TO THOSE WHO OWE US.

We have asked several times that those knowing themselves indebted to the TRIBUNE office should come forward and settle with us the first day they could make it convenient. Knowing that the times were close for money, we have put off asking for what is due us, for weeks and months rather than to "dun" our friends for money—hoping that by so doing we could accommodate them till a day when they would have it, and would drop in and settle their accounts. Through our goodness of heart (though we make no pretensions to being any kinder-hearted than any man ought to be), we have actually suffered in our business a hundred times during the past four months, rather than go out and push our citizens for the money they owe us. You may say, "O, I don't owe the TRIBUNE but a trifle, and that little amount certainly can't help it much nor injure it any if I don't pay it till some time when I have it convenient." That is just where the mischief comes in. A week or so ago, we made out a whole batch of small accounts amounting to over two hundred dollars, and sent out our collector, who visited them all, and returned with just seven dollars and fifty cents! Now, we state once for all, that after having been so lenient with those who owe us, this thing WILL NOT DO ANY LONGER! We cannot stand it; our expenses are large; we must live, we must pay our help, and we must pay cash for the enormous amount of stock we are working up, and pay out cash in a hundred ways we cannot mention. This "trusting till the interest eats up the principal" must stop; and if we cannot collect for our work, and our paper, the final result must be evident to all—we are not a gold mine by any means, and beside that we don't propose to work eighteen hours a day the year through just for the "fun" of keeping up a newspaper and printing establishment for those who do not appreciate our efforts, and will not pay nor try to pay for what they get. When it gets so that we cannot pay the debts that we are forced to contract in keeping up the concern, just because we can't get 25 cents on the dollar of what is, and long has been, honestly due us, why, then—"up goes the donkey!" "A word to the wise is sufficient;" and when our collector gets around again, we want the money due, or an adjustment of the account in some form; and hereafter don't order work done unless you need it, and are prepared to pay for it—THEN the TRIBUNE will get "bigger and better" instead of "smaller and worse."

CHIEF JUSTICE.

We rather agree with the Pioneer in its remarks about the Chief Justice hunt: "The diligence with which President Grant has been reading up village directories in search of a name for Chief Justice, has at length met its reward in the discovery of ex-Judge Waite, of Toledo, Ohio. We are not certain but this is a good selection. No one seems to know anything to the contrary; and merit may be presumed when there is no evidence against it. Thus far the candidates suggested have been a succession of surprises; but as they started on the bottom strata to begin with, it is seen that the ascent is regular, even if the gradations are not over striking. Mr. Waite seems to be duly qualified by past experience and education; to be of suitable age; and to have acquired an honorable prominence in public affairs. It is therefore to be hoped that the Senate will act promptly on this confirmation, lest some antiquarian explorer, delving in the rubbish of the past, turns up a newspaper article, or some private letter written say twenty or more years ago, on which he might be arraigned for lack of loyalty, or something of that sort. It is hardly worth while to protract the agony longer. Let us have Waite, by all means. The country is tired of log waiting."

Gov. TAYLOR, of Wisconsin, in his message to the Legislature, sketches the farm, as compared with the monopoly interest, in the following terse language. It is equally true of Minnesota. It is not labor interests that besiege Legislatures and Congress, begging for special favors and unjust laws. Capital and monopoly are ever hanging to the doors of authority seeking for a grab. They demand all the protection, and leave labor, while receiving nothing, to pay all the bills. A radical change is most certainly wanted to equalize things.

The Governor says: "The farming population of our State are far removed from the centers of political power. Their occupation thus far has been wholly individualized. Unlike great moneyed interests, which are organized and cohesive, they are sever found in the lobbies of our Legislatures. They employ no attorneys to infest your presence and to corrupt the fountains of law. They seek no private avenues to the public treasury. They ask no special enactments for the benefit of the few at the expense of the many. They enter into no combinations for the subversion of the principles of mutual justice and equality between man and man. Submissive to the stern decree which compels them to lives of hard but cheerful toil, they trust alone to the fidelity of their sworn representatives. To violate this confidence and permit the work- ingmen of our State to become the prey of the professional sharper and spoilsman of the lobbies, would be not merely a technical violation of our oath of office, but a surrender of every honorable attribute of our manhood."

