A. P. FARRAR PASSES AWAY.

One of Brainerd's Foremost Citizens
Joins the Silent Majority.

His Death a Great Loss to the Community.

At 5:30 o'clock on the morning of the 4th of July, just after the canon had boomed the national salute, Mr. A. P. Farrar, one of Brainerd's foremost citizens passed peacefully away, his bedside surrounded by those he loved best on earth.

Mr. Farrar has been fighting with the grim destroyer for several years. A man with a rugged constitution and exemplary habits throughout life, he fought valiantly against the disease which had taken hold of him but death is a relentless foe, and he at last succumbed. Although it was not known what the character of the disease was, it was at length pronounced cancer of the stomach. Mr. Farrar went to the Hot Springs to seek relief, but did not receive any benefit, and looked so poorly when he returned that his friends were alarmed. He weighed considerably over 200 pounds when in his normal health, but had wasted away so badly in his struggle against the disease that his friends hardly recognized him. The funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Congregational church, Rev. G. W. Gallagher officiating.

Andrew Pierce Farrar was born at Meredith, N. H., March 18, 1829, consequently was 71 years of age. He moved to Detroit, Michigan, in the 50s, then to Milwaukee, where he lived three years. He next lived in Chicago about a year and then went to Michigan City, Indiana, where he was master mechanic of the Michigan Central Railroad for nine years. He was then appointed superintendent of machinery of the Michigan Central with headquarters at Jackson, Michigan, and was afterwards superintendent of machinery of the Rockford, Rock Island & St. Louis, with headquarters at Beardstown, Ill. In 1876 he came to Brainerd and was superintendent of machinery of the N. P. until 1882, when he retired from the railroad business. He served one term as alderman in the city council, and was county commissioner for 14 years, being chairman of the board for several terms. In any capacity he was a most conscientious public servant, looking after the interests of the public as if his own. In every walk of life he was of irreproachable integrity and the soul of honor, and was respected and admired by all. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, attaining the rank of Knight Templar. Acoslon Com-mandry, of which he was a member will conduct the funeral ceremonies. Two children, F. A. Farrar, of this city, and Mrs. F. E. Potter, of Winnipeg, besides his faithful wife survive him. They have the sympathy of the community in their loss.

THE NATION'S BIRTHDAY

Was Fittingly Celebrated in Brainerd
On Wednesday.

A Monster Crowd In Attendance—
Fine Program of Sports.

The Glorious Fourth, the anniversary of the declaration of the nation's independence, was celebrated in this city yesterday in an enthusiastic and elaborate manner as the weather and the apathy of some of our business men would permit. The festivities of the day were ushered in by the booming of the cannon at the shops firing a national salute at sunrise, which apparently awoke every youngster in the city, who considered it his duty from that time on to make all the noise possible by every conceivable device that modern ingenuity has supplied to prevent anyone from getting any more sleep, and it must be admitted to succeed admirably. The weather conditions were not very favorable. The early morning was cloudy, and a light drizzling rain fell for about half an hour between 8 and 9 o'clock, spoiling the Japanese lanterns that decorated the streets, and injuring the bunting that was liberally used by the business men in decorating their places of business. It continued cloudy all day, springing a little at times. Just before the fireworks began it commenced a steady drizzle that became a soaking rain by morning.

The decorations, while not elaborate, were very nice. Several business places were very prettily decorated with flags and bunting, and the City Hall was covered with the national colors. A line of electric lights was strung on Front, 5th and Laurel streets, which were covered by pretty lanterns at night, making a very attractive sight. A large pole was placed in the center of 5th and Front streets, and streamers of electric lights were fastened to each corner. A circle of colored lights surrounded the pole above, all being decorated with red, white and blue bunting. When lighted at night it presented a very pleasing appearance.

At 10 o'clock the industrial parade assembled and was held, at which time the streets were thronged with people, who were arriving in a continuous stream all the morning from the surrounding country, or came in on the trains during the night, and the 11 o'clock train on the E. & N. W. brought a great many more. The parade was very fine, what there was of it, but it did not begin to assume the proportions of the parade in 1899. Only two business men had floats or made any display whatever: Henry I. Cohen, the enterprising dry goods merchant, and Dressell's jewelry store. The parade was led by Dressell's band through the principal streets. The display by Parker & Topping's foundry and the Iron Moulder's Union deserves all the praise that can be given it. The mouliders of Union No. 226 turned out about 50 strong. They were attired in black caps and black shirts with white ties, and had the words "I. M. U. No. 226" in white letters across their breast. They wore white gloves and each carried a cane, and they certainly presented a very fine appearance. They were preceded in the parade by a very elaborate float made up to indicate the foundry business. They were given a continuous ovation.

