By One Majority. The conveying board of this legislative district met at Little Falls on Monday to complete the work of choosing the voters for the legislative and senatorial candidates. On account of an error in the footings the returns from Todd county were sent back for corrections and the board adjourned until Wednesday. On that day the board met and certificates of election were issued to all the democratic candidates. E. H. Pries included, who knocked R. C. Dunn out by one majority, according to figuring of the board. Mr. Dunn will contest the seat in the courts and not in court.

In the Indian outbreak due to the McKinley bill! Democrat will have a new paper to be published by C. C. Knappan. In these United States there are 62,625,000 people according to Supt. Porter's report. The private bank of Bill & Eyster, at Duluth, has failed, owing $718,000, with assets placed at $100,000. The grand showman, P. T. Barnum, whose name is endorsed to every boy in the country, is dangerous ill and will probably not recover. The representative of the Fifth district, Kittie Halstrom, was elected to Washington in January and familiarizes himself with things about the National capital.

Commencing estimates of the wealth of Mr. Weyerhaeuser, the head of the Weyerhaeuser lumbering firm, place it at six to seven million dollars. It has been made out of pine land and sawdust. Twenty years ago he wasn't worth a dollar. An exchange has discovered that during the recent campaign, the candidate of a neighboring state sent out wagons loaded with flowers. The wagons were loaded with flowers and called upon and the flowers were for sale. An ordinary tin paul worth 25 cents would be shown, with a reputation and as a natural consequence the price would be inquired. The answer always was "thirty-five" and desired kind was taken and desired kind was taken and desired kind was taken.

Met Railroad Trust. The lumberman says: The woodmen in use upon the tracks of the United States lumber district. The average life of a wooden tie in this country is six and a half years. Every year, therefore, calls for 80,000,000 ties. One-third of this product of this country is regularly absorbed by the railroads. And the railroads fill the best part of the lumberman's business. A million acres of good forest is stripped to supply this single demand. This government has only about 700,000 acres of public forest land remaining. It is therefore very clear that the question of substituting metal for wood in railroad ties is rapidly developing interest, and their use is already quite extensive throughout principally in foreign countries. In general opinion, the forestry division of the agricultural department has learned that metal ties are now in satisfactory use on 200 miles of railroad. Europe has one-third of the total metal tie mileage. Asia, Africa and South America have the remainder. There is only one metal tie on a track on metal ties in the United States. But in the countries where the metal tie for wood has been tried it is pronounced satisfactory.

Did Whitman Sacrifice the Fifth? The politician of the Fifth district seems to relish the result of the late election less than those in any other section of the state. Kittie Halstrom, congresswoman from Hon. S. G. Constock and Hon. A. J. Whitman, was the last thing that the politician of the Fifth district wanted. The republicans feared that he might not vote the Fifth district enough to elect Whitman.
