THE FAIR IN FULL SWAY.

The Cold Wave of Yesterday Delayed Many From Viewing Their Exhibits in Position. But

This Morning Things Have Changed and the Indications Are For A Very Successful Fair.

Grand Street Illumination and Bicycle Parade This Evening.

Our People Should Lay Aside Business Cares and Attend the Fair Saturday, the Closing Day.

Yesterday was the opening day of the Crow Wing County Fair, and the elements were decidedly against a successful start, although many braved the chilly north wind and proceeded with the work of putting their exhibits in shape, but the usual crowd of spectators was minus. The sun came out from its hiding this morning and indications are for two days of pleasant weather, which has added enthusiasm and energy to the efforts of the management, and all who are interested in making it a success.

A visit to the grounds this morning found everybody busy. Agricultural Hall is the center of attraction, and here the exhibits are arranged as tightly and are as fine as one would find at the state fair. Not nearly all the exhibits were in when the DISPATCH scribe made his early visit, but among those who had taken the trouble to make an agricultural display were T. C. Pointon, A. R. Cass, Wm. Dodd, H. Fox, Geo. McCullough, David Davis, J. Risold, Fred Reid, J. W. Van Watson, Jake Winters, N. Newgard, Doll Leonard, and there were others whose names escaped the reporter's eyes in the hurried survey of the display.

The domestic and fine art exhibit alone is certainly worth the trouble of going to the grounds to see and is replete with dainty fancy work, etc.

The miscellaneous department is also a very interesting feature, and well filled with entries. Canned fruits, pickles, and home made sausage are a big part of this display.

Six varieties of apples and the same of grapes shown by N. Newgard indicate that fruit can be raised right here at home. Mrs. A. R. Cass also exhibits several varieties of apples.

Cheese, butter, rye, corn, wheat, oats are every conceivable variety of vegetables, and in many instances it will be hard for the judges to decide which takes the premium, so excellent is the display.

In the poultry department there are several fine displays, and the cattle, horses and swine on exhibition are in keeping with the balance of the show.

D. M. Clark & Co., have a fine display of stoves, both cooking and heating, and Adam Belmuth presides over the "Majestic" which is in full blast and furnishes all comers with hot biscuit and butter right from the oven.

Opposite Clark & Co.'s exhibition Abbott & Wilkins, grocers, have a neatly arranged exhibit which displays the excellent line of goods they carry. Mr. Abbott in charge furnishes hot coffee brewed to the queen's taste to all who wish it.

J. P. McInnis has a fine display of gent's furnishing goods, neatly arranged, and which cannot escape the eye of any who happen to visit the building.

J. W. Kelsey has a very creditable array of pastels, water colors, crayons and oil paintings, and Miss Marie Cannan has arranged exhibits from her photograph gallery, as also has A. M. Opsahl.

J. C. Hessel has a fine display of agricultural machinery, wagons and buggies. Among the collections is a plow 140 years old, which was made in 1759.

Judge Collins arrived on the noon train from St. Cloud and will deliver an opening address at 3 p. m.

Walker and Brainerd have ball teams meet upon the diamond at the fair grounds today and also tomorrow afternoon.

A grand bicycle parade will be given tonight at 7:30 o'clock, starting from the corner of Sixth and Front streets. Hundreds of gaily decorated wheels ridden by bicyclists in costume will be in line and you can't afford to miss this great free show.

The merchants and business men who have undertaken to help the fair along by their presence should be given full credit for their enterprise.

An interesting race program has been arranged for this afternoon and tomorrow and it is hoped our citizens will lend their presence to the fair on both occasions.

The Dispenser regrets that it is unable to give a full and complete description of each display but it is impossible as the paper is printed at noon on Friday and at this time the arrangements is incomplete.

This evening a grand street illumination will take place and will be repeated on Saturday evening. All day long a small army of men have been busy arranging the thousands of Chinese lanterns along Front, Laurel and the cross streets and the night tonight will be a very pretty one. The bands will be out and furnish music for the occasion on both nights.

