of the children, the number of people present excelling of scholars being especially.

WHITEFISH LAKE NEWS.

Fish houses are dotting the lakes in all directions now.
A special school meeting is advertised for next Monday.

Mr. Ferguson from Manson, Wis., took a claim here last week.
New settlers are coming in every day and they are going to stay.

A saw mill is badly needed here, as there would be plenty of work for one. J. Thornbush leaves in about a week for Oregon. Sorry to see you go, John.

I trust like this section of the country as well that he has located on Sec. 12-15T.

No news of Mrs. Z. yet. Someone needs a close fitting overcoat (or two) for Oregon. Sorry to see you go, John.

Salvation Army meeting every Sunday night at the school house with a good attendance.

The deer-slayers have all left this week of the woods and a man is safe once more to go about his business.

Whitefish school is in a flourishing condition with an average attendance of twelve. Miss Aggie Tilly wields the birch.

A new school house is needed north of Pine River. There are sixteen children here who ought to be in school every day.

Logging is the order of the day now with everybody here. Prices are up pretty well this year and it helps the new settlers out nicely.

Jack Manley, the story teller, turned up again on the old stamping ground at Mind Boy. He says he won't get the blues again—no chance for a good bargain and spring.

All who went to Dakota harvesting from this neighborhood came back with a big haul of crookedbills. A settler here in this country is a double-buck action concern and makes money summer and winter. —Warrior Free.

Mrs. J. C. Atherton moved up from Brainerd last week and now occupies a cottage on north Seventh street. Her niece, Miss Lucy Stearns, came with her. Miss Stearns will organize a kindergarten school here.—Staples World.

A Matter of Business.

To the People of Brainerd and Vicinity:
The war is still on, and I am still the object of an attempted boycott, by which the local Grocers' Union seek to keep wholesale houses from supplying me. Some of these houses have yielded and refused me, stating with regret the cause, but there are plenty of others, and I have and shall continue to have plenty of goods to supply my customers. I don't ask for sympathy. I don't want it and don't need it. But as a business matter I will say that if I were selling goods higher than they, they would never trouble themselves trying to keep me from getting goods. However, I shall not surrender my position under any circumstances, and will continue to give my customers the best possible value for their money.
Very Respectfully,
L. J. CALE.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The many Brainerd friends of E. J. Pearson will be pleased to learn that Gen. Stags, Kimberly of the N. P. has issued a circular naming Mr. Pearson as superintendent of the Pacific division of the road in the stead of Joseph McCabe, whose resignation was announced a week or two ago.

Another appointment that will also interest Brainerd people is that of T. J. Dolanore to his old position as car accountant and superintendent of transportation with the title of superintendent of car service, and charge of the car records and the distribution of equipment between divisions.

A telegram from Fargo says a well founded rumor in this city has it that the Northern Pacific is about to change division terminals, retaining the first division from Minneapolis to Wadena instead of to Staples, and the second to Valley City instead of Fargo.

Back in the middle centuries, so the story runs, there was a German blacksmith whose work was the wonder of Europe, so great was the tone of the bells he produced.

Lost the Money.

A party of hunters headed by Halp Arnold from Iowa Falls were in the woods north of this city for some weeks. During the trip Mr. Arnold ran across a big tree, which was one of the highest in the neighborhood. It seemed hollow all the way up, and the finder was aware that it must be lined with honeycombs. He returned to camp for his party and the guide. Between them they leveled the big tree and secured over 200 pounds of honeycomb. On testing the stuff, it was found to be so full of acid as to be worthless, and it was abandoned. If the party had but known it they could have made the honey eatable by boiling it.

A Companion For All Ages.

A gentleman who used to read The Youth's Companion when a boy, and reads it with the same interest now that he is a middle-aged man, was asked the other day if he had not outgrown The Companion. "I don't believe," said he, "that I can ever outgrow it. I find in it not only the wisest, hopeful spirit of youth, but the wisdom and experience of age. I like it just as much as when I was a boy, and girls like it as well as ever I did. It is a good paper to grow up with."

Key to the Klondike.

