

THE BRAINERD DISPATCH.

VOLUME 19, NUMBER 38.

BRAINERD, MINNESOTA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 31, 1900.

INGERSOLL & WIELAND, PUBLISHERS

GENERAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Meats, Butter, Eggs, Cheese and Fruits of all Kind, on Ice.

Leave an order for these fruits and see how superior they are to those kept in warm store rooms.

City Meat Market, E. O. BANE, Prop.

This is the House that Hoffman Built.

A FEW MIDSUMMER BARGAINS! AT THE GLASS BLOCK.

Lawn Mowers,	worth $4.50 for $2.50
Lawn hose per roll,	" 7.00 " 3.50
Ice Cream Freezer,	" 4.00 " 1.50
Screen Doors and Hinges	" 1.75 " 1.25
Refrigerator	" 15.00 " 10.00
Refrigerator	" 10.00 " 6.00
Adjustable Window Screens	" 5.00 " 3.00
Wire screen per square yd	" 25c " 15c
Hammocks	" 1.50 " 75c
Buggy Fly Nets	" 1.50 " 75c
Bicycles,	" 15.00 " 8.00

Cor. 6th and Laurel Sts., Brainerd, Minn.

Deering Ideal Mowers, Hay Rakes and Binders at Hoffman's, corner 6th and Front streets.

A BARNY CUT in Dress Goods, which will interest close buyers.

HENRY I. COHEN,
Blender Block.

Do you want a bicycle? D. M. Clark & Co. sells them on easy terms.

See will buy a boy's suit of clothes now of us.

HENRY I. COHEN.

Featherston wheels at Hoffman's.

CLASPED TO THE MASTER'S BOSOM.

Little Ruth Wieland Meets Her Death In the Waters of Rice Lake.

The Entire Community Deeply Affected. Beautiful and Appropriate Ceremonies at the Funeral.

The week just closed has witnessed a tragedy so distressing, so suggestive in every feature of a mother's poignant grief at the sudden loss of her own child, that it is impossible to describe to the accident unfolding. Sunday evening little Ruth Wieland, while looking for her father, ran out on the boom to the crib which protects the water system of the Brainerd Lumber Co. in Rice Lake, lost her footing, was projected into the pool below and met death in the chilling embrace of its depths. The body was not recovered for two hours, when not even the fiercest heart beat encouraged a hope of resuscitation. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the home, the interment taking place at the cemetery at Rice Lake. Rev. George C. Wagner, pastor of the First Congregational church, had been summoned from Minneapolis, where he had gone on his vacation, and was present as the officiating clergyman.

The Sunday afternoon of the occurrence little Ruth, a dear, sweet, impulsive child, had gone with Mr. and Mrs. Wieland and Mr. and Mrs. Wigham, their guests, and their son Walter out to Rice Lake. The heat of the day had passed and the cool breath of the evening invited quiet and repose. The drive to the mill was thoroughly enjoyed by the little party. The gentlemen were riding bicycles, and the fact that a well worn path had been made for its objective point explains the selection of Rice Lake. Almost immediately on arrival Mr. Wieland in company with Mr. Wigham and the children went down to the power house, which stands on the shore of the lake, while the ladies remained with the carriage. The children ran out on the boom close by, and were recalled by Mr. Wieland and admonished not to do so again. They returned from the lake and Ruth went to where her mother was while the gentlemen went around the end of the mill to look at the engine and boilers on a moment. The boys, becoming very nervous, because of the mosquitoes, Mrs. Wieland said she wished the gentlemen would hurry, when little Ruth said, "I'll go and get papa," and ran in the direction they had gone, and when the gentlemen returned to where the ladies were, Ruth was not with them, and search was at once instituted for her. The parents became greatly alarmed, and it was not until reassured that repeated shouts on the part of her now thoroughly frightened father failed to meet with any response. Mrs. Wieland, almost frantic at dreadful possibilities which kept crowding her mind seemed, even at this hour to intuitively know that the need for rescuers was urgent and that some fatal catastrophe could only be averted by prompt action.

No kind purpose is served in rehearsing details so harrowing. The early efforts of the searchers proving of no avail, assistance was summoned, the fire bells were rung to announce that a child had been lost, parties were organized to examine every foot of ground where tall tales evidence might have been recorded, and with energy and determination the thorough with forbidding that something ghastly might reward the labors of the next few hours, the thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by McFadden Drug Co. and H. P. Dunn & Co.

That Throbbing Headache
Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by McFadden Drug Co. and H. P. Dunn & Co.

Yes, sir, it is a fact. "Best of All Pills" takes the lead, for sale by Brainerd Flour and Feed Co., phone 73-2.

A full line of baby carriages and 80-carts at D. M. Clark & Co's.

sure's setting. The autumn was at hand and trees and flowers knew it. Soon they would reinforce the past, just as one other little blossom had gone. Only it was cruel to think the fields that might be stripped of all their gay coloring, and no heart mourn, with fresh and smiling while the treasure of a household, the one whose loss meant desolation and sorrow not to one, but to many in the community, lay still and white with the seal of eternal silence upon her mortal lips. So mysterious, so inscrutable, are the ways of Providence.

There was a short and simple service at the house and then, when the funeral procession had made its way to the cemetery, a most touching ceremony at the grave. Six girls, companions of Ruth's or acquaintances, themselves dressed in pure white, strewed flowers until the cold cavern had lost its sombre proportions, and the grave no longer was of forbidding aspect. These girls were Elsie Smith, Winnie Smith, Nellie Alderman, Alberta Bean, Vera Nevers and Kittie Koene. The pallbearers were all young men from the Sunday school of the First Congregational church: Charles Hoffman, Ray Bean, Fred Hollenbeck, Roy Smith, Albert Bronzery and Fred Tache. Musical selections were rendered exquisitely by the Aeolian quartette and Misses Maud and Mabel Davis.

So lively was the disposition of little Ruth, so animated, and enthusiastic was she over each new feature of daily life, so ready to make friends through her winsome ways, so staunch in attachment to those who had a claim upon her generous affections that when the tragic accident of Sunday evening became known an unusually large number of persons were affected with depression. And this was quite true outside of those who happened to be on intimate terms with Mr. and Mrs. Wieland; for little Ruth was very popular among school mates and with the children of her neighborhood. As soon as it was possible to get a message to St. Paul by wire Mrs. Wieland's mother was summoned. She is still in Brainerd, as Mrs. Wieland is suffering from the nervous shock. There were also present to attend the funeral Mrs. James Minnie Dehon, and C. E. Kitchin, and Miss Maud Gleason, sisters of Mrs. Wieland, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kaley.

A BLOSSOM FAIR.

The fall flower festival, which was given by Mr. Gallagher and assisted by the ladies of the Y. W. C. A., was held at the Y. W. C. A. building on Monday evening. A flower fair grew on a tree. It is better every one's gift. When the tree had been set in place. A flower in my pathway grew. It is better every one's gift. When the tree had been set in place. A song had few notes in its voice. With an answer to my prayer. An apple tree in bloom. An apple tree in bloom. An apple tree in bloom. An apple tree in bloom.

The Brainerd Elks. For years the citizens of Brainerd will refer with pleasure to the day when the Elks were here. Last Thursday the Northern Pacific carried two passenger coaches of Elks from St. Paul, Minnesota and St. Cloud, accompanied by the Journal and the St. Joseph band to Brainerd, where a low lodge, No. 615, was to be formed. The train was met at the depot by the fans of the town, and the entire group was escorted to the several hotels. The town was lavishly decorated with purple and white, and the delegates were out in force to welcome the visitors. The procession was formed at 2 o'clock and marched through the principal streets. The Brainerd brotherhood appeared in shirt waists made of purple and white, presenting a picture as well as neat appearance. The march was introduced to Elks. The brothers from the other places will be remembered, and it is in the which they were entertained. An elaborate lunch was served constantly from 2 o'clock P. M. up to 10 o'clock A. M. The men showing forty at the starting, and it is to be everything of the kind the writer ever sampled. The Brainerd lodge was out under most auspicious circumstances and is destined to be a noble addition to the order—Anoka Union.

THE BRAUNY TOILERS' OWN DAY.

Labor's Celebration on Monday Elaborately Planned For.

General Public Interest in the Anniversary and the Program.

The program for Labor Day is as follows: Morning, parade and address. Afternoon, sports at the driving park with $225 in prizes. Evening, bicycle parade and grand ball at Gardner Hall.

It's a fair combat upon the intelligence and success with which labor has organized its interests that there is one day in the year which has become so recognized as its anniversary. In many states, as in Minnesota, Labor Day is made a holiday by statutory enactment, thus formally assigning it to a place on the calendar. The laboring man has so many friends, however, that even without this formalism to the influence exerted by the industrial army, observation of the day would be general.

Brainerd, as the strongest labor town in northern Minnesota, will celebrate Monday in characteristic style. The morning will be significant by a splendid parade. The column will form on Front and Sixth streets, and move west on Front to Fifth, south on 5th to Laurel, east on Laurel to Eighth, north on Eighth to Front, west on Front to Sixth, north on Sixth to Juniper, east on Juniper to Eighth to Front, west on Front to west end of Y. M. C. A. grounds, where addresses will be delivered by Edward Kris, of Duluth, W. S. McClelland, W. A. Fleming and A. J. Holstad.

The afternoon will be given over to fine program of sports at the Swartz Driving Park, including a game of base ball between the Brainerd and Atkin clubs. The prizes offered for sports aggregate $225. The judges of the races are W. H. Sadder, G. B. Elliott, J. T. Sandborn, Loren Cooley and S. H. Adair.

There will be a bicycle parade in the evening and a grand ball at Gardner Hall, at which Dressell's band will furnish music. Everything promises a most successful day. Committees and citizens have overlooked no feature of the arrangement. With fair treatment from the weather man the occasion will pass into local history as unprecedentedly superior to anything of the kind ever undertaken before in Brainerd.

THE GENERAL COMMITTEE MEETS. The committee in charge of the arrangements for Labor Day gave its attention almost solely to details in the meeting held Tuesday evening. The committee on sports had provided a most entertaining program and reported the fact at a previous session, but not content with its efforts, decided to add a game with the Atkin base ball team to the features of the afternoon and a cake walk to the dance to be held in the evening. For the latter event a prize of $100.00 was decided upon. The floor committee for the dance was announced as follows: T. E. Gant, Joe Early, Frank Hall, W. S. Cox and J. C. Smallwood. The general committee received and accepted reports from the printing committee and the committee on parade. F. M. Zakariassen pledged the tailors to a splendid turnout if a place were assigned them in the parade, and the marshal of the day was instructed to make the necessary arrangements. R. G. Collier spoke for the blacksmiths of the Northern Pacific shops and E. F. McDonald for the machinists. Mr. Lyndon, general foreman, had pronounced the men, as it was said, that they should have any thing from the shops they desired in order to re-

THE PARADE MOVES COMPLETE.

The working force at the Brainerd Lumber mill, through its representative W. H. Sadder, promised enough men to make one division in the parade. The moulder, through Mr. David Smith, expressed an intention of attending in a body. A similar statement was made by the committeemen, who had been detailed to interview the barbers.

The clerks are nothing if not meticulous. They propose to march in uniform and in addition, to present a float most artistically decorated. The crowning triumph of the whole will be the introduction of the queen of the display, a young lady who was heralded by Mr. Jos. Early as being "the most beautiful lady clerk in the city."

There is a possibility that the committee will be disappointed in one of the events arranged for the driving park. In the event of any failure the committee on sports will passively assign it to a place on the calendar. The laboring man has so many friends, however, that even without this formalism to the influence exerted by the industrial army, observation of the day would be general.

Brainerd, as the strongest labor town in northern Minnesota, will celebrate Monday in characteristic style. The morning will be significant by a splendid parade. The column will form on Front and Sixth streets, and move west on Front to Fifth, south on 5th to Laurel, east on Laurel to Eighth, north on Eighth to Front, west on Front to Sixth, north on Sixth to Juniper, east on Juniper to Eighth to Front, west on Front to west end of Y. M. C. A. grounds, where addresses will be delivered by Edward Kris, of Duluth, W. S. McClelland, W. A. Fleming and A. J. Holstad.

