PUBLISHED WEEKLY.
MINNESOTA

The arguments before the supreme court of Minnesota on the bond issue are said to have been of a higher order than any ever before delivered in this state.

The late Justice O'Connell of the United States supreme court, while minister to Mexico, was instrumental in negotiating the treaty by which California and New Mexico were secured to the union.

Horace White, formerly editor of the Chicago Tribune, was being visited as a confidential secretary of Henry Willard, and it is reported that he was instrumental in procuring from Henry's timely hints about investments. How glimly the blind pup magistrates talk of the millions under their control.

Ohio papers are demanding the extermination of the Apache Indians, because of that tribe horribly murdered Thomas K. Pugh, son of the late Senator Fugh of Cincinnati. There is also a suggestion that this character to change again the current of sympathy that is usually running in favor of the red men as against the white.

The department of state at Washington declined to join European emissaries in advising Russia to treat with more justice the Jews in the Crimea. It is reported that the department will be studying meddlesome with what primarily concerns Russia alone.

The population of England and Wales, according to the preliminary report of the English census, is now 23,829,281, an increase of 1,256,929 since 1871. The population of Ireland is 5,159,819, a decrease of 252,538, or 4.7 per cent. in ten years. Belfast had a population of 128,289, an increase of 33,000 since 1871, but Dublin shows no gain whatsoever. There are 3,951,885 Roman Catholics and 1,108,942 Protestants in Ireland, a few "scattering" among other beliefs.

Among those mentioned as likely to succeed Justice Chief Justice Chase of the United States, are Judge Devereux of Massachusetts, late attorney general of the United States; Judge How of Massachusetts, and Judge Brewster of Vermont. There is a general feeling in favor of Judge Thurston of Ohio, not confined by any means to Ohio politics, but it is probable that the appointment of locally will carry the appointment to the New England states.

The London Standard, in an article on the harvest, says the general opinion in Mark Lane is that there is an average wheat crop in England, and the great majority of reports from different parts of the country estimate. The barley crop cannot fall to be an average one. The root crop is less promising than they have been at this period for many years. The potato crop is as good as the roots abed. The prospects in Scotland are much less than in England. The most suspicious report of crops comes from Ireland.

The members of the Minnesota railroad bond commission have advised until the 1st of September. Various reasons are given, among which are the following: that the arguments before the Supreme Court will not be concluded for some days, and after they are concluded judges and attorneys will naturally be busy with the case, and the court continues, and will need a week's rest. Then the supreme court justices will want a week, or perhaps two, to prepare and deliver their opinions on the question of interest. Paris is expected to close September 7th will be none too far off.

A four-year-old child in New York was recently arrested for allowing her daughter to pick up cigar stumps in the streets. She was fined twenty-five dollars, and being unable to pay was committed to the city workhouse. This was done, under the most pitiless law of the last legislature, passed at the instance of a certain humane organization, which is a miser, miser, punishable by imprisonment, to allow a child to help earn a living for herself or family, by begging, collecting, picking up cigar stumps, or refuse from markets, etc.

The little fight between the great trunk lines of railway, whether freight or passenger transportation, is regarded with a great deal of equanimity by all classes, as those immediately interested in railroad dividends. The roads are struggling to obtain what cannot be had from the country. Although fair crops have been realized in certain districts, the product for this year, throughout the country, will not be so large, by 30 per cent, of that of 1880. With the shorter crop and the larger system on the Mississippi river, it is most certain the wheat crop will be smaller, the railways far less freight than did that of last season.

The New York Herald publishes a lengthy and interesting article showing that 110,000,000 lbs. of cotton are raised in the United States in developing the resources of the south, or that portion lying east of the Mississippi and south of the Potomac. It is said to be raised principally for the purpose of sending off a half a dozen or more railroads, the value of whose securities has been more than quadrupled by the operations of the late past year. The New Orleans Petroleum shows that it embraces less than half of the money which has flowed into the south during the past year to be invested in railroads, and that the means of transportation.