E. H. BLY, AS A "MILLER."

Mayor E. H. Bly concluded a bargain with Mr. Canfield, President of the Town-site Company, this week, for one of the two splendid millsites at Boom Lake, just below the city. This is characteristic and liberal enterprise on the part of Mr. Bly, and we hope and believe it will prove a lucky strike for him. We learn that he will erect a mill early in the spring, and during the coming year put in a very extensive mill and factory combined. This is one of the most fortunate transactions for Brainerd that has yet been consummated, and is a big stride in the right direction.

The Northern Conference of the Congregational Churches along the N. P. R. R. and vicinity, was in session on Wednesday of this week, at the Congregational church in this place. Owing to religious interest in Duluth, and other places, the attendance was not large, but those who favored us with their presence from Detroit, and elsewhere and at home, unite in saying that both the Conference and the Christian Convention which met at the same place on Thursday, were seasons of great profit and enjoyment. The special topics of interest were those already published in a former edition of this paper. Among those present from abroad were Major Douglass, of White Earth, Rev. Mr. Gates, and Rev. Mr. Webb, of Detroit, and Mr. Fuller, of Wadena. All unite in attesting the heartiness of Brainerd hospitality, and the beauty and quiet of our pleasant winter home among the pines.

PERSONAL.—Our friend, Dr. V. Smith, Mayor of Duluth, spent a day or two in the city this week. Mayor Smith is looking well, and was just down to recreate a little, and to take a few notes in the manner of running a red hot city. Come oftener, Doctor, our latch string is just more than out a rod when "the likes o' yees" come to town.

Mr. Thos. H. Canfield, of New York, and President of the Lake Superior & Puget Sound Company, has been here, and along the line, for the past week. He was accompanied by Col. Geo. W. Sweet, the Attorney for the Company, and their visit has been a strictly business one. Mr. Canfield is straightening up matters and putting the affairs of the Company upon a well trimmed business basis at all the towns along the line, and particularly at Brainerd. He and Col. Sweet, with Mr. Lyman P. White, the resident agent here, were engaged a day or two in "straightening" some things here that were suffering for what they are now likely to get.

BRainerd LITERARY SOCIETY NOTICE.
There will be a meeting of the Society on Tuesday evening, January 27th, FOR MEMBERS ONLY, for the purpose of transacting such business of the Society as may be brought properly before the meeting, and to take some action upon the subject of "What is to be done hereafter, who is to do it, and when it is to be done." Likewise the matter of "boys and dogs" will receive attention, etc. A full attendance is requested. It has been reported that the Society has gone where the woodbine, etc. This is an error; but next Tuesday evening will decide that matter. Brainerd may not have talent enough to be self-sustaining, but we, for one, do not feel like admitting it till we "KNOW FOR SURE."

Yours truly,
W. W. HARTLEY,
Com. on Programme.
P. S.—It is understood that all ladies who wish to attend are members of the Society.
The meeting of the Crow Wing County Bible Society held at Bly's Hall on Wednesday evening, was well attended, and the report from the ladies who made the canvas of the city in behalf of the Bible cause elicited the hearty approval of all present. Short addresses were listened to from the Rev's H. J. Crist, H. N. Gettes, J. S. Wood and E. S. Williams. Considerable interest was manifested in the cause, and an amount contributed to refund to the Parent Society the cost of all donations made by the canvassers. This is well; let us, as a county, sustain our own society independent of any help from the Parent Society, leaving that free to make donations to the more needy.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

Evangelical Church.—Rev. Frank E. Hazzard, Pastor. Services every Sunday at 11:00 A. M. and 7:12 o'clock P. M. Sunday School at 10 o'clock A. M.
Baptist Church.—Services every Sunday at 11 A. M., and 7:12 P. M. Sabbath School at 12 M.
Methodist Church.—Rev. H. J. Carter, Pastor.—Services every Sabbath at 11 o'clock, A. M., and 7:12 P. M. Sabbath School at 3 P. M. Prayer Meeting on every Thursday evening, at 7:12 o'clock.
Congregational Church.—Rev. E. S. Williams, Pastor. Services every Sabbath at 11 o'clock, A. M., and 7:12 P. M. Sabbath School at 2:12 P. M.

We notice that the two bills thus far introduced in the Legislature by our member—one to amend the game law, the other to increase the bounty on wolves and things—have been indefinitely postponed. Thereupon Mr. Laford gave notice that he had still another one, on the same subject, in course of erection. We hope the Legislature will not so ruthlessly blast the hopes of Mr. Laford's constituency in this all important matter about the wolves—for in Crow Wing county we have two sheep, and they must and shall be preserved, at any cost to us for legislation.

