Come In And See Us

Business has increased to such an extent since the DAILY DISPATCH was launched the first of June that it has become necessary to secure more room, and today the business office and editorial department has been installed in room 4, Sloop block, which has been newly fitted up for its new tenants. The room in connection with the mechanical department and faces Front street, the entire hall of the second floor now being used by the Dispatch office in connection with the publication of the daily and weekly editions, and the job printing department. We can now boast of a study an equipped printing establishment as there is in the northwest, with modern machinery, skilled workmen, and every facility necessary to us up-to-date print shop. Our patrons are invited to call and see us, the labors of the office is always open. The entrance to the editorial rooms is next to J. R. Smith's office, room 4, Sloop block.

The holiday adjournment for congress will be from Dec. 19 to Jan. 6.

Over at Battle Lake a man fell dead while saving wood. This is a warning.

Proseutry is abroad in the land, if the advertisements in the columns of our exchange is any evidence.

Pipe River has incorporated as a village and it is understood will be a candidate for the seat of government of Cass county.

Scully gets $149 prize money from the Santiago naval fight, while Sampson received $26,777. The "glory" was more evenly divided.

The measure introduced by Congressman Morris looking to the sale of the timber on the Chipewyan reservation is being considered with favor and will undoubtedly become a law.

Brainerd has a daily paper, a metropolitan opera house, free mail delivery and now the saloon license has been raised to $1,000. Things are on the up grade in this busy town.

A bill has been introduced by Senator Nelson which provides for the establishment of free mail delivery in cities of 5,000 population, or when the receipts of the office are $5,000.

In the city authorities will enforce the law regarding the cleaning of ice and snow from the sidewalks in the business parts of the city the public will willingly vote them a medal.

A commercial club is to be organized at Little Falls, and already sixty gentlemen have agreed to become members and pay a fee of $10. The object is for the advancement of the interests of the city.

The announcement is made that Senator R. B. Brown, of St. Cloud, is to be united in marriage Wednesday at St. Paul to Miss Jennie Hanson, daughter of Secretary of State P. E. Hanson. The Dispatch extends congratulations in advance.

The Chicago anarchist, who in a speech the other day said he bowed down to the assassin of President Lincoln and considered them his heroes, should be given a chance to walk the plank at the first opportunity Congress should and will provide a place for men of this character.

The License Problem

The regular session of the meeting of the city council, on Saturday evening raising the saloon license from $500 to $1,000 to take effect at once has been the subject of much comment. Leaving out of discussion entirely the question as to whether the license should be raised to double the present amount it seems to the DISPATCH that it would have been a fair proposition to have fixed the date at which the $1,000 license should take effect at some future period within a reasonable limit. Licenses do not all begin and end at the same time but are granted by the council upon application from time to time. If we are informed correctly those who have been granted licenses within the past few weeks or months at $500 are entitled to transact business for one year from that date while those whose licenses have just expired will, if they renew them, be required to pay $1,000 for the same privilege. If this is the case the proposition is unjust and if the license to be $1,000 all who operate under the law should be made to pay the same amount and if that is impossible, provided the change is made to take effect at once, then an action should be delayed and the date fixed in advance so that all may be made to come under the provisions at the same time. The council has undoubtedly acted in good faith in this matter and according to what they thought was for the best interests of the city but an unbiased person can help but admit that those who are engaged in the liquor business should be treated with the same degree of fairness and equality that is accorded to others.

The Minnesota state auxiliary of the McKinley Memorial association has been organized and is ready to receive contributions for the fund to be applied to the monument to be erected in memory of the late master president, and Minnesota is expected to give in the aggregate $20,000. There are very few people in the state but who can contribute something and the mite is as acceptable as the dollar or more, as larger amounts are not expected. Every contributor will be furnished a souvenir by the national trustees. The chairman for Crow Wing county is A. F. Harris, and the funds entrusted to him will be forwarded to the headquarters at Minneapolis with the names of the contributors.

ENTERTAINMENT WAS GOOD.

Liquid Air Lecture and Demonstrations at the Opera House Enjoyed by a Good Audience.

There was a very good audience to greet Prof. Davis at the opera house Wednesday when he gave his "Liquid Air" lecture and demonstrations, and seldom ever in the history of Brainerd has there been a more interesting lecture, the subject being a particularly attractive one, demonstrated in a most satisfactory manner. Prof. Davis was an entertaining talker as well and this kept the audience in a happy mood throughout. The lecture was all that it was advertised to be and there were none who were present who thought that they had not received full value for their money.