John Robinson, the new collector of the port of New York, has assumed the duties of his office, and promises to conduct it on a high principle, and to do it with energy in the service of the people. He is reported as being a model officer. His first report shows that for the

OUR (QUELON'S) STORY:

Or, a little "twist the cup and the lid." From the London Spectator. "You all know Sandy McPherson?" said our Colonel.

I can recollect no one who had been so crumpled, not, to my anxiety, but they were of good blood and form. One of the children...

and he had been struck by lightning. He had been struck by lightning. He had been struck by lightning.

The president's fever is still consuming him and reducing his vital force.

SECRETARY WINDOM'S letter to the bankers association shows that the annual saving in interest by his refunding operations thus far will amount to $10,500,000 in round numbers.

COLLECTOR ROBERTSON, on taking possession of the New York custom house, declared that he should make no changes in the custom house force until he was satisfied that they would be of advantage to the public.

The Virginia Republicans last Thursday came to the forks of the political road, the Coalitionists taking the Re-adjuster pile, while the St. Albans continued on their independent way.

The New York Tribune prints an interesting interview with Hon. Galusha A. Grow, in which that gentleman suggests, among other things, a change in the constitution in order to relieve the president of some of the duties devolving upon him.

JAMES G. FAIR is worth $42,000,000. And the whole $42,000,000 of it, my dear young man, can't make you as happy as you are with the dew of youth in your heart.

The Ways of Providence.

People who profanely doubted the existence of God's providence because he permitted the assassin to strike at the life of the President, should now realize the unwisdom of their impatience. It is often God's policy to bring about good results through much suffering and sorrow.

"God moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform."

Vox.
G. H. Glazier, brother of the Captain, was in town a couple of days this week, and the Tribune office was favored with his presence as well as his patronage. Geo. is a genial good fellow, one who will make friends anywhere on short acquaintance, and the Captain was fortunate in securing his services as advance agent.
Mr. Chase, local editor of the Tribune, went out with a party from Minneapolis and this place, by special train, last Monday night, over the N. P. R. R. to Fargo, Blainock, and probably to the terminus of the road. According to the report, they got down through which they passed, and the country in general will be published in next week's issue of the Tribune.

Plain Truth.

That period in the existence of Brainerd has at last arrived when it returns to the criterion of the perceptive faculties to observe that a glorious future is as positive as the movements of the magnetic needle.
With our present railroad facilities, and strong probability of more, the prospect of milling interests and shops, which can hinder Brainerd from being a second Omaha or Ft. Wayne, or even better still! It is a positive fact, it is disputed not, that the town on the line of the Northern Pacific has swelled its borders more rapidly than our own Brainerd. On every hand residences, solid and substantial, are going up, and the only drawback experienced is the inability of many to procure coal, or even wood, to carry on the amount of building required. One fact, which is particularly notable, and well it is so, everything indicates that this rapid growth is no mere spasmodic growth, which will soon come to a halt, and again drop into its former lethargic existence, is enough in itself to insure the most Thomas-like individual that it is really of no men's assertion. Solid blocks are being built, and in course of projection, and Front street has already become nearly a solid front, something which could not have been asserted a short time ago.
New buildings of brick are yet to be built on the eastern portion of this street; yet by no means is this progression confined to this one street alone. On every street can be seen the steadily increasing and growing by observation. There are many devices and ways by which the town could otherwise improve as well. If people would build test fences about their premises, put down substantial side-walks, their property would not only be greatly increased in general appearance, but largely enhanced in actual value. The small item of cleaning the streets of the immense amount of dirt would be a light task for each individual property-holder would only consider it his actual duty to attend to these pertinent matters relative to his own particular premises.
The reason why a stranger form of the main characteristics of a town which he enters for the first time, and sees the streets and alleys swarmed with rubbish of every description, does he not see that such a city adheres to principles with which such a place must be inhabited? He evidently considers it more of a location for polite selfishness than for careers for public propriety and local attraction.

These matters may be deemed by critics as unimportant, and of trivial design, but a second thought should convince any man, woman or child of their solidity and substance.