Mr. THOMPSON, the artist, has taken a little run down to Fort Ripley for a few days, to duplicate the soldiers there at the muzzle of his camera obscura. To be gone ten days.

If you will dance, or can't see any harm in it, go and hear what will be said on that subject from the pulpit of the Methodist church on next Sunday evening, Jan. 25th.

Best Book For Everybody.—The new illustrated edition of Webster's Dictionary, containing three thousand engravings, is the best book for everybody that the press has produced in the present century, and should be regarded as indispensable to the well regulated home, reading-room, library and place of business.—[Golden Era.

THE SPECIAL ELECTION.—At the special election held in the first and Third Wards on Wednesday last, Mr. J. R. Pegg was elected Alderman from the Third, and Ed. Morse, Esq., from the First Ward. These were to fill the vacancies occasioned by the removal of their respective wards, of H. D. Pettibone and Col. J. S. Styles.

U. S. MARSHAL R. N. McLaren arrived here on his way to St. Paul, from the west, on Wednesday evening last, having under arrest three men (whose names we did not learn) charged with selling whisky to Indians. He got two of them eleven miles from Wadena, the third at New York Mills. They are supposed to be flagrant cases of "Injin whisky."

The Ben Hazen Minstrel Troupe go to Fargo, Hazen, and will exhibit at Pinkham's Hall on next Tuesday night. Let the Dakotians get ready for the event by hoping their "kegs," or they will "bust," sure—for our Brainerd minstrels are the funniest fellows alive. Seriously, however, the Fargoties and Moorheaders may rest assured they will get the worth of their money by giving the boys a rousing reception.

SEMI-ANNUAL PLEASURE.—The gentlemen's corps of General office employees and heads of departments of the N. P. R. R., at this place, have fitted up a beautiful club and reading room in the second story of their fine office building here. They have all the leading journals and magazines of the country, and also a full list of the popular games, and other pastimes, with which they can profitably and pleasantly pass away their leisure hours. They have purchased and set up a handsome billiard table, among the rest, and all in all they possess quite an enviable retreat; it almost makes one wish he were a railroad man. But then they, one and all, being "white headed boys," it does us good to see that they have hit upon, and so successfully carried out a plan whereby they can enjoy themselves during the winter months.

A Wild Rose in September.
O wild rose, what spell has stayed
Thy form in my memory of delight?
When I see a wild rose in bloom
His heart on thine, then autumn night?
O wild rose, two faces glow
A sight of thee, and two hearts share
All thou and thy soft wind can know
Of sunshine in this autumn air.
O sweet wild rose! O strong south wind!
The sunny radiance and no reason
Why we such sweet summer days
Forget and forsake and seasons!
Alas! red rose, thy petals will
Our loving hands lead thee in vain;
Our thoughtless looms seem like a grail;
Ah, could we make thee live again!
Yet joy, wild rose! 'Tis glad, south wind!
In autumnal wind 't is immortal rose!
Ye shall live on in two hearts joined,
With secrets which no words disclose.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.
Pop-corn as Dessert.
I think I need not tell how to pop corn, but it is the best way to have corn-puff, then you can mix with the progress of the corn, and vary the degree of heat as seems necessary. Many imagine that the pop-corn is more tender or brittle if taken from the hot fire and shaken about in the cold air as quickly as possible. Children are apt to get themselves with the pop-corn when they are not in the least need of a meal. Pop-corn is food, and such a crowded condition of the stomach produces discomfort, and so pop-corn is supposed to be unwholesome. It is quite the contrary if eaten as with the regular meal, and properly chewed. Try with milk or apple-sauce, or with any other fruit sauce.

Salt-Rising Bread.
A correspondent of the Household gives the following recipe for making salt rising bread, which is superior to common yeast bread, and is considered by some as more wholesome.
Put three teacups of water, as warm as you can bear your finger in, in a two-quart cup or bowl, and three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt; stir in flour enough to make quite a stiff batter; this is for the risings, or emptying, as some call it. Set the bowl, closely covered, in a kettle, in warm water, as warm as you can bear your finger in, and keep it as near this temperature as possible. Notice the time when your "set" your rising; in three hours stir it back and in five and one-half hours from the time of setting, it will be within one inch of the top of the bowl. It is then light enough, and will make up eight quarts of flour; make a sponge in the center of your flour with one quart of water of the same temperature as the rising, stir the rising into it, and cover with a little dry flour, and put it where it can keep very warm, but not scald; in three-fourths of an hour mix this into stiff dough; if water is used, be sure it is very warm, and do not work as much as yeast bread; make the loaves a little larger, and keep it warm for another three-quarters of an hour; it will then be ready to bake. While rising the last time have your oven heated; it needs a hotter oven than yeast bread. If these rules are followed, you will have bread as white as snow, with a light-brown crust, deliciously sweet and tender.

