NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Items of Interest in Neighboring Towns Gleaned from Exchanges and from Special Correspondents.

A movement is on foot to establish a local telephone system at Atkins. It is also proposed to connect at Brainerd with the long distance system.

The Little Falls Transcript says: "P. H. Newman went to Brainerd today on business. Mr. Newman has sold a large number of horses to Brainerd parties recently, four of which he sent up today to Northern Pacific Station. Agent W. D. McKay, who is engaged in the logging business.

"Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lafond and their son-in-law, S. Lemay, and family, recently of Brainerd, are in the city visiting relatives. They are on their way to Mesomise, Mich., which place they intend to make their future home. The intend going into the flour and feed business at that place.—Little Falls Transcript.

No snow in Klondike.

Oswald Bros.' saw mill is sawing lumber on the jump.

Wm. Dodd, of Brainerd, made Klondike a visit this week.

Earl Atkins and Wm. Madley took a trip to Brainerd Wednesday.

WALKER ITEMS.

D. Thornhill went to Brainerd this morning on business.

Rev. Mr. Morton, of Brainerd, is holding meetings very night this week at Hazel Dell.

Mrs. Gilbert Berlin, who has been visiting in Brainerd during the winter, returned last Monday evening.

Miss Kate Pearce has returned from Brainerd, where she has been spending a long vacation with her parents.

Rev. F. A. Pown visited Rev. G. W. Gallagher in Brainerd Wednesday, to arrange for the annual meeting of the conference of Congregational churches, which meets at the First church of Brainerd next May.

CROW WING CRUMBS.

F. C. Kerr loaded a car of wheat this week.

Miss Marion Phelps is improving, but slowly.

John Carl is very sick, threatened with brain fever.

W. H. Everest has moved on to the Chas. Everest place.

School will commence next Monday, after a vacation of two weeks.

Miss Jessie Bailey went to Brainerd today to attend the teacher's examination.

A party was given at Levi Bailey's last Thursday evening in honor of Miss Sarah Coats, Mrs. Bailey's niece, of Batavia. A very enjoyable time was reported by those present.

DEERWOOD NEWS.

Mr. Carlson has bought a fine horse of Mr. Craig.

Mrs. W. Taylor returned home last week from a visit to Michigan.

Rev. Loomis, of Brainerd, preached in the Methodist church last Sunday.

We are pleased to learn that Mrs. P. Abrahamson, who has been very sick, is improving.

The members of the Woodmen lodge are talking of building a hall, so the membership is rapidly increasing.

The Scandinavian basket social, which was held last Saturday night, was a great success socially and financially.

Miss Della Behlmer and Miss Jeanette Vinje came up from Brainerd to spend Saturday and Sunday with their parents.

Dr. Reimstad, of Brainerd, was up looking after his patient last Tuesday. The Doctor is getting quite a practice here.

We see the correspondent of our neighboring town, Klondike, predicts much gold and a boom for that town in the near future. As Deerwood is only five miles distance, we shall have to ask that city to be incorporated as a suburb, if his prediction materializes.

The Best Cough Remedy on Earth.
Warner's White Wine of Tar Syrup. Consumption Cured, cures a cold in 24 hours if taken in time and does not stop a cough in ONE minute by paralyzing the throat. It cures the disease and leaves the throat and lungs healthy and strong. 25 and 50 cts.

The Railroad Co. did not build a house for the agent to live in, as a depot is not a fit place for a family to live in, and the large travel in the depot that continually is increasing, makes it desirable to have both a ladies' and gentlemen's waiting room. As it now is the ladies very often have to be contented with the platform. Our station agent, Mr. Brower, has done much to beautify the surroundings of the depot with flower beds, and if we had proper waiting room accommodations our depot would be an attraction and credit to the place, and we believe if the attention of the Railroad Co. is called to the facts they would provide some other means for the accommodation of their agent.

GRAVE LAKE ITEMS.

John Howard, who has been very low with the grip, is able to be around again.

The warm weather of late has about ended logging operations in this vicinity, for want of snow, and if there comes no more, many logs will be left in the woods.

Dave Petret met with a very painful accident on Friday last. He was hauling a load of logs, when, in some manner, a log rolled from the load on him. To what extent he was hurt we have not heard.

Miss Sarah Polton, while feeding the stock hay last week fell from the hayrack to the floor beneath on her head and shoulders, hurting her severely, but breaking no bones. At present writing she is much improved.