The Brainerd Lumber Co.'s float was also very handsome. A large platform had been constructed, on which a huge circular saw was mounted, which was kept revolving. The saw was painted the national colors. A railing was made at the edge of the platform of cast iron. The large band saw used in the mill. Eight or ten little girls all dressed in white occupied seats on the platform, each sitting under a canopy of white, and they sang patriotic songs as the parade progressed. The Spanish-American war veterans with the brass 12-pound were also in the feature. Prizes for the parade were awarded as follows:

For best business float, Wm. Dressell, prize $25.

For best mechanical float, Iron Moulders, $25.

For longest turnout, Iron Moulders, $25.

For best appearing turnout, Brainerd Lumber Company, $25.

For best appearing mounted gentleman, Conrad Iale, $10.

For best appearing driving team and carriage, Mrs. M. K. Swartz, $10.

For best appearing farm team, Chas. Moore, $10.

For most comical turnout, M. Maynard Leonard Bedell, $10. These gentlemen had rigged an old buggy up to look like an automobile, with steering apparatus. Their motive power, however, was a horse hitched in back of the buggy.

A ragtime band was in the parade, which furnished a great deal of amusement for the crowd.

The parade disbanded at the Y. M. C. A. park, where the address of the day was delivered by the Hon. Thos. E. Lyons, of West Superior, who made an eloquent speech appropriate to the occasion.

AT SWARTZ DRIVING PARK.

The afternoon was devoted to horse racing at the Swartz driving park. An immense crowd was in attendance, fully 4,000 people being on the ground. The races were interesting and exciting and resulted as follows:

5 minute race—Minnie Wood, Jack Barron horse, 1st money; Invoice, 2nd money; Toenail, 3rd money, and Hot Boy, 4th money.

2-40 race—Britta, 1st money; Red Bird, 2nd money; Cassette, 3rd.

Free-for-all—Greenleaf, 1st money; Loll (Dr. Groves horse) 2nd money, and Billy Balkin, 3rd money.

The ball game came in for its share of attention. The Royallon club played a very good game, while the home team played very poorly. Yorge went into the box at first for the home team, but having pitched a 15 inning game only two days before, his arm became lame, and Fred Paine went into the box in the 4th and finished the game. In the last half of the 8th, when the score stood 9 to 7 in favor of Brainerd, the manager of the visitors saw he could not win, and made the umpire's decision on a hit the pretext for calling his club off the diamond, and the game was given to Brainerd on a score of 9 to 6.

The fireworks in the evening were witnessed by a large crowd, notwithstanding the drizzling rain. They were very fine, and would have been very pleasing under ordinary conditions. At one time a box fireworks caught fire, and an exhibition not given on the programme was witnessed, but fortunately no one was hurt.

BRYAN NOMINATED.

W. J. Bryan was nominated last night by acclamation by the national convention of the democratic party now being held in Kansas City. As we go to press the nominating speeches for vice president are being made.

New Bridge Commenced.

The construction of the new steel railroad bridge over the Mississippi river which was announced in the Dispatch some time ago would be built, has been commenced, the work of building a temporary structure for the use of trains while the new bridge is being constructed is now under way. The new bridge will be a model structure in every way, and will be a permanent improvement in the roadway that will be appreciated by the trainmen, who EXAM have always been suspicious of the one that fell into the river in the seventies.

Vivid Description of Some of the Terrible Scenes.

BURNING OF THE STEAMER SAALE.

Captain of President Van Wyck Has Been Unable to Sleep Since He Helped Push the Passenger-Woman on Fire Before His Crew, but Some Could Save Her.

Speaking of the recent great fire at the pier of the North German Lloyd Steamship company, the captain of the freighter Van Wyck described as follows some of the scenes he witnessed: "I never saw such a sight before, and I hope I never shall see another like it," said Captain Connelly of the freighter Robert A. Van Wyck the other day to a reporter of the New York Press.

