FURTHER INDUCEMENTS TO THE BAPTIST COLLEGE.

There are many things essential to a judicial choice of a location for a College Institute which have again and again been overlooked, or, for pecuniary reasons, at the time of its founding, quite ignored by those who have had this responsible task to perform; and, as a consequence, the institution has forever been dwarfed, not only in the educational, moral and religious influence exerted by it, but also in the power of sustaining itself when once established.

That nature has done much to make this a grand location for a college, none can deny. But there are other magnificent inducements offered in addition to the grand display of natural altitudes which are designed to call into lively exercise both the faculties of the youthful mind, and all parts of the physical frame, and by these means are fully adapted to produce that symmetrical development of both body and mind which is becoming so rare in these modern times.

What a world of good could be done here by theological students! what a vast field almost destitute of the Gospel! And then, a college may not only be built here for less money than at many other places in the State, but it may also be sustained for less, owing to the proximity of abundance of timber, and to the cheapness of staple articles of food.

Moreover, the L. S. & P. S. Company will give four blocks of land just in the rear of Gregory Square, which contains four blocks more. The college may be built upon the former block of land facing the Square on the south, which, being fenced, nicely intersected by ever airy walks, and set out with shrubbery and flowers, will make a beautiful front ground, while in the rear of the main building, ample room will be left for gymnasiums and playgrounds. $30,000 will not purchase such a site in any other city of this State!

Students would, only have to cross the Square to enter any of the four churches. A nice path, now winding down to the river, twenty rods to the west, may yet lead to college boats, in summer, and to the skating rink in winter. And the citizens, seeing at a glance the great benefits to be derived from such an institution, will give a handsome sum ($2,000) to aid in its erection.

A FAREWELL INCIDENT. John Davidson, so long and favorably known on the Northern Pacific Railroad, for a time, as Cashier and Paymaster, and for the past year as chief accountant in the office of the Land Department in this city, has been advanced to the more prominent position of agent, in charge of the Company's interest at Bismarck, and left Monday evening with General Mead to enter upon the duties of his new position.

We have learned of a little incident worthy of mention, as showing the kindly feeling existing between himself and the employees of the Land Department. The gentlemen of the office were passing an evening with Mr. Davidson—in fact a farewell gathering—and at its close, as they were preparing to leave, Mr. Power, the General Agent of the Department, stepping up to him, says: "Mr. Davidson, it has become a fixed rule in our Department to make to any of its employees who, for any cause have to leave, a little speech; this duty has been delegated to me. I am not a speaker and therefore will hand you this token of remembrance, which in better language than mine tells you of pleasant associations, kindly feelings, regret that you are to leave us, at the same time carrying with it the best of wishes for your future success and happiness, knowing that in days to come the memory of friendship formed by our pleasant connections, will abide forever, wherever or whatever our future may be."

Mr. Davidson was taken completely by surprise, but replied by saying: "This is certainly an unexpected pleasure, and as a proof that there is or ever was aught but the best of good fellowship among us, 'entirely unnecessary.' The uniform courtesy and kindness that is a marked and pleasing feature among all who have any connections with the gentlemen of the Land Department, has day by day expressed your true feelings, and I say that could possibly be expressed in any other way. I accept your gift, thank you for it, and shall cherish it. I can but add that it is with regret that I leave you, knowing that no position can be more pleasant, or more congenial to my feelings and tastes; wishing also to say that my connection with your office has been a valuable one to me, not only on account of forming the acquaintance and acquiring the friendship of true men, but also in learning to a degree never before fully appreciated, the advantage of a complete, simple, and yet comprehensive system; for I never was before connected with an office, where such a harmonious and happy action as in that of the Land Department here. Wherever my future lot may be, my year with the Land Department of the N. P. & C. Co. will always be remembered as one of the green spots of my life."

The token of remembrance was a beautiful pipe, and, as known, our friend Davidson will never let the fire of friendship go out, or the ashes of kindly feeling toward the donors grow cold.

