Bly's Hall.
 THIS SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 11.
"Cush" Davis
 Will lecture for the benefit of the destitute settlers on the south-western frontier of Minnesota.
 ADMISSION, 25 CENTS.

ENTERTAINMENT.
 We learn that a number of the ladies of Brainerd will give a Coffee and Ice Cream Festival and Concert on Tuesday evening next. There will be songs, instrumental music, communion, readings, recitations, and a dramatic charade. It is intended to be a select party, as invitations will be circulated by the committee on invitation. A pleasant time may be expected.

A NEW YORK COLONY.—We learn that a gentleman from New York State has been negotiating with the Land Department N. P. R. R. here this week for from twenty to forty sections of land on the line of the Northern Pacific for the accommodation of a colony of farmers from that State. Although we have got millions of acres of earth's choicest lands here and the Missouri, yet five years hence, with the way immigration is to come in this season as a guide to guess from, this whole vast wealth of country will be densely peopled. Come on, ye longing thousands who want rich land, good climate and health, for we have it in profusion, just waiting for you.

LECTURE.
HON. C. K. DAVIS will positively be in Brainerd and Lecture at Bly's Hall this (Saturday) evening, April 11, 1874. We hope the Governor will have a rousing house to greet him, and thus show their appreciation of our talented young Governor, as well as by their contributions help to relieve the destitute citizens of our State where crops have been destroyed. Admission only 25 cents.

The city election on Tuesday last passed off very quietly in Brainerd, although there was hot work between the contestants. The ticket headed by Mr. Lyman P. White was successful, (with but one exception, Dr. J. T.
 Burns, from the other ticket, was elected City Justice in the 2d Ward.) Mr. White receiving 97 majority for Mayor, over Mr. Newport; the other candidates' majorities varied from 70 upwards, we believe. Both tickets were composed of good men for the positions they sought, with but very few exceptions; the ticket elected is a good one, and our city can claim to be as well officered, probably, as any in the New Northwest—officers whom we believe will do their duty, and govern the city, to the best of their ability, for the city's good. We con-dole with our friends who were defeated in sincerity; because we know how it is ourself, live in hopes, gentlemen, you may have better luck next time. The complete list of our present City officers is as follows: Mayor—Lyman P. White.
 Recorder—Frank X. Goulet.
 Treasurer—Thos. P. Cantwell.

FIRST WARD.
 Aldermen—N. Gravelle, Ed. Morse, Justice—David Stewart.
SECOND WARD.
 Aldermen—Milt Askew, Henry Dressen.
 Justice—Dr. J. T. Burns.
THIRD WARD.
 Aldermen—J. E. Turner, J. R. Pegg, Justice—L. B. Perry.

"GOING BACK."
 The L. S. & M. Railroad is supposed, now, among the very best professional guessers, to be going back very soon into the hands of the orig— that is, there is a rumor afloat to the effect that the thing has taken a positive turn now, and the matter about the Lake Superior and Mississippi Division of the Northern Pacific Railroad—the great trans-continental iron belt from Lake to Ocean—"going back," has assumed a tangible form, and that no doubt can now be reasonably entertained that it will very soon revert to its original owners. "Going back," many believe such a result would unquestionably cause the building of the "Brainerd Branch," or else it wouldn't, one or the other.

The Brainerd TRIBUNE of last week, in quoting a conversation with the Rev. P. W. How, of Leech Lake, (the teacher of whom we spoke a few weeks since in connection with the Indian scare at that point), says:
 "We talked about—the declination of the Fort Ripley military authorities to respond to a call for aid from the whites at Leech Lake recently." "Mirabile dictu! Would it surprise the gentleman to know that no paper lies with the "Fort Ripley military authorities" either to grant or refuse any such "call for aid"?
 The Commanding General of a military "Department" is the least officer who can order troops on any such duty.—(Fort Ripley Correspondence Saak Rapids Sentinel.)

Well, that may be military law, and if so, the commander at Fort Ripley does just exactly his duty in obeying it; but if it is law, we'll bet a "blind robin" that it is a d— poor one for all kinds of cases in a "new country." Red tape and military precision is a fine thing down around New York and Philadelphia, but to fight or quell Indians on the frontier we don't go on a "q't."

A BUNCH.—Last week the fates seemed to be in open rebellion in the "shop" over which we preside. A good deal of the reading matter, (including the County Financial Statement,) was set in some splendid(?) new nonpareil type, which we had just got into the office from the foundry, as well as a complete Masonic By-laws in the job department. That was very lovely, and we calculated to have a little the nicest "Statement," etc., and "By-laws," imaginable. But when we came to work it, lo, we found the type to have been cast so wretchedly imperfect that we could not work it so that it could be read by even the "most gentlemanly reader we ever saw." Upon finding this out, when it was too late to help it, we got the nervous rattles, and did not get over it for several days. In the mean time several bunglesome errors "took place" in the paper, and as job work all caused by the "nervous shock"; we are now somewhat calmer, though, and have been re-setting the By-laws in other type, as well as many other things. If we get the Tribune out this week so that it can be understood at all, we shall feel very thankful. If it is another batch, just make the best of it and charge imperfections up to bad type and a still not very sweet temper.

