DEAD!

The Struggle Ended,

Ashes to Ashes, and Dust to Dust.

THE GREAT AND GOOD MAN HAS PASSED AWAY.

A Blissful Dream of Home Ends Death of Its Terrors.

THE LAST SPARK FAINTLY FLORES, AND GOES OUT FOREVER.

A Season of Mourning Throughout the Length and Breadth of this Broad Land.

Biographical Events in the Life of James A. Garfield, and Notes of Interest.

Arthur Takes the Oath at Dead of Night — The Funeral—Scenes and Incidents.

James A. Garfield is dead. The great soul has left its temporary habitation, and the solemn chant, "ashes to ashes, and dust to dust" again the mournful hymn of a sorrow-burdened American people. At 10:25, Monday night, the president died. At 10 o'clock, Dr. Bliss found the pulse at 105, and all promising well for a quiet night. The president said he was not in pain and dropped off to sleep. Secretaries Window and Kirkwood and Postmaster General James withdrew and retired believing that the night would pass without event. Colonels Rockwell and Swain remained at the President's bedside. At 10:15 the President aroused and complained of pain near his heart, saying, "Oh, this terrible pain!" and then sank into unconsciousness, which continued until his death. Dr. Bliss was called, and found the pulse low and feeble, and the action of the heart almost imperceptible. Mrs. Garfield was called, and then were present at the deathbed scene Colonels Swain and Rockwell, Stanley Brown, C. O. Rockwell, Drs. Bliss, Agnew, and Boynton, Mollie Garfield, Lulu Rockwell, and Atkinson and Record messengers. Warren Young was sent at once to the hotel for mustard for the dying President, but death occurred before he could return. Drs. Agnew and Bliss administered hypodermic injections of brandy as a last resort, but without any apparent effect. Mrs. Garfield had been gently prepared for the worst. Dr. Boynton having told her Saturday that the President could not recover. She stood weeping by the bed. Secretary Brown supporting her. Mollie Garfield and Lulu Rockwell stood in the door crying. The President's slow sighing respiration was heard throughout the room. Mollie, seeing her mother weeping, went to her and threw her arms around her neck. As they stood there Dr. Bliss bent his ear over the dying man's heart. It had ceased beating. The President was dead! There was a keen silence, broken by the voice of Dr. Agnew, who said: "It is ended!" Nothing was then heard but the heart-breaking sobs of Mrs. Garfield. Everyone was in tears. Mrs. Rockwell stepped to Mrs. Garfield's side, took her tenderly in her arms and whispered in her ear a word of consolation and tender counsel, and the grief-stricken widow turned and slowly left the death chamber. At the door of her room she turned, and quietly summoning self-control gave Private Secretary Brown directions to act in her stead in the sad duties attendant on the President's death. After midnight Mrs. Garfield went to the President's bedside and remained there alone for some time, members of the Cabinet and their wives remaining below in the parlors. As day at length came forth, she sank unconscious at the threshold and had to be carried to her room. She is in a critical condition, and the effect of the long sustained strain on her strength is a matter of deep solicitude. The corpse on Ocean Avenue 15 minutes after the news came down to West End was pronounced. A thousand cabs and fags dashed in a crowding throng up to broad main and a death. Caskets and occupants of the vehicles cried the news as they passed. From all points pedestrians went running and shouting toward Elberon. It was necessary to double the pickets and add 100 to police.

The following persons were present when the President breathed his last: Drs. Bliss and Agnew, Mrs. Garfield and her daughter Nellie, Col. Rockwell, O. C. Rockwell, Gen. Swain, Dr. Boynton, Private secretary J. Stanley Brown, Mrs. and Miss Rockwell, Executive Secretary Warren Young, H. L. Atchison, John Ricker, S. Lancaster, and Daniel Spriggs, attendants, the last named a colored man.

GUTTALE, THE ASSASSIN.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—At the fall everything is exceedingly quiet and orderly. No one has been seen in that vicinity except anxious journalists, who, hearing the numerous threats, have kept close watch of the building. Various rumors of lynching have been in circulation since the President was shot, but they have amounted to nothing. It was thought that Guttafe would be taken to Long Branch immediately after the death of Lincoln, for appearance before the coroner's inquest, but this was unnecessary. Col. Cockkill says the laws of the district are ample and cover the case. Guttafe has been informed of the death of Gen. Garfield and the knowledge has only added to his fears. He begged the warden to protect him, which the latter promised to do.

THE DEAD PRESIDENT.