It was nearly 21 hours after the fire, but the memory of it, the picture of it, was so strongly impressed upon him that the commander of the freighter said he had not been able to sleep. "I can't get it out of my mind," said he. "If I live to be 100 years old, I never will forget; neither will any of the men on the boat."

The other morning was spent by the men on the Robert A. Van Wyck in cleaning up. The Van Wyck crew of fire fighters saved more than 30 persons from the Saaie. They were alongside her all during the fire. The fire-boat became a temporary hospital for the wounded and it was the evidences of the disaster that were cleared away. The deck looked like that of a man-of-war after a battle. There were flat landings and other evidences of the day performed by the crew of the Van Wyck. Huge piles of cotton used to cover wounds were about, looking ghastly with their red coloring. As the men cleaned up the boat many of them turned sick from the work with recollections of what they had witnessed. Captain Connelly, Lieutenant McLeister and other men have been fighting fires for almost a quarter of a century. The fire on Saturday, June 30, surpassed anything either ever had seen.

"I believe we saw the worst of it," said the captain. "Anyway, I hope it was the worst of it because I hope there were no other poor souls who went through the tortures of the imprisoned persons on the Saaie. There wasn't a man on this boat that would not have risked his life a dozen times to have saved any of them, but the only thing we could do was to pour in water and try to get the fire out of their misery and suffering."

The first thing we caught was a lighter filled with cotton. Then we heard there were persons on the Saaie. Every minute. Every minute had a face. The deadlights were no longer in circumference than an ordinary cap. The men in the boat went on deck and did what they could. It wasn't much at that time. We asked those who were at the portholes how many men were in the boat. They said they could make what they didn't know, but there must be 100.

"One man asked for drink, and we gave it to him. He said the ship was filling with water. Some put their arms out of the ports; others managed to get a shoulder and half their bodies in the opening. We tried axes, picks, every thing, to break a hole in the side of the Saaie. The Chinaman came up with the wrecking apparatus and tried to break into her, but nothing made an impression."

"When we dropped anchor of her, I saw the passenger woman that ever drew breath of life. My men cried like children, the mother screams not let out a moan. Every man in the company would have lost anything, been crippled or maimed for life, to have saved her. She was about 35 years old, with black hair that had been burned in places. The clothes had been burned from her shoulders until she was nearly naked to the waist. She did not say so, but I think she was a passenger. She may have been a stewardess."

"We played a stream of water on the port and on her head and she gave her a drink. When she stretched her hands for the men they were burned. Then we passed into the port one of our 2 1/2 inch lines, and she took hold of it. For 10 minutes she played it about her, first on one side, then on the other, then over her head. She spoke broken English, but we managed to understand that she meant the fire was gaining on her. We took the standpipes and lapped it into another deadlight near her and sawing it in all directions, trying to aid her. She saw what we were doing, but shook her head as though to say, 'It can't save me.' The ship had listed, and exhausted in one of the mulls it made, she fell. That was the last we saw of her. It was the greatest sight I ever saw any one make. The lawyer there was so hope, was half burned to death, standing deep in water and never a scream."

"While we were talking to her other talks to others. I must have seen 10 to 15 persons at the ports. The Van Wyck rescued 30 from the engine room. They were the men who stood for hours on the pumping station. We left as many dead in there as we rescued living. The poor fellows had resorted to every means to prolong life. The boat must have been full of men."

Some of them had kept blankets soaked in water about them. Others had passed their clothes and had them about their waists. When we reached them they were dead. They could give us no estimate of the men left behind. The men taken out were not those who had been at the Saaie. They were men who had been beneath the surface of the water when the fire was discovered. Those who talked English said when they found the ship was on fire they were too late to get out.

"There was an explosion on board the Saaie, which blew up the forward deck. I asked one of the men who was in the engine room if they were ever told there was a fire until it was too late. The person on deck probably did not think it was going to result as it did, and wanted them to get out to run the pumps or something and discovered too late that they were out of it. He was injured, but he said they had 500 pounds of powder in the forward part of the ship. Our men were on the deck fighting the fire when the explosion occurred."

"My own impression about the men in the engine room is that they were never told there was a fire until it was too late. The person on deck probably did not think it was going to result as it did, and wanted them to get out to run the pumps or something and discovered too late that they were out of it. He was injured, but he said they had 500 pounds of powder in the forward part of the ship. Our men were on the deck fighting the fire when the explosion occurred."