There is a young lady in this part of the moral vineyard, sixteen years old, who takes care of two horses and two head of cattle, chops the wood for two families and does the washing for the same, besides lots of other work. The chances are against this young woman ever being a first-class housekeeper, and no fault of hers, either. X

KATRINE GLEANINGS.

The thaw of the past few days is causing the lumbermen to do a great deal of extra work on the ground.

Miss Bessie Archibald and Miss Eliza Young celebrated their birthdays on Saturday the 19th, at the home of D. Archibald. There were quite a number of little folks present, and all had a pleasant time.

There will be an entertainment at the Katrine school house on the evening of Feb. 25th, to celebrate the closing of the school term, which has been successfully taught by Miss Minnie Ham during the fall and winter.

For some time back a bobcat has been inhabiting the Hermitage; a deserted building not far from Marston's midway camp. Mr. Christie concluded to give the cat an interview and found it lying on a bed. When he opened the door the cat met him, and a well aimed charge from Mr. Christie's gun laid him out.

The dance at Chris Wilson's passed off very pleasantly, about 100 people being present. The music of two violins handled by Mr. Workman and Andrew Carr, assisted by W. H. Hill on the guitar, was exceedingly fine and was appreciated by all. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, as host and hostesses, are not to be outdone by anyone.

George Caulfield's Journey

George Caulfield's journey was a long and arduous one, filled with challenges and discoveries. He embarked on his quest with a sense of purpose and determination, seeking answers to questions that had long plagued his mind.

The hall was dimly lit, the shadows dancing on the walls. George stepped forward, his eyes scanning the room for any sign of life. The air was thick with the scent of old wood and dust. He reached the door at the end of the hallway, unlocked it, and stepped out into a courtyard. The sun was high in the sky, casting long shadows on the cobblestones.

"Happy to have the honor of making your acquaintance, dear," he said, extending his hand. The woman across from him, dressed in a simple but elegant gown, smiled warmly. She took his hand, her fingers soft and gentle. They stood together for a moment, the tension between them melting away.

"You are going to marry my daughter to-morrow morning," he said, his voice firm. The woman's expression did not change, but her eyes held a look of quiet defiance. "I have no objection," she replied simply. The man's face softened slightly, but his resolve remained unshaken.

"I am glad to hear that," he said, his tone more relaxed. The woman stepped back, her hands clasped in front of her. "I will be ready when you are," she said. The man looked at her for a long moment, then turned and walked away. The woman watched him go, a small smile playing on her lips.

"What am I to do? I never cared about the match. I have been persuaded to give my consent. My girl had a right to look higher than to stop the marriage now would be..."

"Simply prudent, investigate the case as I have put it before you. If an accident—if Poy is not the man who took that dying girl to the railway station—if Poy's sister, or a woman who passed as his sister, is not lying dead at Milldale, I will make the humblest apology to you and Mr. Poy for my basest suspicions. You must take your own course. I want to save your daughter from sorrow and disgrace. Remember you have been warned. If Poy is the man I take him to be, the police will be digging his name to-morrow morning. He will go into the church to marry your daughter. Good afternoon. I have given you plain facts, and I have no time to spare for discussion."

Both was the bride. "No, there is nothing the matter with Bella, at present. It is about yourself I would talk. I think—when we first knew you—you told me that you stood quite alone in the world, that you were an orphan—had fought your own way in life—had not a living soul belonging to you."

"All that is quite true," answered George Poy, looking straight at the questioner, with a face that showed no trace of emotion or surprise. "Why do you care about this morning? It is not a cheerful subject."

"You have deceived me," said Mr. Umpleby. "I am told you have a sister. This time the young man was palpably moved. Strong as he was in disavowal of the self-interest which had suddenly occurred to himself, and looked at Mr. Umpleby, pleadingly, with a deprecating smile."

"I don't think there's anything more to be said," said the man. "I don't think there's anything more to be said," said the man. "I don't think there's anything more to be said," said the man.

"The bridegroom's name is George Poy," said the man. "The bridegroom's name is George Poy," said the man. "The bridegroom's name is George Poy," said the man.

"The bridegroom's name is George Poy," said the man. "The bridegroom's name is George Poy," said the man. "The bridegroom's name is George Poy," said the man.

to Pearl. "You to the parlor window, Pearl," said that little girl.

"O mamma, somebody's moving into the house across the street!" she cried joyfully, and then she watched and saw all the furniture was safely housed.