LOAN BRANCH, Sept. 20.—Beneficial the undertaker, describing the dead president's appearance, said his face has a lifelike appearance. There is no look of pain on it. He looked as if he had fallen quietly asleep. If he suffered extreme pain his suffering must have been short. His form is greatly wasted, but it is not a skeleton by any means. The president would be dressed in the same suit of clothes he wore on delivery of his inauguration address, with the exception of a pair of silk stockings knit for him by his mother and lately received. The coffin is six feet three inches long, covered with black cloth with silver mouldings. The handles and thumb-screws are solid silver. The inside is upholstered with white satin. The coffin plate is of silver and this inscription written by Attorney General MacVeigh, is as follows: "James Abram Garfield, born Nov. 19, 1831, died president of the United States Sept. 19, 1881."

THE CATAFALQUE AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 21.—To-night men began work on the catafalque in which Garfield's remains will be in state here. It will occupy James Abram Garfield Park and will be imposing in architecture and dimensions. A platform will be first erected five feet six inches above the level of the ground, approached by a gentle incline from the east and west.

and gone in a body in Franklin cottage. All are here except Blaine and Lincoln. Attorney General McVeagh has telegraphed them of the president's death. Great excitement prevails, and the cabinet has not obtained. The around the cottage has been doubled and none is allowed to approach it. The government has taken possession of the only telephone wire which is connected at Elberon. It will be almost impossible to obtain further details to-night, as we are shut out from all communication with the cottage and its inmates.

PROGNOSTICS

LONG BRANCH, Sept. 10.—The president was unconscious when he died. An immediate cause of his death was embolism of the heart. The members of the cabinet arrived at Elberon at 10:30 and were taken by McVeagh to the cottage. They could not get into the cottage. McVeagh has ordered the police force has been increased to 200 men.

THE FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT

ARTHUR E. CHASE, Editor.

Queen Victoria cabled this morning to the British minister to have a floral tribute prepared and presented in her name. It has just been received at the capitol and placed at the head of the bier of the president. It is very large, and is an exquisite specimen of the florist's art, composed of white roses, gladioli and stephanotis. It is accompanied by a mourning card bearing the following inscription:
QUEEN VICTORIA,
To the memory of the late President Garfield.

As an expression of her sorrow and sympathy with Mrs. Garfield and the American nation.
September 22, 1881.

During this afternoon there were signs that the body of President Garfield had commenced to decompose, and it being understood that in such an event it was the wish of Mrs. Garfield that the features of her husband should be free from public gaze, the lid of the coffin was closed by order of Secretary Blaine at 6:30 this evening.

Proclamation by the Governor.
Gov. Pillsbury Tuesday issued the following proclamation:
STATE OF MINNESOTA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT: The death of the president of the United States bows the nation in profound grief. The heroic and Christian fortitude with which he endured prolonged suffering and sought to live for his country's sake, he touched all hearts and attuned all voices in national sympathy. In this solemn bereavement it is meet that a common feeling of sympathy and sorrow should find a common expression, and accordingly recommend that at 3 o'clock on Friday next, the 24th inst., the hour named for religious observance in the capitol at Washington—the several religious denominations throughout the State of Minnesota assemble in their respective places of worship and conduct such services as may seem to them suited to the solemn occasion.

And I further recommend that on Monday next, the 26th inst., the day appointed for final funeral ceremonies, the people of Minnesota, with one accord, close their places of business and leave their farms and workshops to unite in tributes of reverent and tender respect to the illustrious dead. I suggest that, commencing at 2 o'clock p. m. on Monday, the hour designated for the funeral at Cleveland, O., the bells of churches, factories and public buildings throughout the State be tolled for one hour, and that wherever means are at hand for the purpose, minute guns be fired at sundown in accordance with military usage. As citizens, statesmen, soldiers, men and patriot the lamented dead leaves a priceless example to his countrymen; let us profit by it in his heroic death, no less than in his noble life, he will prove to have worthily served his country.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of State, this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1881.
S. S. PILLSBURY,
By the Governor: F. VON BAUMBRACH, Secretary of State.

Trouble Saved.
It is remarkable fact that Thomas Doehring, U. S. ex-convict, who was an external use. For diseases of the lungs and throat, and for rheumatism, neuralgia, crick in the back, wounds, and sores, it is the best known remedy, and much trouble is saved by having it always on hand.

Dr. Howe was called to attend a serious case, this week, some fifteen miles south of Brainerd, a young son of L. W. Ford having the serious misfortune to have one of his legs broken in two places below the knee.

