ARTISTIC WOMEN.

They Are Fans of Chevalier Sewing-Machine—How to Improve Your Sewing.

Probably at no time in the world's history has so much attention been paid to the interior decoration of a room as at present. No home, no matter how humble, is without the sewing-machine and the attendant accessories. The taste of the decorative people has been placed on the line, and almost every day brings forth something new in the way of a pattern, a draping, a piece of furniture or some form of mural decoration.

One of the latest of these has been given to the world by the celebrated artist, M. J. C. de la Roche, in a series of four handsome porcelain plaques. These are now being marketed in this line by the American Sewing-Machine Co., and are being sold by the American Sewing-Machine Co. in New York and in all the principal cities of the United States.

The artist's idea is to give to the interior of a room a certain amount of art, and to make the sewing-machine a part of the decoration. The artist's idea is to give to the interior of a room a certain amount of art, and to make the sewing-machine a part of the decoration.

Conscience started in surprise; he was not accustomed to such plain speaking.

"Madame is severe," he replied, with a sarcastic smile. "She does not approve of the morals of my nation? No! Yet perhaps; they compare not unfavorably with those of plous Roumanie."

"I have gone to her grave and stayed by it, and tried to think they are right, but I cannot—I am come away as I did tonight and look at Anna Water, and feel it more my life."

his friend," she answered, proudly. "Yes, his friend; and his friend I will not bear him learned. Good-night."

"She walked quickly away, but in a moment she was again beside her. "Marjorie, will you not listen to me?"

"No, I will not," returned the girl angrily. "Whatever you have to say against Monsieur Casseidore you shall not say to me. He was right; you are all against him, and you are the worst of all. Do you think it is just of me to abuse a man simply because he is a stranger and unknown? What has Monsieur Casseidore ever done to you that you should dislike him so much?"

"The young man started, but he flushed cheeks and angry eyes; then he exclaimed: "Answer me now! Tell me it is not possible, that you care for your mother?"

"She flushed crimson and turned away. "I care for anyone," she answered, evasively, "who is alone and who is in need of help. Monsieur Casseidore has been very kind to me—and I am sure he is."

"I fancy you are right, child; perhaps your mother lives?"

"Ah, you think that?"

"Here, she is perhaps watching over you, though she cannot speak. She may reveal herself some day."

"You never saw my mother?" repeated Marjorie, her face brightening with joy.

"It is very probable, my child. You are not of the family, Marjorie. When I first saw you I knew that you were not; but you are so like a foreign girl, but our destinies seem to be the same. You are so like a foreign girl, but our destinies seem to be the same. You are so like a foreign girl, but our destinies seem to be the same."

Improvements in Printing Machines. Investors are plenty who can make a fortune out of the printing press, but none have succeeded in making an enterprise that will give it through the many currents of air. In this respect, the French inventor, M. J. C. de la Roche, is a safe guide by curing stomach, liver and blood diseases, giving a good appetite and strong constitution.

A WOMAN'S HEROISM. From the Metropolitan, New York, N. Y. During the civil war nearly as much heroism was shown by the women of our nation as by the brave soldiers. Many a woman, swerving for her dead son, bore the burden of his suffering, courage, plucking the sword from his hand, and holding it aloft, even while he lay on the ground, for the sake of the world.

On the Battlefield. The woman's heroism was shown in many ways. Some women, who were old and feeble, went to the front to nurse the wounded. Some women, who were young and beautiful, went to the front to comfort the dying.

One of the most noble members of the Corps at Brevort, N. J., Mrs. James Howard, was one of the women who showed heroism. She was a young woman, and she was very beautiful. She went to the front to nurse the wounded.

Another woman who showed heroism was Mrs. William Pinkham. She was a young woman, and she was very beautiful. She went to the front to nurse the wounded.

There were many other women who showed heroism. They were all brave and noble. They were all women who were true to their duty.

Four household cares may be heavy and disruptive elements may be deep, but they cannot make you look old.

One thing does it and never fails.

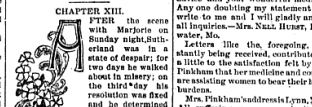

It is impossible to look young with the help of seventy years in your hair.

Ager's Hair Vigor

MRS. PINKHAM'S ADVICE.

What Mrs. Nell Harot has to Say About It.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I wrote to you I had not been well for five years, but I had done all the time but got no better. I had vomited blood, and I had been very ill. My weight went back, and I was very weak. I was in such misery I could scarcely walk across the floor. My situation was irregular and too poor to go to a doctor.

After taking five bottles of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I feel like a new woman. I have gained weight, and I feel like a new woman. I have gained weight, and I feel like a new woman.

I feel very much better. I have gained weight, and I feel like a new woman. I have gained weight, and I feel like a new woman.