THEY WILL SHINE. Marshall Henry Hurley when he assisted in the program for the parade will have command of a finely uniformed force. Each marcher will be in blue overalls and jacket and a black cap. Furthermore the machinists propose to distinguish themselves in their display of floats. Chairman Ed. Leach last evening added the following members to the committee charged with the responsibility of designing and constructing the floats: George Boob, W. P. Storm, Archibald Hagstrom, A. E. Ranson, Henry Hurley, Ed. Ovig, and E. T. Simmonson. Timothy Tooby and Gustave Johnson were made a committee to provide ways and means.

ASSURED AT LAST.

X. P. Shops To Have Extensive Additions Made.

They Will Thence Become a Permanent Feature Locally.

Brainerd is open to congratulations. The shop improvements, which early in the season were sacrificed to the necessity for retrenchment, have been formally approved a second time by the Northern Pacific management and work under the contracts will begin at once. This settles for all time the possibility of a removal of the unwhimsical plant already located here.

From most authentic sources it is learned that later this week the contracts were signed. The building is to be conducted on an extensive scale, and one shop will present a prominent feature of the place. The total expenditure will represent over $200,000. Butler & Ryan, one contracting firm, are said to have been awarded work aggregating $200,000.

The enlargement will apply to the entire plant with the exception of building its expansion.

The following from the Duluth News-Tribune would indicate that Superior has had hope:

The report that the new shops of the Northern Pacific road would be removed from Brainerd to Superior is discredited in railroad circles here. It is reported that Contractor Deitch, of St. Paul, has obtained a contract for constructing 13 new buildings for the car plant at Brainerd, at a cost of $200,000. A Northern Pacific railroad man says that it will not be surprising if the road building shops at the head of the lake some day, but the plant at Brainerd, he adds, is too well established and too much money is invested to make a change of land another.

GREATEST
 ... FAIR!

IN THE
UNITED STATES!

... Will be held at St. Paul ...

SEPTEMBER 3d to 8th INCLUSIVE!

$40,000 in Premiums.

SPECIAL FEATURES OF ALL KINDS.

→ GREAT CATTLE EXHIBIT!

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC

WILL SELL

ROUND TRIP TICKETS TO THE MINNESOTA

STATE FAIR

AT ONE FARE PLUS FIFTY CENTS Which includes admission to the fair.

BE SURE TO GO.

Call on any Northern Pacific Agent for details.

CHAS. S. FEE, G. P. T. A.

ST. PAUL, MINN.

BICYCLES!

FOR SALE AND RENT.

Cleveland, Monarch, Crescent

With the famous Dunlop Detachable Tire.

BICYCLES FOR RENT!

F. H. GRUENHAGEN,
WALKER BLOCK, LAUREL STREET

S. & J. W. KOOP,

Wholesale and Retail
Dealers in

Groceries, Provisions,
Flour and Feed.

Brick Manufacturer.

Railroad Ties Bought
For Cash.

Goods Promptly Delivered
to All Parts of the City.

TALMAGE IN DENMARK.

His Interesting Visit to the Royal Palace at Copenhagen.

RECORDED BY THE CROWN PRINCE.

Famous Preacher, Writer of the Royal Family's Home Life and a
Member of the Palace Guard—
Member of the Royal Family.

Thorsvald's Spirit in Copenhagen.

(Copyright, 1904, The Christian Herald, N. Y.)

The king of Denmark was absent from his capital, and so the crown prince received in his palace, and all his family came to with heavy greetings, and a more delightful domestic group was never gathered. From the unconventional manner in which they received my family and myself one would not think there had ever been a crown in the ancestral line or even would be. Himself on the way to a throne and brother of the Princesses of Wales and of the king of Greece and of the dowager empress of Russia and all his life mingling with royalty, he was less pretentious than any of the others in the entourage of the king. He freely and familiarly conversed of the great international questions which are now disturbing Europe and Asia. He will soon take the government, for his father is 84 years of age and soon by natural law put down the scepter. The queen, though heir to the unconv-ed millions, has not been made worldly, but is clearly interested in religious work in all parts of the world. The home life of this family is an illustration of the domestic life of Denmark, as the home life of his sister on the throne of Russia is an illustration of the domestic life of the empress.

THE CROWN PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF DENMARK.

(Photo from The Christian Herald.)

The oldest daughter of this princely household is a marvel of beauty and good sense, speaking English almost as well as Danish. The younger daughter excused herself for a journey abroad, and on her way out through the palace park I saw her riding under the careful guardianship of a groom. After conversation the whole group accompanied us in a ramble through the royal gardens, and trees themselves monarchs and by fountains that had courses of rainbow and by flower-beds where queens of beauty reigned. After the ladies of our party had centered all the princely attentions they wished to win we left this brilliant home. But the kindness of these royal folk did not cease when we descended the steps, for the lovely groom of the palace stood waiting to us from the windows as long as we were in sight, so that the warmth of the welcome was not more marked than was the brightness of the goodbye.

We rode through a forest where royal hunts, and the deer stood quietly watching and feasting nothing, as though they knew we could not shoot. But what regard for trees! Would that we had as much of such reverence in America. Ailsa for the knowledge of the art. How it has defaced landscapes and despoiled climates in our own beloved land! But here in this royal park they stand undisturbed and honored by all who pass. Vast unimpoverished, with abundance of foliage in full leaf, letting fall here and there a few yards of sunshine to make the scene more picturesque and beautiful.

Oh, the trees! No one but Almighty God could make one so grateful, so strong, so uplifting, so suggestive, so grand, so intermediate of earth and heaven. No wonder they have been copied in the pillars and temples, for many of the cathedral pillars are only trees in stone. Aye, the entire king's forest in Denmark is a cathedral ages ago dedicated, and those bending branches are the arches, and the foliage in the baptismal font, and the birds are the choristers at matins and vespers, morning and evening praying the Lord, and when shrill whistles sweep through this forest they sound the psalms, and the rustling branches tell the base in the grand march of God in the storm. Style of a cathedral built by the Creator thousands of years before the architect drew the plan for St. Paul's in London or St. Peter's at Rome or St. Mark's at Venice or St. Sophia at Constantinople or St. Isaac at St. Petersburg. We wonder not at what George W. Morris, the great song writer of America, told us in our boy-

SHIRT WAISTS IN ATLANTA.

Fashionable. Hotel. Atlanta. Men to New York. World.

In response to the written petition of a minority of the women members of the fashionable Hotel Majestic in Atlanta, the proprietor granted permission to gentlemen to appear in the dining room in their shirt waists, a privilege of which half a hundred took advantage at dinner the other night.

Governor William J. North had the procession of shirt waists, says the New York World. His waist was a snow white garment, gathered at the neck in small tufts. The black tie he wore in the narrow collar was partly hidden by his whiskers, but his silver belt buckle was wholly unobscured and flashed resplendently, rivaling the cut glass and table silver in brilliancy. The shirt waists ranged in color from white to purple. There were red, black and blue striped garments. Some were in all the colors of the rainbow. Together they might have formed an effective string for a maypole dance. The wearers of the waist and belts were quite as diversified in form as was their attire in color. There were tall men, short men, lean men, fat men, men with whiskers and men with shaved faces.

The combination of colors and shapes in the elegant dining room made a picturesque display. The women of the hotel were proud of their views, as they observed the waist and corset fringed in the shirt waists and the smiles of satisfaction on the faces of the wearers.

"We just couldn't stand in the way of their comfort in this hot weather," said one of the women. "We were all of an opportunity to sign such a petition."

AUTUMN LINGERIE.

A New Era in the Fashions of Corsets.

Corset covers are made to take up just as little room under the dress as possible. Many women do not wear them at all, considering that they take up too much room under the waist of the gown. But those that are turned out are made of the finest possible material and are not very fancy, except in trimmings. The flesh corset cover is as popular as ever, and now a new era has come in their history.

It is to have this same corset cover to tie in the back rather than to have the ends cross in the front. It is the best possible kind of a corset cover, to wear with shirt waists, for it holds the figure in place better than any other thing that has yet been designed.

It is trimmed with a narrow banding of lace and a fine lace edge. The ends are long enough to cross at the back, and have ends of tape that tie in front. It takes up very little room, and with the low bustled corsets that are fashionable makes it often possible for women to wear shirt waists and look well in them without having their bosoms exposed.

BELL OF THE ALAMO FOUND.

Offered For Sale as Old Iron and Will Be Placed in the West.

The original bell of the Alamo is now in the possession of Miss Adina de Zavala of San Antonio, Tex., president of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

The bell was discovered three months ago at Colfax when offered for sale as old iron by Moses Oppenheimer, says the New York Times. Reports of the discovery appeared in the newspapers, and correspondence was at once opened with Mr. Oppenheimer by Miss de Zavala. The result was that the bell was delivered to Miss de Zavala the other day.

It is 18 inches high, if inches in diameter and weighs about 35 pounds. The date "1772" is engraved on it, together with the words "San Antonio" and the Spanish coat of arms. The bell will be placed in the Alamo.

Stories of the Late Lord Russell. One day before the late lord chief justice took his bed he was sitting in the Chicago Times Herald. A number of people saw the occurrence. It is believed the umbrella had grease or gasoline on it, which caused the combustion.

Advertisement. Antonio's ending on Tom, and I'll need a suit of that will stand up from the altar when I get married. I thought it well to tell you, since the moon is not here.

How don't you wear your shirt waist, you're a little bit of a man. How don't you wear the garment, you can wear it when I want.

There's something in this shirt waist when a man wears it, says the New York Press, but when a girl wears it, well, there's the girl.

DEE HOLDEN.

CHAR. EKMAN.

Apply to Agents on the Ground, or
A. A. WHITE,
ST. PAUL MINN.

Have Opened
NEW and Elegant

Sample Rooms

Choice Wines and Liquors,
Fine Imported and
Domestic Cigars.

Our Friends and the Public Generally
are Invited to Call and see us
At Our New Place.

"H. & E."

DON'T BE FOOLED!
The genuine, original,
MOUNTAIN TEA
made only by H. & E.
Call or write, at once. Orders are filled promptly. Ask for "H. & E." and get the genuine.

LADIES

MARRIED OR UNMARRIED and SUPERB
to their sex, no matter from what cause.
Call or write, at once. Orders are filled promptly. Ask for "H. & E." and get the genuine.

IT'S NOT NECESSARY

Turkeys, Chickens, Geese,
Ducks, Etc., Etc.

and we will give you 50 cent of savings in the way of other. Best Goods, best price, and best service in our motto.

PEABODY & BAKER.

Sixth Street South.

Brainerd & Northern MINNESOTA TIME CARD.

Trains Arrive at and Depart from the Northern Pacific Depot.

W. H. Gemmill, Gen. Mgr.

NORTHERN PACIFIC
ST. PAUL MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
EAST & SOUTH
BUTTE
SPOKANE
GREAT FALLS
TACOMA
CALIFORNIA
JAPAN
ALASKA
GLONDIKE
Chas. J. Fox, S. F. A.
W. D. McKay, Apt. 1
Brainerd, Minn.

Ventilated Pullman—Dining Cars, TOILET CABS—READY.

CLASS	FARE	EXTRA	TOTAL
First	1.00	.50	1.50
Second	.75	.50	1.25
Third	.50	.50	1.00

Pullman First-Class and Tourist Sleeping Cars.

For Anything in the Grocery Line
Call on
P. M. LAGERQUIST,
We carry the finest Stock in the Northwest, and our Goods are always Fresh and up-to-date.
Staple and Fancy Groceries
* FLOUR AND FEED. *
Lagerquist Block, South Sixth Street.

C. B. WHITE,
Contractor and Builder,
HARDWARE.
Come in and see our White Enamel Refrigerators and the famous Quick Meal Blue Flame Wickless Oil Stoves. We can furnish you your lawn mower, garden hose, farming tools, Fishing Tackle, Hammocks and Boats for your summer outings, mats, doors, mats, paper, fence wire. In fact almost anything you may need.
I. U. WHITE, Manager.

