Will Be Established in This City as Soon as Necessary Arrangements Can Be Made.

Postmaster Ingersoll Has Asked The Mayor and Council to Rehear The House and Put It To Street Signs.

Braierd will have a free mail delivery system as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

The establishment of the system will be a great convenience to the people of the city, especially the East Brainerd, South East Brainerd and the outlying districts.

Wants Jackson Pardoned. Elling Johnson, of Wadena, is in the city, trying to secure signatures to a petition to the state board of pardons asking that the life sentence of Henry Jackson, convicted of murder here several years ago be commuted to ten years imprisonment.

Jackson, it will be remembered, lived in Maple Grove, Wadena, and was a neighbor of Chas. Peck, who held a mortgage on Jackson's horses for a debt, and he made way with Peck to get rid of the debt.

Mr. Johnson's idea to get the signatures of the county officials in the petition to the pardon, but he has not been very successful.

CHEEK RAISER CAUGHT.

His Partner Squealed to the Fargo Police.

J. Adrian, who passed a spurious time check on E. M. Westfall last spring, was arrested in Fargo on Sunday for the crime, and was brought to this city on Monday by Sheriff Erickson, who went after the culprit.

The check was genuine, but was originally drawn for only $4.50, and had been raised to $104.50 by writing 10 before the $4.50. It was drawn on the Pine Tree Lumber Co. and dated March 18th, and was cashed by Mr. Westfall on the 21st.

It started to apparently good authority that President J. J. Hill of the Great Northern is planning a new railroad in the northern part of the state to offset the marked success attending the management of the Brainerd & Northern and the Northern Pacific's new line, the Minnesota & International, now under construction.

Repair the Court House. A very prominent gentleman, at one time a resident of Brainerd, who was recently here on a visit was asked what he thought of the city.

He replied everything looked flourishing and prosperous. But, he added, "there is one place in town that is a disgrace to the city. I refer to the condition of the offices and hall in the court house.

The gentleman certainly reflected upon the condition of almost every citizen of the city in his remarks, and he hoped the commissioners will immediately authorize the necessary repairs to make the various offices presentable.

She not only has left the city but she has left divers and sundry unpaid debts, and several sadder but wiser people who were foolish enough to pay a stranger three months in advance for kindergarten instruction for their children.

How It Is.

KATRINS, NOV. 26TH.

To the DISPATCH.— Our attention is called to an article entitled "The Expensive," where six precincts are taken, viz. Doan Lake, Bay Lake, Jenkins, Pointons, Pine River, and Eagle Lake, polling some 390 votes and costing the county $355.40, while Deerwood, polling 166 votes cost but $64.80. At first thought this might seem to be quite a revelation, but according to our mental arithmetic the problem is:

If seven precincts (including Deerwood) cost $410.20 what should one cost. The solution tells us it should cost $68.67. This, according to the statement, gives to the credit of Deerwood $3.77. The legal fees are the same for all. The only possible difference would be first-mileage. 2nd. the farmers might charge more for booths and throwing open their homes than our friends would charge for his warehouse. 3d. The ability of an expert official to perform a certain amount of clerical work as compared with the average farmer, would make another item. We think all things being equal, Deerwood would come up to the beam with the rest of us. As to further costs, we don't think there will be any overappreciations offered. Our county board would hardly recognize a cat with two tails. To the suggestion "that the expense should be regulated by the number of votes cast," is a principle that cannot be applied to scattered precincts. "Where many are served the cost is less." This is the solution of one of the economical problems. Our young friend in his mercantile business has learned this. The department stores have anchored to it, and we believe their position will take, and acting upon this principle we invite you all to move to Bay Lake, and instead of seven precincts have but one.

Yours for retrenchment,
G. A. HFR.

835 Tolland St.

Have you seen the $25 toilet case in our window? We give you a ticket with each $25 purchase, which entitles you to a chance in the drawing to take place Dec. 24th.

Yours truly,

Secrets of Brainerd People Have Learned It.

If you suffer from Backache There is only one way to cure it. The perfect way is to cure the kidneys. A bad back means sick kidneys. Neglected, urinary troubles follow. Don's Kidney Pills are made for kidney only.

