James Sayers, in jail at Trenton, Mo., for the murder of James Evans, in March last, cut his throat on the 23d with a razor which had been given him by the sheriff to shave himself. He cut into the wind-pipe and just grazed the jugular volus. There is but little hope for his recovery. It will be remembered that he confessed to murdering Evans and afterwards robbing and burning the house. He implicated two other men, named Cromwell and Bellups, as assisting in the murder. His wife was arrested a few days ago and confined in an adjoining cell for fighting with another woman. He tried to have her make up their past difficulties, and kiss him through the cell door, but she contemptuously refused to do so. He then told her that if she did not he would out his throat. She answered, would out his throat. She answered, "Go on with your killing. I have eaten better mon than you." He then stepped back from the cell door and drew the rasor across his throat. She laughs and jokes about him being a fool, and says she hopes he will die.

WADENA AFFAIRS.

Well, Bro. Hartley, we were ous-ker spele, don't it, last week. You see you gobbled us on Monday of last week, and took us to the City of Pines, from whence we returned on the early train Tuesday morning. We enjoyed a short stay in your city, as usual; but enjoyed the extra pleasure of meeting your illustrious mayor, his Honor Thos. Lanahan, and, yes, we interviewed him slightly; said interview being interspersed with-well, ours was mild, call it "lemonade." . His honor seemed very chatty, and even took us so far into his confidence as to inti-mate that some folks would be reduced to the ranks unless they conducted themselves a little more circumspect. He gave us considerable encouragement in regard to removing to Brainerd; said he would like to close out to us his ould business; would prefer to retain a half interest himself. He intimated to us that he would, for a small consideration, make us an attache on his staff as legal adviser and sort of body guard. But we thanked him, and took the matter under adviso ment while we came home to see our wife about it.

We congratulated his honor on the unusual quietness of the city, whereupon he granted us the entire freedom of the city provided we were in promptly at 9 o'clock. **
For the information of many of your readers who have never had the pleasure of seeing your mayor, and at the reques of many here, I will endeavor to give a brief sketch of his personal appearance (taken from memory). Mayor Lanahan is a "blue-bellied Connecticut Yankee," and has been a resident of the great north-west for the past seventeen years. He is married, family consisting at present of Mrs. Mayor and thirteen little mayors, together with a celebrated "trained dog" who, the mayor informed me, could collect as much "swill" as any of the little mayors, or any other man. The mayor is about seventy-five years old, stands 6 feet and 14 inches in his boots, and weighs 473 pounds, troy weight. It's corporeal system is formed by nature to compare very favorably with our beau ideal of what a mayor's corporation should be. His dress is neat, but not gaudy, and his head is adorned with a shining black plug hat; he wears a double-breasted vest, while a massive gold-headed cane toys in his hand as he perambulates the park.

We are informed that some of his friends presented him with a "Greely hat" soon after his coming into officebut his honor spurned the prize, and takes his democracy, as he does his whiskey-straight.

We trust your readers will bear in mind that this personal sketch of Mayor Lanahan is made entirely from memory, as we took no notes at the time of the interview, and if any little errors creep in please also bear in mind that we had several drinks of lemonade interspersed. and things may not really be as they

On our return from Brainerd we were obliged to go to Parker's Prairie to attend to some legal matters, and did not return until Saturday eve, hence we had no opportunity to say any thing for the Tribune last week.

We may have occasion to mention our trip to Parker's Prairie some future time.

We had the pleasure of meeting and chatting with the Rev. gentleman, and found him very pleasant and evidently well fitted for the labors of his Master in this frontier field. He expressed himself as highly delighted with our town, self as highly delighted with our town. its location and surroundings. We trust Mr. Salter will favor our people with another call some future day.

Mr. Heathcoate, of Deer Creek, formerly of your city, was in town this week, perambulating around on four legs, two wooden ones, one good one, and the other one curled up with a nice cut across the toes with an ax. He is gotting along very well under the circumstances.
