CHANGING NAMES.
 "Jay Carlton" writes: The father of Henry Wilson was a man named Colbath, who lived at Farmington, N. H. Young Wilson was named Jeremiah Jones Colbath; but when he was seventeen years old it was the fashion for people to send their names to the legislature and have them changed; so young Colbath sent his up, along with a list of others, and as a New Hampshire man named Wilson had become quite a local lion by entertaining Andrew Jackson, Colbath became Henry Wilson. If you carefully watched the acts of the legislature of many of the states you would be surprised at the number of people, who, for various reasons, have their names changed every year; some because the names are suggestive of indecent subjects; some for good and sufficient reasons. I have heard that August Belmont formerly was known as Schonberg; but I have no reason for believing the story. It has been said that Whitlaw Reid used to write his name "J. Whitlaw Reid;" and I know that Bret Harie was only a few years ago Francis Bret Harie and that his wife still calls him "Frank." Frank Leslie was originally Henry Carter, near London, but he changed the name himself. Charles Dickens had two or three middle names, but he dropped them. Recorder Hackett now writes himself down John Ketteltas Hackett. Abram Oakey Hall appears in the city directory. Billy Florence's name was William Conlan. Grant was baptized Hiram Sampson.

Such Humiliation.
 The Mayor of Brainerd, Minn., has been sent to jail for whipping his wife. What must be her feelings when she reflects that her poor husband is made to suffer such humiliation merely for whipping her!—(Courier-Journal.)

Did Grant discharge Henderson because he discovered that he (Henderson) knew too much about things generally, and crooked whiskey in particular! This is the newest conundrum, and so far as we are concerned, "we give it up."

The editor of the Little Falls Courier is growing self-righteous. He says: "Little Falls can boast of one of the best boys in the world. He sits at the window and watches the snow birds, and sings, 'There is rest for the weary,' while his mother saws wood to get dinner."

The nomination of Thomas H. Pressnell, for receiver of public money at Duluth, has been sent to the senate for confirmation. The following nominations have been confirmed: Soren Listoe, receiver of public money at Alexandria; G. B. Folsom, receiver at Taylor's Falls; Chas. P. Crandall, postmaster at Owatonna; Luke Marvin, postmaster at Duluth.—(Pioneer Press.)

Bro. Wood, of the Courier, would probably find it unnecessary, if he should go there, to rush into print to explain how he had no thought of matrimony if he should call a young lady into his office and ask her how she would like house-keeping.

FINE CLOTHING TO ORDER.
 Just received, a full assortment of samples of cloth—100 different kinds. I am now prepared to take orders for clothing; fit, quality and style equal to any, and prices guaranteed to be 15 to 20 per cent. below any offered this side of Chicago.
 THOS. P. CAMPBELL,
 Personal.
 A. S. Duncan, formerly clerk at the Leland House, is in the city.
 We had a pleasant call yesterday from Wm. Dyer of Stearns county, Minn., and discovered that he is from the same "old sod" with myself, which of course does not injure him any in our esteem.
 We had the pleasure this week of meeting A. H. Kash, Esq., of St. Paul, who is here for the purpose of regaining his somewhat shattered health. We are of the opinion that, considering his purpose, he has fortunately fallen into good hands; those of our genial Doctor Ross, and has come to his place, in point of climate, without doubt.

What a fatal accident occurred on Saturday last near this city, resulting in the instant death of William Shupe, a young man about 20 years of age, a son of Barney Shupe, residing on Ninth street, and formerly of Long Prairie, Minn. He was out hunting deer with his father on the day named, and in the afternoon the father took a circle around a thicket to drive out deer, leaving his unfortunate son on the runway to shoot them as they came out. Instead of remaining where he was stationed, as directed by his father, he went in a very unaccountable manner in another direction some distance from his post and climbed a tree. By some means unknown, while in the tree, and about twelve feet from the ground, his rifle was discharged, the bullet taking effect in his throat near the breast-bone, passing through the spine and out the back of the neck, breaking his neck. His father heard the shot and hurried to the place where he had left his son, and he was gone; he began examining his tracks to ascertain where he had gone, and tracked him to the fatal spot where he found him dead at the roots of the tree. His hat was hanging on a limb in the tree, and indicated where the accident had occurred and whence he had doubtless fallen a corpse, and his gun, the instrument of his sudden departure, lay at a distance of about twelve feet from the tree where it was probably thrown by him upon hearing the report.
 This is a sudden and severe blow upon the bereaved family, consisting of father, mother, two brothers and a sister, and great sympathy is felt for them in the community.
 The funeral services were held on Wednesday at the Methodist Church, conducted by Rev. A. A. Sutton. "Be ye also ready."