Winter and Spring Wheat.
The distinction between winter and spring wheat is a difference in the time of sowing and not in the variety. Any spring wheat can be changed into winter or winter into spring, merely by gradually changing the time in which either is sown. By gradually sowing spring wheat earlier every season, in a few years it can be sown in the fall, and become winter wheat. Or just before the close of winter, sow winter wheat, and let it germinate slightly, then let it freeze up till spring, and next year it can be successfully sown in the spring. And it is universally conceded that winter is better than spring wheat, it is natural conclusion that the sooner wheat is sown in the spring the nearer will it be to the quality of winter wheat. The difference between red and white wheats is not in variety, but is owing chiefly to the variety of soil on which it is grown.

It is said that the hard wheats are all natives of warmer climes, such as Italy, Sicily and Barbary. The soft wheats are from more northern climates, such as England, Russia, Belgium, Denmark and Sweden. There is, however, one exception to this general rule, as the celebrated Polish wheat is hard, and for this reason it has been contended that it came from a milder climate. The English atmosphere is so humid that it is impossible to ripen any wheat hard, but in many cases it requires artificial heat to hasten its ripening. Different soils and climates materially change the nature and variety of wheat.

Breeding Swine.
It does not follow that because it is profitable to make the greatest weight of carcass for the butcher at ten months, that it is also profitable to breed from either sex at so early an age. We are aware that some excellent breeders advise that the sow should have her first litter at twelve months; but eight months is too young for the sow to have acquired the proper maturity to be coupled with the boar, and the pigs in many such cases are weak and puny. Nothing is really gained by coupling before the sow is ten to twelve months old. The pigs will be much more valuable under the latter plan.

We believe that too early breeding reduces the number of healthy pigs reared, more than all the gain in time it worth. From several reports we have received from large breeders, four per cent litter is a full average raised from this early breeding, while if the sow is allowed further to mature, six would be the average in breeding upon a large scale. There is no doubt that the attention given to high feeding and early maturing during the few years has rendered the sow fit to breed earlier than formerly, but there is danger of carrying this too far and thus weakening the constitution.

green, or upon nicely cured aftermath of timothy or other fine grass, with her grain.
This is best if not short and mixed in small quantity with the meal and grain. But if none of these coarse foods are at hand, then take bran and a very little oil meal, and mix all into a slop, and feed this. This will keep the bowels of the breeding sow in nearly the same condition as on grass. This latter diet, continued after she has farrowed, will cause a good flow of milk, and not too rich. The same attention should be given to the sow, while suckling pigs, as to a cow from which you desire a good flow of milk—feed her abundantly upon good, nourishing food.—Live Stock Journal.

Useful Hints and Receipts.
GREASE UPON FLOORS.—An Iowa lady writes that grease can be readily drawn from an unpainted kitchen floor by putting plenty of soft-soap on the floor, and rubbing a hot flat-iron through the soap. One application generally suffices; sometimes another is required, washing thoroughly afterwards.

To Keep Onions.—The best way of keeping onions for family use is of old-fashioned one of stringing them. Gather them without breaking off the tops. Take up three or four and string around them to secure them firmly. Add more onions, and tie a string around them, and tie a string around them in a dry place and they will keep any length of time.
How to Take a Pill.—Place it under the tip of the tongue, and take a drink of water. The biggest bolus will go down almost without your knowing it. The taste left in the mouth after taking such bitter medicines as quinine, aloes, nuxvomica, etc., is instantly neutralized by chewing a piece of liquorice root.

Light in the Room for the Sick.
The late physician to the Emperor of Russia, in a careful study of the effect of light as a curative agent in the hospital of St. Petersburg. He discovered that the number of patients who were cured in rooms properly lighted was four times as large as it was when they were confined in dark rooms.