The Pioneer Alaska railway is the Northern Pacific, and to that company belongs the credit in connection with the Pacific Coast Steamship company of having inaugurated the sale of through tickets to points in Alaska. The Northern Pacific was the railway to issue a map of Alaska showing the inland passages from Puget sound to Sitka, Juneau and Chilkat.

Those intending to go to Alaska early next spring, after the move on the Drye and Skagway passes are packed down and the lakes frozen, or at a later date via St. Michaels and the mouth of the Yukon, should remember that the Northern Pacific is the Pioneer line; runs steam heated trains with dining cars, Pullman Standard and Tourist Sleepers from St. Paul to Tacoma, Seattle and Portland; passengers having the option of going via Helena and Butte City, the latter the greatest silver mining camp in the world, also via Lake Pend D'Oreille, Idaho, or through the famous Coeur d'Alene mining country.

Early in November we shall issue an illustrated folder replete with Alaska and Klondike information up to date. Send Chas. S. Fox, General Passenger Agent, St. Paul, Minn., two cents in postage, and he will forward you this map.

Priceless Pain

"If a price can be placed on pain, Mother's Friend is worth a fortune to the sufferer. My wife suffered days in bed with neuralgia of her face, but she was cured by Mother's Friend. It is the best remedy ever known for neuralgia, headache, toothache, and all other pains of the face and head."
 Thus writes Henderson Dale, Druggist, of Carmel, Ill., to the Bedford Regulator Company, of Atlanta, Ga., the proprietors and manufacturers of "Mother's Friend." This successful remedy is not one of the many internal medicines advertised as doing unreasonable things, but a scientifically prepared liniment especially effective in adding strength and elasticity to those parts of woman's organism which bear the severest strain of childbearing.

The liniment may be used at any and all times during pregnancy up to the very hour of confinement. The earlier it is begun, and the longer used, the more perfect will be the result, but it has been used during the last month with the greatest benefit and success.

It not only shortens labor and lessens the pain attending it, but greatly diminishes the danger to life of both mother and child, and leaves the mother in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists at 50c per bottle by express and delivered.

We Can't Do It.

We can't make you come in here and look over this stock of ours, but if we could we would, because it would be to our advantage to do so. Needn't take our word for it, but just come and see. If you can find better jewelry than we sell, alright. Go away and don't come back again. If you can't, and you think our prices are reasonable, stay with us and let us have your trade. That's a fair proposition isn't it?

THE LABOR EXCHANGE

CERTIFICATES ARE EAGERLY BOUGHT IN COLORADO.

Three firms of co-operating Brown Brothers and Chase the Gas that appears to hold out the most realistic.

HERE are about 100 labor exchanges in the United States, 12 of which are in Colorado, and of these the one at Denver is the most prominent, by reason of its location. It is running a brick-making and preserving works, and has issued about 1400 of certificates, ranging from one-twentieth (five cents) to 20 cents ($20). The unit is an arbitrary amount, suggested to have a value of $1. The certificates pass freely among all classes of people in Denver, and will, of course, continue to do so as long as they are promptly redeemed for cash or labor wherever they are presented at the Exchange, which has been the case thus far. Men are paid for work for the Exchange, which are generally called "labor checks" by the people of Denver.

Usually a local labor exchange is an incorporated branch of a national association, incorporated under the laws of the state. Its object is to furnish employment to labor and to aid those now employed by a system of co-operating in exchanging products of labor on an equitable basis. The exchange receives deposits of material products of labor (properly at its warehouse) and instead of paying legal tender money for the goods it issues to the seller its certificates of deposit, which are redeemable in cash, and are accepted by the banks for all their face value for any goods on deposit or for labor.

The illustration shows a one-tenth note, which has a value of 10 cents. It is five and one-tenth inches long, and is printed in brown and the back is printed in blue and the back of the paper is perforated by the president and accountant of the Exchange.

Without losing his membership in the branch and his voice in its management. The purchaser of these certificates does not secure an ownership in the organization; they simply entitle him to such a quantity of the products of the exchange as he may desire for the purchase of the same. Money, which they are redeemable only as the exchange may have on hand. As a worker Brown receives certificates similar to those he receives when depositing property. He may work or not, as he chooses, but he only gets certificates when depositing. Having these certificates, he may present them for redemption in the purchase of supplies, board them or sell them to others. He is free to quit his work at any time and go to work elsewhere for employment, as he would do if employed in the regular manner by an individual. He has already been paid for the property deposited and for the labor which he performed.