The Brainerd Library Association, under whose auspices the entertainment was given, settled quite a nest money, which will be a great help in maintaining the library in this city. It was almost miraculous, as Prof. Davis explained to the audience, how he ever got here for his appointment that evening. The night before he was at Grand Forks. Yesterday morning he took the Great Northern for Fargo, but the train which he rode for Fargo was several hours late and there was only a twenty minute wait at Fargo even if his train had been on time, and he saw he was going to miss it. When he reached Fargo the train he should have taken to reach Brainerd yesterday morning had gone, but he learned shortly afterwards that they had caught this one, got to Sturgeon and caught a freight from there here, reaching the city about 5 o'clock.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

EUGENIE BLAIR.

With her usual enterprise Eugenie Blair was the first of the great stars of the theatrical firmament this season to present "Peg Woffington," creating the title role, and having in her support an admirably selected company. The play as selected by her is a dramatization by Wendell Allison Hobart of Charles Reade's classic novel. Miss Blair, with the entire production, is the personal direction of Heart Greasitt, who is seen in this city, Saturday night at the new Brainerd Opera House.

White Miss Blair already enjoys the distinction of being the best dressed actress on the American stage, she has even enhanced her reputation in this production with her display of gowns and costumes, and the dress of the supporting members of the company is in keeping with that of the star. Dainty and elegant were the costumes worn by her, the noted costumes are responsible for the sartorial magnificence, while the jeweled bag and slippers were equally as fine.

The four acts are set as follows: First, Green room, Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, London; second-Tripoli Lodgings; third—Eugenie's dressing room, London; and the concluding scene are once more in the lodgings of the artist, Tripoli.

Miss Blair's leading woman this evening is Miss Eleanor Montell, who will essay the role of Mabel Vane, the neglected and deserted wife, while the remainder of the support includes Miss Julia Gordon, Miss Clara Lambert, and Messrs. George Forbes, James Daly, G. Alanson Leary, Frank Richter, Walter Goodrich, John Baldwin, Hugh T. Swayne and Vaughn Glazer. Seats on sale tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Dana's drug store.

The next attraction will be Lewis Morrison's famous "Faust," with its glowing electrical effects, new costumes and skilful mechanical devices. The scenery, costumes and effects are said to be the finest ever used in the longer career of this play. In honor of the five thousandth performance it was decided to invent "Faust" with the best equipments that money could procure. This will be realized when the scenery and effects are viewed. From the beautiful production of "Faust" centers in the apotheosis of Marguerite everything is new. The chief interest in the forthcoming elaborate scenic production of "Faust" centers in the apotheosis of Marguerite everything is new. THE GREEN TIMBER CUT.

A Hearing Had Before the Department at Washington On Demand for Payment from Mississippi Firm.

Ray W. Jones, president, and Nathan Clapp, counsel for the Commonwealth Lumber company of Minneapolis has had a hearing at the Indian office at Washington, at which the demand for payment of green timber cut by that company on the White Earth reservation was thoroughly discussed.

Besides the representatives of the company and Commissioner Jones, Special Agents Farr, O'Neil and McCosmas and other representatives of the department were present. Farr and O'Neil each made separate investigations of the green timber cut on the reservation, which resulted in the demand for the payment of about $31,000 in excess of the dead-and-down price for logs cut by the Commonwealth company.

At the hearing Ray Jones and his attorney contended that the department's agents went too far in their findings in that much of the timber they classified as green, was legitimately "dead or down." They also contended that under the contract approved by the department they had a right to cut green timber for necessary roadways and were also allowed to cut green trees for beams and other necessary works incident to getting out logs.

In reply to these statements, Special Agents O'Neil and Farr vigorously defended their findings. They took up each camp separately, and pointed out that all their notes and reports of their discoveries and the classification of green logs were correct. In defense of the price put on green logs by the department they and the commissioner quoted prices obtained from their contractors in Minnesota, showing that they were not above market price and were practically the same as those that obtained among private owners last season.

The hearing was concluded without any action on the part of Commissioner Jones. He announced that he would take it under advisement. Before any conclusion is reached all the papers will be referred and submitted to Secretary Hitchcock, who will probably give out a statement showing every detail of last winter's dead-and-down operations on the ceded Chippewa reservation.