We understand Vanderbilt is worth $60,000,000; he commended his wife with a stick. We have no stick, but have concluded to fall out of his "stick," which we trust will be about the same as a whip.

Wm. Denley, the popular dealer at N. P. Junction, is an enterprising man, as well as popular. Since he was burned out, he has built a fine store building, about 24x50 feet, and finished it up inside and out in elegant style, and has it crammed full of all kinds of goods. He has also just added a warehouse addition, and is putting up a new residence near his store. Dunlap deserves success for his energy—and he will realize success.

Humorists in Iowa.—On Wednesday, some six or eight soldiers passed east on their way to Still water, under guard, and heavily laden with arms and accoutrements. They came from Fort Totten, and their punishment was for desertion, theft, etc. The poor fellows looked wretched enough, and their very countenances seemed to reflect the physical atrocities of the war.

DULUTH.

As intimated in another article, we looked in upon Duluth this week. We found the city, which is perched upon the head of Superior, all there, and its people as cordial in manner, and hospitable, as when we last saw them. The item of dollars and cents we found had been somewhat scarce—previous to our arrival, and during the winter—like in all other localities, and business comparatively asleep, but dreaming of the arrival of both abundant trade and money as soon as the ice goes out.

The lake is yet an icy desert, as far as the eye can reach; we were so fortunate, however, as to meet the "oldest inhabitant," in our rambles, and he told us he guaranteed a reasonably early opening of the lake this year, or no sail.

"Why should the spirit of mortal be proud?" When we were last in Duluth, everybody was full of business and wealth, and though generous, courteous and kind, were proud as a peacock on dress parade; knowing that Duluth, as well as other cities, had undergone a fearful ordeal incident to the stringent times, we expected to find every inhabitant all run to under-lip, humiliated in their address, and as fine a set of awarers as one could meet in a day's walk.

But no; they were, much the same as ever, only more so. They wear standing collars yet, black their boots, and eat three times a day, and just say that Duluth is the Zenith, and be d—d to it; and whoever says it isn't, had better prepare to get right up and climb. There is only one thing on this earth that has more grit in it than a Duluth man—and that is a grindstone.

We enjoyed principally entertainment at the Clark House, at an extremely moderate sum. We never met Col. Hull, the proprietor, before, but from our first acquaintance, we feel as though he was certainly the original "right man in the right place;" a guest at the Clark House will experience a greater amount of "being at home," in less time, than at any other public house we have ever honored with our presence.

We met Ex-Mayor Smith, Mayor Dean, Hon. J. J. Egan (who worked too hard for the interest of his own constituents in the Legislature, to be of any manner of use to our Brainerd Branch Railroad), Woodbridge & Forbes (the whitest boys ever sold books, stationery or printers' stock over a counter), Presnell, of the Minnesota, Dr. D'Unger, of the Herald, (we regret that we were unable to meet Mr. Mitchell, of the Tribune, or want of time), Auditor Burke, Mr. Mendonhall, C. Ed. Eyster, the popular druggist, and many other gentlemen, all of whom were glad to entertain us in any manner that could be appreciated by a young man from the country.

Mayor Dean stands up under his new honors squarely, and feels that an honest Democrat can undergo a great amount of "thank 'ee" jobs without injury—and assured us that a clear conscience was a most noble helper in times of great need.

The good Lord evidently intended Mr. D. for an unabridged Mayor, in a physical as well as mental sense. He looks like the Mayor of a city, for all the world, and is only equaled by Dr. Smith, his predecessor. When he, through politeness, undertook to make us feel as his equal in official honors, we assured him that Brainerd, not needing an official of that kind very bad, had simply elected us as a pocket edition.

Duluth wants a railroad built out north-east, sixty or seventy miles; to the mountains of iron-ore that exist there, and then her destiny in certain to be a proud one, whether anything else turns up for her or not. A narrow-gauge road should be built out to those mines, and the investment, it seems to us, would be among the very best that could be made by capitalists, to be found in the country. We hope to see it done, ere '76 rolls round, and when done, Duluth will take a permanent and steady growth and speedily achieve the importance to which she is naturally entitled.