GREATEST

... FAIR!

IN THE

UNITED STATES!

... Will be held at St. Paul ...

SEPTEMBER 3d to 8th INCLUSIVE!

$40,000 in Premiums.

SPECIAL FEATURES OF ALL KINDS.

— GREAT CATTLE EXHIBIT!

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC

WILL SELL

— ROUND TRIP TICKETS TO THE MINNESOTA —

STATE FAIR

AT ONE FARE PLUS FIFTY CENTS Which includes admission to the fair.

BE SURE TO GO.

Call on any Northern Pacific Agent for details.

CHAS. S. FEE, G. P. T. A.

ST. PAUL, MINN.

BICYCLES!

FOR SALE AND RENT.

Cleveland, Monarch, Crescent

With the famous Dunlop Detachable Tire.

BICYCLES RENT!

F. H. GRUENHAGEN,
WALKER BLOCK, L. LAUREL STREET

S. & J. W. KOOP,

Wholesale and Retail
Dealers in

Groceries, Provisions,
Flour and Feed.

Brick Manufacturer.

Railroad Ties Bought
For Cash.

Goods Promptly Delivered
to All Parts of the City.

Ventilated Trucks—Sleeping Cars.

CLASS	SEATING	PRICE
First Class	10	$1.50
Second Class	10	$1.00
Third Class	10	75c
Fourth Class	10	50c
Fifth Class	10	25c
Sixth Class	10	15c
Seventh Class	10	10c
Eighth Class	10	5c
Ninth Class	10	2c
Tenth Class	10	1c

Pullman First-Class and Tourist Sleeping Cars.

Grocery Line

Call on
P. M. LAGERQUIST,
We carry the finest stock in the Northwest, and our goods are always fresh and up-to-date.

Staple and Fancy Groceries
* FLOUR AND FEED *
Lagerquist Block, South Sixth Street.

C. B. WHITE,

Contractor and Builder,
HARDWARE.

Come in and see our White Enamel Refrigerators and the famous Quick Meal Blue Flame Wireless Oil Stoves. We can furnish you your lawn mower, garden hose, farming tools, Fishing Tackle, Hammocks and Boats for your summer outings, mesh, down, sails, paper, fence wire. In fact almost anything you may need.

I. U. WHITE, Manager.

TALMAGE IN DENMARK.

His Interesting Visit to the Royal Palace at Copenhagen.

RECORDED BY THE CROWN PRINTER.

Famous Preacher, Writer of the Royal Family's Home Life and a Hamble through the Palace Gardens—member of the Royal Park, Thorvaldsen's spirit in Copenhagen.

(Copyright, 1901, by the Christian Herald, N. Y.)

The king of Denmark was absent from his capital, and so the crown prince received us in his palace, and all his family came in with heavy greetings, and a more delightful domestic group was never gathered. From the unconventional manner in which they would not think there had ever been a crown in the ancestral line, or ever would be. Himself on the way to a throne and brother of the Princess of Wales and of the king of Greece and of the dowager empress of Russia and all his life mingling with royalty, he was less pretentious than any of the others in the audience of the king. He freely and familiarly conversed of the great international questions which are now disturbing Europe and Asia. He will soon take the government, for his father is 84 years of age, and soon by natural law put down the scepter. The queen, though heir to uncount-

THE CROWN PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF DENMARK.

(Photo from The Christian Herald.)
ed millions, has not been made worldly, but is clearly interested in religious work in all parts of the world. The home life of this family is an illustration to all the domestic life of Denmark, as the home life of his sister on the throne of Russia is an inspiring example to all the housewives of Russia.

The oldest daughter of this princely household is a marvel of beauty and good sense, speaking English almost as well as Danish. The younger daughter excelled her father for a pensioner daughter, and on our way out through the palace park we saw her riding under the "awful" gaze of a crowd of people. After conversation the whole group accompanied us in a rumble through the royal gardens, and trees themselves monarchs and by fountains that had crowns of rainbow and by flower beds where queens of beauty reigned. After the ladies of our party had captured all the princely autographs they wished to win we left this brilliant home. But the kindness of these royal folks did not cease when we descended the steps, for the lovely group of the palace stood waiting to us from the windows as long as we were in sight, so that the warmth of the welcome was not here marked than was the heartiness of the goodbye.

We rode through a forest where royalty hunts, and the deer stood quietly watching and feasting nothing, as though they knew we could not shoot. But what regard for trees! Would that we had as much of such reverence in America. Also for the woodcock in the meadow. How it has defaced landscapes and despoiled climates. In our own beloved land! But here in this royal park they stand undisturbed and honored by all who pass. Vast unpopulated, with silence of village in full leaf, letting fall here and there a few yards of sunshine to make the noise more picturesque and bewitching. Oh, the trees! No one but Al. mighty God could make one so graceful, so strong, so suppling, so suggestive, so grand, so intermediate of earth and heaven. No wonder they have been copied in the pillars and temples, for many of the cathedral pillars are only trees in stone. Aye, this entire king's forest in Denmark is a cathedral upon its feet, and these bending branches are the arches, and this fountain in the baptismal font, and the birds are the choristers at matins and vespers, morning and evening praying the Lord, and when shrill whistles sweep through this forest they sound the psalms, and the rustling of robes is the base in the grand march of God in the storm. Style of a cathedral built by the Creator thousands of years before the architect drew the plan for St. Paul's at London or St. Peter's at Rome or St. Mark's at Venice or St. Sophia at Constantinople or St. Isaac at St. Petersburg, we wonder not at what George W. Morris, the great song writer of America, told us in his boy-

SHIRT WAISTS IN ATLANTA.

Fashionable. Shows How Men to Dress Now Days in Atlanta.

In response to the written petition of a majority of the women members of the fashionable Hotel Majestic in Atlanta, the proprietor granted permission to gentlemen to appear in the dining room in their shirt waists, a privilege of which half a hundred men availed themselves at dinner the other night.

Governor William J. North led the procession of shirt waists, says the New York World. His waist was a snow white garment, gathered at the yoke in small ticks. The black tie he wore in the narrow collar was partly hidden by his whiskers, but his striped bowtie was wholly unobscured and flashed resplendently, trailing the cut glass and table silver in brilliancy. The shirt waists ranged in color from white to purple. There were red, black and blue striped garments. Some were in all the colors of the rainbow. Joined together they might have formed effective strings for a maypole dance. The wearers of the waists were tall men, short men, lean men, fat men, men with whiskers and men with shaved faces.

SHIRT WAISTS IN ATLANTA.

Fashionable. Shows How Men to Dress Now Days in Atlanta.

The combination of colors and shapes in the elegant dining room made a picturesque display. The women of the hotel were proud of their victory, as they observed the masses and comforted in the shirt waists and the smiles of satisfaction on the faces of the wearers.

"We just couldn't stand in the way of their comfort in this hot weather," said one of the women. "We were all glad of an opportunity to sign such a petition."

AUTUMN LINGERIE.

A New Era in the Fashions of Corsets.

Corset covers are made to take up just as little room under the dress as possible. Many women do not wear them at all, contending that they take up too much room under the skirt of the gown. But those that are turned out are made of the finest possible material, and are not very disagreeably trimmed. The fabric corset cover is as popular as ever, and now a new era has come in the style of the corset. It is to have the same shape as the old-fashioned corset, but rather to have the ends cross in the back. It is the best possible kind of a corset cover to wear with shirt waists, for it holds the figure in place better than any other thing that has yet been designed.

It is trimmed with a narrow banding of lace and a fine lace edge. The ends are long enough to cross at the back, and have ends of tape that tie in front. It takes up very little room, and with the low bustled corset that are fashionable makes it often possible for women to wear shirt waists and look well in them without having them boned or lined.

BELL OF THE ALAMO FOUND.

Offered For Sale as Old Iron, Will Be Placed in the Post.

The original bell of the Alamo is now in the possession of Miss Adina de Zavala of San Antonio, Tex., president of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. The bell was discovered three months ago at Colton when offered for sale as old iron by Moses Oppenheimer, says the New York Times. Reports of the discovery appeared in the newspapers, and correspondence was at once opened with Mr. Oppenheimer by Miss de Zavala. The result was that the bell was delivered to Miss de Zavala the other day.

It is 18 inches high, 16 inches in diameter and weighs about 50 pounds. The date "1727" is engraved on it, together with the words "San Antonio" and the Spanish coat of arms. The bell will be placed in the Alamo.

States of the Late Lord Russell.

One day before the late lord had Justice took sick he was sitting in the room, when the London Daily News, when another barrister, leaning across the benches during the hearing of a trial for bigamy, whispered: "Russell, what the extreme penalty for bigamy?" "Two months in jail," instantly replied Russell. On one occasion, Lord Russell was going to help Liberals in a certain campaign. He began his speech with some very useful pronounced Scotch. After the court also passed by his blunder had subdued Mr. Charles Russell (as he was then called). "Gentlemen, I do not speak Scotch, but I vote Scotch." Trembling down the aisle followed, whereupon Sir Charles responded, "and I sometimes speak Scotch." With this his hold on the audience was secured.

That Is Different.

There's nothing much in a shirt waist when a man wears it, says the New York Press, but when a girl wears it, well, there's the girl.

Lots...

For Sale in
New Towns
On the Fossilton Extension of the Great Northern Railway....

Apply to Agents on the Ground, or

A. A. WHITE,
ST. PAUL MINN.

DEE HOLDEN, CHAS. EKMAN.

H & E

Have Opened
... NEW ... and Elegant

Sample Rooms

In the Shoop Block,
Front Street....

Choice Wines and Liquors,
Fine Imported and
Domestic Cigars.

Our Friends and the Public Generally
are Invited to Call and see us
On Our New Place.

"H. & E."

DON'T BE FOOLED!
Take the genuine, original

LADIES MARKED OR ENDORSED BY THE LADIES' GUILD OF THE CITY OF ST. PAUL, MINN. To order see no matter from what cause. Call or write, if you wish. Orders are filled by mail or express. Free of expense.

Address DR. T. J. PIERCE
No. 100, Madison, Wis. ST. PAUL, MINN.

IT'S NOT NECESSARY

To have the same kind of meat for dinner every other night. Drop in and see us for your

Turkeys, Chickens, Geese,
Ducks, Etc., Etc.

and we will give you no end of suggestions, and the price won't stand in the way either. Best Goods, best prices, and best service is our motto.

PEABODY & BAKER.

Sixth Street South.

Brainerd & Northern MINNESOTA.

TIME CARD.

Trains Arrive at and Depart from the Northern Pacific Depot.

W. H. Gemmill, Gen. Mgr.

The Brainerd Dispatch

Published every Friday morning from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock. Terms $1.00 per year in advance. Advertising rates made known on application.

Official Paper of Great Wing County, Montana.

Printed at the Post Office at Brainerd, Montana, second class matter.

Legal Rates for Legal Notices.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 31, 1900.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

- President—WILLIAM MCKINLEY, of Ohio. Vice President—THEODORE ROOSEVELT, of New York. United States Senator—EUGENE NELSON, of Alaska. Governor—HARVEY B. VAN SANT, of Wisconsin. Lieutenant Governor—LYNDON A. SMITH, of Missouri. Secretary of State—PETER E. FRANCK, of Louisiana. Chief Justice—WILLIAM B. BLOCK, of St. Peter. Attorney General—WILLIAM R. BOULANGER, of Moorhead. Chief Justice of the Supreme Court—CHARLES M. STANT, of Moorhead. Associate Justice of the Supreme Court—JOHN W. COLLINS, of St. Cloud. Railroad Commissioners, 4 year term—JOSEPH H. MILLER, of Ft. Benton. Railroad Commissioners, 2 year term—CHAS. F. TAYLOR, of Wyo. Park. Commissioner, State District—PAGE MORRIS, of Duluth. Judge, Fifth Judicial District—W. McCLELLAN, of Brainerd.

OFFICIAL CALL.

Republican County Convention and Primaries.