Preventive Wash for Seniors.
Take two drachms of borax, one drachm of Roman alum, one drachm of camphor, half an ounce of sugar candy, one pound of oil of gale. Mix these together, and stir them well for ten minutes; repeat the stirring four times a day for a fortnight, at the end of which time the lotion will appear clear and transparent. Strain through blotting paper and bottle for use. Wash your face with this every time you go into the sunshine.

Hastening the Ripening of Peaches.
One of our Yankee cultivators, as an experiment, removed the earth about an early pear tree eight weeks before the normal period of ripening, for a space of two feet in diameter, and to such an extent as to leave a depth of earth over the roots of only about two inches or so, which could be thoroughly warmed by the sun. He was surprised not only by the ripening of the fruit in the middle of July, but also by its superior juiciness and flavor. In another experiment the removal of the earth from the north side of a tree alone caused the fruit on that side to ripen several days earlier than that on the south side.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

Household Recipes.

BUTTER POT-PIE.—Pour a quart of water into the kettle; put in half a pound of butter, a little salt and pepper; make a crust of butter-milk a little sour cream, and sauteus enough to brown. Roll out and cut into thin biscuits; drop one by one into the boiling gravy and do not remove the cover for half an hour, when it will be done. Keep boiling but not too hard or it will be too heavy.
LEMON CAKE.—One cup butter, three cups sugar, four cups flour, five eggs, one cup thick milk, one teaspoonful of soda, the rind of two lemons. Bake in bread pan.

TRIUMPHANT PALACE.
The Summer Residence of the Kings of France.
Standing on the upper terrace in the rear of the quaint old chateau of Versailles, the traveler is apt to linger unamused with the magnificent panorama that opens out before him. He has a view of the city, a run over the many saloons and galleries of the palace, and his mind is a confused mass of paintings, frescoes, sculptures, rare old gilded furniture and historical relics innumerable. He cannot hope to retain anything but a feeble, fragmentary impression of all these; but the superb landscape that now bursts upon him is a single ravishing picture where the genius of man seems to have made Nature his slave, of the lamp, and he tries to grasp it and fix it indelibly in his memory.

Directly west, straight through the center of the terrace, the eyes are drawn to a long oblong basin bordered with twenty-four magnificent groups in bronze. From the center of each basin rises a fountain of water, and in the center of a basket; a little beyond is the Basin of Lions, presenting five circular tables and galleries, and pyramidally one above the other, surrounded by Latona imploring the vengeance of Jupiter against the Lybians, who had refused to give her water. The prayer is answered, and there is the fountain of Latona, some half a mile from the palace, where frogs, fishes, tortoises, sealed to the edges of the tables, each mouth a fountain throwing water on Latona from every direction. On either side of the pyramid is a column of water thirty feet high, rising into the basin. Beyond this is a long oblong lawn (the Tapis Vert) ornamented with statues; then comes the Basin of Apollo, with a magnificent fountain of tritons, nereids, dolphins and sea-monsters; and then the long arm of the Grand Canal, which in the shape of a cross, each arm about two hundred feet wide. And that is all that I have passed. The story of success in America flows back from every port; and those who remain, having friends who have gone before, are in nearly every case, only to get away themselves.—Correspondence of the Scientific American.

A Maine Quaker.
The Kennebec Journal publishes the following extraordinary story of the change of religion, and heretofore a Maine woman, and experienced by a "Nine years ago the wife of Friend Daniel Pratt, at Davis's Mills, in Vasborough, left her husband's bed and board and removed to New Gloucester, where she became a Quaker. What the cause of her proceeding was kept to herself. She packed up her furniture and quietly left for her new home and associations. For nine long years she lived in her strangely chosen home, in the meantime her domestic habits, her dress, and her manner, all apparently contented and happy, as though nothing unusual had happened. But the strangest part of the sequel. The other day she returned home, and returned to the house of her former husband, and she is cordially received by the neighbors, and she is still faithful to her new religion. He goes more than half-way to meet the returning prodigal wife. The real season having passed, the old gentleman has been laid in his grave, and she is now a Quaker again, and her husband is still a Quaker. The neighbors got together and gave a public reception and supper in honor of the event. And so the aged couple, who have passed the three-quarters of a century, are living together again, contented and happy, and hand in hand they step down the western declivity of life towards the setting sun.