Public spirit exhibits a lack of proper interest in the formation and extension of sufficient protective measures against the destructive elements. No regularly organized fire department in a town of some four thousand inhabitants is a slur spot of no small note—in truth, an unpardonable grievance to the locality, and a vacancy which proper measures should at once be brought into effect to fill up. This is not a mere trivial phantasy, but an actual and pertinent reality. It is a blight to the intelligent community, and should so be considered. Those who engage modern improvements and protective facilities, are living a life in direct opposition to their own vital interests, ambitions and necessary requirements. This matter is labored at any time to be broached in a most destructive manner to the minds of the thinking people of this commonwealth. Men of reason bestir yourselves, and exert the influence with which Nature has endowed you toward the general natural improvement of your homes, your town, your country, YOUR NATION! Cast aside the niggardly avarice which you hoard, every penny you possess, and expend a portion of your earnings and income in beautifying your homes, town and country. It will bring a reward in proportion. We are now in a fair way to prosperity, and Brainerd is getting a cognomen of no mean worth in the country about us. Let us not disgrace the town which is daily adding into our hands, but use our talents so generously bestowed, and slow to the world about us that our status in the make up of a noble country will place itself on a grand level with superior, if not to rise above it.

Obtrusive Advertising.

It depends largely upon what it is that is advertised—the temper and feeling of the public towards the subject, matter, whether the advertiser can afford to stall in upon the reader's attention by the use of some favorite quotation—or riding in upon some current topic of discussion. Some advertisements have run against a fatal snag, trying to imitate the method of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, Cough Syrup, etc. in this class of advertising, meeting with disgust and rebuke. The fact is the advertiser, when he enters in this way the presence of the reader, unbidden, must carry with him his own weight, this unmerciful manner of approach pre-supposes a certain favorability. A popular paper in one of our city churches, recently from the pulpit, to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup as illustrating how dear medicines even become to us when known to alleviate the ills and ills of life. There must be truth and merit when the advertiser can shake hands with such high company—Indianapolis Journal.

New Railroad for Brainerd.

A railroad to be known as the Brainerd, St. Paul & Grand Forks railway, and Telegraph company, was organized at St. Paul five days ago. Articles of incorporation were filed with the Secretary and State on last Monday, signed by C. F. Kindred, C. B. Sleeper, Newton McFadden, F. H. Hartley, Chas. A. DeGraft, Frank B. Thompson and B. Eaton. Those who have been named are the promoters. It is understood that the scheme is a good one, and the purpose is to construct a road from St. Paul through Anoka county, thence to Princeton, passing near Milk Lake on the line of the Northern Pacific, and on to Grand Forks, D. T., the entire line passing through the farm and timber country, and when completed will be one of the best lines of railway in the Northwest.

The Small Boy.

The small boy is generally the origin of more genuine devilry than any other class of "bitops." Last Monday, a number of the class alluded to, who had passed some time in the southwest part of the town of Brainerd, standing near the Eighth street crossing, pulled the throttle, and jumped off and ran. Fortunately the switch was so set as to form an obstruction, and the whole thing was thrown from the tracks, just in time to prevent a collision at the curve, with the No. 1, which was just coming in from St. Paul. If the switch had allowed the engine full sweep, nothing but have averted a collision. A little extract of pine single would be a good vitalizer for that boy.

FOR SALE—On account of poor health I offer for sale the following described property to wit: An improved farm, lying about one mile southeast of the town of Brainerd, in Otter Tail County, Minn., containing about 192 acres, 85 acres of bottom land under cultivation, and about 5 acres of upland, and also a high state of cultivation; balance well timbered, including house, barn, granary and other out buildings. Good well of water, a living stream running through the farm. Good meadow attached to farm which will cut 100 tons of hay in time. A fine farm lying eight miles from Brainerd, on Brainerd & Sauk Rapids R. R., containing about 140 acres, all fenced, 50 acres under cultivation, lying about fifty yards of Crow Wing station. Will sell for one-half down and balance on time, or a reduction for full cash. Price of farm nearest Brainerd, including stock, etc., $4,915. For further particulars inquire of P. Q. Box 138. Brainerd, Minn.

L. R. Carver, from Boone, Iowa, will be here a few days, and will open a gold yard, where the people of Brainerd can always find wood, hard or soft coal, and fuel of all kinds.