The Brainerd Tribune proposes that the editors along the line of the Northern Pacific meet at Brainerd May 4th in a kind of "convention assembled." Make it the 18th and we are in for it.—[Duluth Minnesotan.] All right, let the "boys" fix the time to suit themselves. Only we want it understood that every morning ON THE LINE must be here. Let us have no half-way love feasts. Our N. P. editors never have been together, and for many reasons it is desirable that ALL should meet—after getting through this far in the history of the New Northwest—and compare notes, past, present and future—and "divy" up. We rather suspicion that the State Editorial Association, the way the thing is run, is a good deal of a "fraud," hence, we go in for reducing the thing to "clans"—ours to be styled the "Northern Pacific Editorial Clan," to meet just as often as its members see fit, talk about whatever seems natural, have just as much fun as they want to, "pay their way," and ask no odds of anybody. So fix the time and every one be here on the train that day, if it takes a leg "Tom," don't you bring any of that Duluth "Limberger" with you, or we shall emigrate.

THE SCHOOL EXHIBITION.—The closing exercises of the winter term of Miss Addie Simons' school, on Tuesday evening last, was a surprising success to even those who expected most. Unfortunately for us, being a little late, we were unable to get into the hall, so closely was it packed; but, with many others, we got into the doorway, where, by stretching our neck to the full extent of its mileage, we saw a good deal of the performance, and heard the balance. We cannot go into the extended report of the affair that we would like to, or that the exhibition deserved. The large audience, composed of great and small, young and old, were delighted with every presentation, and the scholars of the school rendered all their various parts in a manner that well deserved the hearty applause accorded them. Declarations, dialogues, sweet songs, and dear knows what all were brought out in rapid succession, and for nearly two hours the hall was an intensely happy scene. Our juvenile and youthful community can certainly turn out as great a proportion of talent as any of the older ones below, and on this occasion the scholars, too, gave evidence of careful training on the part of their excellent teacher, Miss Simons; who deserves many thanks for the fine intellectual treat given to our people on this occasion.

HORSES FOR SALE.—Good horses for farming or road purposes. A splendid chance for any person wanting a good horse. Leon Houde, of Little Falls, Morrison county, has seven fine breed mares, which he wishes to dispose of for cash, or on short time with good security. Any person in want of a fine horse should give him a call at once.

Our friend, J. R. Steel, Esq., who has for so long been the popular landlord of Mrs. Chapman's Merchants Hotel, has retired therefrom, and returned to his home near Little Falls.
 "Dick" had many friends in Brainerd, who will wish him well, as a farmer, and when he gets settled down to be a Granger, (and gets that little wife that old Mother Rumor is reporting around,) he must come up visiting occasionally to Brainerd and bring us a bushel of his best pumpkin.

COL. LOUNSBERRY, editor of the Bismark TRIBUNE, passed west a day or two since, after a winter's absence in Minneapolis. He goes now to whoop up his frontier newspaper again, bigger and redder than ever, and to stay right with it in the future. Bismark will soon be the capital of the new Dakota, and then the Colonel will laugh and grow fatter.
DR. J. C. McCABLAND, (Licentiate of Dental Surgery,) will be at the Leland House, Brainerd, April 16th, and remain four or five days, when he will be happy to wait upon those who require his aid in any of the branches of his profession. Teeth inserted in a superior manner, from a single tooth to a complete set. Teeth filled so as to preserve them from further decay.
 Teeth extracted with the least possible pain. Particular attention given to the regulation of children's teeth.
 Residence—Duluth, Minn. 9-2w Ease at Walters' for 10c. a dozen.

Evkanyvody did keep sober last Sunday, and nobody got drunk Monday, either.
 A SCARF snow, accompanied by a northern zephyr, visited us on Tuesday last.
 ELDER LATHROP delivered an interesting temperance lecture, on Friday night of last week, at Bly's Hall. A large audience was present.
 THE saloon keepers of Brainerd have

The Plymouth Church Scandal.

The Congregational Court for the investigation of the Plymouth Church scandal is in session, and promises to sift the affair effectually.

There was a full attendance of the delegates at the several meetings, and a strong desire among them to dispose of the business before the church.

Mr. Tilton has addressed a letter to the Council giving an explanation of the difficulty between himself and Beecher; but the Council refused to receive the letter, which is as follows:

First—In 1850 I became a member of Plymouth Church. In 1859 I terminated my connection with that church by the withdrawal of my name from the roll, which was finally effected in 1861.

