ST. PATRICK HONORED. The Entertainment at Gardner Hall's Grand Success. Like all preceding occasions of the kind, the St. Patrick's Day entertainment at Gardner Hall last Saturday evening was a splendid success in every way.

FRIDAY, MARCH 26, 1909. The city of Moorhead, on Tuesday elected a mayor pledged to restrict the saloon. This is quite a change for Moorhead, which has ever been wide open.

The United States supreme court has affirmed the constitutionality of the Texas anti-trust law. The matter was carried to the supreme court by the Standard Oil company.

The municipal election at Little Falls on Monday resulted in a republican victory, the present democratic mayor being beaten. Republican success is assured all along the line.

The gross earnings of the B. & N. R. Ry in 1899 were $99,435.33 and the tax paid into the state treasury were $1,188.70. In 1898 the gross earnings were $184,438.22 and the tax $3,699.16.

Money was being subscribed at Bayfield, Wis., for the purpose of importing a car load of Angora goats to range the cut-over pine lands as an experiment. If this proves to be a success, as the promoters seem to think, it will solve the question of what will be done with these lands. It is claimed goats have been a success wherever tried.

REV. SHELTON's experiment in conducting the Topka Capital last week demonstrated that a paper run on his ideas would not be a newspaper at all, but a religious publication that would in no wise interfere with a genuine newspaper, and hence the experiment would indicate that his idea of a newspaper if put in continued practice would result in a failure.

A Manly Statement. The Pioneer Press has the following to say regarding Judge Morris' recent speech at Duluth:

Page Morris' speech at Duluth, on Thursday night is the best kind of a model for those congressmen who feel that in voting for the Porto Rico revenues bill they offend against the public sentiment. Its presentation of the case could not be clearer or more convincing. But even more commendable if it will go very far toward changing the public opinion on the justice or expediency of the 15 cent tariff. Nevertheless the speech accomplished, we believe, a very important result. It must have carried conviction to every one who heard or read it that Mr. Morris had not voted for the bill because it was a party measure, but because he believed thoroughly that a revenue-producing tariff was better for the Porto Ricans than free trade. It was a straightforward, manly utterance, with not the shadow of an attempt to excuse or to palliate before hearers most of whom believed that a mistake had been made and were disposed to be critical. It was clear that after giving the whole subject through consideration Judge Morris believed he was right and was not afraid to say so and to take the consequences. It is not likely that the consequences will be serious. No one has ever questioned either Judge Morris' ability or his conscientiousness, and the speech in question was only additional proof that he possessed both qualities. The Sixth district has reason to congratulate itself on commanding the services of such a man, and knows it. It has reason to be proud of the position and influence which he has in congress, and is not likely to disagree with that advantage merely because his conscientiousness judges that a debatable question differed from that of some of his constituents. Furthermore, there is reason to doubt whether this difference of opinion has excited that interest in the Sixth district which has been made to appear. Judge Morris states that he proposes to the vote his own campaign, three letters and telegrams on the subject, and since then has been writing here, and has been writing there, and has been writing everywhere, who are making use of the incident to further their own campaign, and among the friends of Judge Morris, who regret that he should have laid himself open to attack.

ST. PATRICK HONORED

The Entertainment at Gardner Hall's Grand Success. Like all preceding occasions of the kind, the St. Patrick's Day entertainment at Gardner Hall last Saturday evening was a splendid success in every way. The entertainment was for the benefit of St. Francis Catholic church, and a magnificent sum must have been realized, as the spacious hall was crowded to suffocation, every chair being occupied, and all the aisles and other points not filled by the chairs being filled with men, women and children, who patiently stood during the three hours or more while the entertainment was in progress.

The entertainment consisted of an address by Geo. H. Spear, music by the orchestra, singing by the McCarthy Bros. and Miss Mitchell, and the presentation of a three-act drama by local talent entitled "Capt. Jack," the latter being the feature of the evening. The curtains arose about 8:15, after an overture by the orchestra. The first on the programme was a duet by Frank and Gene McCarthy, who played an encore. Between the first and second acts Miss Mayne Mitchell favored the audience with a solo, which was rendered in a manner that charmed the mammoth audience. The second act was an encore with "Sweetheart," which was sung with equal ability and expression. Geo. H. Spear then delivered the address of the evening, taking for his theme Ireland's Patron Saint. Mr. Spear's address was short, occupying less than 30 minutes. The speaker grew quite eloquent at times and was interrupted at frequent intervals with hearty applause, and was generously applauded at the close.