The New Grand Opera House in Paris.
The new Grand Opera House in Paris will be done next July. It was begun in 1861, and three million francs were expended on it every year up to the breaking out of the war, when the Government reduced the allowance to two-thirds; but a large loan has been contracted, and the structure has been completed. It is a masterpiece of architecture, and is now the scene of the most brilliant and costly entertainments. One of its novelties is a vast rotunda in the basement, into which carriages may be driven to deliver and receive passengers. There is also an immense hall, capable of holding five thousand persons, which an elevator runs to the various galleries. The grand staircase is a marvel of colored marble and bronze, and the ceilings are being painted by the most noted French artists; each box has a private saloon, and there is a single plate mirror in each of the boxes thirty feet by twenty, and the ladies' dressing-rooms, to which all subscribers have the right of admission. The auditorium is lighted with over eight thousand gas jets. Experiments have been made with the lights reflected from the ceiling, and the result is satisfactory, the result being bright, ghostly, and destructive to toilette effect.

VINEGAR BITTERS.—Dr. J. WALKER, a regular practicing physician of California, has prepared a priceless boon upon the human system, by the introduction of "Bitters" made from herbs exclusively, which may be used for all ailments, and is being prepared in the most perfect manner, and on account of its immense sale and universal popularity. Not only are these VINEGAR BITTERS, as he calls them, but they are acknowledged as a standard medicine, and the astonishing rapidity with which they cure diseases hitherto declared incurable, seems almost incredible. After having been carefully tested, they are kept on hand in thousands of households, and used by every family, in preference to the most celebrated physicians. They have become a recognized "Family Remedy," and properly so.—Com.

A GAWKY SAW, for the first time, a school-girl going through some of the gymnastic exercises for the amusement of the little ones at home. After grasping at her with looks of interest and commiseration for a while, he asked a question near by "If that gal had five!" "No," replied the school-girl, "she has only four!" "What's the matter?" "She's a gawky!" "How low has she had?" "No."

The old church of Longwood, Mass., has held Thanksgiving more than a hundred years, it first having responded to the Governor's proclamation in 1787, and the gallery for the choir is the same as when the singers took their key-note from the ancient chorister's pick-pipe.

A Very Valuable Work.
"History of the Grange Movement; or the Farmer's War against Monopolies." Edited by a full and complete account of the struggles of the American Farmers against the extortion of the Railroad Companies. With a History of the Blue and Progress of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry. Published by the National Publishing Co., of Chicago.

The most remarkable and powerful movement of the present day is, unquestionably, the War which the Farmers are waging against the Monopolies of all kinds that have for so long been robbing the people and oppressing the soil. The work begins with the causes which have aroused the American people against the Monopolies, and traces its growth, actual condition and progress. It then shows how this noble system has been shown to further the ends of selfish capitalists and railroad directors, who seek gain at the expense of the community; and are given a terrible and thrilling account of the crimes and frauds of the railroad corporations of to-day. The author traces the history of the Grange, and points out the evils which this selfish greed has entailed upon us. He shows how the great corporations have been able to control the whole country; how they have robbed the nation, and corrupted our Congress, State Legislatures, and Courts of Justice.

Passing from Monopolies and their outrages, the author expounds the causes of the wronged and oppressed farmers, and gives us a detailed statement of the evils from which the farming class is suffering. He analyzes skillfully the causes of these evils, and shows how and by whom the farmers are robbed. A considerable portion of the Order is devoted to a history of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry. A complete account of the organization and object of the order is given; its laws and mode of procedure are stated; and the cause of the farmer is explained. It is decidedly one of the most interesting and useful volumes of the day. It comes at a time when the whole country is suffering intensely from the effects of the evils it denounces, cannot fail to have a tremendous sale. It is an ably written work, and a bold and vigorous plea in behalf of the farmer, and against the oppressors and robbers by the grasping Monopolies which are causing so much trouble.

The book is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents in every county. See advertisement in another column.

REV. SAMUEL INGHAM.
We clip the following notice of the Rev. Samuel Ingham from "The Boston Herald":
"Like at the State Agency, Nebraska, Dec. 27, 1873, the Rev. Samuel Ingham, of the Dakota Mission of America, Board."
"Mr. Ingham was born at Middlefield, Mass., and at the time of his death was 39 years and 2 months old. He was educated for a teacher, and served in his profession with credit, teaching two years at Norfolk, Conn. While there, his evident fitness for the work of the Gospel ministry led his friends to induce him to enter upon the study of Theology. This he did at Hartford Theological Seminary. He was in the Congregational ministry five years, serving the churches at Andover, Conn., Glenwood, Mo., and Brainerd, Minn. His voice failing, in the spring of 1873 he resigned his pastoral charge, and during the past summer was engaged in superintending the Government transportation trains from that place to one of the Chippewa Agencies. In the fall he removed with his family to the Santee Agency, Neb., to work as Steward in the Dakota Mission of the Am. Board. It was confidently expected that the change from the pine region of Minnesota to the dry air of Nebraska would speedily restore his voice and general health. But instead, he speedily grew worse. His disease, it is now evident, was much more serious and died seated than any of his physicians had thought, akin to a cancerous affection of the stomach, and of which his throat difficulty was but incidental. Notwithstanding the aggravating nature of his disease, he was very patient, and several weeks before his departure, though he was not expecting to go, his mind rested in continued confidence in the Lord."