"The bodies of the men in the Saaie will be recovered, some that were being buried alive while we were playing water on their faces. I think many of them were burned until they were unable to stand at the portholes and the dropped back and were drowned."

CHEAP ACETYLENE BLACK.

How a French Engineer Proposes to Produce It.

The fact that acetylene can be readily decomposed into its elements has long been known. When this is done, the carbon is liberated in an extremely finely divided state, and being absolutely pure, it is superior to the best lampblack for the manufacture of fibrographic ink, varnishes and other artistic purposes. Commercial carbon black is, however, still too expensive to permit of acetone black prepared from it competing with lampblack, in all artistic works. However, there is a considerable quantity of material produced which is of such inferior quality as to be unsuitable, and Mr. Huber, a French engineer, proposes to make use of this waste for the production of the acetone black.

AWFUL CHINESE ATROCITIES.

What a Hoax Saw Who Witnessed the Kuan Tsun Tragedy.

The Shanghai Mercury says that a member of the Boxer society who saw the murder of Rev. Mr. Hills of the London mission and of a Chinese missionary at Kung Tsun gave the following account of the tragedy to a friend: "On the twelfth day of the fourth moon the Boxer, numbering 57, crossed the river Tsun and met the two missionaries in a boat. They knew the Chinese was a Christian and at once attacked him, wounding him with their spears. Then they dragged him out of the boat and tied him to a tree at the river side. Then Mr. Hills was tied with him, and Mr. Chen, another Chinese missionary was found."

"His toes and thumbs were bound together, and he was carried to a tree near where the others were hung up. The arms of the missionaries were cut off, their heads were cut off, and after the bodies had been discovered, they were cast into the river. The clump of the mission was demolished, and the Boxers went on their way."

SO DIFFERENT.

There are a great many of them. Every part has its share. Statements hard to believe, harder to prove. Statements from far-away places. What people say in Florida. Public expression from California. Oftentimes good indorsement there. But of little service here at home. Brainerd people want local proof. The sayings of neighbors, friends and citizens.

Home indorsement counts.

It dispenses the sceptic is beyond dispute. This is the backing that stands behind every box of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a case of it: Mrs. S. Brein, of 128 South Ninth street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cannot be spoken of in too high terms. I suffered greatly from my back, the symptoms showing unmistakable that the kidneys were at fault. The secretions from those organs were scanty and caused some pain; the itching in my back was constant and exceedingly distressing. When my husband brought me Doan's Kidney Pills I was much in need of relief. I used them and in a comparatively short time the pain had disappeared and the improvement in my condition was general. The kidneys were quickly restored to health and performed their functions naturally."

Doan's Kidney Pills 50 cents a box. For sale at the Hoffman Drug Co., H. E. Dunn & Co., and all druggists. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

What's the secret of happy, vigorous health?

Simply keeping the bowels, the stomach, the liver and kidneys strong and active. Burdock Blood Bitters does it. Bile acids are a terrible torment to the Eealy cured. Doan's Ointment never fails. Instant relief, permanent cure. At any drug store, 50 cents. A little life may be sacrificed to a hour's delay. Cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand. Elder Mead's residence in Oak Lawn township was broken into during his recent absence conducting a camp meeting at Anokis, and about $25 worth of clothing belonging to Mrs. Mead was stolen. ## OUTBREAKS IN CHINA.

Professor Headland's Experience With a Mob in Peking. HOW HE TREATED A BOMBING.

Continued Instructions That dominated: Start From Trivial Causes. Mischievous Conduct in Contrasting a Disturbance—Inefficiency of the Army. Remarkably Able Diplomacy of the Chinese.

"There is probably no country in the world that has, and has always had, so many and large outbreaks as China," said Isaac Taylor, professor of mental and moral philosophy in Peking university, a representative of the New York Sun. "Naturally a people of peace, they are yet a people of war—no, not of war, but of frantic squabbles, for their upright, except in extreme cases, do not rise to the dignity of war."

"When there is a strong emperor at the head of the government, they are peaceful, but when, as in the present instance, there is a woman on the throne, the whole thing is turned into a quizzical farce, with the oppressor done in the character of the dominant and the oppressed, making trouble for the whole world. At such a time rioting even on a large scale may be precipitated by the most trivial cause."