Shop assistants in Australia do not have any idea of it. They work on Saturday hours per day. In Baltimore every shop, excepting those of florists, opticians, haberdashers and hardware, are open at 6 p. m. for the first four days of the week, on Friday at 2 p. m., and on Saturdays at 10 p. m. The majority of shops are open at 10 p. m. and closed by the brand at 8:30. A new evening paper at Alliance, O. is thus heading "This a newspaper will be named later."

with nothing at all or with less than what he considers his just dues.
"Jones purchases a share of stock in a company composed chiefly of honest workmen and goes to work; as a laborer he receives wages, either in cash or credit; as a stockholder in a share of the company he receives dividends large enough to enable them to live with little or no work, and he does not like to labor for the support of his wife. He agitates the question of limiting the stock of members to a single share, and succeeds in bringing about the change; now it is found that the wages and dividends absorb the entire product of the company and there is no increase of business capital, except by the admission of new members, and as the shares are fixed at a low value to allow of their purchase by poor men, the business becomes permanently crippled by want of means. Seeing the situation, Jones decides to quit the number is allowed to hold more than one share, and he can find no one to purchase it, so he is forced to sell it to the association, so he sells to the association itself, or, in other words, he is out of the company the moment he gets out of it; others follow his example, and it soon becomes crippled and forced to disband or sell the business to some one who will conduct it as a private enterprise.

"In the first illustration the community sold its own, but Smith was worsted; in the second Jones got what was due him, but the way was opened for the dissolution of the company. The community has stability, but cannot grow rapidly because it does not make equitable provision for the return of all deposits of value, and hence does not attract members, while the joint stock company may proliferate, but does so at the risk of losing its capital stock and of its non-resistance. The labor exchange recognizes both these points in a way which will be shown in the next illustration.

Brown, on becoming a member of the labor exchange, receives his one share of stock, but does so at the risk of losing its capital stock and of its non-resistance. The labor exchange recognizes both these points in a way which will be shown in the next illustration.

Women Horticulturists.
Women are working successfully in almost every field. Vick's Magazine states that according to the census of 1900 there were 101 commercial greenhouses, or about one in three, owned and managed by women. We have a personal acquaintance with several women who are successful retail florists. Other women, to our knowledge, are making a success of raising carnations and other flowers for the wholesale trade. These people soon learn that the business of raising and selling flowers is best by much case and labor than that of some other kind of business. And yet nearly all women florists that we have met were led into the business because they first of all loved flowers. It adds to the delight and success of any occupation if one has a love therefor. There is no question that, as a rule, women have a greater fondness than men for flowers. Why, therefore, should they not engage in growing and handling them for profit? The rougher work about flower raising, such as the care of greenhouses, the watering of soil and manure, and the like, can easily be done by men who labor for moderate wages. If women are successful as florists they are equally so as raisers of vegetables and similar fruits, especially strawberries; they direct the rougher work, help to prepare the produce for customers, and perhaps take in hand the marketing, thus keeping closely in touch with the state of the market. Some florists, we think, that the raising of strawberries and similar fruits is well adapted to be done by women.

The Health of the Wage Slave.
In an address to well breders I. A. Davis said: "Always guard carefully the health of your family. Fresh beds once a week, using disinfectants each time around the sleeping quarters, trunks and adjacent furniture. Always use disinfectants. Close study and observation has led me to believe that we can produce better quality of stock at a great deal less cost than the average farmer has been able to do. One way to reduce the cost of pork is by reducing the time in production. A thirty pig that will weigh two hundred pounds gross, with meat well marked with fat, is the most desirable for the market of the world to-day, and will cost less to produce than a pig that will weigh four hundred pounds gross, with meat well marked with fat, and will cost more to produce. It is a matter of fact that a pig that will weigh two hundred pounds gross, with meat well marked with fat, is the most desirable for the market of the world to-day, and will cost less to produce than a pig that will weigh four hundred pounds gross, with meat well marked with fat, and will cost more to produce.