A regular county convention for the County of Great Wing will be held at the court house in Brainerd, Mont., on the 2nd day of September, 1900, at 10 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of electing the Republican nominees for the 5th legislative district and for the purpose of nominating Republican candidates for the following offices: United States Senator, Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Railroad Commissioners, 4 year term, Railroad Commissioners, 2 year term, Commissioner, State District, Judge, Fifth Judicial District.

The local political pot has begun to simmer to quite an extent.

What sort of a combination would the Boers and the Boxers make? It might prove a load of BB for their opponents.

How long would it require to set up a democratic 'stable government' in the Philippines, if Tammany got its finger in the national patronage pie?

It appears that sixty-three persons attended the so-called Anti-Imperialist convention at Indianapolis. Probably they were all there.

Tax betting in the east is stated to be three to one on McKinley-based, no doubt, on the hard and cold calculation that prosperity will win.

Mr. Bryan continues to talk about money being the master. And Charles man Jones goes right ahead collecting the 'master' for campaign purposes.

The Elks have come and gone and Front street is still in place. What sinister reports have been circulated about this quiet, peace loving order.

Any man who can run for office year after year, starting in with nothing, never being elected, and coming out more and more prosperous, is almost a genius and his name is Bryan. And Charles A. Towne is almost as remarkable in this respect as Mr. Bryan.

Two Notable Conversations.

Gen. Bragg, of Wisconsin, a life long democrat, is with McKinley this year, though he characteristically 'imperialism' as most obnoxious. Yet all the danger to be apprehended from the latter source, he considers as insignificant when compared with that which might result from free silver. In speaking of the sound money issue he says: 'that of itself is enough to gain him (McKinley) the support of every honest man in the country.' Trusts, Gen. Bragg refuses to dignify as an issue; the course of the administration in China he approves.

Charles Denby, of Indiana, United States minister to China, and more recently a member of the first Philippine commission, will also vote the republican ticket this fall; but on ground which presents the very reasons which does not appeal to Gen. Bragg. He attacks Mr. Bryan for having let his influence on the ratification of the treaty with Spain. It was not honest, contends Mr. Denby. And there is brought into prominence the fact that the democratic program is practically that of the republican administration. To establish a 'stable government' Mr. Denby argues that it would be necessary to hold the islands for several years, and he failed to discover any difference between retaining possession for an indefinite length of time and permanent acquisition. In other words that authority which would have the right to control the destiny of an archipelago for an indefinite period and represent the same degree of power as that which would be exercised in annexing the Philippines outright.

Mr. Bryan the issue.

It requires more than the dictum of a national convention powerful as those agencies may be in shaping the course of political parties, to determine the issues of a campaign.

'Imperialism' about Senator Tillman at the Kansas City gathering of democracy, and then in the execution of a pre-conceived plan the plan of the platform relation that topic was read a second time by the senator. 'Imperialism,' echoed Mr. Bryan in his Indianapolis speech of acceptance, emphasizing all those portions of the party declaration which would bear stress. Yet the convention knew, and Mr. Bryan himself is certainly too intelligent to urge that there can be argument over the relative importance of free silver and the so-called 'imperialism' so far as this campaign is concerned.

What conditions did Mr. Bryan impose on the Kansas City convention before he would become its candidate? That there must be a specific mention of free silver in the platform. Did he refer by even remote allusion to any of the other questions which might be termed issues, and particularly to that one which the platform endeavored to make out of the 'permanent issue'?

Mr. Bryan himself is the issue, and no sophistry can disguise the fact. What would be his first act as president. He stands pledged to the enforcement of that program which has engaged his voice for the last four years and his initial efforts as chief executive, if elected, would be to effectuate currency reform. This must stand admitted. As absolutely must it be conceded that there are imperfections in the law passed at the last session of congress, which it would be easy for a silver president to take advantage of. Mr. Bryan would not be a man even with a republican bias, because his hands are not tied, despite all connection to the contrary.

A vote for democracy this election therefore means free silver and nothing else. 'Imperialism' is designed to supply the east with a teething ring while the silver west ballots for the boy orator. If Bryanism was not a good thing four years ago, is it any better today? The reasons which might have recommended a change in that hour have disappeared, there are busy factories and mills, exports going abroad in ever increasing volume, the public debt is being decreased rapidly, and the time when cracking might be confided with argument and the calamity bowler mistaken for a leader among men has departed. No thanks, Mr. Bryan, no free silver in our place.

Our $1.00 Shoe Sale runs merrily on to our customers. Intense satisfaction.

HENRY J. CONNOR, Sleeper Block.

EDSON ETCINGS.

Wm. Peters is home again laid up with a lame arm. Mrs. Shaw and Miss Maland were Edson visitors recently. Mrs. Geo. Book of Graves Lake, has been quite sick, but is able to be up again. Mrs. Peter and Miss Ethel Peter are expected home this week, from the big lake. The Sunday school children had a short programme that seemed to be much enjoyed. Miss Nora Hammett is home from Bay Lake, where she has been since the 4th of July. Mrs. J. M. Young is spending a few days with Mrs. J. Walker before leaving for Montana, her future home. The basket or grove meeting was quite a pleasant affair, although there was not a very large attendance, the Rev. Mr. Morley preaching two splendid sermons during the day. Mr. Wm. Chord made a short address at the close of the afternoon sermon and baptised two of his children in the lake. DAME RENOVA.

KATRINE GLEANING.

A brother of R. J. Maghan from Duluth visited with him last week. J. M. Young with a car load of his effects left for Montana last Friday. G. W. Hunt and Miss Coleman attended a chicken fry social at Cutler. Attorney S. T. Harrison and two sons from Duluth are stopping at G. A. Hunt's. The Katrie has with her brood of swimmers will soon be investigating the irrigating ditches. County correspondents, what about the fair, we've got a golden subbard that swarms of borers swoon down upon his apples, boring the apples with one point and himself with the other, what the agriculturist would call rotation of crops. Mrs. J. M. Young, Ray and Edna expect to leave Tuesday for their new home. For thirteen years our neighbor, we with the many friends at Bay Lake bespeak for their prosperity, happiness and above all to Mrs. Young health, that boon for which we are ever ready to sacrifice so much. Chas. Hunt and Chas. Coleman have recently purchased a mow of 3000 ft. Mack, one brought overland from Dakota. Looking it over we find that it bears the name, 'The New Buckeye,' protected by letters of patent, dated from June 17th, 1886, to Dec. 2nd, 1892. Surely 'the world do move.' ECHO.

OAK LAWN GEMS.

Mrs. Esterly lost one of her work horses recently. Farmers here are busily engaged in getting up their grain and stacking hay this week. Miss Daisy Badaux commenced a nine months term of school in district No. 4, last Monday morning. The Jewsville district has not yet secured a teacher. Here's a chance for a good teacher for a six month's term at $30 a month. A large number of the neighbors of John Peterson came down to Brainerd on Sunday to attend the funeral of their friend who died on Sunday. Gust Johnson, the section foreman at Jonesville, was operated on for appendicitis Wednesday evening at the N. P. Sanitarium. He is getting along finely. Candidate for Sheriff. [Being a republican and a worker for the party for years, I hereby announce myself a candidate for the republican nomination for sheriff and kindly ask the support of all republicans.] J. F. DYKEMAN. We will buy a boy's suit of clothes now of us. HENRY J. CONNOR. Intestinal infection, appendicitis and all affections of the bowels, liver and kidneys prevented by taking genuine Rocky Mountain Tonic, made by Madison Medicine Co. For sale at McFadden Drug Co's.

Great Surprise

To Brainerd and Vicinity ONLY-22-DAYS OF THE United Contract... Clothing Co.'s Sale Saturday, Sept. 1st

Commencing Saturday, Sept. 22nd.

THE GLOBE HOTEL BLOCK Fifth Street.

We Have Owing

renewed all our contracts with the Jobbers and Manufacturers Association to dispose of their enormous stocks.

to the failure of the crops they received cancellations from merchants in the affected districts. These goods were manufactured for this fall and winter's trade. Rather than hold the merchandise for a year they determined to lose a little and have the use of the money.

This is a splendid opportunity for the people of Brainerd and vicinity to try in their Fall and Winter supply of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing and Underwear, Ladies' Dress Goods in Patterns.

Here Are a Few of Our Contract Prices:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Men's Suits, Gent's Furnishings, Men's Pants, and Boys' and Children's Clothing.

Remember—This Sale Only Lasts 22 Days.

Call early while the stock is complete and be benefited by this great sale. Don't let enemies or competitors talk you away from this great sale by telling you that the goods are poor or shoddy, but come and be convinced that we mean what we say, and do as we advertise.

United Contract Clothing Company.

Professional Cards.
W. S. MCLENNAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
 Office, 2001 L. Bank Block
 BRAINERD. MINN.

W. H. MANTOR,
Attorney at Law,
 First National Bank Building,
 BRAINERD, MINN.
 (Does not practice in Municipal Court)

T. C. BLEWITT,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
 Office, Room 3,
 First Nat. Bank Block,
 BRAINERD, MINNESOTA.

J. H. WARNER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
OVER BEACH'S STORE SIXTH ST.
 BRAINERD, MINN.

W. H. CROWELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
 Land Office Practice and Collections specialty.
 Bank Block, Sixth St., BRAINERD, MINN.

CLIFTON A. ALBRIGHT,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
 Room 16, First National Bank Block,
 BRAINERD, MINNESOTA.

J. B. CAMP & THABES,
Physicians and Surgeons,
 Office in First National Bank Block
 Office Hours—10 to 12 a. m., 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.
 Night calls received at office.
 Telephone Call, 1-5.
 BRAINERD, MINNESOTA.

J. R. S. REIMESTAD,
PHYSICIAN and SURGEON.
 Office in Hartley Block, Front St.
 BRAINERD, MINN.

J. L. FREDERICK, D. M. D.,
DENTIST.
 Rooms 1 and 10 First National Bank Bldg.
 BRAINERD, MINNESOTA.

J. R. A. F. GROVES,
Physician & Surgeon.
 Office over McFadden Drug Co.'s, Front
 Street, Cor. 5th and Broadway Sts.
 Office Hours: 10 to 12 a. m., 2 to 4 p. m.,
 Telephone Call, Office—348.
 BRAINERD, MINNESOTA.

N. C. BAUDETTE,
TONSORIAL ARTIST.
 Corner Fifth and Fifth Streets,
 Telephone Call, King's—2000.
 BRAINERD, MINN.

A. P. RIGGS,
Insurance and Real Estate.
 Office over N. P. Bank,
 BRAINERD, MINN.

B. K. WHITELEY
CITY ENGINEER and SURVEYOR.
 Office, Room 2, Hooper Block,
 BRAINERD, MINN.

WANTED—Position as housekeeper by elderly lady, where there are no young children. Home town not known.
 Mrs. P. M. WATSON,
 Farmington, Minn.

Beginning August 1st,
 The Northern Pacific adopted the plan of serving breakfast and lunch on all its transcontinental trains on the a. m. route plus—pay for what you eat; dinner will be served as heretofore, table d'hôte $1.00. This applies to both "North Coast Limited" and the Pacific and Twin City Express trains.

Our $1.00 Shoe Sale runs merely out to our customers' intense satisfaction.
 HENRY I. COHEN,
 Sleeper Block.

RETIRE FURTHER
 Kruger and His Chief Officials Reported to Have Located at Nelspruit.
 Town Is on the Railroad About Sixty Miles From Portuguese Border.
 British Prisoners East of Machadodorp Are Released by the Burghers.
 LOURENÇO MARQUES, Aug. 31.—The British prisoners (Mook Cobach) on the railroad east of Machadodorp have been released by the Boers and are marching to join Lord Roberts' forces at Waterlooven, near Machadodorp. President Kruger and his chief officials are at Nelspruit, about 60 miles from the Portuguese border, and on the railroad between Pretoria and Delagoa Bay.

