HIGHWAY ROBBERY

A. Olson, the Sixth Street Tailor, the Victim.

THE CRIMINALS ARE ARRESTED.

Both are Young Toughs Who Have Lived Here For Years. The Crime Unfessed By One of Them.

A. Olson, the well know Sixth street tailor, was the victim of a dastardly highway robbery on last Sunday morning about 1 o'clock, while on his way home, which nearly cost him his life. As it is, his injuries are sufficient to confine him to his home for several days. That he escaped with his life is due to the fact that the shot bag broke when his house for several days. Robbery was the motive of the assault, but the miscreants only succeeded in getting Mr. Olson's watch, for which he paid, and they are now prisoners in the clutches of the law.

The robbery occurred near the corner of Eighth and Holly streets, just opposite the Wittliff school. Mr. Olson was proceeding at this late hour on his way home when he was met at this point by two men who came across the street, and he could defend himself they assaulted him, one of them striking him with a billy made of steel. He was knocked down, but not entirely senseless, spraining his ankle as he fell. They then continued to beat him about the head and face until the shot bag broke, having pounded the flesh on his face to a jelly. He made violent outcry, which might have saved the men, so they scratched his watch and ran away without getting the four dollars in change which Mr. Olson carried. Mr. Olson then, in spite of his injuries, made his way home, and the police were notified by telephone of the dastardly crime. Dr. Hirstead was also summoned and cared for Mr. Olson's injuries, which, while very painful, were not dangerous. The officers went to Mr. Olson's residence, and, after getting a good description of the men as Olson could give, they spotted their men, Jake Styverson and Alfred Plummer, and locked them up, putting one in the jail and one in the lock-up, so they could not arrange a strong story of their whereabouts.

These men were suspicious as the guilty parties at once because they answered the description given by Mr. Olson, and because they were seen coming from the north side a few moments after the robbery occurred, and because it was later ascertained that they were seen about town where Mr. Olson was, and were known to have heard a conversation Mr. Wallace had with their victim while he was resting, which they supposed Mr. Olson had been paid and had on his person. This suspicion was further corroborated by finding blood spattered over the sleeve of Styverson's coat. The officers, however, to clinch the case, determined to put the prisoners through the sweat-box process, and on Monday morning Sheriff Erickson and Deputy Winters succeeded, it is reported, in getting Plummer to give the whole story up, including the whereabouts of the watch. As a result the officers made a demand of Pat Corrigan, employed at McCabe's saloon, for the time-piece. Mr. Corrigan denied having the watch, but when the officers placed him under arrest for receiving stolen property, he got the watch and gave it up.

The men were arraigned in the municipal court on Monday morning charged with highway robbery, and their preliminary examination was set for Monday, March 20th.

Mr. Olson is doing nicely at the present writing. Stories have been circulated about the city at different times that his condition was dangerous, but this is not true. Dr. Hirstead says he will probably be about in a couple of weeks, his sprained ankle being the most painful of his injuries.

Highway robberies have been too numerous here lately, and public sentiment is very strong that the miscreants guilty of the offense should be shown no mercy.

A Good Idea.

TIMOTHY EHRIGT DEAD.

A Brainer Boy Gives Up His Life in the Philippines in His Country's Service.

On Saturday afternoon a telegram was received in this city, from Gov. Lind, announcing the death at Manila of Timothy Ehrigt, who enlisted from this city in the 13th Minnesota volunteers. The governor that day received a cable message, from Col. Ames in command of his regiment, announcing the death of Mr. Ehrigt as the result of an accident from an electric wire. Mr. Ehrigt, with his regiment, was engaged in police duty in patrolling the city, consoled by all, the most important and most arduous duty in the service here. Just how the accident occurred will not be known until mail advices are received. Mr. Ehrigt has a brother, M. J. Ehrigt, and sister, Mrs. John Boye here, who with a large number of friends and acquaintances deeply mourn his loss. It will be the custom to know that he died heroically in the service of his country and his country's flag.