Are endorsed by Brainerd people. Mr. W. S. Benjamin practical band, gang or rotary filer of 71 Third ave., East Brainerd says:—"Don's Kidney Pills did me good that I prescribed in many others who complain of kidney ailments to use them and I know of many cases where benefit has resulted I had more or less pain and the renal secretions seemed to be acid in nature, thereby causing me considerable distress. I got a supply of Don's Kidney Pills from a drug store and can state that they had the effect of completely altering the condition of my kidneys referred to above. I shall certainly advise others to use this remedy if annoyed in any way from their kidneys."

Comparative Longevity.

It has often been remarked that the life of a man is not so long as that of a woman. This is true, but it is not so true as it is often made out to be. The average life of a man is about 45 years, and that of a woman is about 50 years. This is not because women are stronger or more active than men, but because they are more careful of their health.

At the age of 20 an Englishman in average health may expect to live 42 years, and any life office will grant him a policy based on that probability. The American's expectation of life is a slightly longer period. On the other hand, a German led off 20 on count upon little more than 20 years and a half.

It would seem, therefore, that the Englishman's expectation of life is longer than that of the American. This is not because the Englishman is stronger or more active than the American, but because he is more careful of his health.

The American who has reached 60 years of age may expect to live 12 more years, while the Britisher's expectation is only about 10 years and 10 months and the German's as nearly as possible 12 months less. Both at 20 and at 60 the American's prospect is a little better than the German's and a little worse than the Englishman's.—London Globe.

Recreational Training of Gunners.

The method used in the United States navy for the recreational training of the gunners is very interesting. It is a very simple method, but it is very effective. The gunners are trained to shoot at a target which is placed at a distance of 100 yards from the ship.

The method used for the 6 pounder gun is a very simple one. The gunner is trained to shoot at a target which is placed at a distance of 100 yards from the ship. The target is a small circle, and the gunner is trained to shoot at it with a small circle.

What's in a Name?

"Experiential patent medicine man" says a whooper in the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "It is the most important of predicting when the turning point will be reached in booming any new business or the amount sunk in exploring two articles before returns come in may vary $100,000. In my opinion, the name has a good deal to do with getting a demand started. If it is hard to remember or hard to pronounce, it is undoubtedly a serious handicap to the success of the product. I have a horse in mind that opens the market with a determination that was unquenchable, but she was surprised when she noted the color of the contents. "Ah, guess you've got a mule under the hood. As asked for fresh milk, and you'd give me milk curdled." The drug clerk is a little dazed from the excitement, but he has finally managed to subject every joke to rigid laboratory treatment before using it.—Fittsburg News.

His Dim Idea.

A teacher was giving her class an exercise in spelling and dictating words. "Thomas," she said to a curly haired little boy, "spell 'thee'." "Thee," he said. "Correct. Define 'it'." "An idea," he said.

Calves Got.

At a recent banquet in Sydney a descendant of the Macdonalds massacred at Discepa passed a knife "with the blades foremost" to a member of a Highland family bearing the historical name of the Macdonalds' betrayers. Most of those who looked on witnessed the action as one of contemptible bad breeding. But one or two understood the significance and knew that the betrayal is still unforgetting.

Wasting by the Seashore.

"What a mistake it is!" observed the doctor as they walked along the shore, to speak of this as the water 'waster' here isn't a drop that is wasted. While out on the ocean the contents themselves would soon become unutilized debris. "Therefore," commented the professor, "while it is in the sand it saves the land."—Chicago Tribune.

Provanator.

Fond Father—That is the smartest child I ever saw. If any one can set a river on fire, he will be grown up. Fond Mother—Indeed he will, indeed this little heart's desire. I found him starting a fire under the piano.—Pittsburgh Courier.

Don't Haul.

During a high wind one summer day a young oriole was thrown from its nest in the ground. It was picked up by kind hands and kept in the house all the storm was over and then placed on the roof of the piazza, which was kept behind the closed blinds of a window near by to note proceedings on the part of the parent birds. The oriole had seen the little one in the meantime had seen the little one in the house, and as it was kept near the open window, its cries had attracted them to it on the roof and hovered about it, doing much talking and consulting together.