Each morning for several days, Pearl would go to the parlor window and watch the house across the street, and more than once she said, "I wonder whether there is a little girl over there!"

One cold day soon after this mamma was busy up-stairs, and Pearl stood again in the parlor with her little eyes pressed against the window, watching the house into which the new neighbors had moved, when a little party had looked up at the opposite window, and the bright face of a little boy smiled across at her. Then Pearl smiled, too.

"I must bring Victoria Jane and Fruby to see that nice little boy," she said, and hurried off to get them, and soon they were perched up by her side at the window.

"The little boy greeted the newcomers with a smile, and in three-way-pieces, but returned soon and arranged a company of soldiers on the window sill, and had a little white rabbit.

Then Pearl and the little boy exchanged pleasant greetings, the soldiers marched across the window-sill, Victoria Jane obediently bowed her head, and Pearl raised his ears and said "Plenty barked. And then into Pearl's bay little brain came a thought, and away she ran, and returned with her sibship blocks. This she handed to the little girl who spelled with the blocks, PEARL.

Once more the little curly head optics disappeared, and when he returned he spelled with his blocks against the window, HARRY.

"All through that winter Pearl and Harry played together although the boys separated they have never been in different houses. In the winter on one side were arranged day after day in the yard, and on the other side in the window opposite those of a little boy, mamma did not hear her little girl say again all that winter that she was lonely.

FRANK E. GRAEFF.

A Tale of Pearly-Whims.

From the time the window gave in the fall till the first blizzard appeared in springtime, little Pearl was watching for pony-walks. The imagination all sorts of pretty things about the coming fancy balls, and keeps the vases in the neighborhood with quietude. One of her beliefs is that all the little girls that have ever been dropped in the creek down in the pasture come back in the shape of pony-walks. For this reason she loves the water, and talks to them as if she would be their real parent.

The other evening Brother Rob was having a torchlight procession and all the boys in the neighborhood were helping him. Their torches were "cut," but the crowd gathered round, and the jolliest in keroseene oil, which made them the jolliest torches imaginable. Pearl was having a merry time watching the boys form in line, when she happened to hear one of them call her torch a "catfish." She stopped and thought a moment, and then, rushing to her mother, burst her face in her dress and sobbed, "Oh, it's dreadful! The boys are using the tails of my grown-up pony-walks for torches." Ruth Newton rearing.

The Marquis Stamp to the World.

The Marquis postage stamps, which commanding the highest price, are the rarest stamps known. The world has heard of the Great Seal of the United States, and the British, Cuban and the Philippine stamps, but the stamps of Puerto Rico, Cuba, Hawaii, and the Philippines are being taken up by an increasing number of collectors to the United States. At the October meeting of the Philatelic society, New York, Mr. Andrew exhibited a large number of Cuban and Porto Rican postmarks, most of which were new to the members present.—Harper's Round Table.

The Brainerd Arena, the new popo-crazer will make its first appearance next Wednesday, March 1st. The office of the arena has been established in the Columbia block, and Editor Beard is busily engaged in getting out the first issue. The DUPRETS heartily wishes Mr. Beard and the arena unqualified success.

The entertainment given at Garden Hall last evening by the children of the primary schools of the city was a very interesting and enjoyable occasion. The attendance was large, the hall being comfortably filled, and a neat sum will be realized for purchasing suitable material for these grades. The programs consisted of songs, drills and exercises, which were rendered in a manner that indicated much hard work on the part of the teachers, and were much enjoyed by the audience.

Change in Election of Supervisors.
The Minneapolis Journal yesterday says: "House bill 43, which passed and was approved with an emergency clause and will apply at the coming election in March, provides for a change in the election of township supervisors. At the annual town meetings held on the first Tuesday of March, three supervisors shall be elected, one for each year, one for two and one for three. In 1900, and annually thereafter, there shall be elected one supervisor who shall hold his office for a term of three years and who shall fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of office of the supervisor whose term expires in accordance with the new act. The senior member is to act as chairman."

On Trial Today.
The preliminary examination of the man arrested for the murder of Geo. Barclay takes place at Walker today, and Sheriff Hardy of Cass county was down yesterday and took the prisoners up on the afternoon train. Judge Fleming of this city will conduct the defense.

JOHN OSBORN, District Clerk.

DEATHS.

On Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock, Mrs. Nellie Hagberg, wife of Arthur Hagberg, died at the family residence on 6th street, of quick consumption, aged 19 years. Deceased has been a sufferer from the dread disease for several months and her death was not unexpected. She was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Frey, and has resided in this city since childhood, hence has hosts of friends who will deeply deplore her death. Mrs. Hagberg leaves a daughter under two years old besides her husband and parents to mourn her loss. The funeral services will be held at St. Francis Catholic church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Lynch conducting the services.

Chester McLaren, the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLaren, died at the family home on 6th street north yesterday morning, of typhoid meningitis. Chester was a bright, promising young lad, and his death was a blow to the bereaved parents. The case is particular sad as the young lad was only taken sick on Tuesday night, attending school on Monday and apparently having the best of health. The mother is keeping house with three children, Mr. McLaren having gone to the Honolulu, you ago. The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Congregational church, where Chester attended Sunday school, Rev. Gallagher conducting the services.

Municipal Court Items.

Chas. Lehmann, a lumberman somewhat under the influence of liquor, stole a dog skin overcoat from L. M. Koop's store on Friday evening last, and tried to make his escape, but was chased by Martin Reese, the mental clerk, who overtook him and recovered the coat. Reese pluckily tried to hold the fellow, who is big and strong, until an officer could be secured, but was unable to do so and take care of the coat. However, a description of the fellow was given to Chief Stratton and he was arrested the following morning and arraigned in the municipal court where he entered a plea of guilty and was given thirty days in jail.

Geo. Moore was arrested on Monday on complaint of Mike Donaber charged with assault. Both men have been street employees and Donaber is now on the street force. Moore claimed that Donaber secured his discharge from the force by securing him of being an A. P. and he made an attack on Donaber while employed on the street to get even. Moore pled guilty to the charge in the municipal court and was fined $5, which he paid.

Thanks.
Mr. Editor—The Y. P. S. of the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church wishes, through the DUPRETS, to thank the honorable mayor for his effort to enforce the laws in regard to keeping saloons closed and hope he will do more towards the same cause.

HILDA GROVA, Sec'y.

"Mother Carey," a reputed fortune-teller.
Robby Bean, an Irish man.
Miss Minnie Boland.

WANTED - TIES.
Oak, Tamarack and White Pine.

ALBERT AXELSON.
Don't Be Hungry.
P. T. Barnum, the veteran American showman once said "The American people like to be hungry." That is probably the idea our competitors had in view when they advertised that it was necessary to buy the best cuts of sirloin and porterhouse at 15c a pound, and prime rib roasts at 15c per pound. Don't be misled. We will sell the very best cuts of porterhouse and sirloin at 15c per pound, and roasts at 10 to 12c per pound, and guarantee the quality as good as any in the land.

In the evening, reasons for not confessing Christ will be answered. Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock a service of meditation will be held preparatory to the ordinance of the Lord's Supper to be observed on the first Sunday of March.

20th Century Minstrel.
This minstrel show given at Garden Hall on Friday evening last under the auspices of Company L, was very much enjoyed by the large audience present. The boys wowed the crowd and gave an exceptionally smooth performance for amateurs and the limited time for practice, and were frequently enthusiastically applauded.

In the minstrel first part S. F. Alderman was interlocutor, and the cast were E. Q. Wabbon, Chas. Wilson, who manipulated the bones, and A. L. Mattes and F. M. Lambert, who toyed with the tamborines. The first one are ex-members of Col. Halsted's old Jack Pine aggregation, and the latter is a professional theatrical man lately with the Eclipse Goodrich Co. The jokes were not the chestnut order, but new and original, and many telling local hits were scored. The songs were especially pleasing and well rendered, and several scenes were reserved.

The olio of specialties was very pleasing, introducing Mrs. F. M. Lambert in descriptive songs and dances; Mr. Lambert in "Billy and the Iron Boy," including a piece of acting, and also in light juggling; Davy Smith gave a neat clog dance and a Mr. Foster a buck and wing dance, and there were other interesting and entertaining specialties. The performance closed with a laughable farce entitled "Judge Sullivan's First Day in Court," including in the cast F. M. Lambert, Attorney P. J. Murphy, C. A. Albright, Chas. Wilson, Axel Sture, Gene McCarthy and Mrs. Lambert. A grand tableau "The Destruction of the Maine," was given at the close of the performance. The music was furnished by the Kolsey Orchestra.

Salvation Army Notes.