"Let me describe an experience through which my wife and I passed. My wife, who is a physician, was going in a sedan chair to see a sick woman. I followed on a donkey to accompany her. Just as we were passing through the east gate of Peking a company of soldiers came out of a side street and started the mob which we had to get out of the chair on account of the muddy street. The crowd that had gathered to see the soldiers called us foreign devils. I suggested that we cross over and go to a side street. As we did this a hoodlum came out of a corner shop, with nothing on save a pair of trousers and a pair of shoes, determined to make a row. He followed us all the way down the street, and threw sticks, stones, dirt and mud, while the original disturber of the peace got down to kick my wife several times without my knowledge. He kicked and I knuckled him down and was about to step on him when several friendly Chinese stepped between us and him, succeeded in deriving many of the blows which were aimed at us. For nearly a half hour we were in the mob, and, while not seriously injured physically, both our nerves and feelings were badly hurt."

If all attention to the fact that the mob was started by one seconded, or as the Chinese would call him, a tier in ten of men who hounded him to the ground—in effect, a leader, and some of the better class raised their own voice and safety to protest us. The city authorities issued an order at once, the seconded was arrested, and a wooden collar about two feet square, which he had to wear for a month, was put about his neck.

When it is designed by any of the hoodlums or the members of a secret society to create a disturbance, about the first thing they do is to placate the mob. The announcement is first of all on a board, the operation costing 50 cents per page. From this board they call out, they can print from a hundred to a thousand copies. These are given to the members of the society and sent to different portions of the city to be posted on the walls of the houses, but more especially near the city gates and at the cross streets. In these localities they will be seen by the largest possible number. The word is then passed from lip to lip, and this is the way that the people call yao yen, or, as we say, report goings. No people in the world perhaps are greater gossipers than the Chinese. They tell everything they know and everything they can think about.

MARKETS OF ARGENTINA

Opportunities Neglected by American Manufacturers. STATEMENTS OF A MISSIONARY.

Dr. J. F. Thomson, who has spent 45 years of his life in Argentina, 35 years of which have been devoted to missionary work, lectured recently at the Metropolitan Club in Washington on the Conditions There—Greatest Climate of the Country.

Dr. J. F. Thomson, who has spent 45 years of his life in Argentina, 35 years of which have been devoted to missionary work, lectured recently at the Metropolitan Club in Washington on the Conditions There—Greatest Climate of the Country.

"Argentina is the land of plenty; the actual production of food for the population is not only sufficient but abundant. The climate is incomparable. For 250 days in the year there is nothing to fear in the sky but the white and blue clouds. The winds are gentle and never angry storms. The winters are mild, snow falling only in the extreme south or in the higher zones of modern civilization. The summer heat, which in most of our countries is no greater than that of Washington, is never charged with humidity and is, therefore, helpful and not harmful to life. We think that I could tell the following fact or two, which are of the greatest value to those who possess of Anglo means, are wanting under the cruel light of public consumption. In the little Colorado, 50 hours' journey from Buenos Aires, we have a house on a mountain side, in which in those times tuberculosis has already made considerable progress would throw drugs to the dogs and go into those hills and only breathe, every breath would bring them life and respite from pain. I speak from knowledge. People living in the neighborhood of the capital who desire confirmation of this fact need only consult the resident Argentine minister, Dr. Edward White, who is not only a diplomat, but also a eminent physician.

"The United States, Russia and India must reckon with Argentina as a wheat producer. With a population of less than 5,000,000 she already exports 100,000 tons of that grain a year. It is a delight often met with there to look on a field of 25 square miles, with the golden ears standing even and close together, and not a weed or stem of a tree nor a stone as big as a man's fist to be seen or found in the whole area. When the harvest is ready, the fields come over to shiploads to be sent to the port of Buenos Aires. Their task is done, they stuff their working clothes into an old wheat sack and, with their pockets full of money, return to Italy to repeat the operation.

"The United States is far from being aware of her commercial interests in South America. Let me give you some facts in the order to make her goods and cheap as anywhere. Argentina buys 4,500,000 yards of cloth a year from England and only 200,000 from the United States. In whose manufacture you buy the wool, and the supply of your products is fully recognized down to the most distant parts of the world imported from France, Italy and England and only 107 from those of this country.