LONGER A COMPLAINT.
 German From the Transvaal Lay Their Grievance Before the Government.
 BRAINERD, Aug. 31.—The delegation of German subjects who recently arrived here from the Transvaal to lodge a complaint with the German foreign office with regard to the treatment of the German there, has already been received by the German foreign office. In investigating the grounds of the complaint, the foreign office will bring the matter to the attention of Great Britain.

LOYALTY INTERVIEW WITH THE COACH.
 LONDON, Aug. 31.—Dr. Layd's interview with Emperor Nicholas, says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from St. Petersburg, lasted barely five minutes. The czar said he was sorry that he could do nothing for the Transvaal except to urge it to make peace, as he hoped all would be well.

MANY BILLS INTRODUCED.
 Kentucky Legislature Has Lots of Material for a Session Law.
 FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 31.—In both houses of the legislature bills have been introduced to amend the colored education law. There are dozens of other similar bills to be introduced, but it is not likely that any measure will receive favorable consideration until after the Democratic joint caucus of senators and representatives. The Republican members, who are in the majority, are awaiting the action of the Democratic conference when they will hold a caucus.

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF.
 Canada's New Agreement With Great Britain Now in Effect.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Canada's new preferential tariff of 33 1/3 per cent on the tariff of Great Britain has gone into effect, according to a note in the state department from United States Consul Ross at Liverpool.

COAL FAMINE SERIOUS.
 German Chambers of Commerce Ask the Government for Relief.
 BERLIN, Aug. 31.—The coal famine in Germany has become very serious and a number of chambers of commerce have petitioned the government for relief. The Prussian cabinet has resolved to grant a modified railroad tariff for foreign coal, to facilitate the importation of coal from England and the United States. Indeed the famine is pronounced that the Prussian minister of railways, in the interest of the state, has laid embargo on all the coal mines in the state.

NO HARRY IN WINN HASTINGS' PLACED.
 NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Charles H. Winn, second vice president of the Southern Pacific railway, said that there is no truth in the published statement that directors of the company are to meet next week to elect a successor to Odlis P. Huntington. He said it would be several months probably before any action was taken to fill the vacancy made by the death of Mr. Huntington.

Regarding the Swedish Loan.
 NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Albert H. Wiggin, vice president of the National Park bank, said that it was true that the bank had been approached by representatives of the Swedish government with inquiries as to the chance of placing a $10,000,000 loan in this country. Mr. Wiggin said he was not prepared to say whether the proposition had been favorably received.

Swiss Girls a Housing Problem.
 NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—John H. Bull, was given a housing problem for the Central Country club in Madison Square Garden. The sum realized from the sale of tickets and subscriptions to the club is a large one. It will be held in trust by a committee, who will visit the money and pay the girls to Ballivan.

Swiss Girls a Housing Problem.
 NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—John H. Bull, was given a housing problem for the Central Country club in Madison Square Garden. The sum realized from the sale of tickets and subscriptions to the club is a large one. It will be held in trust by a committee, who will visit the money and pay the girls to Ballivan.

Swiss Girls a Housing Problem.
 NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—John H. Bull, was given a housing problem for the Central Country club in Madison Square Garden. The sum realized from the sale of tickets and subscriptions to the club is a large one. It will be held in trust by a committee, who will visit the money and pay the girls to Ballivan.

LONDON IS THE DARE.
 News Making of Negotiations For Peace in China.
 LONDON, Aug. 31.—Diplomatic circles in London appear to be satisfied that Russia has either directly or indirectly agreed to the peace negotiations on the basis on which the government of Washington will take the initiative action. Russia may prefer the latter arrangement on the ground that the United States has not commitments, like Manchuria, calculated to arouse the suspicions of the powers. Nothing definite, however, seems to be known as the legation in London except Russia's great anxiety to end the prevailing conditions as speedily as possible, though the opinion is expressed that Russia believes, as a preliminary to the negotiation, that the allied forces should arrest Peking and

Should Be Allowed to Communicate With Chinese Shore Authorities.
 Resolution of the Fleet Commanders Is Considered Inexplicable.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The course of the United States in the pending Chinese negotiations was made more clear by an important note, embodying a communication from Russia and taking the powers of the action taken by the government. The Russian note declared the interdiction of Li Hung Chang's power as "inexplicable," and asked that the powers direct their communication to reach the order. The United States concurs with the position of the Russian note, but the powers that interdict have been sent to our representative in China in the spirit of the Russian objection. The following is the official text of the note sent to our minister abroad:—"The following note was received by us from the charge of the Russian government at the capital August 17:—"I have just received a communication from the Imperial government informing me of the resolutions of the admirals of the allied fleet, interdicting the plenipotentiary of the Chinese government, Li Hung Chang, from the administration of the allied fleet, interdicting in the event of his arrival at Taku. This is a measure not to allow him to fulfill his mission in the capacity of plenipotentiary if he were done it would be desirable that the allied fleet should be notified of this decision."

SITUATION AT AMOY.
 Japanese Ready to Withdraw Troops When Peace Is Made.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—A telegram has been received at the Japanese legation to the effect that having been informed that the Japanese troops at Amoy that he has been assured by the Chinese authorities of their readiness to afford full protection to the foreign residents and their property at that port, the Japanese have agreed to the withdrawal of the marines detailed to defend the Japanese quarter, and are prepared to withdraw the rest of the marines as soon as they are satisfied that the peace and order of the port are assured.

MESSAGE FROM CONGER.
 Says the Emperor's Palace Was to Be Rebuilt.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The state department makes public the following telegram from the Chinese government received through the United States consul at Chefoo:—"More Russian, German, French and Italian troops arriving. Imperial palace will be destroyed. Military parade of all nations made through it, afterwards, and quarters. Prince Ching is expected in a few days."

DESERTERS CEMETERIES.
 Revolving Details of the Terrible Conflict.
 LONDON, Aug. 31.—Detailed dispatches and the stories of refugees arriving at Chefoo continue to describe the terrible conditions in Peking. One of the worst features is the shocking desecration of the cemetery, and the Chinese are found in the streets of Peking, supposed to be those of traitors in the case of the Emperor.

OFFERED TO PROTECT THEM.
 Governor of Shan-Si Requests Foreigners Who Traded His Province.
 CHEFOO, Aug. 31.—The governor of the province of Shan-Si, is reported to have invited the foreigners to the province to come to his protection, and all who accepted the invitation and all who remained in the province.

WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS.
 General Statement Regarding the Russian Proposal.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The state department has dispensed its instructions to the United States diplomatic representatives abroad in conformity with the decision reached by the cabinet upon the Russian proposal to withdraw the troops from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

ALREADY HAS Laid DOWN.
 as the proper basis for the institution of negotiations for an amicable settlement. Some of these conditions have been met—the international column is being withdrawn from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

ALREADY HAS Laid DOWN.
 as the proper basis for the institution of negotiations for an amicable settlement. Some of these conditions have been met—the international column is being withdrawn from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

ALREADY HAS Laid DOWN.
 as the proper basis for the institution of negotiations for an amicable settlement. Some of these conditions have been met—the international column is being withdrawn from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

ALREADY HAS Laid DOWN.
 as the proper basis for the institution of negotiations for an amicable settlement. Some of these conditions have been met—the international column is being withdrawn from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

TAKE SAME VIEW.
 United States Approve Russia's Action in Regard to Li Hung Chang.
 Should Be Allowed to Communicate With Chinese Shore Authorities.
 Resolution of the Fleet Commanders Is Considered Inexplicable.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The course of the United States in the pending Chinese negotiations was made more clear by an important note, embodying a communication from Russia and taking the powers of the action taken by the government. The Russian note declared the interdiction of Li Hung Chang's power as "inexplicable," and asked that the powers direct their communication to reach the order. The United States concurs with the position of the Russian note, but the powers that interdict have been sent to our representative in China in the spirit of the Russian objection. The following is the official text of the note sent to our minister abroad:—"The following note was received by us from the charge of the Russian government at the capital August 17:—"I have just received a communication from the Imperial government informing me of the resolutions of the admirals of the allied fleet, interdicting the plenipotentiary of the Chinese government, Li Hung Chang, from the administration of the allied fleet, interdicting in the event of his arrival at Taku. This is a measure not to allow him to fulfill his mission in the capacity of plenipotentiary if he were done it would be desirable that the allied fleet should be notified of this decision."

SITUATION AT AMOY.
 Japanese Ready to Withdraw Troops When Peace Is Made.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—A telegram has been received at the Japanese legation to the effect that having been informed that the Japanese troops at Amoy that he has been assured by the Chinese authorities of their readiness to afford full protection to the foreign residents and their property at that port, the Japanese have agreed to the withdrawal of the marines detailed to defend the Japanese quarter, and are prepared to withdraw the rest of the marines as soon as they are satisfied that the peace and order of the port are assured.

MESSAGE FROM CONGER.
 Says the Emperor's Palace Was to Be Rebuilt.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The state department makes public the following telegram from the Chinese government received through the United States consul at Chefoo:—"More Russian, German, French and Italian troops arriving. Imperial palace will be destroyed. Military parade of all nations made through it, afterwards, and quarters. Prince Ching is expected in a few days."

DESERTERS CEMETERIES.
 Revolving Details of the Terrible Conflict.
 LONDON, Aug. 31.—Detailed dispatches and the stories of refugees arriving at Chefoo continue to describe the terrible conditions in Peking. One of the worst features is the shocking desecration of the cemetery, and the Chinese are found in the streets of Peking, supposed to be those of traitors in the case of the Emperor.

OFFERED TO PROTECT THEM.
 Governor of Shan-Si Requests Foreigners Who Traded His Province.
 CHEFOO, Aug. 31.—The governor of the province of Shan-Si, is reported to have invited the foreigners to the province to come to his protection, and all who accepted the invitation and all who remained in the province.

WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS.
 General Statement Regarding the Russian Proposal.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The state department has dispensed its instructions to the United States diplomatic representatives abroad in conformity with the decision reached by the cabinet upon the Russian proposal to withdraw the troops from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

ALREADY HAS Laid DOWN.
 as the proper basis for the institution of negotiations for an amicable settlement. Some of these conditions have been met—the international column is being withdrawn from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

ALREADY HAS Laid DOWN.
 as the proper basis for the institution of negotiations for an amicable settlement. Some of these conditions have been met—the international column is being withdrawn from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

ALREADY HAS Laid DOWN.
 as the proper basis for the institution of negotiations for an amicable settlement. Some of these conditions have been met—the international column is being withdrawn from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

ALREADY HAS Laid DOWN.
 as the proper basis for the institution of negotiations for an amicable settlement. Some of these conditions have been met—the international column is being withdrawn from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

ALREADY HAS Laid DOWN.
 as the proper basis for the institution of negotiations for an amicable settlement. Some of these conditions have been met—the international column is being withdrawn from Peking in order to allow the emperor's daughter and Empress Kwang-Si to return to the capital to institute negotiations for a settlement with the powers. All of these steps are matters of common agreement, and it was not possible for two of the nations concerned, Russia and the United States, to make agreements between themselves at this stage, at least, as it is necessary to advise each of the various governments as the proposals are made. The instruction sent to our representatives abroad to their mind the conditions which the United States government.

JOHN LARSON
 UPHELD BY ALL.
 because it upholds all the product of the mills stands pre-eminent among pure, white, wholesome, health giving and therefore nutritious flour. It's not only fine in appearance, but it's as good as gold in quality as well, and a dollar's worth of it goes further than a dollar's worth of any other flour you can name.
 Dealer in
WOOD and COAL
 Flour, Feed, Lime, Cement and Plastering Hair.
 Drapeau's Old Stand, Sixth Street.

Burlington Route
Electric Light in Every Berth
 A special feature of the Burlington Chicago Limited. When you retire, turn on the light. After you are comfortably reposed between the sheets, you can read by it. When you are sleepy, a twist of the wrist—and the light's out. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:30 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 1:25 next morning. Scenic Day Express leaves Minneapolis 1:40 a. m., St. Paul 3:10 a. m., except Sunday. Arrives Chicago same evening. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.
 F. B. BURTON, GEOP. F. ITMAN,
 G. P. Agt., Chicago, Ill. Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., St. Paul.