Says the Arena is Sold.
Wednesday's St. Paul Dispatch contains the following news item from its Brainerd correspondent:

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 27.—H. D. Stanley has purchased the plant of the Brainerd Arena from E. E. Beard, and will take possession Oct. 15. Mr. Stanley is from Minneapolis and will make the paper independent in politics.

A Fine Livery Barn.
The work on Parly & Neuman's arena very barn on Laurel street is progressing rapidly and Mr. Parly expects to occupy it with his livery business inside of a month. The barn when completed will be one of the finest in point of equipment, convenience and architecture north of the twin cities. It is to be a brick veneered building, 40x120 feet with 16 foot posts below, and a loft capable of holding from 60 to 75 tons of hay.

The barn will be arranged to accommodate 40 head of horses, the stalls being all single with a window for each stall. Two box stalls will be built in the horse barn. In front will be a large and commodious office with bedroom attached, besides which there will be a room especially adapted for buggy washing, harness rooms, etc. The building will be electric lighted and have sewer connection. The building is an improvement that was spoken of by Mr. Parly is entitled to considerable credit for his enterprise in putting it up.

Hunters Take Out Licenses.
At the last session of the legislature a law was passed requiring hunters of big game in this state to take out a license, the fee for residents being 25 cents and non-residents $25. The license can be obtained of the auditor of any county on payment of the fee and recites that the person named may hunt, catch and kill deer, elk, moose and caribou for the period of one year from the date of issuance during the season from Nov. 1 to Nov. 20 of said year, under the provisions and conditions of chapter 242, laws of 1899.

A physical description as to age, height, weight, complexion, color of hair and eyes accompanies the license. The law also requires the man securing the license to make an affidavit as to his place of residence and how long he has resided in the state, if it being a resident license. This license must be in the possession of hunters and shown to persons properly empowered to enforce the game laws. The law is very strict in regard to the matter and will be enforced to the letter. So far twenty licenses have been issued by Auditor Mahlum, all residents, the names of the owners being as follows:

Walter Curtis, George Frost, M. N. Guler, P. P. Edman, D. E. Hogdon, Felix Probst, Casper Wagner, George Neuman, S. H. Wood, W. H. Dunham, O. E. Culver, E. E. Foster, C. J. Surf, M. D. Butterfield, N. A. McPhail, H. E. Kimball, Wm. Bredfield, J. W. Eckert, Anderson Eckert, Chas. Cooper.

Tuesday was the twentieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. John Denis, of the west side, and their friends, so the number of about twenty-five couples made it the occasion of a very pleasant surprise party at their home last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Denis received several beautiful presents in china ware. Refreshments were served and the evening was enjoyably spent in various social games.—Little Falls Transcript.

Owing to the death of Miss Minnie Chase, the young ladies of the Congregational church will postpone their social until further notice.

The Northern Minnesota Methodist conference will convene at Wednesday, Oct. 4th, at Brainerd, W. J. Jones presiding.

Practical Questions, Practically Answered!

WHY Should I Secure a Business Education?
Because success in any calling depends upon the application of business principles. Because it is a more direct route to success than by any other road. Because the rewards of the world are bestowed upon those who can do the business the world wants done in a business like way.

HOW Shall I Secure the Necessary Training?
Not by experience—it is too costly. Not by entering some office where the instructions will be haphazard; but by going to a thorough, reliable business training school where business is taught as it is practiced, where the methods are modern and the facilities first-class.

WHEN Should a Course be Commenced?
The sooner you make the start, the longer time you will have to enjoy the fruits of your efforts. In getting an education every day you postpone you are taking a dangerous risk. Time, tide and opportunity wait for no man. To this rule there are no exceptions—no appeal.

WHERE Is the Best Place to Attend?
Right Here, At Home.

The Brainerd Business College, offers all these advantages and there is no better time to embrace this opportunity than now. Students entered at any time. For

EARTHQUAKE IN ALASKA.

Miss Olive E. Hill tells of the havoc wrought.

Miss Olive E. Hill, who arrived at Seattle the other day on the steamer Boasle from Alaska, gives a graphic description of the havoc caused by the earthquake and tidal waves at that mission, says the New York Journal.