The presentation of "Capt. Jack" by local talent was very pleasing, and it surprised a great many in the audience that Brainerd had so much theatrical ability. "Capt. Jack" is a three act Irish drama, the story of the play being the familiar story of Irish persecution and English oppression. Jos. P. Early appeared in the title role, being the leader of a band of Irish rebels who were resisting English oppression in Ireland. He was captured and condemned to the gallows, but makes his escape and in a parkland of Dublin marries the daughter of the English squire who prosecutes his arrest that he may force the rebel's sister, with whom he acquires a love to marry him. Mr. Early has appeared before Brainerd audiences before, and is always pleasing, and his interpretation of the difficult role of "Capt. Jack" added to his laurels. Capt. Edward Gordon, commander of the British troops, was impersonated by Eddie Cox, who found a very congenial role in Capt. Gordon, who had a penchant for making love to all the pretty girls he met. It is needless to say that Eddie Cox sustained the part in a manner that was highly satisfactory to himself and pleased all present. Henry Dunn's impersonation of the difficult and odious role of Squire Shannon elicited the admiration of all. He was at all times, apparently, perfectly at ease, and recited his lines with force and ability. Charley Wilson's Barney Donovan, could hardly be improved upon. Charley is a born comedian, and the role of the honest, fun-loving Irish servant, seemed written for him. His every appearance provoked laughter. Foddy Burke, the informer and spy, was impersonated by George Murphy in so realistic a manner that he carried the hatred of the virtuous-looking squire. Miss Mayne Curney as Alice Driscoll, Capt. Jack's sister, was at all times very pleasing and when pleading for her brother's life gave evidence of considerable dramatic ability. Miss Della Belli impersonated the character of Nell Shannon, the squire's daughter in love with Capt. Jack, in a very pleasing manner indeed. Miss Belle Hoyle as a line stage presence, and easy in all her motions and gestures, recited her lines with force and ability. Miss Mamie Hoyle's interpretation of Kate Kelly, Barney's sweetheart, elicited admiration from the audience, and Miss Gertrude Slipp as Mary, the servant, was equally pleasing. There was no hesitation or drag usual of amateur performances, but everything moved with the snap and vim of a big class professional performance.

Plenty of Proof Right Here in Brainerd. Claim is one thing, proof another. Columbus claimed the world was round. Did people believe it? Not until he proved it. Unproved claims have made the people skeptical. Proof is the only way to convince. Proven is Brainerd by local experience. Here is proof from the many who have seen it.

Mrs. J. H. Zellers of 63 Main st. says: "I believe after what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me they will help any one similarly troubled. Before using them I suffered for five months from my kidneys, there was a miserable feeling of pressure over those organs and the secretions were scanty. Besides this there was a heavy pain across the small of my back. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills were gotten from a drug store and as I was glad to try anything to obtain relief, I took the pills, and really they acted like a charm. I can truthfully say that I have not had a symptom since. In my old condition I could not do any of my work without my back giving me no end of trouble. I feel like a new man now. The Tired Sow. When a sow has proved herself a good mother, she is not to continue using her as such just so long as results are satisfactory. Even if the period should extend to twelve years or over, there is little sense in marketing old sows. The best of them are only despised, and they do not cost out much more. When they are old and no longer so good, they must be sold they should be well taken care of.

Self Denial Week. The Salvation Army throughout the world will celebrate next week from March 26th to April 2nd as a week of self denial and prayer. During this week the members of the army make special efforts to raise a large sum of money for charity and the relief of the distress. This year it is intended, if possible, to raise $40,000 for use in relieving distress where found in this country and assisting the famine stricken people of India. The money will be raised through members of the army denying themselves of some article of food or clothing, or abstaining from some not strictly necessary expense giving the amount saved to the self-denial fund. This will be expensed by soliciting contributions from outsiders, hence all readers of the Dispatch will probably be solicited. Why practice a little self-denial and assist these good people in relieving distress.

Card of Thanks. To the many kind friends and neighbors who extended aid and sympathy during our recent and bereavement, we desire to extend our sincerest thanks. We feel especially grateful to Miss Moulton and Sunday school class and to Rev. Garver and the M. B. A., for aid so generously extended.

MR. AND MRS. E. L. HOWE. DONT suffer with that long headachy nag, if there is any possible show to get rid of it. Did you ever think the trouble came from your eyes? The best way to be convinced is to have your eyes examined by Prof. Burns, the optician, who will be at the Arlington Hotel, Brainerd, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26, 27 and 28. If he can not help you he will tell you so. Eyes examined free.

FIRE CHIEF'S ANNUAL REPORT.

Fire Losses During the Year About $100,000—Great Disparity in Insurance and Premiums Paid.

City Fire Chief L. E. Stallman has made his annual report covering the year 1909, which contains some very interesting information. The report shows fire losses for the year to be $111,900, and insurance collected $60,622.84, about half. During that period the property owners of the city paid $24,864.96 insurance premiums, or nearly four times amount received on the insurance companies. Considering the great disparity in the amount paid the insurance companies to the amount received, it is a little surprising that the loss in insurance rates was made in the city. An effort should be made to have the rates reduced.

The department cost the city $174,750, in addition to $5,229.70 paid for the repair of 71 hydrants at an average cost of $75 each. These were all first during the year, two being of supposed incendiary origin, one was caused by defective chimneys, two by lamp explosions, three by children playing with matches, six by overhauling, and eight were of unknown origin.