Three steam vessels have wintered in the harbor, and the best with the two great elevators, and these—fur, etc., give the city quite a commercial aspect. We have three or four nickies that says the Zenith City is worth being proud of. Stick to 'er, boys!

THE CONSOLIDATION.

Everybody, on Monday evening last, rushed to the news depot, as usual, some to get their Pioneer, and others their Press (St. Paul daily papers), but no matter which one they called for, Mr. Smith gave them both—all for five cents.

That is to say, the two old established morning papers of St. Paul, the Pioneer and the Press, have went and got married, and are now two newspaper souls made one by law of contract, and the two are now, or the one is, known by the name of "The St. Paul Pioneer-Press."

The fact becoming known, everybody lost their breath for a moment, and then some said "bully!" some said "d—n it all!" others exclaimed, "Well, if that don't beat 'em—lloo!" and others, they kind of grunted, grabbed one, and rushed into a corner to see how it occurred, and ascertain what was the matter, anyway.

The sheet seemed greatly improved and enlarged, and was "chuck full" of fresh news and reading—all that could be seen at a glance. But there was an anxious expression on all "phizes," as though there was something more desirable to be learned concerning the wonderful happenstance—a kind of political curiosity, or something. After wading through some editorials, the character of the new sheet was discovered, which, politically speaking, was nothing at all—it hasn't any politics. The two original papers sold their "organs" to an Italian troupe, and the new paper will hereafter take its politics in the shape of plain business hash—in a form better calculated to keep soul and body together, and keep accounts balanced with the washer-woman.

Business is business, and we imagine that this new deal means "business," without any tadpole attachment. Being a somewhat liberal chap, politically, ourself, we kind of like the new arrangement—at first sight—and shall therefore heartily welcome the new Pioneer-Press, until we finally make up our mind what is best to do about it.

PERSONAL MENTION. The spicy and able editor of the Glynodon Gazette—E. B. Chambers—spent Thursday evening with us. He came up to meet his good wife who was on her return home from a six weeks' visit to her family friends in Chicago.

We neglected to record a visit last week from our friend, Mr. F. H. Harvey, formerly of Brainerd, but now of Hudson, Wis. F. H. was the same jolly story-teller as of yore, and likes the life of a "badger" exceedingly well.

Our friend, Thomas F. Low, the efficient and very popular clerk of the Headquarters Hotel, left on Tuesday for a trip to Chicago. We wish him a pleasant and safe journey, and feel authorized to contradict any possible rumor that might get out to the effect that Mr. Low is going to perpetrate any "consolidation" trick on us, like the St. Paul dailies did.

GENERAL MANAGER MEAD, and party, passed through Brainerd on Monday night last, bound west to Bismarck. The opening of the Dakota Division has progressed rapidly and satisfactorily, when considering the unhard of severity of the recent storm which prevailed all over the Northwest. Mr. Mead speaks in the most encouraging terms of the business prospects of the road this year. It will nearly double its last year's business, and even last year the road "paid big."

Let the good times come; we can all stand it.

MIKE SMITH, the irrepressible Northern Pacific nursery man, has got back to Brainerd again, and will forthwith proceed to fence and plant out to hardwood trees the fine square of ground in front of the Headquarters; after which he will tie himself to Goose Creek Nursery, out beyond Fargo.

ISAGRE.—A man came in on the train from the west Saturday night, who, as was afterwards learned, was a Sergeant in the Signal Service, and had been stationed at Pembina, named Sidney Powell. These facts were ascertained by papers found on his person by the Sheriff, who took him in charge here. It was also learned that he was on his way to Fort Whipple, in Virginia, whether he had been ordered; this order, and an order for his transportation to that place, was also found on him. His insanity was first discovered in Ben Hazen's Music Hall. Notice was first attracted to him on Monday, by his standing like a statue in front of a banjo that hung on the wall; he would stand for many minutes at a time, his gaze fixed unalterably on the instrument, the only motion being an occasional military salute to the instrument. Sheriff McKay took him in charge, and placed a guard over him, after which he telegraphed to officers of the Signal Service Bureau for information as to what disposition to make of him.