"Looking toward the timber, we could see the trees rocking back and forth and the water crowing the reef in the bay was whipped into a mass of whirling foam, while the houses cracked as if being shaken by a giant hand...

"The Indians made the Rev. Mr.
Johnson open the church doors, and they prayed for their lives. Then came more violent shocks and three great tidal waves rolled high up on the beaches, carrying away a part of the forest and an island graveyard."

"Afterward we rowed out there, and looking down into the water we could see the tops of trees beneath the surface. We could get no soundings there we went."

WAR ON SUICIDE CULT.

Movement to Convert Bohemians From Agnosticism.

NUMBER OF LIVES ARRANGED.

Brotherhood Undertakes to Reveal Hidden the Views Held of Frequent Among Men and Women of That Class Regarding God and the Fate After Death—Figures on Suicides.

A plan by which it is sought to revitalize the social customs of Bohemians in the United States has been undertaken among the 100,000 members of that race in Chicago by the Bohemian Brotherhood of America. The brotherhood, which is a secret organization, makes the bold declaration that the prevalence of irreligious agnosticism among Bohemians has resulted in suicides in such numbers as amount to threaten the extermination of their race. The brotherhood asserts that Bohemians are accustomed to keep hidden secretly among themselves for the express purpose of inducing suicides by "the wholesale, and the plans of the crusade, set forth with explicit frankness, contemplate a movement that will check this alarming tendency, says the Chicago Tribune.

F. B. Zerkow, manager of the Bohemian Congregation of Free Thinkers' churches in Chicago, and John Pacheco, promoter of local Bohemian fraternal societies, are attacked as advocates of suicides, and 100 or more Bohemian lodges in Chicago are named as institutions of agnosticism in the promotion of the so called irreligious view of suicide. Of the Bohemians in Chicago 100,000 are estimated by the leaders in the new crusade to be agnostic or headquarters of the Brotherhood of America are at Cedar Rapids, Ia. but Chicago has been selected as the chief field of labor, and Volokun has been delegated to manage the territory.

To the appeal for co-operation in the work of preventing suicides are appealed statistics which show that one-third of the deaths among Bohemians are by suicide. The spectacular attention to the danger of suicide and says: "Our brothers related to us by blood, nationality and language shoot, hang, drown and poison themselves as if they were not members of a civilized nation, but the outcasts of the most degenerate society. This shows upon us and our name, and upon our Bohemian family, which has not only accumulated where the moral sense is gone.

"Begin to reckon in what way we may, the multitudinous suicides of our countrymen in these Bohemian lodges are by suicide. It is impossible to be so stupid as to explain them on the ground of ordinary agnos-ticism. Therefore it is necessary for us to find the social and religious causes of our health and social conditions were as different as the health and social conditions of American societies as the percent of suicides among us is greater. We could then assign these suicides of our brethren to this difference. But no such difference existing, our Bohemian societies, C. C. P. R.
C. C. P. R. J. and J. T., have the distinctly more agnostic and irreligious getting agnosticism. To be a member of one of these societies and not be an agnostic at the same time is to expose one's self to open ridicule and scolding. Therefore, by promoting agnosticism, our Bohemian societies become necessarily responsible for the suicides."

The figures which show the proportion of suicides among Bohemians as compared with suicides among persons of other nationalities, are taken by the brotherhood from the reports of family and fraternal societies. The comparison figures follow: Among Bohemian secret societies which encourage agnosticism:

Two hundred suicides in every 1,000 deaths in the C. C. P. R.

Two hundred and thirty-three suicides in every 1,000 deaths in the Bohemian Theatrical.

Among American benevolent societies:

Thirty-two suicides in every 1,000 deaths in A. O.
U. W.

Twenty suicides in every 1,000 deaths in A. O.
U. W.

As illustrating the importance of the foregoing comparison, it is stated that in Chicago the C. C. P. R. has 8,000 members and 10 lodges; the C. C. P. R. has 1,200 members and 12 lodges, and the Jednota Tabornits has 8 lodges and 1,000 members.

