Two Men Wrecked.

Charles Furhop came near losing his life on Tuesday afternoon the result of a runaway. Mr. Furhop arrived in the city from Minneapolis the evening before and was stopping with his brother, Otto Furhop, who lives out near the Tent farm. The gentleman in question drove into the city Tuesday afternoon with a single horse and light lumber wagon for the purpose of getting his trunk from the depot. The horse became frightened at the noise made by a switch engine and Mr. Furhop was unable to hold the animal which started at a breakneck speed down Sixth street turning the corner at Front and throwing the gentleman out of the rig in front of Slipp Bros. The lines caught around the man's ankle and he was dragged up the street as far as the McFadden Drug store where his head came in contact with the wheel of another rig and the lines parted. The horse then turned and ran across the street into the Y. M. C. A. park striking a tree, wrecking the wagon and distributing the contents over the ground. Dr. Hemstead was sent for and the man's injuries attended to. He received two ugly cuts on the head and was otherwise badly bruised.

About ten minutes after the accident mentioned above Frank Dalgle's team, of Vineland, came tearing up Front street and when they crossed Sixth R. G. Valentyne attempted to stop them but was struck by the neckpoke and thrown to the ground directly under the horses feet but luckily he escaped with only a few bruises. The team ran over into the Y. M. C. A. park and brought up against one of the trees with such force as to scatter the merchandise with which the wagon was loaded in all directions. With the exception of the collars and bridle the harness was entirely stripped from the horses.

Held to the Grand Jury.

Wm. Wix was arrested on Saturday and locked up on a charge of robbery, the examination taking place on Monday and resulted in the prisoner being bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500. Alfred Baala, the man who claims to have been touched for his roll, amounting to $80, says that he and Wix were working in the same camp upriver and that he concluded to quit and received his pay walking to Brainerd in order to save railroad fare, so careful was he of his hard earned money. The next day after he had arrived Wix showed up in town and came to the Stratton House where Baala was stopping. On Friday the two men had a few drinks together and when Baala sobered up he found he had been relieved of his money. The police were notified and they followed Wix's trail and found where he had spent considerable money and his arrest followed.

New Officers Elected.

Unity Lodge No. 194, I. O. O. F., at its regular meeting on Wednesday evening elected the following officers for the ensuing year:
Noble Grand—C. N. Nichols.
Vice Grand—W. H. Sadler.
Secretary—A. H. Bennett.
Per. Secretary—N. M. Paine.
Treasurer—Wm. Murray.

Teach your boys that which they will practice when they become men. Give them a thorough business education. The Brainerd Business College offers extraordinary inducements.

Rev. G. W. Gallagher, of Brainerd, will lecture here on next Monday night in the Tabernacle. His subject will be "Heroes and Heroines"—Cass Lake Times.

Before our young people can reasonably hope for success in life they must be reasonably prepared to deserve it. A business education will help them.

Order Your Frames.

The pictures ordered at Losey & Dean's opening will be here next week, and those wishing frames will please leave their orders early so they can be filled before the holidays.

The Passion Play.

The Edison production of this wonderful play is taken from the Seima Morria version secured at the last rendition in Brera's nearly ten years ago, and consists of thirty-six scenes, 6000 feet of film of the life of our Saviour from the discovery of the Star of Bethlehem by the wise men to the ascension into Heaven after the crucifixion, and is historically correct in costumes, scenery, surroundings and detail.

The Passion Play was first produced nearly three hundred years ago in Ober Ammergau, and its origin in itself is unique.

A terrible plague had been raging in that section for a time, and people were dying by the hundreds. All efforts to stop it were unsuccessful until the people of the church assembled, and, as an offering to the Deity, agreed to produce a play portraying the life of Christ once every ten years; and, strange to say, the day following the first production the plague ceased and has never repeated itself. True to their vow each succeeding generation has taken up the task and given the play.

Numerous efforts have been made by speculators to secure a special production of the play. An offer of $50,000 by a New York syndicate being refused, an attempt was made to produce the play on a magnificent scale in the city of New York some years ago. Over $100,000 was expended in costumes, scenery and settings, but on the evening of the first trial the promoters were stopped in their efforts by an injunction secured by the allied churches of the city, and the entire outfit was stored away until a few months ago, when it was sold to Thomas A. Edison, who had conceived the idea of photographing the production for his patented picture machine. Nearly $100,000 additional was spent in purchasing fabrics and material for the costumes and scenery and the securing of a competent cast to produce the play. His efforts were highly successful, and as a result we are able to offer for the first time to the general public a magnificent reproduction of the life of the Saviour in animated pictures, comprising a beautiful and instructive entertainment. A short treatise on the late war has been added and the realistic reproduction of bombardments, engagements and incidents never fails to arouse the greatest enthusiasm.

Manager McLaughlin has booked this excellent attraction to appear at the Gardner Opera House for three performances commencing Saturday, Matinee Dec. 9th. Prices matinee 10 and 25 cents. Evening 25, 35 and 50 cents.