REVERIE ON A ROCK.

We started to go someplace the other day, and we went—part of the time, and part of the time we did not. The first place at which we found our locomotion materially impeded, was at Northern Pacific Junction; we were marked "Duluth,"—better known as the Zenith which is not allied. Having to wait three mortal hours at the Junction for a train upon which we could pursue our explorations, and there being no public gardens, operas, circuses or sturgeon stores at which we could be entertained and edified, we betook ourselves to the rocky shores of the St. Louis River, close at hand, and sat down on a rock that overhung an abyss of more or less merit as a big thing. That rock was somewhat cold, but being the best thing at hand, we remained with it, and gazed about us at the wonders of nature as presented by the bill before us. The adjacent hills were piled along the river in every fantastic shape in the catalogue of Nature, the crags along its shores formed a border of rustic beauty among the rarest in the country, while the raging torrent poured, leaped, and lashed itself into a foaming fury as it hastened onward to the sea—or to Lake Superior, which is about the same thing in this country. The scenery along the St. Louis is very rare indeed. No doubt California, Switzerland, and possibly the undiscovered country at the source of the Nile, may present equal views of rugged grandeur—but we don't know it, you see, 'cause we haven't been there. We whiled away our time in deep contemplation of the "seen," and wondered how long it had been built, and how much rougher and more mixed up they could have made it—had it been their best day for roughing it. We also wondered very much as to about how many snakes there were around among these rocks, to the square rod—take it on a right good day for snakes. Really, it was a gorgeous display of scrambled nature. That rock was very cold, upon which we sat, and we began to get rheumatism in one of our decayed teeth; we believe the thache is a contagious malady, if you sit on a stone the 12th day of April. The St. Louis River, from Thomson to Duluth, is the wonder of the traveler, and will repay the sight-seer to visit it. We never had a very lively appreciation of natural scenery, but we always liked to pass over this route on the cars, just to hear the ladies express their wonder and fear, alternately, at the fine scenery and high bridges, in little shrieks, and hear them ask some one handy by if he wouldn't just put his arm about their corset so they could lean out at the window and see how far it was down to the ground. It is admirable to see how long they can stand it to lean out and look down into the shadowy gulfs over which the iron horse wends his way—on stilts. But that rock grew no warmer, and our rheumatic tooth commenced to "speak out in meeting," and we were reluctantly forced to leave the enchanting scene, and go back to the depot. The train met us there, and we got aboard; we told the captain of the cars that we wanted him to pull us to Duluth; and he said if we'd sit down and shut our yawn, we could go for a dollar and a quarter. We got to the town in question, and a gentleman named Col. Hull gave us our supper.

THANKS to Ben Hazen, who has left on our table several late copies of the Denison (Texas) Daily News. Denison is a place of several thousand inhabitants, and if we couldn't get up at midnight and run a better daily paper in Brainerd, with more evident support, why, we should grease our head with goose oil and go to bed again—that's all. The News is only about one notch better than the Brownsville Ranchero—and the latter looks about like a full-sized sheep-tick.

SPECIAL MEETINGS.—All members of the W. O. R. S. Order are especially requested to meet this Saturday, evening, at their assembly room, to consider arrangements for the ball to be given next week.

PAID OFF.—Capt. J. W. Edgerton made his usual monthly trip along the line this week, and "gave to each laborer his hire," making all the sturdy and noble men who assist in operating this great continental railway, correspondingly happy. The Northern Pacific is the only road in these parts that always pays its employees punctually at the end of each month.

SAT, you fancy man of the Brainerd Tribune, what do you think of your candidate for President (Hayley), now that he has been defeated in his own Congressional District?—[Duluth Miscellaneous.]

