FRIDAY, JANUARY 4, 1901.

Oregon college gets New Year's gift of $50,000 from Dr. Pearson's of Chicago.

The attorney general has decided that the sugar beet bounty law is unconstitutional.

The St. Paul Dispatch says "A. F. Ferris today admitted to be Clapp."

Tr Milan and Alger with their entry and malice had passed with the century it would have been a relief.

The government ended during the year over 137 million dollars, of which about forty million were silver, or over three million dollars a month.

Leon Roberts has been made an Earl. In the meantime the pacified Boers in South Africa are making his pacification claims look like thirty cents.

This consumers of kerosene are still making gifts to various educational institutions through Mr. Bookholfer, although the latter claims all the credit.

The government surplus for December was nearly seven million dollars, and the public debt was reduced about two million dollars. A healthy surplus and debt reduction awaits January.

Senator Quay, an ex-Congressman, succeeded in organizing the left-handed of that state, and he will probably be re-elected senator. It would have been a good thing for the country and the republican party if Quay could have expired with the passing of the century.

Cheyak has withdrawn his offer of $25,000 for the capture of the man who kidnapped his son, and the city council of Omaha has made the same offer. The villains threaten to shoot his son if he did not do so. What ever cost, and summary deal with.

The passing of the old century was not marked by an unusual commotion in nature, but was quiet and peaceful as the usual light of time. Will the present century witness the progress and advance only in civilization of the past? It does not seem possible, but then only you can tell.

Zula says: "I firmly believe that the outrageous amount of human beings wanting in food, clothes, and shelter will disappear early in the twentieth century." It will certainly not disappear until the human character is changed so that there will be no laziness, selfishness, dissipation or cruel and selfish greed, for these are the cause of the condition, and will exist probably until the end of time.

Inastius Donnelly, the most successful of our politicians, died of heart disease in St. Paul on Tuesday. Mr. Donnelly has been a republican, democrat and populist in turn, but he has been a power in whatever cause he espoused because of his brilliant mentality and rhetorical powers. He was also famous in the literary world. His greatest work, the one which brought him the most fame, was the "Cyprioteans," which he sought to establish himself as the author of the great Shakespearean production. Recently he has edited the "Representative" of the mid-road populist publication of Minnesota. This death removes a most unique personality from Minnesota public life.

Constitutional legislation or badly treated, leads to total disability dead. Rocky Mountain Tin absolutely cures consumption in all its forms. E. C. McAden Drug Co., C.

THE BRITISH KRUPP.

Reminiscence of Lord Armstrong. Newcastle, the center of the coal and iron industries of northeast England, has had no more famous or more brilliant men in the nineteenth century than the great inventor whose will is being honored 50 years ago.

What Krupp and Essen are to Germany, what Canon and the Crossed works are to France, or Cramp, Besse and Carnegie to the United States Armstrong and the Elswick Engineering yards have long been to England. While Elswick is the industrial center of Lord Armstrong, his home at Newcastle, a Northumberland estate of several thousand acres, was no less characteristic of the man.

FROM OUR COUNTY CORRESPONDENTS.

Mr. Doan has treated himself to a fine pair of light boots. Mr. Sam Baehle has gone into the plow for Mr. Doan.

Wonder what kind of a musical instrument it was that Will Andrews got off the Christmas tree. It was awful heavy.

H. G. Butterfield is from Indianapolis, Indiana. Alliquoting friends may learn further particulars by a personal inquiry.

The little social dance at Mr. E. A. Andrews, on the night of Dec. 25th, was a joyful occasion for the young folks.

The boys that wiped the pies and other good things at Eagle Lake ranch need be on the lookout, or they may get paid back in their own coin.

The social dance at Eagle Lake ranch on the evening of Dec. 22nd, was one of fun and frolic from beginning to end.

Justice of the Peace Atwater was seen with a forked stick (horley) after his election.

The Emly quartette may not be a thing of beauty, but it is a joy to hear 'em sing, especially when they have the diamond setting.

The storm king has at last arrived and presented us with a mantle of the beautiful, but is filling it rather with the official mantle.

The Mill triplets were presented with three nice looking Christmas boxes, but they took good care not to expose the contents.

Goosy had the pleasure of dropping in on the Emly organization on the 22nd of Dec.

The dance at Fort Ripley new year's night. The dance at J. B. Gardner's new year's eve was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hutchins had a New Year's dinner party to relatives, there being four generations present.

Mr. Miller will load the last car of lumber Friday. Mrs. Katrine would like if any of the scribes could tell her where she could get an old poem entitled, "The Song of the Shit."

DEERWOOD.

C. H. Adams is harvesting his crop which is now about eighteen inches thick. Mr. Robert Archibald entertained a party of her select friends on Friday evening of last week.

Mr. P. K. Wetzel is engaged to teach the Deerwood school the coming term which commences in February. Miss Clara Howe, who was visiting her parents during the holidays, returned to Duluth on Saturday morning.