A newspaper correspondent at Indianapolis telegraphed Secretary Arthur of the state health board that Indiana will have an epidemic of smallpox. "I do not see how it can be averted," said Dr. Hurty, "and it will cost Indiana thousands of dollars as well as many deaths. There is smallpox in the state, and it will spread from the small common cases to the people do not know how to handle suspected cases in these small places. There should be no delay in handling a suspicious case, and if it turns out to be smallpox, it should be isolated. This whole state could be vaccinated for less than $100,000, and that would save it from a scourge that is otherwise sure to come."

International arbitration is not so new an idea as some suppose. On six different occasions between 1815 and 1853 congress has entertained petitions and memorials on the subject of peace societies and bodies of citizens in New England, New York and Virginia. Even the case of a proposal for a congress of nations in the interest of peace was submitted by resolution in Massachusetts in 1815, and similar action was taken by the legislature of Vermont in 1822. Dr. Franklin's agent said that the nation of the earth might find some more reasonable method of settling disputes than by cutting each other's throats. This has been reiterated by many friends of humanity long before his day.

A month ago two men were imported to Gloucester, and were taken to Gloucester, Sweden. The mayor of the Gloucester Tanning club recommended that they be imported into northern Sweden for use by the pioneer farmers, the long and old winters being rather severe for ordinary cattle. It is declared that it would not be necessary to salt feed the vast during winter, that the farmers would get a strong, hardy and tractable breed of horses, which would supply milk of good quality, and which would find its way over through deep snow. It remains yet to see whether or not they are willing to act upon the suggestion. Dr. Sven Hedin, who during his expeditions to central Asia has had opportunities for studying the yak in its native land, thinks the experiment worth trying.

REBELS' MAD HASTE

THEY WENT TO LEAVE AMERICA TO FIGHT IN EUROPE.

Manila, Nov. 20.—Col. Bell has departed and scattered the brigades of Gen. Alonzo Wallcut from San Miguel. The engagement took place on the 19th of a mountain, the insurgents being so confident of the impregnability of the position that they had had families with them. The Americans captured all the enemy's ammunition and artillery.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Gen. Otis has been ordered to leave Manila. The Thirty-first volunteers, who arrived at the port of Manila, were sent to the port of Manila. He also wrote that the Fort Alford has sailed for San Francisco, and that the Tarrar and Newberry will sail today. He also announced the arrival of the hospital ship Albatross, which sailed by way of San Francisco. No casualties are reported on the arriving ships.

A PERILOUS VOYAGE

TRANSPORT MARINER NARROWLY ESCAPED DEATH.

Officers and Sailors Were for Twelve Days Baffling With Buckers. The Steamer Was Casually Destroyed and Short of Provisions—Engine Breaks Down and Crew Held for Three Days in a Typhoon—Officers and Sailors Reached Manila.

Manila, Nov. 20.—The transport Mariner, with Lieut. Col. Webb C. Hayes and three companies of the Third Infantry on board, has arrived here. She narrowly escaped disaster. The officers and sailors were for twelve days baffling with buckers. The steamer was unseaworthy, undermanned and short of provisions. Her engine broke down and she rolled three days in a typhoon. The Mariner sailed from San Francisco Oct. 25. When the steamer arrived at Manila yesterday morning, thirty-three days after her departure, she had several feet of water in her hold, her engine was broken, her boiler was holed, and her provisions were almost exhausted. OBEДИENT TO FATE.

Their friendship was rather the result of a local incident...

They were there for the same reason - not a change of air...

Then, because the mail came at 12, it suited them both to linger under the shade trees...

It was the beginning, he had accepted the situation fully...

When he looked into her steadfast eyes he was conscious that she had loved him...

He needed her always, he would reason with himself...

WHERE ALL HE HAD LEFT would be the first (he knew it) to assure him...

A telegram calling her home hurriedly departed early one morning...

Rootly awakened from his dream of happiness he was like a man groping in the dark...

She also was fighting out the battle alone. It is strange that arguing with the same feeling...

The letter that she wrote was not to him - but to another man. "Forgive me," it said...

She began to turn the pages of one of her manuscripts, waiting to collect her thoughts...

A TIDAL BORE.

The Passes Were by the Head of the Bay of Fundy...

There is some of your boasted McKinley property...

"The men of the mines in town have cut," he said...

"No, no," he replied. "Oh, I only remember hearing you say..."

"No, but we have strikes," he retorted. "Didn't have any then..."

"That it is. It is a question whether it should be put to a vote..."

"What sort of resolutions were introduced last year?" she proceeded...

"That it is. It is a question whether it should be put to a vote..."

"There it goes again," he growled. "You always run it into the tariff..."

"There it goes again," he growled. "You always run it into the tariff..."

"There it goes again," he growled. "You always run it into the tariff..."