The Hartford district in Connecticut don't have quite all the "say" about President you know. Their "Our name" is, hereby, entirely "all right" for the use therein authorized. Don't it.

THROUGH TO BISMARCK.

The Dakota Division is open! The train arrived at Bismarck at five o'clock yesterday evening, and was received amid the cheers of the populace. Trains will commence running from Fargo to Bismarck on Monday morning next, the 19th inst., and run regularly thereafter.

FREIGHTS. The Northern Pacific Railroad Company will carry freight this season at the following rates, as we are informed: From St. Paul to Bismarck, 75c. per hundred, for Montana freight.

All freights from St. Paul to Fort Garry, $2.00 per hundred. This is a very large reduction from the rates of any previous season.

A THIRTY PAUPER. They had a thirty pauper in Crow Wing county last year. Out of $1,400.80 expended for the poor, $627.21, or very nearly one-half of the whole amount, was appropriated for his special use and benefit. He finally went to Canada, probably because the poor fund had got low.—[St. Cloud Journal.]

Certainly; there's nothing small about the Crow Wing people; whenever you get back on a man just because he happens to be poor, you know.

COUNCIL MEETING. The first meeting of the new City Council was held last night at the Recorder's office, and was very harmonious throughout, and a large amount of business was disposed of. The organization was effected by electing J. R. Pegg, President of the Council, and Henry Dressen, Vice-President. City Assessor, H. G. Cuykendall; Street Commissioner, Geo. Whitney. Judicial Committee—Recorder, F. X. Goulet, and Ald. Henry Dressen. The Recorder's salary was fixed at $100; rent, light and fuel for the ensuing year, $50; City Treasurer was allowed 3 per cent on all moneys passing into his hands during the year. The Mayor's appointment of T. C. Bivins as Chief of Police, was confirmed; his pay as such was fixed at simply the legal fees of his position, and during the time (if any) he may serve during the year as night watchman he is to receive $50 per month for performing the additional duties of night-police.

The full proceedings will be published next week, and regularly thereafter.

W. O. R. S.—We are informed that some evening next week the Order of the Rising Sun is to give a grand ball at Bly's Hall, due notice of which will be given. The order has been contemplating a ball for some time, and they now give it on a short notice in order to secure Ben Hazen's splendid band (which has been completely re-organized, before the band goes on its grand excursion to Winnipeg. No doubt a most pleasant time will be enjoyed at this spring party.

The Pioneer-Press of Wednesday morning has a personal item, that says the editor of this paper—i. e. M. C. Russell—was in St. Paul, and called at that office, asking in astonishment, "what it all meant?" etc. Now, what we want to know is, how many there are of us, anyway. So far as we are aware, we have not been in St. Paul for more than a month—in a materialized form; and if there is any portion of our anatomy floating around St. Paul, we want to know it; and respectfully ask, as a personal favor of friend Binkley or Fisher, of old, that if they actually have discovered any extra pieces of us lying around loose down there, to just please box them up and send 'em to Brainerd, C. O. D., like Eh!

WADENA AFFAIRS.

The following items were intended for our last issue, but arrived too late—but are good, even now:

Before we forget it, we want to say that for several weeks the Tribune has not put in an appearance until Monday, whereby we have had to pass the Lord's Day without the Tribune; and considering its indispensability in a well regulated family, you can easily see how we miss it. Please send it up Saturdays, as of yore.

Items are somewhat scarce; nevertheless, Sheriff Wheeler helps us out a little—another boy. Verily, Brainerd will be second best, soon, if Wadena continues to improve in following the divine injunction in regard to effects of multiplication.

The residence of Rev. Mr. Kerr caught fire near the stovepipe chimney, last Sunday morning, week, but, as good fortune would have it, was soon discovered by his neighbor, Mr. Hoyt, who raised the "fire" cry, and soon an ample force of impromptu firemen were on hand and put out the fire before much damage was done. Your reporter might have been on the spot, but for the wilful refusal of wife to get up and see what was the matter.