HEAD OF G. A. R.
 Elected Commander-in-Chief by Acclamation.
 Delegates From Various Affiliated Societies Call and Pay Their Respects.
 CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Judge Leo Reaser of St. Louis was elected by acclamation commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic for the ensuing year. There was no opposition and the election went through with a flourish. D. O. Milliken of Maine was chosen senior vice commander and Frank Seaman of Tennessee junior vice commander; John A. Wilkins, Dalia, O., supreme general; Rev. A. Drabas, San Quentin, Cal., chaplain-in-chief. There was no opposition to the selection of the candidates. The convention met pursuant to an adjournment at 9 o'clock Monday and after some trifling matters of a routine nature had been disposed of the selection of a commander-in-chief was taken up. Adjutant General Stewart announced that nominations were in order. It was known to all what the result would be as there was no opposition to Judge Reaser and when Major William Warren of Kansas City, himself a past commander-in-chief, mounted the platform to present the name of Judge Reaser, he was greeted with prolonged applause. A motion was made that Judge Reaser be declared elected by acclamation and it was carried with a near unanimous vote. The newly elected commander-in-chief was escorted to the platform and expressed his thanks for the honor done him by his comrades in a brief speech of appreciation. The election of the junior officers of the organization was quickly over, but once more being presented for each position and the candidate in every instance was elected by acclamation. Following the election, delegations from the various affiliated societies were received, and a minister of the feast followed by them and the members of the larger organization. Miss Clara Barton was given a most appropriate ovation when she appeared on the stage and made a brief address of thanks. A motion was adopted without discussion, it being understood that the future proceedings of the convention should be held at a court of appeals to have final jurisdiction in matters relating to positions. Mary I. Carr of Colorado was elected national president of the Women's Relief Corps. The other candidates withdrew and the election was made by acclamation. A motion was adopted without discussion, it being understood that the future proceedings of the convention should be held at a court of appeals to have final jurisdiction in matters relating to positions. Mary I. Carr of Colorado was elected national president of the Women's Relief Corps. The other candidates withdrew and the election was made by acclamation.

Advertisement Letters.
 The following are the names of the persons who were elected to the various offices of the organization for the ensuing year.
 National President: Mary I. Carr, Colorado.
 National Vice President: Mrs. J. W. ...
 National Secretary: ...
 National Treasurer: ...
 National Corresponding Secretary: ...
 National Recording Secretary: ...
 National Executive Committee: ...
 National Executive Board: ...
 National Executive Council: ...
 National Executive Committee: ...
 National Executive Board: ...
 National Executive Council: ...

Advertisement Letters.
 The following are the names of the persons who were elected to the various offices of the organization for the ensuing year.
 National President: Mary I. Carr, Colorado.
 National Vice President: Mrs. J. W. ...
 National Secretary: ...
 National Treasurer: ...
 National Corresponding Secretary: ...
 National Recording Secretary: ...
 National Executive Committee: ...
 National Executive Board: ...
 National Executive Council: ...
 National Executive Committee: ...
 National Executive Board: ...
 National Executive Council: ...

Advertisement Letters.
 The following are the names of the persons who were elected to the various offices of the organization for the ensuing year.
 National President: Mary I. Carr, Colorado.
 National Vice President: Mrs. J. W. ...
 National Secretary: ...
 National Treasurer: ...
 National Corresponding Secretary: ...
 National Recording Secretary: ...
 National Executive Committee: ...
 National Executive Board: ...
 National Executive Council: ...
 National Executive Committee: ...
 National Executive Board: ...
 National Executive Council: ...

ODD CHINESE CUSTOMS

Time Not Made For People of the Middle Kingdom.

THEIR POLITENESS AND RESPECT

How and When the President...
New York is the...
Staying on Steamers—Chinese...
Smoking—Smokers Generally...
Greetings—The President...
...
It is a remarkable thing about Peking that, in a city laid out on an enormous plan, with large avenues, high walls, beautified by pretty pagodas, elegant temples, large yamens containing the imperial palace and sacred grounds, so little is done toward the comfort of pedestrians and of people riding on mules, horses, rickshaws or vehicles, says the Shanghai correspondent of Collier's Weekly. The thoroughfares are never repaired, so that the streets are flooded soon after it begins to rain. You cannot walk in any of the streets, says the correspondent. Peking cars, by which one gets full of mud and silt, are the only means of travel there in the peculiar appliances. Peking cars, by which one gets full of mud and silt, are the only means of travel there in the peculiar appliances. Peking cars, by which one gets full of mud and silt, are the only means of travel there in the peculiar appliances.

TOMMYATKINS' NEW BOOTS

British War often Experimenting With the "Tommyatkin."

WHERE THE MARKET IS FOUND.

...
The boot or shoe which, with a strong and elastic covering to the feet, in the highest, steepest and most elastic in the world, is the most desirable for long marches. The alparagats of the Spanish soldiers and particularly those of the Indian tribes, are so much respected, as much protection as leather, are as pliable as India rubber. The tops are made of cowhide and the soles of light cork. A pair could be carried without inconvenience in a side pocket of the tunic. Some time ago, while making a walking tour in the region of the Pyrenees, I was attached to a Spanish infantry regiment at that time engaged in a series of forced marches. Though a fairly good walker, I found it impossible to keep up the pace of the Spanish soldiers, and was about to request the commander, when the latter loaned him a pair of marching boots. The result was that he was able to accompany the troops for far over a hundred days at an average of 30 miles a day. Spanish military men declare that the difference between ordinary marching boots and alparagats represents at least six miles a day. The cost of one pair of alparagats is about 10 cents a pair. Lord Wolseley, it is understood, is having a number of alparagats made for his own use. The British war office possessed large supplies at the time of the Sudan and Transvaal campaigns, but these might have been saved much suffering and inconvenience. It is not likely that any of these boots can be obtained in time for the operations in China, but they could be used there.

OUR MACHINERY ABROAD

Mistaken Impression at American Exports Are Less.

WHERE THE MARKET IS FOUND.

...
Demand For Tools From the United States...
Exports of American tools and machinery do not show the shrinkage in volume which recent reports would indicate, says a Washington dispatch. Some concern has been expressed by leading export houses by reason of a falling off in foreign orders, due to the high prices of iron and steel. In this connection it will be interesting to note that the exports of builders' hardware, saws and tools during the fiscal year 1900 were the largest in the history of our export trade, being $3,046,017, against $2,723,123 in 1899, $2,627,400 in 1897 and $3,000,180 in 1898, prior to which year the exports in this line had never aggregated so much as $3,000,000. In exports of sewing machines, typewriters, electrical and other electrical machinery there are also gratifying increases. Comparing the export volume of the fiscal year 1900 with those of 1898 and 1899, it is found that the exports were $1,800,000 in 1900, $1,328,344 in 1898 and $1,204,544 in 1899; electrical machinery $2,786,110 in 1900 to $2,697,544 in 1898 and $2,627,400 in 1899; typewriters $1,922,112 in 1900 to $2,097,544 in 1898 and $2,097,544 in 1899; and all other electrical machinery $4,018,088 in 1900 to $3,108,200 in 1898 and $3,108,200 in 1899. While our chief market for machinery is still to be found in the United States, an increasing proportion is being sold in the far east especially in British Australia, Japan and India. In 1898 our exports of builders' hardware and tools to British Australia amounted to $577,835; in 1900 they aggregated $1,000,000, an increase of 72 per cent. In the line of Japan were $74,500, while in 1900 they were $140,000. Our exports of typewriters to British Australia in 1898 amounted to $60,000, while in the fiscal year 1900 they were $101,002, an increase of 68 per cent. In 1899 they had increased to $72,002, and in 1900 to $113,073, of which sum $22,111 were exported during the month of June alone, thus forecasting in some degree the possibility of further development in this article of export. Commenting upon the increase in the exports of typewriters, prominent American manufacturer is quoted as saying: "The demand for American typewriters was never greater, and our machines are getting good sale everywhere. We have just made a shipment to Trinidad, Venezuela, the Straits of Magellan, at the extreme southern point of South America, and another to Vladivostok, Russia, for the use of the imperial government. Many of the missionaries and foreign business men in China use our machines, and nearly every American resident in the Philippines has from three to five machines and as many more at Manila under American supplies. There will be a big demand for typewriters in the large business houses in the principal cities of the world, and its key-board represents nearly all languages. The exceptions are the Japanese, Chinese and composed of many many figures or signs, it seems practically impossible to produce them on the typewriter's keyboard. The following table shows the exports of builders' tools and hardware, sewing machines and typewriters from the United States in each fiscal year from 1890 to 1900. The exports of typewriters cannot be separately shown for the years prior to 1897 as prior to 1897 typewriters were published in the reports of the treasury bureau of statistics under the general heading "Machinery, not elsewhere specified."

New Boat for Brainerd.

Mr. A. P. Lively wishes to announce to his friends and those who may be concerned that he has just finished a beautiful steamer of 15 tons, which will ply on the upper Mississippi during the boating season. It is neatly arranged and finished for the accommodation of passengers as well as freight. It will make a regular trip to Pine River and return each week, stopping at all points to deliver and receive. Mr. Lively will make a specialty of excursions, and he is ready at all times to accommodate pleasure seekers. Any one wishing to charter the boat or any further information please call on or address: PHARR & WALTERS, Brainerd, Minn. Office corner 5th and Main streets.

PRICES are settled at last. So are we in our new Quarter in the Opera House Block where we shall be pleased to see all of our old customers and many new ones. We aim to please. Our motto, "Quick Sales and Small Profits."

Yours for Business, Brainerd Flour & Feed Co.

BRAINERD LUMBER CO., BRAINERD, MINNESOTA.

Mills & Yards at Rice Lake, E. Brainerd

We have CONSTANTLY ON HAND a Complete Stock of Lumber, Lath, Shingles and Building Material.

SHORT LUMBER OF ALL GRADES, and LOW GRADE OF DIMENSION AND BOARDS at VERY LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

THE RIGHT FOOT WEAR IS THE HEFFLINGTON

RIGHT IN FIT, RIGHT IN QUALITY, RIGHT IN PRICE, RIGHT IN WEAR, RIGHT IN STYLE.

WE CARRY IN STOCK C TO EH WIDTHS. Your dealer should have the Hefflington. If you cannot secure them from him write the NORTH STAR SHOE CO., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

of Brainerd, Minn.

A. F. FERRIS, President
G. D. LABAR, Cashier.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL - $200,000
Paid up Capital - $50,000
Surplus - $30,000

Business accounts invited.

PENNYROYAL PILLS

Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

FARM LANDS FOR SALE

O. G. GRAHAM
Delivers to any part of the CITY

PURE DRINKING WATER

Rotary Motion and Ball Bearings.