On Thursday evening, a man named La Schell, of Atkin, got on a big drunk, and tore around in a somewhat inebriated manner, smashing noses and other ordinary articles, until he finally landed in the cooler.

Mrs. Ed. White left here last Wednesday for Atlanta, Ill., to celebrate with the family the 60th anniversary of the wedding of her father and mother, with the expectation of meeting her brothers and sisters from nearly every state in the Union.

Last Monday evening a complete corps of new performers were engaged at the Academy of Music, and gave a good entertainment to a crowded house. John and Stella Cooper, John and Daisy Donaldson, with the popular comedian Chas. R. Pomroy, make all that a commendable show.

Mitchell, of the Duluth Tribune is certainly making a bigger ass of himself every day of his life. It is all very well for him to advocate the doctrines he does, but when he comes down to denouncing and abusing the ministers, and other respectable citizens of the town simply through spirit of pure cussedness, it is time the Duluth office was taken to task for such conduct.

Judge Stearns, of this judicial district, who is presiding at the term of court now in session in this place, is a gentleman of culture and ability, and no one who has business here can say that he does not get a fair show and an impartial trial, without regard to fear or favor of any one. The Judge's present term of office expires this fall, but we predict his re-election by a unanimous vote of the district, and we believe there will be no war again; but, no, should there be for or against, whoever it might be, need with a humiliating defeat.

If the morning decisions on the part of the Tribune office were made today, it would be made warm for the reader who was guilty of this observation, should be found out, and the Tribune is almost sure it knows his name already. It was a damnably dastardly deed, and a person guilty of such an act is nothing more than an obnoxious attempt at humanity.

Mrs. Annie A. Smithson, of Ashburn, N. Y. writes: 'I had doctored for years and tried various advertised remedies for my complaint, which was general prostration. I believe I suffered every ill that flesh is heir to. The least exertion caused the greatest fatigue. I was tormented with dyspepsia and every irregularity. My blood seemed poisoned; pimples and sores were all over my body, and I could never give me more than mere temporary relief, and I felt myself growing worse and worse. Mr. Reynolds, the druggist, advised me to use Brown's Iron Bitters. From the day I began to improve now I do not feel like the same woman.'

REPUBLICAN MASS CONVENTION. Gilman Delegates Chosen though Uninstructed.

Pursuant to a resolution of the Republican county committee the mass convention of the Republicans of Crow Wing county met in Bly's Hall, Saturday evening, September 17th, 1891. The meeting was called to order by W. W. Hartley, chairman of the committee, who read the call, which was in substance relative to the selection of two delegates to attend the state convention at St. Paul, September 28th, the object of the convention being to put in nomination a Republican state ticket. A consideration of the call was then taken by the chairman, and the meeting instructed to at once proceed to a permanent organization. Upon motion of C. B. Sleeper, Geo. R. Perley was chosen chairman, and Arthur E. Chase, secretary. Mr. Perley, upon taking the chair called for nominations. Mr. McAdams announced the names of Mr. W. W. Hartley and C. B. Sleeper. No further nominations being made, upon motion, these two gentlemen were unanimously chosen as delegates to the state convention. Mr. Hartley, in his own words, expressed his ideas for the future of the county, and declared his intention to labor as he felt just for the best evident interests of his constituents, and the party in general. Mr. Sleeper followed with a few remarks pertinent to the occasion. Nothing relative to the course of the delegation was brought before the meeting, although the two delegates are known to be staunch Gilman men, and will undoubtedly put in their best efforts to aid in the nomination of Charles A. Gilman for Governor. No further business being called for consideration, upon motion the meeting adjourned.

ARTHUR E. CHASE, Sec'y.

Thinkers will Read and Read This. When one sees the advertisement and reads the physician widely endorse and recommend a medicine, knowing from the ingredients used it must have an excellent general effect on the human system, and is a true and reliable remedy for every organ of the life, and recognized as Nature's best assistant in curing dyspepsia, indigestion, general debility, nervous prostration, want of vitality, convalescence, fever, chronic catarrhs and fever, stomachic, female diseases, broken-down constitutions, ill health, weakness, debility, inoperative action of the organs of life and health, etc., all of which make life miserable, then indeed should the newspaper press of the country call the attention of suffering humanity to so meritorious a compound. We refer to Brown's Iron Bitters, a remedy having the largest sale in the east of any medicine ever invented, simply because it has true merit and gives permanent relief. - Herald.