Rev. C. C. SALZER'S lecture on "Jerusalem," on Monday evening last at the Congregational Church, was a very interesting discourse and enjoyed by a large audience. His personal visits to the places of interest in that country, and his excellent powers of explanation, rendered his descriptions very lucid and attractive. The next of the course will be delivered by him one week from next Monday evening at the same place.

We regret to have to state that the proposed meeting of the Moorhead and Duluth Dramatic Clubs at this city, as stated last week, has of necessity been abandoned owing, as stated to us, to a difficulty regarding transportation. It will be regretted by our citizens who have looked forward to their entertainments with no little anticipation, and is doubtless an equal disappointment to the members of the clubs.

Among the many evils of the time, that should be remedied, even at the risk of severe censure from the credulous, or even at the expense of framing a municipal law to remove the evil, is that of seeing almost daily some poor swine about the street with one or both ears "chewed off," or torn, by the packs of worthless dogs that make this kind of business their daily labor. It is awful!—and this class of dogs ought to be made to realize it, by having their tails sawed off just above the ears.

The BRainerd BRIDGE.—The directors of the Northern Pacific now in session at New York have telegraphed orders to the authorities here to procure granite from Sauk Rapids sufficient to build the piers of the Brainerd bridge up to high water mark, and complete them with wooden trestle work, which will be removed in the spring after the ice has gone out and replaced with stone, as first intended. On this trestle work the bridge proper will be built according to the original plan. The granite will be shipped by way of St. Paul, a distance of over three hundred miles, where, if the Brainerd and Sauk Rapids road was open the distance would be less than seventy miles. The extra expense of shipping the stone by the present route will exceed $5,000, one-eighth of the cost of completing the Sauk Rapids road.

We have heard by a sort of underground railroad, that our fellow townsman, M. C. Russell, Esq., formerly editor of this paper, is to receive the appointment to an important position at Philadelphia, to be filled by him during the six months of the Centennial exhibition. The appointment is to come, as we hear, from Genl. Joe R. Hawley, President of the Centennial Commission, direct, and this will probably be the only general appointment made from this State outside of State appointments by the Governor. We congratulate friend Russell upon being made the object of such distinction, and shall insist that he become our special Centennial correspondent, while there, and do Brainerd and the Northern Pacific country all the good he can at the point which is to temporarily become the headquarters of the world—and we feel sure he will do so.

Obituary.
 We learn with regret that J. S. Pomroy, for some time express messenger on the Northern Pacific and later in trade at Fargo, D. T., died at his home in Ogdenburg, N. Y., on the 5th inst., of that fatal disease that had long since sealed his doom, consumption. His death, though not altogether unexpected, will bring sadness to the hearts of many warm friends on the line.

 The finest cigars in the city are at the Headquarters Hotel. They smoke like a lily, taste like a rose, and are perfumed to perfection.
 The Leland House is about to change hands, B. F. & G. G. Hartley will be the new proprietors after January 1st. Mr. Leland will open a stock of groceries in his store of Fifth street.
 The Ladies' Mite Society Social, on Thursday evening, at the residence of Mr. C. H. Alsop, was well attended, and a very enjoyable occasion indeed. The next meeting will be held in Bly's Hall on Thursday evening the 30th inst.
 When a St. Paul policeman steps up to a countryman and asks him to "peel that coat," echo generally says, "Oh, yer'er, yer'er, Mr. good officer, I'll peel it—please sir, I'll peel it!" and the countryman says, "won't you come and take something to drink, Mr. good officer!"

We shall go to press next week and the week following on Friday, in order to give the "boys" an opportunity to enjoy Christmas and New Year's Day in the bosom of their families or wherever they please, and to give our readers the opportunity of enjoying the TRIBUNE among their other good things on those days.
 AURORA LODGE, No. 100, A. F. & A. M., have elected the following officers for the ensuing Masonic year: H. G. Coykendall, W. M.; T. C. Bivins, B. W.; Joseph Hare, J. W.; A. O. Canfield, Treasurer; L. W. Ford, Secretary.
 The Lodge propose to have a grand festival and ball during the holidays.
 Economy—In these close, hard times economy ought to be the word in every house. It is not economy to use adulterated Baking Powder at a high price or cheap Saleratus, when D. B. Deland & Co.'s Best Chemical Saleratus can be procured at only a slight advance over inferior brands.—Try Best Chemical Saleratus and you will ever use it; we know from experience.
 BRainerd, lumbermen and others who want a superior quality of Buckskin Moccasins, will do well to call at Near the bridge. HALLET'S.

A gentleman from a city not many miles from Brainerd, on the North bound L. S. & M. train one day this week, in possession of a tile, concerning "whose title to which" there existed some doubt, received intimations that the sheriff at Rush City would call upon him when he reached that point, and the arrival of the train there found the gentleman safely unincensed in class but secure apartments in the car, and he refused to "come forth" until the train was well under way again, when he discovered that it was only a joke put up by the boys.