...
The Chinese of wealth and distinction never walk in the streets. They either ride on horseback or are carried in chairs. But if they chance the street riding or being carried should meet a friend of equal or higher rank, also traveling by the same means, both parties will alight and make the peculiar bow known by the Chinese as "the bow of the emperor." The foreign ministers were formerly compelled to do this when they came to the Chinese capital. Lord Amberst, British ambassador in 1874, refused to make the bow and was not received by the emperor. In 1874, after many years of controversy, the rule was changed so as to allow foreign diplomats to be received standing. For the last time the emperor brought it so far as to address the emperor directly on the imperial platform. In China it is customary for an addressing person to greet them with titles of distinction such as "Your excellency" (my elder brother), "my dear" (your venerable highness), or "my dear" (your excellency). Having addressed you as my Chinese father, a graduate of the medical department of Harvard college, with the title "my dear" (your excellency). He addressed me as "my dear" (your excellency), as well as teacher or professor, and the title "my dear" (your excellency). The Chinese will always address one another in most flattering terms, while they will speak very bluntly of themselves, their families, their country, etc. "What to you distinguished names and your good names?" "My poor surname is Li and my home official name is Li and my home name is Li. A most peculiar thing about the Chinese is that they desire to be called by their family name. We have had some convincing proof of this in the last few weeks. The Chinese were in no hurry to get to know that the diplomats and foreign residents of Peking were Chinese. The manner in which the Chinese ignore time may also be noticed in another way. If a Chinese gentleman has a visit for official or other business you may be sure that he will arrive from an hour to half a day later, sometimes even on the next day, without deeming it necessary to apologize for the delay. When the caller finally does arrive, there is generally a long exchange of polite phrases and words. Afterward you drink tea and smoke pipes. During all this time you talk of politics and the weather, and possibly just before the caller intends to leave he will casually bring up the purpose of his visit. A curious sight is to see wealthy Chinese traveling on board of a coast or ocean steamer. They all retire to their cabins, to remain there during the voyage. There they will eat, drink, amuse themselves and smoke opium, with the pungent odor of which the neighboring cabins are soon unpleasantly filled. On a voyage from Hingpo to Shanghai I once visited a Chinese steamer; there were over 70 men and women crowded on the floor, smoking their peculiar water and opium pipes, the smoke of which filled the whole ship. It is always a great curiosity for a stranger to enter one of the public places, mostly Chinese tea-houses, where a kind of safe arrangement for opium smokers may be found. Places exist with more than 100 of such tables, on each of which two Chinamen generally lie, one on one corner, while the other holds the pipe over a small burning lamp and puffs the smokable extract of the Indian waddy. Of course the fumes render it impossible for a foreigner to remain in such a place for any length of time. "Whereas They Might Sleep." Now that the scientists claim to have a new process for renewing the atmosphere of a tired world will look to them, says the Baltimore American, for a cool spraying of hot waves.

...
The Chinese of wealth and distinction never walk in the streets. They either ride on horseback or are carried in chairs. But if they chance the street riding or being carried should meet a friend of equal or higher rank, also traveling by the same means, both parties will alight and make the peculiar bow known by the Chinese as "the bow of the emperor." The foreign ministers were formerly compelled to do this when they came to the Chinese capital. Lord Amberst, British ambassador in 1874, refused to make the bow and was not received by the emperor. In 1874, after many years of controversy, the rule was changed so as to allow foreign diplomats to be received standing. For the last time the emperor brought it so far as to address the emperor directly on the imperial platform. In China it is customary for an addressing person to greet them with titles of distinction such as "Your excellency" (my elder brother), "my dear" (your venerable highness), or "my dear" (your excellency). Having addressed you as my Chinese father, a graduate of the medical department of Harvard college, with the title "my dear" (your excellency). He addressed me as "my dear" (your excellency), as well as teacher or professor, and the title "my dear" (your excellency). The Chinese will always address one another in most flattering terms, while they will speak very bluntly of themselves, their families, their country, etc. "What to you distinguished names and your good names?" "My poor surname is Li and my home official name is Li and my home name is Li. A most peculiar thing about the Chinese is that they desire to be called by their family name. We have had some convincing proof of this in the last few weeks. The Chinese were in no hurry to get to know that the diplomats and foreign residents of Peking were Chinese. The manner in which the Chinese ignore time may also be noticed in another way. If a Chinese gentleman has a visit for official or other business you may be sure that he will arrive from an hour to half a day later, sometimes even on the next day, without deeming it necessary to apologize for the delay. When the caller finally does arrive, there is generally a long exchange of polite phrases and words. Afterward you drink tea and smoke pipes. During all this time you talk of politics and the weather, and possibly just before the caller intends to leave he will casually bring up the purpose of his visit. A curious sight is to see wealthy Chinese traveling on board of a coast or ocean steamer. They all retire to their cabins, to remain there during the voyage. There they will eat, drink, amuse themselves and smoke opium, with the pungent odor of which the neighboring cabins are soon unpleasantly filled. On a voyage from Hingpo to Shanghai I once visited a Chinese steamer; there were over 70 men and women crowded on the floor, smoking their peculiar water and opium pipes, the smoke of which filled the whole ship. It is always a great curiosity for a stranger to enter one of the public places, mostly Chinese tea-houses, where a kind of safe arrangement for opium smokers may be found. Places exist with more than 100 of such tables, on each of which two Chinamen generally lie, one on one corner, while the other holds the pipe over a small burning lamp and puffs the smokable extract of the Indian waddy. Of course the fumes render it impossible for a foreigner to remain in such a place for any length of time. "Whereas They Might Sleep." Now that the scientists claim to have a new process for renewing the atmosphere of a tired world will look to them, says the Baltimore American, for a cool spraying of hot waves.

...
The Chinese of wealth and distinction never walk in the streets. They either ride on horseback or are carried in chairs. But if they chance the street riding or being carried should meet a friend of equal or higher rank, also traveling by the same means, both parties will alight and make the peculiar bow known by the Chinese as "the bow of the emperor." The foreign ministers were formerly compelled to do this when they came to the Chinese capital. Lord Amberst, British ambassador in 1874, refused to make the bow and was not received by the emperor. In 1874, after many years of controversy, the rule was changed so as to allow foreign diplomats to be received standing. For the last time the emperor brought it so far as to address the emperor directly on the imperial platform. In China it is customary for an addressing person to greet them with titles of distinction such as "Your excellency" (my elder brother), "my dear" (your venerable highness), or "my dear" (your excellency). Having addressed you as my Chinese father, a graduate of the medical department of Harvard college, with the title "my dear" (your excellency). He addressed me as "my dear" (your excellency), as well as teacher or professor, and the title "my dear" (your excellency). The Chinese will always address one another in most flattering terms, while they will speak very bluntly of themselves, their families, their country, etc. "What to you distinguished names and your good names?" "My poor surname is Li and my home official name is Li and my home name is Li. A most peculiar thing about the Chinese is that they desire to be called by their family name. We have had some convincing proof of this in the last few weeks. The Chinese were in no hurry to get to know that the diplomats and foreign residents of Peking were Chinese. The manner in which the Chinese ignore time may also be noticed in another way. If a Chinese gentleman has a visit for official or other business you may be sure that he will arrive from an hour to half a day later, sometimes even on the next day, without deeming it necessary to apologize for the delay. When the caller finally does arrive, there is generally a long exchange of polite phrases and words. Afterward you drink tea and smoke pipes. During all this time you talk of politics and the weather, and possibly just before the caller intends to leave he will casually bring up the purpose of his visit. A curious sight is to see wealthy Chinese traveling on board of a coast or ocean steamer. They all retire to their cabins, to remain there during the voyage. There they will eat, drink, amuse themselves and smoke opium, with the pungent odor of which the neighboring cabins are soon unpleasantly filled. On a voyage from Hingpo to Shanghai I once visited a Chinese steamer; there were over 70 men and women crowded on the floor, smoking their peculiar water and opium pipes, the smoke of which filled the whole ship. It is always a great curiosity for a stranger to enter one of the public places, mostly Chinese tea-houses, where a kind of safe arrangement for opium smokers may be found. Places exist with more than 100 of such tables, on each of which two Chinamen generally lie, one on one corner, while the other holds the pipe over a small burning lamp and puffs the smokable extract of the Indian waddy. Of course the fumes render it impossible for a foreigner to remain in such a place for any length of time. "Whereas They Might Sleep." Now that the scientists claim to have a new process for renewing the atmosphere of a tired world will look to them, says the Baltimore American, for a cool spraying of hot waves.

...
The Chinese of wealth and distinction never walk in the streets. They either ride on horseback or are carried in chairs. But if they chance the street riding or being carried should meet a friend of equal or higher rank, also traveling by the same means, both parties will alight and make the peculiar bow known by the Chinese as "the bow of the emperor." The foreign ministers were formerly compelled to do this when they came to the Chinese capital. Lord Amberst, British ambassador in 1874, refused to make the bow and was not received by the emperor. In 1874, after many years of controversy, the rule was changed so as to allow foreign diplomats to be received standing. For the last time the emperor brought it so far as to address the emperor directly on the imperial platform. In China it is customary for an addressing person to greet them with titles of distinction such as "Your excellency" (my elder brother), "my dear" (your venerable highness), or "my dear" (your excellency). Having addressed you as my Chinese father, a graduate of the medical department of Harvard college, with the title "my dear" (your excellency). He addressed me as "my dear" (your excellency), as well as teacher or professor, and the title "my dear" (your excellency). The Chinese will always address one another in most flattering terms, while they will speak very bluntly of themselves, their families, their country, etc. "What to you distinguished names and your good names?" "My poor surname is Li and my home official name is Li and my home name is Li. A most peculiar thing about the Chinese is that they desire to be called by their family name. We have had some convincing proof of this in the last few weeks. The Chinese were in no hurry to get to know that the diplomats and foreign residents of Peking were Chinese. The manner in which the Chinese ignore time may also be noticed in another way. If a Chinese gentleman has a visit for official or other business you may be sure that he will arrive from an hour to half a day later, sometimes even on the next day, without deeming it necessary to apologize for the delay. When the caller finally does arrive, there is generally a long exchange of polite phrases and words. Afterward you drink tea and smoke pipes. During all this time you talk of politics and the weather, and possibly just before the caller intends to leave he will casually bring up the purpose of his visit. A curious sight is to see wealthy Chinese traveling on board of a coast or ocean steamer. They all retire to their cabins, to remain there during the voyage. There they will eat, drink, amuse themselves and smoke opium, with the pungent odor of which the neighboring cabins are soon unpleasantly filled. On a voyage from Hingpo to Shanghai I once visited a Chinese steamer; there were over 70 men and women crowded on the floor, smoking their peculiar water and opium pipes, the smoke of which filled the whole ship. It is always a great curiosity for a stranger to enter one of the public places, mostly Chinese tea-houses, where a kind of safe arrangement for opium smokers may be found. Places exist with more than 100 of such tables, on each of which two Chinamen generally lie, one on one corner, while the other holds the pipe over a small burning lamp and puffs the smokable extract of the Indian waddy. Of course the fumes render it impossible for a foreigner to remain in such a place for any length of time. "Whereas They Might Sleep." Now that the scientists claim to have a new process for renewing the atmosphere of a tired world will look to them, says the Baltimore American, for a cool spraying of hot waves.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC BANK

Capital $25,000.

WERNER HEMSTEDT, President.
J. F. MCGINNIS, Vice Pres.
H. D. TRELAWNY, Cashier.

Special attention given to City Collections, Accounts of Corporations, Firms and Individuals, received on the most Liberal Terms Consistent with Sound Banking.

Take Home

It has been discovered that many of the prairie fires that have destroyed the grass on the ranges in Montana and in the western part of Dakota have been started by the concentration of the rays of the sun upon broken beer bottles that are scattered freely along the cattle trails and wagon roads, which offers a new argument for the use of the temperance flag. Numerous fires have started far away from human habit and habitations, notwithstanding the reach of cords from the smokestack of a locomotive, and the farmers and ranchmen have been surprised as to their origin that several investigations have been made. When they have been traced to their source almost every instance, according to the Chicago Record, has been found to be due to beer bottles. The cured grass was found in such a position as to focus the rays of the sun upon the turf of dry bunch grass and start a fire.

HAMM'S BEER

Supplied by Agents Everywhere.