Second—Four years after I had thus terminated my connection with Plymouth Church, I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Third—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Fourth—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Fifth—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Sixth—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Seventh—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Eighth—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Ninth—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Tenth—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Eleventh—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Twelfth—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

Thirteenth—In 1873 I was elected to a membership of that body with having circulated and promoted a scandalous and untrue report of the pastor.

The East.

A NUMBER of gentlemen, really and zealously in earnest in an effort to restore the practice of burning the dead instead of burying them, have called a meeting to be held at New York in a short time.

How. Wm. O'CONNOR, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, has called for a meeting of the directors of that company.

The works of the Pacific Manufacturing Company in Southborough, Conn., were burned on March 1. One of the buildings was occupied as a depot of the New Haven and Northampton Railroad.

A fire, originating in underbrush near Bristol, on the South Side Railroad, Long Island, swept through the timber seven miles to Farmingdale, destroying cordwood, fences, and cattle, valued at $150,000.

The eastern extension of the Allegheny Valley Railroad is completed, connecting the Allegheny road with the Philadelphia and Erie.

Information from Red Cloud Agency, dated 21st inst., says the lodges here each day, Red Cloud has been one. One hundred and fifty beaver are now issued where three hundred and fifty were heretofore.

Mrs. RANDALL's late fight with the Apaches resulted in eleven killed and thirty-four captured. They say that shortly after the Apaches outbreak the Apaches had a fight among themselves, in which four were killed.

The temperance movement was inaugurated as follows, according to the Chicago Tribune correspondent: The Lewis distillery owned by...

The Old Bachelor.

HEARD him in his chair, seated on the edge of the sofa, his eyes fixed on the ceiling, and his thoughts as far away as...

Listening to the ill-bred man, I hardly noticed a party of young girls who had entered at the rear door, or two dreadfully bridled brides who had likewise claimed their places.

My English beauty, utterly disgusted with the old-bachelor, asked for a plain vision section during the day, and he became so delightfully confidential in ten minutes that I learned she was from Nova Scotia; that this was the eleventh day of her journey, and that her destination was Sacramento; while the merry-faced, handsome young man who abhorred her, was such supreme nonchalance as to be a mere nothing.

Man, I heard from the rear sections peals of merrily laughter; the aforesaid infants gave up on peals of dreadful yells, and we took diabolical peeps in the tall-tale mirrors to watch the spooning of the brides.

Romance of the Rail.

Among the pleasant things in an itinerant-Bohemian life I count the perpetual meeting at most unexpected places of people whom you have known before in widely different localities.

An hour ago my friend and I started for a stroll on this matchless Galveston beach. All the afternoon we had sat on the upper gallery, watching the long, low surf-crosts that creep so slowly and surely landward; all the afternoon we had listened, in the pauses of our light chattering, to the ceaseless refrain which those same white-capped waves were chanting, till the beauty of the scene and the siren song tempted us down to the shore.

Oh, it was lovely sauntering thither over the cleaner-planted walks, breathing their rich, exquisite perfume, and gathering handfuls of the pink blossoms. A few carriages had come for the regular sunset drive; some German women were gathering shells; a few children, with bare, dimpled feet, were wading out into the coming waves, to run back with screams of laughter when some swifter billow washed over their heads; and over the whole picture there rested the mellow glow reflected from the crimson west.

The occupants of the carriages raised their eyebrows in polite amazement as they rolled passed up, for a pleasure walk was beyond their comprehension; and the actions of the friends, who were always known northward visitors because they loved to wander a pied and Texas never do.

"I'm sure they regard me as madly insane for my long walks; but, see, this time we have companions in our pair who were standing a little distance beyond."

"Evidently a bride and groom," I asserted, for "both were young, and one was fair," and there were the usual unmistakable symptoms of a recent ownership quite apparent in the air of the young man, who just then folded the lady's wrap around his friend, and caught her fluttering veil till she had fastened it securely; and in the act she turned her face toward us, starting me with its familiar look.

"Isn't she beautiful?" said my friend. I answered her absently, since I was hunting every nook and corner of my memory for the counterparty of the girl who greeted me. I was sure I had known her—but where?

An impertinent wavo came hurrying up the beach, and in a moment the bride's dainty boots would have suffered, but Milord clasped her swiftly, and raising her ran back a few steps, coming close to us. I knew her; she was the happy pair, but I went soberly towards them, only quietly saying:

"So this is what came of that journey?" "By Jove!" ejaculated my hero in round English tones, seizing both my hands in a crushing grip. "You crushed them, while the bride blushed, laughed, and added her graceful greeting. Wasn't it an odd encounter? I last saw those young people at Chyenne, in September, 1873; now they met me strolling on the shore of the Gulf, and my friend asserted that we had picked up something better than the usual time, for she demanded the story as it unfolded, and I will tell it to you just as I told it to her."