DEATH OF SIAMESE TWINS.
New York, Jan. 20.—A special from Richmond makes the announcement of the sudden death of the celebrated Siamese twins, Saturday morning, the 17th inst., at their residence at Mount Viny, Surry county, North Carolina. Chang was partially paralyzed last fall, since which time he has been feeble, very much debilitated, and strongly addicted to drinking liquors as a means of alleviating his sufferings. He had been quite feeble for several days, so much so as to confine the brothers to bed. Friday night Chang became worse and expired suddenly about 4 o'clock Saturday morning. Eng became so terribly shocked that he raved wildly for a while. This attack was followed by what seemed to be a deadly stupor, and in two hours, it is supposed, from the death of Chang, Eng breathed his last. The wives and families of the twins are in the deepest grief—the children, many of whom are deaf mutes, expressed their sorrow in the most pitiful manner.

A. MAHLUM, Esq., has also been appointed Deputy Sheriff and Turkey, under Sheriff A. F. McKay.

EDUCATION IN ELKTON.—Class in natural history stands up!
How many kinds of females of the human family are there? Three. Correct.
How are they divided? Into three classes—torrid, temperate and frigid.
What are the characteristics of the torrid females? Warm hearts, great souls, grand natures, numerous indiscretions.
What of the temperate? Good management, worldliness, fruitfulness, respectability.
What are the prominent points of the frigid female? Angularities, stiff necks, straight backs and great virtuousness, by means of "squelching" all naturalities. They seldom marry, and if they do, breed slaves.
Very well. Take your seats; and when next you come up, bring an original essay on the frigid female.

The "Davis"
VERTICAL FEED-SHUTTLE
SEWING MACHINE!
Is, beyond question, more perfect for all kinds of work than any other machine in use; a combination of simplicity, durability and economy, manufactured of the VERY BEST IMPORTED STEEL, and composed of only TWELVE strong working parts, while other machines have from thirty to forty.
THE VERTICAL FEED BAR.
Involves a NEW FEATURE in Sewing Machines, possessing one of the most valuable working principles ever patented; its operation is positive, enabling it to run over seams and turn corners without changing the tension, length of stitch or stopping the motion of the machine.
The feed of all ratchet or four-motion and wheel feed machines is taken when the needle is up; while the "DAVIS" differs from all these in that the VERTICAL FEED BAR is close to and in rear of the needle, the feed taking place while the NEEDLE IS BEING DOWN THROUGH THE CLOTH, MOVES AT THE SAME TIME, enabling the sewing of ANY NUMBER OF THICKNESS OF ANY LENGTH WITHOUT BASTING; entirely preventing the fulling and puckering of one piece, while the other remains straight; and, at the same time, in a practical manner, will do what no other machine can, to-wit:
Take all the Stretch from the Goods!
The "DAVIS" has the most complete attachments ever applied to a Sewing Machine. It will hem, making a wide or narrow hem, without guiding or holding your work in the least. Every machine is furnished with a self-sewer, a new invention which obviates the necessity of basting or holding your work while sewing. It will braid in the finest book muslin, without puckering the work, as well as heavy cloth. It will bind in the most perfect manner, without either holding the goods or the binding. The attachment for gathering is something new, and excels all others, as it gathers a single piece of cloth or between two plain pieces, or on a single band.
It Will Cord, Tuck, Hem-Stitch, Fell, Gather,
And do any kind of work done by a Sewing Machine, with less changing or adjusting than any machine ever before presented to the public. It will run from the finest lace and muslin to several thicknesses of heavy leather, without changing the tension, with the same needle and thread, and make the same stitch.
EVERY MACHINE WARRANTED.
THE PUBLIC ARE INVITED TO CALL AND SEE THEM.