The Coming Entertainment. I have secured the 'Swedish Lady Quartet' and Miss Emilie Gavin for one entertainment here for the purpose of seeing if there cannot be enough enthusiasm gotten up in our town to enable us to secure a course of lectures and entertainments for the coming winter. This troupe is of a very high order, as is evidenced by the unbounded praise which it has received from all the large cities of the east. It is not expected that any profit can be made for anybody from the entertainment, as they are judged from the fact that the troupe charges $150 per night. If however, anything is made it will be used for the benefit of the Congregational Church. My object will be gained in having this entertainment, if it pays expense and creates in the minds of the people a desire for a course of lectures and entertainments in preference to the ordinary class that visit our town. - R. A. BEARD.

Two Souls with but a Single Thought. Another one of the light Cupid's innocent little ciphers came to light last Sunday, which was a very pleasant affair indeed. As Mrs. Grindley's party by the Rev. Dr. Hawley, Mr. R. G. Sparks was suited in wedlock with Miss Minnie Taylor. One by one the young men of the town are dropping out of the net of bacchus, and it is getting somewhat lonesome for our poor mortals, who are compelled to sew on our own shirt buttons, mend our own suspenders, etc., etc. But patience! the grand old time will come, and we've got a mammoth heap of salt brine in stock. To Mr. and Mrs. Sparks, the Tribune extends its heartiest congratulations, and wishes them bon voyage down the swift stream of life.

Rub it In. Jacob Loekman, 274, Clinton street, Duluth, P. M., says he has been suffering from Thrombosis of the Arteries. He had such a lame back that he could do nothing; but one bottle entirely cured him.

with Criminal Classes. ADDED STRIKES, RECEIPTS. Pursuant to adjournment, court convened on Tuesday. The first matter coming before the court was the bringing in of indictments by the grand jury against Frank Sullivan, C. A. Gilford, Geo. Davis, and E. A. Robertson, for the crime of larceny, the particulars of which have been given heretofore. Attorney C. D. O'Brien, of St. Paul, appeared for Robertson, and moved a continuance until next term of court, which was granted, and bail fixed in the sum of $600, with two good securities, to be approved by the county attorney. The other three indicted did not appear. State of Minnesota vs. James Ryan; burglary. The following jury was impaneled on this case: I. T. Dean, S. V. J. Bunce, Eugene Campbell, J. P. Jackson, C. B. Cloison, J. Beckman, F. G. Sunberg, M. C. Child, A. G. Lagerquist, Antoine Charette, E. F. Mahan, Verdis, do not appear. Grand jury brought in an indictment against Ole Erickson for assault with intent to commit a rape, and also indicted Sarah Clark for keeping a house of ill-fame. Court then adjourned until the 31st.

State of Minnesota vs. Sarah Clark. A bench warrant was issued for her arrest, and she was accordingly brought into court.

State of Minnesota vs. Samson McGaw; murder. No attorney appearing for McGaw, the court appointed C. B. Sleeper to defend the prosecution. The following jury was impaneled: R. G. Sparks, D. D. Smith, F. G. Sunberg, E. W. Kaley, Walter Davis, C. H. Netterberg, A. G. Lagerquist, M. Haggberg, N. D. Dean, S. V. H. Sherwood, J. F. Jackson, C. M. Child.

Defendant Erickson was brought into court, arraigned, and pleaded not guilty. Defendant Sarah Clark was also arraigned, and entered a similar plea.

State of Minnesota vs. Ole Erickson. The following comprised the jury in this case: C. Metcalf, Adam Brown, Jos. Beckman, Eugene Campbell, Amos Lowe, C. F. Heath, W. E. Martin, E. E. Cloison, E. F. Mahan, F. E. Lowe, A. E. Chase, I. U. White.

State of Minnesota vs. Samson McGaw. The jury brought in the following verdict in this case: 'We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty of murder in the first degree, but guilty of manslaughter in the second degree. S. V. J. Bunce, Foreman.'

Thursday evening the jury in the case of State against Erickson, were recalled by the judge, after having been out eleven hours, and were found to stand six to six, with an expression that the evidence was considered insufficient to warrant a verdict.

Court adjourned until the 28th, when the case of the State of Minnesota vs. Geo. Harris and Henry Taylor was brought on for trial. The defendants on being arraigned demanded a separate trial. County attorney G. W. Holland, C. D. O'Brien and attorney General, Hahn appeared for the prosecution, and W. W. Brown and attorney H. J. Hillingshield for the defense. The following jury was impaneled: I. T. Dean, A. G. Lagerquist, E. W. Kaley, C. H. Netterberg, F. G. Sunberg, D. D. Smith, E. J. Bunce, W. E. Robertson, Altmeyer, Johnson, Thos. Bacon, J. H. Koop, W. A. Smith.

