CITY GOVERNMENT, YES.

Which Inscription the Tickets Should Adorn Next Tuesday.

Let Us Cast off the Insuperable Habituations of Non-Organization, and Rise Phoenix-Like from the Ashes of Our former Self.

Voters of Brainerd, Show the World at Large that this Lack Desired and much needed reformation is made Through your Unanimous Expression at the Polls.

CONTRAST.

As will be seen in another column of this issue a call has been issued for a special election to be held on Tuesday, December 6th, 1881, at which time the voters of Brainerd will have an opportunity to show by their votes whether they prefer to jog along in the old rut without any form of municipal organization, and with streets, alleys and by-ways filled with rubbish and rotten refuse matter, breeding disease and pestilence, or a respectable standing in comparison with our many enterprising neighbors, who are continually flinging into our teeth the biting insinuation that we can not even boast of the title of a city. Every person residing within the limits of the proposed city of Brainerd knows full well that there is not a point on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad, possessing the rights and powers of ordination, but whose general appearance is more pleasing, by way of contrast, to the casual observer, than Brainerd. But our brilliant prospects and rapid growth have attracted many, whose gift of foresight indicate plainly the prospects—aye, the certainty—of a city of a mean dimensions which is rapidly looming up before us. Think of it! Over four hundred dwellings, all neat, model and substantial structures, have been erected within a space of eight or nine months. Several fine large brick business blocks, and numerous fine ones, now grace the different streets of the town. The population of Brainerd is now ranging between 4,000 and 5,000 souls, and bids fair to more than double this within the next twelve months. But no civil government other than merely the state laws. No local rights! No municipal authority! Everybody permitted to empty their stables, hog-pens, or anything they choose into the middle of the streets, and nobody to complain. A few wooden sidewalks, with a third of the planks gone or broken, and no prospects of anything better under the old way. No crossings fit for a lady to pass from one side of the street to another, and all such minor matters, as well as a great many more which might be mentioned. Shall these things continue? Is there a citizen within the limits of this town, who will dispute the assertion that the value of his property will be greatly enhanced as one result of incorporation? If such a mortal should exist, his mental faculties must be of a very obtuse construction. This question is made in all good faith, and we trust none will be offended, or misconstrue our motives in so expressing our views through the medium of "a newspaper." Does any being whose organs of understanding are located far enough up in his anatomy as not to conflict with his appetite, for a moment dispute that the immense amount of debris lying about the streets and sidewalks, should all be cleared away, and that the heaps of pine boxes, which ornament the walks in many places are no particular ornament to the town. There are almost an innumerable number of small matters like these, not taking into consideration subjects of greater moral interest, which would doubtless be provided for by acts of a board of aldermen.

The territory proposed to be incorporated is fractional township forty-five (45), range thirty-one (31), and the west half of sections eighteen (18), nineteen (19) and thirty (30), of township forty-five (45), range thirty (30), and as mentioned in Mr. Hartley's communication of last week to be divided into three wards, viz: First ward all south of the railroad track and west of Broadway; second ward, all north of 10th street; third ward, all east of first and second wards. It shall be optional with the board of aldermen, to change the wards as they may deem necessary and consistent.

The police force will be an essential element which would come into vogue under the "reconstruction." It would have a tendency, if properly conducted, and efficient men were placed on the force, to tone down a certain class of refractory individuals, who frequent this place at various seasons of the year to replenish their finances through various illegitimate means. It is a known and indubitable fact that at nearly all periods of the year these western towns are frequented by professional tricksters and confidence men from cities outside, who, as their sole occupation, despite their fellow town, feeding the human vultures of the fruits of labor, garnered by many well-meaning, yet work-minded and easily persuaded human beings. Several rather questionable affairs, which have transpired during the past few months, which have been surreptitiously hushed up for unknown reasons, and which has lost her dues in many cases, through a lack of sufficient instrumentality or power to act. It can not be doubted that the weight of reason on the positive side of this question will overbalance that on the negative. As to taxes, which some are groaning about, is indeed singular if a little heavier taxation to improve property, thereby doubling, in some instances, is not much more profitable in the end, than to permit matters to run in their present groove, and allow ourselves to be classed as a sort of nonentity in the eyes of the world, when it could just as well, and better, be otherwise. Let every thinking man ponder well this subject, and then consider which way he should cast his ballot. Vote right.

A Change.

This week the undersigned becomes sole proprietor of the Tribune, Mr. A. W. Frater having retired from the business to engage in other occupations. Though left to bear our editorial responsibilities alone, we shall endeavor to "how to the line, let the chips fall where they will." It shall be the aim of this journal, as in the past, to present each week an epitome of the current events of the preceding seven days. We shall expect our subscribers to be more prompt in the future, in settling subscription arrears, as such leniency in this matter can not be tolerated longer. It is as much the duty of the subscriber to pay up his dues as for the printer to publish his paper each week and it is to be hoped this part of the programme in future will be more promptly lived up to. We shall publish just as good a paper as the public will support. Please remember this. With many thanks to those who have aided us in the past, and fond hopes for the future, to the public I remain

Your Obedient Servant,
A. E. CHASE.