On Friday, September 12, 1873—I like to be accurate—the San Francisco train stood on the track at Omaha waiting the arrival, from the opposite side of the Missouri, of eastern passengers. There were four Pullman cars attached; three were already filled, or engaged by telegram, and the officials in charge were grumbling because "Boss Tweed" and his party occupied the entire sections. The "Boss" stayed closely in his compartment, for Nast had made his face so perfectly familiar to every one that he encountered more staring than he liked. His daughter, a stately, dignified lady, waited the start with evident impatience, while the young gentlemen—his sons and their friends—stood in a group on the platform, smoking, apparently enjoying the curious looks which were naturally leveled at them. They were bound for the Yosemite, and I have always marvelled that, when once so far away from Gotham, the "Boss" didn't know enough to sail for Hong Kong and stay there; but that "marvel" is not essential to my story.

We were picking away at Innoches, setting California grapes, and doing the hundred listless things one always does while merely "waiting" till the scream of the approaching "transfer train" sounded shrilly out, and we looked with interest at the passengers. Some of them deserved our regards, others did not; but we watched them all, mentally summing up each particular case, and with a certain amount of interest, or else resolving to win their friendship.

The first group comprised a man, his wife, and two children, and a young girl, his wife, inefficient, washed-out looking woman, a strong-minded nurse, and two children, destined to be our tormentors. Next came a widow and her daughter;

A Visit to Garibaldi.

An Indian correspondent of the News Froie Press, writing on the 19th ult., says that during the proceeding week a caravan of ninety-five Englishmen arrived at Capra to pay a visit to Garibaldi.

The General was ill, and only received two gentlemen of the company, to whom he expressed his thanks for the sympathy they had shown, and was attended by them. The correspondent added that before Garibaldi came to Capra it rarely happened that a ship touched at the island, while during the past three years no fewer than 150 steamer vessels have stopped there. Four Neapolitan vessels have been named after the General, and since 1871 he has been presented, chiefly by Americans, with agricultural implements of the value of from 14,000 to 16,000 lire.

He has also received other presents, consisting of money, jewelry, etc., to the value of about 1,000,000 lire, but he has returned them all to the senders. Garibaldi is honorary citizen of ninety towns, villages and districts, and honorary President of 120 societies; he has twenty-one swords of honor, eleven of which have been sent him from abroad, and since 1871 he has received upward of 5,000 addresses of sympathy from various quarters. The island of Capra brings in to the General a net income of about 3,000 lire.

A story, told by M. Legouve, a certain matinee litteraire in Paris, of a solecism committed by Scribe, the dramatic author, is calculated at the present juncture to hold an interest among Americans, with agricultural implements of the value of from 14,000 to 16,000 lire.

Why a Child Loves Sugar.

The craving of children for sweets is well known to be one of the most peculiar of their appetites. It has reference probably to that ceaseless activity which especially characterizes the age of childhood. It may be that sugar performs in their systems the part ordinarily ascribed to the blood.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean, by far the ablest advocate of an expansion of the currency, is greatly and very properly rejoiced over the passage of the Sherman bill, as expressed in the following paragraph:

This action of the Senate, so long delayed, and so eagerly implored by the masses of the people, will reassure the country. Every industry will feel and respond to the grateful stimulus; the hand of labor will again be employed, and the acute suffering of the merchant and manufacturer, which has marked the paralysis pressing so heavily upon commerce will be stayed. Let the people everywhere rejoice and give thanks that the highest legislative body in the land has once more asserted its representative character, in faithful response to the manifest decree of popular opinion.

LIVELY LETTER FROM GEN'L SHERMAN.

General Sherman has recently written the following letter to the agent of a farm who applied to him for the contract to place lightning rods upon the fine mansion which, it was rumored, he intended to build upon Orange Mountain, N. J.:

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20, 1874.

If you find the house I am erecting on Orange Mountain, please put any quantity of lightning rods, to attract the lightning of heaven to demolish it. I don't care whether the rods be round, square, or twisted. Anything to stop this nonsense. Architects, landscape gardeners, builders, &c., keep writing to me about this house, when, in fact, it is as much as I can do to make ends meet here—and finally I expect to content myself with a log home on the prairies of Kansas or Nebraska when Congress turns me out to grass. Tell Mr. Lyon, "who served under me three years" that his experience as a soldier should convince him that Uncle Sam is not so generous to old soldiers as to enable them to have fancy houses on Orange Mountain or elsewhere. I have a house here, but the city taxes me for it about as much as Uncle Sam allows me for rent. How the story got circulated that I was going to build on Orange Mountain passes my understanding, and if you can stop it I will regard it as a feat better than protecting me against lightning.

Yours &c.,
W. T. SHERMAN.