Finally they alighted near the little one, and the female slipped her wing under it and seemed to urge some course of action upon the male, who nodded about coming to the little one, spreading his wings over it then flying to a tree, when the female followed him and brought him back and again slipped a wing under the little one. Finally he seemed to understand or to get his nerve under control, and slipping his own wing under, together they made a sort of cradle for the birdling, each grasping its free wing, they flew to the tree, leaving it to a pair of safety among the branches, where it was lost sight of.—Boston Christian Register.

Treatment For Spasms.

The procedure in the treatment of spasms owing to the influence in athletic exercises of all kinds more an authority on the treatment of these painful accidents to say:

A little common sense treatment is often all that is needed when the strain is at its height and without complications. It will ever then generally, at first and gradually develop a painful locking, which will not generally first it should have complete rest and a treatment of hot and cold, the hot being used first, when the swelling is painful, and the cold later on, as a means of tonic to the relaxed muscles. The hot must be very hot and the cold very cold, as the tepid water does little harm.

For the first day of a strain, when all the tendons, muscles and nerves are aching, great relief is found in a poultice of egg and salt. To make it, beat the white of an egg in a bowl, but not stiff. Stir in gradually a cup and a half of salt, or more, until you make a thick, pasty mass. Spread this on a cloth and lay it in place. Cover all with oil or a thick bath towel to protect the sheets, since the egg will eventually. After this has relieved the spasms, begin with a light, firm bandage, except at night.

A Fine Distinction.

A young down town drug clerk who had heard the story of the colored woman man had asked for fresh colored coat plaster and was given black by the obedient dealer across the incident away in his mental dust box and decided to use it for the first opportunity. He had not long to wait, for a few nights ago a comely colored girl dropped in to the store and was employed. "Ah wants some coat plaster," she said.

"What color?" inquired the clerk, with affected solicitude. "Black," she said.

Trembling in his shoes and keeping within easy reach of a heavy pistol, the clerk handed the woman a box of black coat plaster, and he was surprised at the time that the situation of the woman, who was a blonde, was so quiet. "Ah gives you 'em' a-malundered!" she said. "Ah asked for black cullah, and you'd give me skin cullah!"

The drug clerk is a little dazed from the excitement, but he has finally managed to subject every joke to rigid laboratory treatment before using it.—Fittsburg News.

Mrs. Bingo—No, of course not. (Sarcasm.) You don't suppose I would ask you that question if I expected you, do you?

Mr. Bingo—Sweetly—You might, dear. What would you say now if I should say that a telegram has come for you?
Mrs. Bingo—Ah! I know it. I've been expecting that telegram all the afternoon. (Impatiently.) Where is it?

Mr. Bingo—I'll get it. But, dear, I thought it best to open it. You didn't mind, did you, dear?

Mr. Bingo—Oh, there was. Well, what was that?

The World's Largest Haystack.

It is not generally known, but the largest haystack in the world is in California, along the Sacramento and Feather rivers, and the very largest haystack on earth is in Pleasanton, in Alameda county, where there are 200 acres, with more than 450,000 tons of hay.

As the picking must all be done by hand, it is a very arduous task, and the hay is picked in the summer months as it is at their best, an army of people are to be seen busy picking the hay.

The mild climatic conditions that favor the development of the hay crop in California make hay picking something that is neither difficult nor arduous, and it is a very light work.

There are but two drawbacks to hay picking. One is a cold pick, which is simply a sort of prickly heat or rash sometimes produced by contact of face and arms with the hay. The other is the staking of the hay, which is done after the picking of the blossom. It may be prevented by rubbing with the crushed green leaves of the hay.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Haystack.

Harold is the arm of a boy, by the serpents of foot and dragon; the head of the haystack could be a foot or 15 inches long; one end ought to be hollow to receive the staff, but the other end is a solid block in the middle, and on both sides and drawing to a point. Like the point of a two edged sword. On one side of the head is likewise fixed a piece of iron of a half moon or star, and on the other a broad point of four inches long, crooked a little, which is very convenient for drawing fascines, gabions or whatever obstacle happens in the way. The staff of the haystack is about five feet long and as thick and half diameter, made of ash or other hard wood.

Harold is very useful in determining the ground beneath the mounds, and for finding the roots and files of a battalion, and likewise for chastising soldiers.—Gentleman's Directory, 1700.
