Democratic Demarcation. With this issue the Tribune lays before its readers, in supplement form, the substance of an extended, though very interesting and instructive, lecture given by a correspondent of the New York Tribune and Senator William Windom, of Minnesota, which should be carefully perused by every citizen of this State.

In another column this week will be found the prospectus of the St. Paul Pioneer Press for 1876. An every body knows, the Pioneer Press is the best and most daily in the Northwest and its wide circulation is a guarantee of its success.

The Dutch Tribune-Herald carelessly states that the Northern Pacific railroad has vacated Duluth last week and abandoned the city. This is a mistake.

The cloud not larger than a man's hand, has already appeared in the newspapers and is now being discussed in the following from the last issue of the Tribune: Don't you feel like a sound with the name of State?

Donnelly. It is difficult to find the annihilation of Mr. Donnelly's name in the Tribune. It is difficult to find the annihilation of Mr. Donnelly's name in the Tribune.

A New Use for Mirrors. An engineer on the New York Central, between St. Paul and New York, has introduced a new use for mirrors in the construction of a new bridge.

Disgusted Democrats.

We assure ourselves in St. Paul that we will not have to read in the future the vile and malicious insinuations which have been made in this city by the mouth of the poisonous little demagogue, Ignatius Donnelly. So far we know it is the first time in the history of the country that the political party of any Congressional district has paid the poor contemptible knowledge that it had not within its own ranks a man fit to represent it in Congress.

Let us always keep our eyes open. We will not have to read in the future the vile and malicious insinuations which have been made in this city by the mouth of the poisonous little demagogue, Ignatius Donnelly.

STARTLING EXPOSITION OF DEMOCRATIC DEMAGOGUISM, BY SENATOR WINDOW,

Chairman Senate Committee on Appropriations. False Pretenses of the Forty-Fourth Congress.

The Vaunted Democratic "Retrenchment and Reform" a Delusion and a Fraud.

APPROPRIATIONS INCREASED $28,752,265.49.

Expenditures Reduced by Republicans from 1868 to 1876 an Aggregate of $73,104,131—Average Annual Republican Reductions, $9,318,016.

Expenditures of 1876 Reduced by Republican Deficiency Bill of 1876. Year $14,718,991.

Appropriations This Year Increased Over Last Year $28,752,265.49.

Taxes Reduced by Republican Fraud 1868 to 1876 Over $250,000,000.

Taxes Reduced by the Democratic House from 1875 to 1876 $800,000,000.

The following is the substance of an interview between the Washington correspondent of the New York Times and Senator Window, of Minnesota, chairman of the Senate Committee on Appropriations, published in the Times of June 6, 1878.

Correspondent—Have you compared the aggregate appropriations made by this Congress with those of last year, and if so, how do they compare?

Senator Window—Yes, Sir; I have carefully examined all the bills since the adjournment. The total for last year was $432,317,232.92. The total for this year is $461,069,508.11. The increase this year is $28,752,265.49. This aggregate covers all the regular appropriations.

Correspondent—Is there anything chargeable to the extravagance of this Congress?

Senator Window—No; it is mainly chargeable to the demagoguism of the Forty-fourth Congress in making pretended "savings" for political effect.

Correspondent—Do you mean that the reductions in expenditures were made until the Democratic party lost control of the House of Representatives?

Senator Window—By no means. Expenditures were on a descending scale almost ever since.

Correspondent—How do you reconcile these facts with Democratic professions of economy?

Senator Window—Erease me; I have never undertaken the impossible task of reconciling Democratic professions with Democratic practice.

Senator Window—I have read it. Mr. Atkins had an extremely difficult task to perform, and in its execution he displayed a genius in manipulating figures only equalled by his course in 1876.

A DEMOCRATIC "TRIUMPH OF RETRENCHMENT."

Correspondent—Give me an idea of how these "reforms" prove that the actual increase of $28,752,265.49 is a triumph for retrenchment.

Senator Window—I do not understand it. It is done by counting in all the appropriations made by the Republican party, and by counting out enough of their own to bring their total below this.

Correspondent—But how do they do this when applied to their own party friends in the Forty-fourth Congress?

Senator Window—I am glad you have called my attention to that. For example, to show you one or two striking instances in Democratic "economy."

Correspondent—Do you mean that the reductions in expenditures were made until the Democratic party lost control of the House of Representatives?

Senator Window—By no means. Expenditures were on a descending scale almost ever since.

The above amount for "public buildings" is in the line of economy in various ways. First, the buildings are needed, and if completed will save the Government an amount in rent greater than the interest on their cost.

DEFICIENCIES CAUSED BY UNWARRANTED REDUCTIONS.

The large amount of over $1,500,000 for "deficiencies" was necessary because the House has been cancelled to pass so many deficiency bills on account of former unwarranted reductions.

The River and Harbor Bill—Additional additions—$817,500.

The items of the Senate deficiencies are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Item, Amount. Includes Charleston Harbor ($190,000), River and Harbor (South) ($1,000,000), etc.

Total $1,500,000.

You will observe that these additions are chiefly for works of an important national character.

The Army Bill—The extra addition of $908,914, made by the Senate to the Army bill, is necessary in restoring our little Army to its present numbers.

The Navy Bill—The small sum added by the Senate to the navy bill was mainly for "pay of the crews of the equipment of vessels, and for repairs of hospitals."

The Pension Bill—The Senate added $35,000 to the Pension bill for each examination, instead of $4,000.

The Military Academy Bill—The Senate added $38,400 to this bill, mainly for "completing hospital buildings for the use of the military and navy."

The Coiner and Diplomatic Bill—The Senate added $23,700, mainly in restoring the salaries of our foreign representatives to what they received last year.

The Post-Office Bill—The Post-Office Bill the Senate added $23,000 to the bill, mainly for the salaries of the post-office employees.

Correspondent—How many deficiency bills did you introduce in this Congress?

Senator Window—Yes. It was thought at one time that it would be necessary to classify and number them, so that it might be possible to find them to indicate them in that way.

THE EMPTY BOST OF DEMOCRATIC ECONOMY.

Correspondent—I notice that at a recent banquet given in New York to Speaker Randall, Hon. A. S. Hewitt is reported to have said that Mr. Randall and his friends in the Forty-fourth Congress accomplished a saving in the entire Congress of $54,000,000, and that it was the result of putting more in power who were able to do the work set for them to do.

Senator Window—It may turn out to be a question. Don't you think it is a boast of having saved $52,000,000 in the entire Congress?

Correspondent—Were the $23,000,000 which Mr. Hewitt claims to have saved in the Forty-fourth Congress an actual saving, or only a postponement of appropriations, and a failure to provide properly for the needs of the Government?

Senator Window—Some portion of it was doubtless a "saving," but by far the largest part was not. The 13th of August, 1876, after the adjournment of every item on every appropriation bill for that year, and comparing each item with like items in the bills for the previous year, I stated on the floor of the Senate that the total amount of the reduction of $40,000,000 net $5,000,000 credit in any sense be called a saving of money to the Treasury.

Correspondent—Does the amount of appropriations always indicate the exact cost of administering the Government during the year for which they are made?

Senator Window—It does not. There are always large unexpended balances from various sources which come over from one year to another.