...
The Chinese of wealth and distinction never walk in the streets. They either ride on horseback or are carried in chairs. But if they chance the street riding or being carried should meet a friend of equal or higher rank, also traveling by the same means, both parties will alight and make the peculiar bow known by the Chinese as "the bow of the emperor." The foreign ministers were formerly compelled to do this when they came to the Chinese capital. Lord Amberst, British ambassador in 1874, refused to make the bow and was not received by the emperor. In 1874, after many years of controversy, the rule was changed so as to allow foreign diplomats to be received standing. For the last time the emperor brought it so far as to address the emperor directly on the imperial platform. In China it is customary for an addressing person to greet them with titles of distinction such as "Your excellency" (my elder brother), "my dear" (your venerable highness), or "my dear" (your excellency). Having addressed you as my Chinese father, a graduate of the medical department of Harvard college, with the title "my dear" (your excellency). He addressed me as "my dear" (your excellency), as well as teacher or professor, and the title "my dear" (your excellency). The Chinese will always address one another in most flattering terms, while they will speak very bluntly of themselves, their families, their country, etc. "What to you distinguished names and your good names?" "My poor surname is Li and my home official name is Li and my home name is Li. A most peculiar thing about the Chinese is that they desire to be called by their family name. We have had some convincing proof of this in the last few weeks. The Chinese were in no hurry to get to know that the diplomats and foreign residents of Peking were Chinese. The manner in which the Chinese ignore time may also be noticed in another way. If a Chinese gentleman has a visit for official or other business you may be sure that he will arrive from an hour to half a day later, sometimes even on the next day, without deeming it necessary to apologize for the delay. When the caller finally does arrive, there is generally a long exchange of polite phrases and words. Afterward you drink tea and smoke pipes. During all this time you talk of politics and the weather, and possibly just before the caller intends to leave he will casually bring up the purpose of his visit. A curious sight is to see wealthy Chinese traveling on board of a coast or ocean steamer. They all retire to their cabins, to remain there during the voyage. There they will eat, drink, amuse themselves and smoke opium, with the pungent odor of which the neighboring cabins are soon unpleasantly filled. On a voyage from Hingpo to Shanghai I once visited a Chinese steamer; there were over 70 men and women crowded on the floor, smoking their peculiar water and opium pipes, the smoke of which filled the whole ship. It is always a great curiosity for a stranger to enter one of the public places, mostly Chinese tea-houses, where a kind of safe arrangement for opium smokers may be found. Places exist with more than 100 of such tables, on each of which two Chinamen generally lie, one on one corner, while the other holds the pipe over a small burning lamp and puffs the smokable extract of the Indian waddy. Of course the fumes render it impossible for a foreigner to remain in such a place for any length of time. "Whereas They Might Sleep." Now that the scientists claim to have a new process for renewing the atmosphere of a tired world will look to them, says the Baltimore American, for a cool spraying of hot waves.

...
The Chinese of wealth and distinction never walk in the streets. They either ride on horseback or are carried in chairs. But if they chance the street riding or being carried should meet a friend of equal or higher rank, also traveling by the same means, both parties will alight and make the peculiar bow known by the Chinese as "the bow of the emperor." The foreign ministers were formerly compelled to do this when they came to the Chinese capital. Lord Amberst, British ambassador in 1874, refused to make the bow and was not received by the emperor. In 1874, after many years of controversy, the rule was changed so as to allow foreign diplomats to be received standing. For the last time the emperor brought it so far as to address the emperor directly on the imperial platform. In China it is customary for an addressing person to greet them with titles of distinction such as "Your excellency" (my elder brother), "my dear" (your venerable highness), or "my dear" (your excellency). Having addressed you as my Chinese father, a graduate of the medical department of Harvard college, with the title "my dear" (your excellency). He addressed me as "my dear" (your excellency), as well as teacher or professor, and the title "my dear" (your excellency). The Chinese will always address one another in most flattering terms, while they will speak very bluntly of themselves, their families, their country, etc. "What to you distinguished names and your good names?" "My poor surname is Li and my home official name is Li and my home name is Li. A most peculiar thing about the Chinese is that they desire to be called by their family name. We have had some convincing proof of this in the last few weeks. The Chinese were in no hurry to get to know that the diplomats and foreign residents of Peking were Chinese. The manner in which the Chinese ignore time may also be noticed in another way. If a Chinese gentleman has a visit for official or other business you may be sure that he will arrive from an hour to half a day later, sometimes even on the next day, without deeming it necessary to apologize for the delay. When the caller finally does arrive, there is generally a long exchange of polite phrases and words. Afterward you drink tea and smoke pipes. During all this time you talk of politics and the weather, and possibly just before the caller intends to leave he will casually bring up the purpose of his visit. A curious sight is to see wealthy Chinese traveling on board of a coast or ocean steamer. They all retire to their cabins, to remain there during the voyage. There they will eat, drink, amuse themselves and smoke opium, with the pungent odor of which the neighboring cabins are soon unpleasantly filled. On a voyage from Hingpo to Shanghai I once visited a Chinese steamer; there were over 70 men and women crowded on the floor, smoking their peculiar water and opium pipes, the smoke of which filled the whole ship. It is always a great curiosity for a stranger to enter one of the public places, mostly Chinese tea-houses, where a kind of safe arrangement for opium smokers may be found. Places exist with more than 100 of such tables, on each of which two Chinamen generally lie, one on one corner, while the other holds the pipe over a small burning lamp and puffs the smokable extract of the Indian waddy. Of course the fumes render it impossible for a foreigner to remain in such a place for any length of time. "Whereas They Might Sleep." Now that the scientists claim to have a new process for renewing the atmosphere of a tired world will look to them, says the Baltimore American, for a cool spraying of hot waves.

...
The Chinese of wealth and distinction never walk in the streets. They either ride on horseback or are carried in chairs. But if they chance the street riding or being carried should meet a friend of equal or higher rank, also traveling by the same means, both parties will alight and make the peculiar bow known by the Chinese as "the bow of the emperor." The foreign ministers were formerly compelled to do this when they came to the Chinese capital. Lord Amberst, British ambassador in 1874, refused to make the bow and was not received by the emperor. In 1874, after many years of controversy, the rule was changed so as to allow foreign diplomats to be received standing. For the last time the emperor brought it so far as to address the emperor directly on the imperial platform. In China it is customary for an addressing person to greet them with titles of distinction such as "Your excellency" (my elder brother), "my dear" (your venerable highness), or "my dear" (your excellency). Having addressed you as my Chinese father, a graduate of the medical department of Harvard college, with the title "my dear" (your excellency). He addressed me as "my dear" (your excellency), as well as teacher or professor, and the title "my dear" (your excellency). The Chinese will always address one another in most flattering terms, while they will speak very bluntly of themselves, their families, their country, etc. "What to you distinguished names and your good names?" "My poor surname is Li and my home official name is Li and my home name is Li. A most peculiar thing about the Chinese is that they desire to be called by their family name. We have had some convincing proof of this in the last few weeks. The Chinese were in no hurry to get to know that the diplomats and foreign residents of Peking were Chinese. The manner in which the Chinese ignore time may also be noticed in another way. If a Chinese gentleman has a visit for official or other business you may be sure that he will arrive from an hour to half a day later, sometimes even on the next day, without deeming it necessary to apologize for the delay. When the caller finally does arrive, there is generally a long exchange of polite phrases and words. Afterward you drink tea and smoke pipes. During all this time you talk of politics and the weather, and possibly just before the caller intends to leave he will casually bring up the purpose of his visit. A curious sight is to see wealthy Chinese traveling on board of a coast or ocean steamer. They all retire to their cabins, to remain there during the voyage. There they will eat, drink, amuse themselves and smoke opium, with the pungent odor of which the neighboring cabins are soon unpleasantly filled. On a voyage from Hingpo to Shanghai I once visited a Chinese steamer; there were over 70 men and women crowded on the floor, smoking their peculiar water and opium pipes, the smoke of which filled the whole ship. It is always a great curiosity for a stranger to enter one of the public places, mostly Chinese tea-houses, where a kind of safe arrangement for opium smokers may be found. Places exist with more than 100 of such tables, on each of which two Chinamen generally lie, one on one corner, while the other holds the pipe over a small burning lamp and puffs the smokable extract of the Indian waddy. Of course the fumes render it impossible for a foreigner to remain in such a place for any length of time. "Whereas They Might Sleep." Now that the scientists claim to have a new process for renewing the atmosphere of a tired world will look to them, says the Baltimore American, for a cool spraying of hot waves.

...
The Chinese of wealth and distinction never walk in the streets. They either ride on horseback or are carried in chairs. But if they chance the street riding or being carried should meet a friend of equal or higher rank, also traveling by the same means, both parties will alight and make the peculiar bow known by the Chinese as "the bow of the emperor." The foreign ministers were formerly compelled to do this when they came to the Chinese capital. Lord Amberst, British ambassador in 1874, refused to make the bow and was not received by the emperor. In 1874, after many years of controversy, the rule was changed so as to allow foreign diplomats to be received standing. For the last time the emperor brought it so far as to address the emperor directly on the imperial platform. In China it is customary for an addressing person to greet them with titles of distinction such as "Your excellency" (my elder brother), "my dear" (your venerable highness), or "my dear" (your excellency). Having addressed you as my Chinese father, a graduate of the medical department of Harvard college, with the title "my dear" (your excellency). He addressed me as "my dear" (your excellency), as well as teacher or professor, and the title "my dear" (your excellency). The Chinese will always address one another in most flattering terms, while they will speak very bluntly of themselves, their families, their country, etc. "What to you distinguished names and your good names?" "My poor surname is Li and my home official name is Li and my home name is Li. A most peculiar thing about the Chinese is that they desire to be called by their family name. We have had some convincing proof of this in the last few weeks. The Chinese were in no hurry to get to know that the diplomats and foreign residents of Peking were Chinese. The manner in which the Chinese ignore time may also be noticed in another way. If a Chinese gentleman has a visit for official or other business you may be sure that he will arrive from an hour to half a day later, sometimes even on the next day, without deeming it necessary to apologize for the delay. When the caller finally does arrive, there is generally a long exchange of polite phrases and words. Afterward you drink tea and smoke pipes. During all this time you talk of politics and the weather, and possibly just before the caller intends to leave he will casually bring up the purpose of his visit. A curious sight is to see wealthy Chinese traveling on board of a coast or ocean steamer. They all retire to their cabins, to remain there during the voyage. There they will eat, drink, amuse themselves and smoke opium, with the pungent odor of which the neighboring cabins are soon unpleasantly filled. On a voyage from Hingpo to Shanghai I once visited a Chinese steamer; there were over 70 men and women crowded on the floor, smoking their peculiar water and opium pipes, the smoke of which filled the whole ship. It is always a great curiosity for a stranger to enter one of the public places, mostly Chinese tea-houses, where a kind of safe arrangement for opium smokers may be found. Places exist with more than 100 of such tables, on each of which two Chinamen generally lie, one on one corner, while the other holds the pipe over a small burning lamp and puffs the smokable extract of the Indian waddy. Of course the fumes render it impossible for a foreigner to remain in such a place for any length of time. "Whereas They Might Sleep." Now that the scientists claim to have a new process for renewing the atmosphere of a tired world will look to them, says the Baltimore American, for a cool spraying of hot waves.

Local News Condensed.

Next Monday is Labor Day.

Bicycles rented at Hoffman's.

The Florence Critchson Circle will meet in the Y. M. C. A. parlor Tuesday, Sept. 4th, at 8 p. m.

A move is now on foot to start a co-operative grocery store in Southeast Brainerd in the near future.

Teeth filled and crowned with gold or porcelain, and teeth extracted with Odontogender, at Dr. Ribbel's.

The best is the cheapest, buy a sack of "Best of All Flour" and be convinced. Brainerd Flour and Feed Co.

The East Brainerd Stars this week defeated the East Brainerd locals in a game of ball, the score being 17 to 7.

The Crow Wing county fair will be held Sept. 10th to 22nd. Every effort should be put forth to make it a success.

A successful school must be a good one. Get a catalogue from the Mankato Commercial College, Mankato, Minn., and investigate.

PERTINENT PERSONAL NOTES.

A. F. Ferris was a Duluth visitor Tuesday.

Mrs. J. J. Howe is visiting St. Cloud friends.

Mrs. C. M. Child is in the city from Billings, Mont.

D. F. Carmichael spent Sunday with friends in St. Paul.

Frank Murry, of Barabeville, was a Brainerd visitor yesterday.

F. W. McKay and bride returned Monday from their wedding trip.

J. T. O'Leary, of the St. Paul Furulture Co., was in the city Tuesday.

Mrs. Anton Sheffo is visiting relatives in Glenwood for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Alderman and daughter Nellie, went to St. Cloud this noon.

Mrs. N. H. Ingersoll and son Howard returned Tuesday from McGregor, Iowa.

F. A. White, of Gladstone, Minn., spent Sunday with friends and relatives in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McCarvill, of Deswood, will leave for Detroit

ROYAL
BAKING-
POWDER.
Absolutely Pure.