"Argentina produces the finest cloth to be found in the world. The United States ought to and to some day will seek to buy every ounce of that wool, with its high cloth and sell it to the people in all this western continent. The most of the greatest manufactures of the world, the best woolen, the best tinting and finishing enterprises that yet have been investigated but undeveloped before you.

Resolutions Committee Makes Its Leading Issue in Democratic Platform.

Declaration for Free Silver Put Well Down in the Body of the Document.

Conservative Element Seems to Be Much Pleased by the Decision Reached.

KANSAS CITY, July 6.—The committee on resolutions, after an all-night session, decided for an explicit declaration for silver coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1. The vote stood in favor of the specific 16 to 1 declaration to 34 against. The fight against the proposition, treated by Mayor Harrison of Chicago and Augustus Van Wyck of New York, Senator Daniel of Virginia also vigorously opposed the specific silver plank.

A number of clever and up-to-date specialties are continually introduced during the action of the play, and between acts will introduce all the latest novelties, giving a continuation performance at popular prices from 25 to 30 cents.

Reported Massacre of All the Foreigners at Peking.
London, July 6.—The alleged story of massacre of all the whites in Peking is being rebuffed with circumstantial almost convincing force. Those who have hitherto refused to credit the slaying tales. The only hopeful feature of the evil news is the fact that it came from Chinese sources at Shanghai but it is realized that even if the story has not yet been concocted it is a long time before it will come from unknown sources.

According to reports from Shanghai the Chinese army on a march southward from Peking, has reached Icha. This is presumably General Ruo Si's army en route to attack Tien Tsin.

FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS.

Interesting Local News of the Surrounding Country. EAGLE LAKE. Mr. Doan and family have gone to Brainerd to get a hunk of Fourth of July.

TOOK THEIR OWN LIVES. Two Former Seafaring Citizens Suicide During the Past Week.

The St. Paul Dispatch on Wednesday contained the following notice: John O'Toole, aged 60, yesterday died from an overdose of laudanum.

Mr. O'Toole was an iron molder and it is claimed formerly lived in Brainerd. He has a son, John, employed in St. Paul, and a wife living in Brainerd.

Mr. O'Toole and family have lived in this city at intervals for many years, and while here he was employed by Parker and Topping's foundry. A wife and several children here survive him.

The Minneapolis Tribune on Monday contained a dispatch from Chicago saying that W. O. Brown, had taken his life in a hotel in that city by shooting himself through the head.

It was further stated that Brown was a telegraph operator and lived in Brainerd. Brown was an odd character who had resided in this vicinity for some years.

He came here when the B. & N. M. was first built to the city and worked as an operator. His habit of taking the flowing bowl soon left him without a job.

He was married here and lived with his family on a claim out on Gall River for several years. He left here last fall but his wife and child continued to live on the claim.

He is known to have had considerable money at one time. Bicycles repaired at Hoffman's.

BASE BALL NEWS. Several Games Played During the Past Week.

The regular Brainerd club went to Little Falls last Sunday and played a game, concerning which the Transcript says: One of the prettiest games of baseball ever seen in the city was played at the ball park Sunday afternoon.

One feature of the game was the entire absence of "rough-necked" play by the players. Each team seemed to have a man who, once in a while, delighted in delaying the progress of the game, but generally little of the above occurred.

Falling is the score: Brainerd, 4; Little Falls, 0. Brainerd got one hit off of Perrell while our boys only found Vorge safely seven times.

The home team made four errors and the visitors five. Brainerd's pitcher managed to hit three Little Falls men while Brainerd had twelve men with holes in their bats.

Ladlow's men got to first on balls four times against nine of the home team.

The Maroons and the Royalton club played a game on the West Front street grounds last Sunday, and the Maroons got it in the neck.

The visiting team is a very strong one and clearly outclassed the Maroons. They have defeated Little Falls, St. Cloud and other strong teams with ease.

Their game with the Maroons was a fast one, the score at the close standing 3 to 4 in favor of Royalton. The score was 4 to 1 against the home team up to the inning, when the Maroons made two more scores, although large numbers of the on-lookers considered it was done by very doubtful tactics.

At any rate they are too heavy ball players for the Maroons.

