Our Park.

At last we are happy to be able to announce that our public park, in front of the Headquarters Hotel, is to be brought into full fledged existence by the Railroad company, and work has already begun. It will be a block in length, and occupy all that space lying between the railroad track and Front Street and a most beautiful place it can be made, too.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of a call from L. Ed. Davison, Esq., on Tuesday, representing that first class establishment, the Minneapolis Tribune. Mr. D. was on a little business tour over the road, and though times for money are fearfully tight, he was quite successful.

Hon. C. H. Graves, and Auditor Frank Burke, of Duluth, spent a day in the city this week. These gentlemen wear their renewed honors gracefully.

B. F. HANTLEY, Esq., who has been very sick at Leech Lake, of typhoid fever, is now in Brainerd, and is convalescing gradually, though he gives evidence of having had a rough time of it. We trust he may soon be good as new.

Hon. Loren Fletcher, of the city of Minneapolis, favored us with a brief visit this week. Mr. F. was up in this neck of woods looking after his lumbering interests in the vicinity of Gull Lake.

A Word More Concerning the Political Situation.

The causes leading to the unusual political reverses at the late election are variously stated by our exchanges, and the effect, too, is considered all the way from immensely glorious down to the warning cry that the country, and everybody in it, is now tottering on the verge of destruction.

TOM SHELLE'S LECTURE.

TO BE DELIVERED BEFORE THE BRAINERD LITERARY SOCIETY, JAN. 1st, 1875. Ladies and Gentlemen: I need not say that I am surprised to see such a goodly number of people in front of me this evening, because I am not surprised in the least.

AN ELECTION STORY WITH A MORAL.

THE TALE OF A DEFEATED CANDIDATE—HIS ADVENTURES AND EXPERIENCES FROM THE DAY HE WAS NOMINATED UNTIL THE VOTES WERE COUNTED. From the Detroit Free Press. John Cain was a quiet, unobtrusive citizen. He didn't long for fame and renown, and he didn't care two cents whether this great and glorious country was ruled by a one-horse Republican or a two-horse Democrat.

let until it was fat as a wafer, drink lager with some, and cold water with others, and when night came he went home and tried to hug the hired girl, called Mrs. Cain his dear old rhinoceros, and fell over the cradle and went to sleep with his head under the stove.

Westward.—Mr. Thos. Van Etten, of Bismarck, who with his family has been on a visit to Sank Rapids and St. Paul, for a few weeks, passed through Brainerd on Thursday, on his return home.

Returned.—Our friend, Charley Comstock, got back home to Brainerd a few days ago, from a summer's trip in connection with the Boundary survey from Pembina to the Rocky Mountains and back.

Local Items of the red-hot, important, thrilling, or startling order are extremely thin now-a-days, in fact; and if we should assert that a gold mine had been struck in this vicinity, nobody would believe it; if we stated that a case of domestic infelicity was "on," wherein the parties interested were preparing "statements," it would be too "old," so, as we can't grind out anything of importance, and be truthful about it, why we are not going to get right down to lying out of whole cloth, unless we can see some show of making somebody believe it; but if our readers will promise to "take in" any item we write up, for a fact, we can furnish them locals that will make their hair stand.

When Mr. Cain arose in the morning and became sober enough to read the election returns he found he had scooped 'em as follows: Opposing candidate..... 26,420 John Cain..... 31,380 Cain's majority (in a horn).... 5,040

Mr. Cain went out and sat down under an apple tree in his back yard, and he gave himself up to reflections and so forth. Through the leafless branches sighed the November winds, and in the house sighed Mrs. Cain, and both sighs murmured gently in his ear. "John Cain's a perpendicular idiot."