Mr. John Askew, wife and five children, late from England, arrived in town last week. He says he has come to stay, likes the looks of things, bought him a place, transferred his allegiance from "Queen Vic" to "Uncle Sam," and in confidence this is just the place for a home. We are glad to welcome all such, and trust many more of his friends and acquaintances will come and do likewise.

Dr. C. B. Jordan, Register U. S. Land Office at Fargo, D. T., came down last week to escort his family home. C. B. says he came down to get a few square meals at home. His family will remain here during the summer, whilst he will oscillate between a square meal here, and the Land Office at Fargo as about so.

Mr. A. N. Peach has just received a sample of a new and patent spring bed, which is now on exhibition at the Wadena Hotel. Mr. Spaulding, of Duluth, is the happy inventor. It is composed of round cedar sticks, about an inch in diameter, and fastened together by strong cords. It is nice and springy, claimed to be durable, and, above all things, is a "dead shot" on bed-bugs, fleas and things. They are said to be very nice for hotels, and who would doubt it, if it does all they claim.

According to latest advices concerning the horrible kerosene accident at Parker's Prairie, reported two weeks ago, it is thought that the youngest child will recover, but will be scarred very badly. The other child, a boy, is still living, but there are no hopes of his recovery.

Lots of strangers in town, I guess. Well, if there isn't, there will be.

LATER.

Here's a few briefs. Snow is nearly all gone; good. Prairie fires adorn the evenings. Everybody is buying onion seeds. Brown, the North Star Boot & Shoe man, all the way from Minneapolis, was in town on Tuesday.

Wheat is worth 70 cents. Several wagon loads of wheat from Parker's Prairie, Friday.

John Skuse, clerk in Land Office at Fargo, D. T., came down on Tuesday to spend a few days with the Wadena boys and girls. He is looking well, and, from appearances, we judge that the Territorial climate of D. T. is good.

Another good item spoiled. They wouldn't let it burn—too many volunteers. We mean Charlie Peake's stable that caught fire, and was put out about the time we arrived. No insurance. J. H. Sanders has moved into town, and, we understand, will soon start a small drug store.

We have just learned that one of our citizens, A. J. Howard, has met with quite a severe accident. Whilst drawing fencing with a team, he fell from his wagon, breaking his leg just below the knee.

NOTICE.

To all whom it may concern, notice is hereby given of a resolution passed by the Board of County Commissioners of Cass County, Minn., March 26, A. D. 1875.

Resolved, That no county officer, county commissioner, or other person connected officially with Cass County, be permitted, or allowed to contract or make any purchase of any kind for said county, without a written order, signed by the respective party which shall be in all cases attested by the Clerk of the County Board, and that no bills will be paid by this county unless the foregoing resolution has been complied with.

By Order of the Board of County Commissioners of Cass County, Minn. FRED. E. STACOFF, County Auditor. Dated, West Brainerd, March 27th, A. D. 1875.

STRANGE, BUT TRUE.

It is natural for people suffering with Consumption, Coughs, Sore Throats, or any other disease of the Throat and Lungs, to put off from day to day buying an article that has cured their neighbor, friend, or relative, yet they have no faith in it, until it is too late. If you will go to your Druggist, S. V. K. Sherwood, and get a bottle of Boscchia's GERMEN STRENGTH, your immediate cure is as certain as your life. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and Druggists and people everywhere are elated over its success. You can get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size bottle 70 cents.

NO EXCUSE FOR BEING BICK.

No person can use Boscchia's Germen Syrup without getting immediate relief and cure. We have the first case of Coughs, Colds and Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, yet to be treated from that has not been cured. We have distributed every year for three years over 200,000 sample bottles by Druggists in all parts of the United States. No other Manufacturer of Medicine ever gave their Preparations such a test as this. Go to your Druggist S. V. K. Sherwood, and get a bottle for 10 cents and try it—two doses will relieve you. Sample 10 cents each.