Mr. Zerkow, who is editor of the bromost, a Bohemian daily newspaper published in Chicago and who is mentioned in the circular as encouraging suicide, declares that the societies prohibit religious belief among their members, and that the works of Iriguloff are read as texts in the orders. He addresses that it is against these orders that the brotherhood for the prevention of suicides is waging war.

"We preach and practice agnos-ticism," said he. "We teach it to our children, and I think the brotherhood has a difficult task to hand in attempting to effect the so called reform. The organization sent thousands of circulars among us. But to wage war against those who do not fear God is futile. If we choose to commit suicide we are answerable to no God and certainly to no man."

Other officials of the Bohemian societies make no effort to deny the statements made by the brotherhood. "The fact is," said John Tuckler, "that our secret societies enforce agnosticism. It is also a fact that there is a serious number of suicides, and that we advocate suicide, as Iriguloff advocated it."

KRUGER'S CHARACTERISTICS

Stubbards and Headstrong—Pretense on Part of Dr. G. D. Matthews of London, General Secretary of the Presbyterian Alliance, which will meet tomorrow at Washington, and who has been in South Africa, where he met President Kruger, gave a reporter for the Washington Post some interesting facts about that important personage and his country. Dr. Matthews said President Kruger is one of the most forceful men he ever met.

"The Boer" said the doctor, "is a peculiar being. He argues something like this: 'We know that we cannot cope with England, but we are going to fight her. We do not want the outland-ers, and we will not have them. We do not care for what you call civilization. It is not comfortable, and it brings with it too many anxieties.
What we want is to be allowed to till our fields in peace. We hate your railroads, and we prefer our old ox teams to your new farm wagons. England can come and defeat us. She can also take his life as we do to ourselves, but she will never conquer the spirit of freedom.'"

"President Kruger is a representative Boer. He is stubborn and stand-fast. He is a Boer. He will never let himself be too open and honest. He is not what one would call a progressive man, for he despises modern innovation with all the contempt of the few Afrikaners. At the best, the transvaal motto is one of the worst in which Great Britain ever became involved, and I sincerely hope that the victories will be speedy."

CALLED FROM HEARTH.

Sad and sudden Death of Miss Minnie Chase on Tuesday Afternoon, at the Sanitarium.

The death of Miss Minnie Chase which occurred at the Northern Pacific Sanitarium on Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock has caused a gloom of sorrow over the entire community, and the sad occurrence has been the one theme of conversation among her friends, and they were legion, ever since. For some time the young lady had been afflicted with stomach trouble, and it had been feared that the ailment would terminate in appendicitis, and on Friday last after a violent attack an examination proved that such was the case; an operation being deemed advisable as the only means of relief, she was taken to the Northern Pacific Sanitarium and the operation was successfully performed that evening. After the operation every indication was for her ultimate recovery, and until Monday evening no thought was given but that she was past all danger. On Monday night a change for the worse set in, cerebro-spinal meningitis having developed, and she died the following evening.

Miss Minnie Emma Chase was born in Seboc, Maine, May 20th, 1874, and came to Minnesota with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Chase, when but a child, and the greater portion of her life has been spent in this city, where she grew to womanhood and endeared herself in the hearts of her companions and friends. She was a general favorite and no gathering of young people was complete without her presence. For some time she had held a position as saleslady in H. C. Olson's store. One particularly sad feature is the fact that her mother, Mrs. N. B. Chase, was absent from home during her illness and death, she was at 12:30 o'clock after which she returned to her home, and although she had been apprised of the details of the operation by wire not the least realization of the grief stricken family the entire community extends their sincere sympathy in this their hour of great sorrow.

The funeral will occur this, Friday, afternoon at 3 o'clock, a short service to be held at the home of Mr. Haas at 230 o'clock after which the remains will be conveyed to the Congregational church, Rev. G. W. Gallagher conducting the funeral services. The interment will be at the Green Hill cemetery.

The influence of such a life is all powerful in its simplicity. Acting by its softness and gentleness, it taught us the worth of a cheerful, clear, unspotted, calm life. As flowers are the symbols of the highest type of beauty, so does her life, a magnificent, show her lovely, true.

To come in contact with her, was to admire her, to know her, was to love her.