OIL TANKS BURN

Standard Oil Company's Plant at Bayonas, N. J., Partly Destroyed by Fire.

Several Employees Badly Burned and Scores of Others Have Narrow Escapes.

The Financial Loss Estimated at Not Far From Two and a Half Millions.

New York, July 6.—The fire in the Standard Oil company's plant at Bayonas Hook, in Bayonas, N. J., which was started during the morning by a stroke of lightning, continued until 30 oil tanks had been destroyed.

The financial loss is placed at $2,500,000. William Mahon, a boy 11 years old, was severely, but not fatally, burned, and several others, James Thompson, Thomas Devine, John Neathers, Charles Sauer and John Rook were seriously burned.

The explosions of the tanks were heard for miles and the flames were lighted up for hours afterwards by the flames which leaped a hundred feet in the air.

Even at 6 o'clock the column of smoke rose some 200 feet into the air. Burning tanks spread out in such a way that they were visible from the west, the bright morning sun was obscured.

Headquarters Newarkly Escape. Within 30 yards of the exploded tanks was the Bayview hotel, and as a lodging house by half a Standard Oil company and Poles employed at the tanks. The explosion came they could not get out of the rear of the building, chased by the streams of burning oil, which flew over and rapidly consumed the hotel.

The oil from the exploded tanks swept down the hill on which the works are located. Explosions followed like the great artillery as tank after tank was ignited by the fiery flood. Down to the water's edge it went, spreading the flames on the bay.

Nothing could stay its progress. Even the water was no obstacle and from the burning pier, which a little while before had been crowded with shipping, it flowed over into the Kill Van Kull and floated in snaky wisps of flame out into the bay.

saving Vessels at the Dock. Meanwhile, the Standard Oil tugs ran into the docks and dragged out 60 tons of oil which were lying on the pier. The tugs then were lying on the pier's edge. They then formed a cordon and fought the flames from that side.

At 10 a. m. the flames were shooting up into the docks and high, and the blasting oil extended over an area of nearly half a mile. The boat crew said that the flames could not get near the shore, but that the water at the stable Hook occupied a depth of 20 feet. The flames were not so high as they had been believed that of the company men reported missing had been killed or severely injured, but several had been painfully burned.

The death of the day which was read by the cadet adjutant in a unusually long and the motionless position in which the cadets are required to stand is attributed as the cause of such a large number of prostrations at the time.

The Twin Cities Greatest Daily.

Among the exchanges which come to our editorial table some take the place of The Minneapolis Tribune. It is without question the representative daily of the Northwest. Not alone is it the paper of largest circulation west of Chicago, but its standing among the best class of readers—the actual leaders of thought and sentiment throughout the Northwest is absolutely unique.

The Tribune is, first of all, a Republican newspaper. It is not a party organ, or the instrument of any person or clique. There is no attempt to manufacture sentiment through its columns for one man or against another. At the same time its editorial page presents a champion for strength and virility seldom found.

In so far as an outsider can judge, it seems to be the belief of the management of The Tribune, that with the Republican party, and Republicans generally, may not always be right, they are so much more likely to be right than their Republican and Democratic opponents that the rule may as well be made general and the Republican cause supported every time.

But The Tribune is valuable for other reasons, even more than because it is practically the only opposition Republican daily in the Twin Cities. The Tribune is primarily a newspaper. It is this quality which gives it the large circulation and influence among the newspaper readers. The foreign war service, including the summary from London cabled every day, has enabled Tribune readers to get the drift of the Boer-English war up to the very hour of going to press. So with the Philippine war news, general politics from Washington and the news of the Northwest. All the news is well edited, making it easy to gather from a hasty glance at The Tribune the day's doings of the world.

The Sunday Tribune is a veritable library volume each week. It is a long Sunday job to read it through, but its variety is so great and its interesting composition of such a character that every member of the family wants a turn at what is justly called "The Twin City's Greatest Daily."

C. T. U., at the Gilt Street M. E. church, was very successful. There were five contestants, Miss Helen Arms, who won the medal, Miss Pauline, who came next in merit, Miss Marie Smith, Miss Marie Bender and Miss Norma Fundermilk. The contest was very close and at the close the judges, Dr. J. C. Jackson, Jr., Rev. Byron L. Long and Mr. Frank Brown, decided that the medal should be awarded to Miss Arms.
