where I cry, where is Tariff Hancock? Gone to meet Unsruck Tilden.

A gain of one Congressman to the Republicans in Southern is now about certain. Where I oh where is the south!

Be sure on election day that the names of the presidential electors are correctly spelled on your tickets. Do so to save it in the field.

How would a tariff benefit Minnesota while her neighbor States of Wisconsin and Iowa adopted free trade. The proposition is absurd.

Gen Hancock says the tariff question came up once in his native town in Pennsylvania. We will bet a shad, that General does not know what a tariff means.

The names of the Republican Presidential electors are correctly spelled in the ticket appearing at the head of our first page. Compare them with your ticket before you vote.

Portland, Me., Oct. 28.—Hon Nell Dore, the prohibition candidate for the Presidency, has given notice that he will support the Republican ticket in the present campaign, and also that he will vote for Gen. Garfield.

Tennessee is now reported as a doubtful State. Democrats are seriously disaffected over Hancock's nomination and are said to be flocking to the standard of the price of stations, Gen. James A. Garfield.

Military commanders generally know very little of civil politics. Gen. Hancock evidences this in his statement that the tariff is a local issue in which the general government has no interest.

The twelve-year old school boy who did not know better than to say "the tariff was a local issue in which the general government had no interest" could frame a local tariff that could be rendered effectual in no generally understood.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29, 1880. Now that the October Session has emphatically endorsed General Garfield, we have the satisfaction of seeing the progress which his character will make. It is stating that the Democratic party, as a general party, absolute list with nothing understanding a pure and honest party. When Democrats have been appointed by direction of the Court at $2.50 per day and G. M. Wing was appointed about his superior at a compensation to be fixed.

A Sensational Report.

The Chicago Tribune of Wednesday contained the following rather surprising report for Democrats: "It is a matter of fact, that the Democratic party, in their recent campaign, have been so successful in their efforts to secure the nomination of General Hancock, that they are now reported to have secured the nomination of General Hancock, and are now reported to have secured the nomination of General Hancock, and are now reported to have secured the nomination of General Hancock."

AN ODE TO AN OLDSHOEPEE.

Infused with... you will see that I have... I have been thinking of you for some time...

PEN BRADSHAW.

Yes, sir—yes, Mr. Clive Soudair, I've made up my mind. If you are bent on marrying a woman who doesn't care one fig for you, you are at liberty to do so.

Very well, Pen. Mr. Clive spoke very quietly, and he had a look of satisfaction on his face...

He was so handsome, so graceful, all the other fellows were in love with him, and he was so kind...

"Do you love me, Pen? That's what I want to know. What's your right to ask me, Clive, after all you've said and done to make me think you care for me?"

"I was foolishly ready to pay off old debts, that's all. I love you better than my life, Pen. If you are not willing to share it with me, I'll make a bundle of money and go to the States."

"Perhaps that particular boy of wedded goods waiting below covered expression a profounder sensation than when she had seen a young man in a top hat and a white necktie."

"He walked straight to the old place, the minister managing to keep his senses under the most trying circumstances, under the words were said—the twin made one; and if one might judge from the expression of the eye and countenance, no happier person could there have been matrimonial chains."

"Singular Climatic Effects," says the Denver (Col.) Great West. It is singular that the fact that some body loses flesh on coming here, is sustained, and the other one gains it."

"Crisp and Satisfactory," correspond writers to know if you can recall the fact that some body loses flesh on coming here, is sustained, and the other one gains it."

"Too Much Drink," a minister with a rather florid complexion had gone to a dinner last night, one of his parishioners, to be shaved. The barber was asked to shave the minister's head, and the minister's head was shaved."