Mr. Scoville's mail is said to contain many curiosities. A correspondent says he receives the odd lot of letters that were ever received by mortal man. Some of them contain sensible and valuable suggestions, but the majority are from cranks of the crankiest description.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

SENATOR JONES OF NEVADA is reported to have given much attention to the subject of finance.

Being a man of affairs and a practical observer he ought to have been able to study the subject to advantage. His present views he declares to be the result of the latter and better judgment of his mature years.

He is not an industrialist and does not believe in the fiat fully that wealth can be created by mere legislative devices.

It is, therefore, astonishing that he should declare a belief that the retention and use of gold and silver as mediums of exchange are relics of barbarism and are but evidences of the small progress yet made in political economy.

He believes that these so-called precious metals should be confined in use to the arts. For a currency and medium of exchange he proposes an inexpensive and convenient paper bearing the stamp and approval of government and gauged and regulated in quantity by the extent of population and the amount of production and the needs of commerce.

Contrary as these views are to the accepted opinions of the world and the teachings of the economists, there is nothing in the nature of things to render them false or absurd.

The delicate and perhaps impossible work of regulating by some arbitrary calculation the amount of money required and which must be furnished by legislation would be the first obstacle.

The danger of the abuse of power over so vital a matter cannot be overestimated. The whole advantage to result from it if Senator Jones' theory were practicable is not difficult of estimation.

And would not be nearly so great as to justify so sweeping a change as it completes. It would be necessarily limited by the value of that amount of the labor expended in mining and producing that portion of the gold and silver which is not used or needed in the arts and which is money.

DOTS.

Annie Louise Cary is going to marry one of the Lorillard's. Oh, dear!

A man out in Montana sneezed with such violence that he broke one of his ribs. His nose was stronger than his back.

The papers have much to say just now about Mr. Blaine's future. But his friend Col. Ingersoll doesn't believe he has any.

Jack Post was recently hanged at Dallas, Texas. He is now a genuine Post mortem.

Good news, good news! Joseffy has lost the manuscript of a new opera and can't find it anywhere. His notes have gone to protest.

Maysville, Kentucky, has three daily papers, and the other inhabitants will issue his, just as soon as he can get type and press from Cincinnati.

Cashier Baldwin, of Newark, was a classical cuss. He had a Greek motto, "tu escapae me min." And he did scoop 'em in, you just bet your arteries.

Edwin Arnold's "Light of Asia" has been translated into Dutch. This, we think, will probably render it more intelligible to English readers.

The cable informs us that the Greek army in Thessaly has been reduced to a peace footing. Ah! We suppose the other man has gone back to his farm there.

Paul Morphy; one of his hallucinations is a horror of the game of chess. This makes us regard him with a love and respect we never felt for him before.

A Greenwich man has a cat that eats nothing but oysters. The paper does not say whether the cat drinks nothing but beer, but the probability is that is the probability.

It is vulgar to receive wedding presents. This information is confided to you by an old married man, one of the marriedest kind, whose last daughter was married off a week ago.

"I have left St. Louis," said the young man to his uncle, an honest man who handles wheat in Chicago. "Well," replied the old man, "that's about the best thing you could do with it."

The Northern Pacific railroad reached Miles City, Montana, at 2 o'clock last Tuesday.

MILLE ALICE GREY, daughter of President Grey, was married a few days since, to Mr. Daniel Wilson, deputy and assistant secretary of finance; so says a Paris letter of recent date.

The soldiers ought to withdraw their support from every paper that is now joining in the bondholders' cry of "too much money is now being paid out for pensions." Let them unite in the support of the paper that stands by them for justice.—Washington World.

The Argus, of Fargo, contained a glowing account of the opening of the Grand Pacific Hotel, in its weekly issue, of last Thursday.

About the middle of October, Lieutenant Berry, while searching for the Arctic steamer Jeannette, discovered what was at first supposed to be the United States navy. However, on closer inspection it turned out to be a large three-masted schooner, in the whaling profession.

The reports of Guttaeus's trial excite the utmost astonishment among English lawyers that such continued violations of decency are permitted in court; nor do Englishmen understand how the criminal's enabled to communicate with the public through the newspapers.

The proprietor of the London Times is a firm friend of America, and advises English emigrants to come to the United States in preference to Canada.

Two other day an Indiana woman an horse-whipper her divorced husband. He felt as good as though he had got married again, and wanted to know wherein it profiteth a man to get a divorce, if this sort of a thing was to be kept up!

"If I tried to quit drinking, and failed," said the tall customer with the cardinal nose, "I'd try and ryo again and again." And the barkeeper smiled and passed it out to him as usual.

INDIANAPOLIS has just adopted a cow ordinance. We have thought for some years that city was becoming to densely populated for a cow pasture.

The Bishop of Manchester says "a man is not saved simply because he shouts, 'Gloria Hallelujah.'" Why, no, of course not. He shouts "Gloria hallelujah" because he is saved.