The jury in this case returned a verdict of guilty as charged - of murder in the first degree.

Bishop Whipple, to Dr. J. P. Hawley. FAIRMOUNT, Aug. 29, 1891. DEAR BROTHER: The sad news from Washington seems to foretell the speedy death of the President. In the event of such bereavement, you will use this service on the day following, or as soon thereafter as may be.

Praising God to overrule this great sorrow for our good and His glory. Your friend and brother, H. B. W. WARREN, Bishop of Minnesota.

President Arthur—His Movements and Intentions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—President Arthur, Gen. Grant and the cabinet went to the house of Senator Jones after leaving the capital. The cabinet officers remained but for a few minutes, and retired. The president, Gen. Grant and Col. Fred Grant died with Senator Jones, and soon after the president retired, being thoroughly worn out with the excitement and fatigue of so many restless days and anxious nights recently. Col. Grant went to the train to return to New York, and Gen. Grant drove to the west end to call upon his friend Gen. Beale. To-morrow night Gen. Grant will probably return to New York. The president will probably remain at the house of Senator Jones for some days; how long has not been determined. He has had no meeting with the cabinet and nothing has, as yet, been done with reference to the removal of the new administration, nor will there be for many days. It is understood that the cabinet officers have told the president informally that they would send in their resignations soon. There is a good deal of discussion as to whether or not the president will call a special session of congress or convene the senate in special session. It may be stated authoritatively that the president himself has not yet decided upon any course with reference to this matter. It is understood, however, that it is not improbable that the senate will be convened, since it is considered somewhat urgent that a president of that body be elected to establish the succession now broken should accident befall President Arthur. It would require not less than fifteen days, however, to secure the presence of the full senate. It may be, therefore, that the senate will be convened for October 1, or thereabouts. There is much discussion as to the course of the Democrats which this plan be adopted. It is believed by many that they will not take advantage of a temporary majority to elect a president who might thus become president of the United States owing to the dispensation of providence over the dispensation of Rhode Island senator, and on account of the further circumstances that the two senators from New York have not yet taken the oath of office. These indications, however, of an inclination to do just that thing, and the course pursued last spring upon the retirement of three members of the body to take place in the cabinet and the demise of the senator from Wisconsin, does not give encouragement to expect a display of much liberality at this time.

A Historic Hearse.

St. Louis, Sept. 21.—Mayor Ewing sent the following telegram to Mayor Herrick, of Cleveland, this morning: "The hearse that was used at Springfield on the occasion of the burial of President Lincoln, is in this city, in good order, and is tendered by this owner, Mr. Jesse Arnold, for use at Cleveland, on Monday next, if desired. Answer."

The hearse is a massive, handsome vehicle, the body being of black, gold and silver, the sides of glass with gold figures buried into its surface and silver columns dividing it. The rests for the plumes are designed in gold and silver torches. The owner, Mr. Arnold, had the hearse built by command of Rodgers, of Philadelphia, in 1860, at a cost of $4,000. On the occasion of President Lincoln's death, Mr. Arnold tendered the use of the hearse through Mayor Thomas to the mayor of Springfield. He also offered six horses and his own services for the occasion. The tender was accepted, and it is believed the mayor of Cleveland will accept the present offer.

The Voice of Europe.

London, Sept. 20.—The Standard says: "It is no exaggeration to say the sorrow experienced here flows very close in amount and profundity upon that endured by the people of America. We are sure that Americans will be not only touched, but in some degree comforted, by the queen's delectable messages. The sentiments expressed by the queen and glorified by the Prince of Wales, are the sentiments of the entire English people. We claim to stand side by side with our brothers on the other side of the Atlantic on this sad occasion, to feel all they feel, to suppress all they would rather suppress, and understand and share every emotion through which they are passing. A common gloom has descended upon the two communities by the lamentable occurrence which is felt to be the sad property of both. Even in this moment of consternation and anguish there are many whose thoughts will turn to the worthless criminal who has been awaiting in confinement the result of his deathly stroke. None can doubt what must shortly be his doom. It seems a satire on the organization of things that the death of a man like Garfield and the life of a creature like Guiteau should be mentioned in the same breath. The president will long linger in the memory as a worthy citizen who deserved a better destiny.