One Minute Cough Cure affords immediate relief for roughs, colds and all kinds of throat and lung troubles. For cough it is absolutely and absolutely. Very pleasant to take, never fails and is really a favorite with the children. They like it. H. P. Dunn & Co.

VIOLATING FIRE ORDINANCE.

City Attorney Crowell Issues Warrants Tuesday For Several Prominent Repairs of the City.

Several prominent business men of the city, his action being taken under instructions of the city council of its last meeting. The gentlemen upon whom these complaints are to be served are: G. W. Northrup, I. U. White, and C. B. White. They are charged with violating the fire ordinance, in the main the allegations being that they have failed to brick veneer buildings owned by them and put up recently within the fire limits of the city.

It is understood that this matter will be tested by some of these gentlemen. They claim that the character is unconstitutional and they want the question judicially determined.

The gentlemen had a scheme which if promulgated will mean much for the country. They proposed establishing headquarters at some good point in the county and then establish branches in advantageous distances from where milk and cream can be collected.

Commissioner McConnell, of the food and dairy commission of the state, is very much interested in this industry and will try to bring this state up to the standard which Wisconsin now maintains.

Speaking of this subject recently Mr. McConnell said: "There are hundreds of localities where, for various reasons, it is out of the question to start a creamery, and where the conditions are very favorable for cheese factories. Every day or so I get a letter from a man saying that he has 150 cows, but no market for his product, and asking what he shall do. I tell him to start a cheese factory. He can get as much for his milk in this way as if he were able to sell it direct to the creamery."

Of course I do not encourage cheese factories at the expense of creameries or in opposition to them, but only in those cases where a creamery is out of the question. I have a number of plans drawn up to assist those desirous of starting cheese factories, and this department intends to give all the assistance it can to the farmers of the state in this direction, so far as our limitations at present will permit. A successful cheese factory can be started for $500, and will pay for itself almost immediately. I think Minnesota should have as many cheese factories as any state in the west, and I feel sure that it is only a matter of time when it will be up with the leaders. As soon as my present duties will permit it, I shall visit Wisconsin for the purpose of examining into conditions there. I will visit a number of the best factories and collect data as to their methods of operating, and other information which will be of use to us in our campaign among the Minnesota farmers in behalf of the cheese industry."

CLARK TOOK TO THE TALL TIMBER.

Saw An Opening and Played a Fierce Game Making Good His Escape

HIS CASE WAS DISMISSED

Another Warrant Was Drawn Up Immediately But He Had Liked Out.

D. G. Clark, the man who was arrested some time ago on complaint of W. H. Wilcox & Co., of St. Charles, Ill., is somewhat of a diplomat and demonstrated by his maneuvers yesterday that he has a knack of penetrating the most obtrusive intricacies and evading the more serious complications that sometimes follow in the wake of a man's career.

Clark was purported to have been appointed an agent for the Wilcox firm to buy potatoes in this vicinity, the firm, it being claimed, having turned over to him something like $300 to carry on the transaction.

A member of the firm came to this city some time ago to investigate matters, the fact that there were not many potatoes being shipped east causing the firm to believe that everything up here was not just as it should be. Upon reaching Brainerd, Clark was sought out and after some little parley a settlement was demanded from Clark by the representative of the firm. The money was not forthcoming, however, and this representative from the east grew laary. He put the officers on and they kept their vigil at midnight train, just as the train was pulling out. Clark was seen to board it. The officers jumped aboard and the train was stopped at the Sanitarium and Clark was marched back.

He was arraigned and on motion of the county attorney the matter was continued for one week. At the hearing again, the case was continued until yesterday. County Attorney Alderman could not be present and Attorney T. C. Elwell appeared in behalf of the state. After the introduction of some documentary evidence by the state, which was intended to show an agreement entered into between the defendant and the complainants, Judge Fleming, on behalf of the defendant, objected to their introduction on the ground that they did not disclose an agreement between the parties in the case. When the state had finished introducing its evidence, and it being found that something had been omitted, the latter, which they claimed, was an agreement between Wilcox & Co., having been left at the home office, a motion was made to have the case continued. This Judge Hanson could not do, as the defendant with his attorney were present in court and ready for trial, and as the court stated, it would be a very queer procedure. At this juncture Judge Fleming moved to dismiss and the motion was granted.

Clark took "time by the forelock" and by the time another warrant was sworn out he had "liked" across meadowland and woodland and made his escape.