Mr. Ehrigt enlisted at Minneapolis and was sent with 200 other recruits to fill up the 13th. He has written home letters from various posts and reported he liked the service, being well and healthy and having the great strictest relatives of Mr. Ehrigt have the sympathy of the community in their affliction.

MYSTERIOUS CASE OF POISONING.

Basie Nelson, a Domestic in the Family of J. W. Blake Dies of Irritant Poisoning.

Was It Suicide or Accident? Is the Question that Cannot Be Settled.

Basie Nelson, a comely domestic in the employ of Mr. J. W. Blake, the millman, died on Tuesday night in a very mysterious manner. According to Mr. Blake and other members of the household, Basie retired at the usual time between 10 and 11 o'clock in the best of health, and when Mr. Blake called her about five o'clock in the morning she did not respond. He went into her room to arouse her, and a horrible sight met his view. She was lying on her side on the bed dead, with her limbs drawn up and her face distorted as though she had died in great agony. Coroner Robinson was summoned and a post mortem examination was held Wednesday noon, at which Dr. Groves, Hennestad, Thibault and a coroner were present. The organs of the body were all found in a healthy condition, but the stomach was filled with blood, and a condition existed which could only be produced by an irritant poison, hence the doctors were unanimously of the opinion that the death was produced by poisoning. Just what the poison was, or by what dealer in the city it was obtained, is a mystery as yet. A chemical analysis of the stomach, and as it would cost a hundred dollars, and there are no funds available for the coroner for the purpose of such a test, it has been decided to let the matter rest for the present.

It is a great mystery as to how for why she should die. She was a member of Mr. Blake's family, and she was apparently in the best of health when she died. She was a girl of about 20 years of age, and absolutely no reason exists why she should have tried to kill herself. There is also no evidence that she took poison, as no vital or flask of a serum of paper in the room, and it is also rather remarkable that no member of the family heard the door open, and the condition indicated by the disordered condition of the stomach, and the fact that she was lying on her side, and the fact that she was apparently in the best of health when she died. She was a girl of about 20 years of age, and absolutely no reason exists why she should have tried to kill herself.

CONCERT AND BALL

First Important Social Function After Lent. A Fine Display of New Gowns Expected.

Ascalon Commandry No. 16, Knights Templar, will give a fine concert and uniform ball at their spacious lodge room in the Columbus block on the evening of Monday April 3rd, which will undoubtedly be the great social event of the season. The entertainments and balls of this popular organization have in the past been among the most pleasant social events of the city, and the coming event will be no exception. It will consist of a fine musical entertainment after Lent, and will be the occasion of a display of feminine finery that will delight the eye.

The evening's entertainment will consist of a splendid concert by the Star and Zolian quartettes, without doubt the best musical organizations in the state north of the Twin Cities. The programme has been carefully selected with a view of pleasing all and will contain many new and sparkling musical gems. The concert will commence about 8 o'clock and will occupy about an hour when the floor will be cleared and the ball will begin, and all lovers of the terpsichorean art can enjoy themselves to the utmost. Tickets have not yet been issued, but they are eagerly looked for by all socially inclined County Fair matters.

The meeting of citizens called at the Y. M. C. A. last Saturday afternoon to consider the matter of holding a bounty fair was not held, as the number of citizens in attendance was not as large as desired. However, over a meeting has been called for Tuesday evening, March 21, at J. M. Elder's office, and it is desired that all interested in a county fair be in attendance. Certificates of membership, entitling the holder to a vote in all matters concerning the management of the fair, and also admission to the grounds at all times during the fair, have been printed, and the first ten will be auctioned off on Tuesday evening at the meeting. Mr. Elder has already been offered $10 for No. 1, and a great rivalry for them is expected. The rest of the certificates will then be sold at $1.00 by the board of managers, one of whom will be appointed from each township in the county.

It is the intention of the officers to make a large cash premium offer for the best township display at the fair, all exhibits from a township to be considered. It is hoped by creating a friendly rivalry between the various townships of the county to get a better display.
