EDITORIAL-PERSONAL-O. JONES, ESQ. It is with a feeling of unusual pleasure that we notice the connection with this excellent State paper, the Lake City Leader.

Mr. Oliver Jones, late of Winona, Minn., and himself have more than common reasons, to feel warm and brotherly one to the other, because we have long been together, "and know how it is."

We first labored together as compositors on the St. Paul Pioneer, many days, and there formed an acquaintance that ripened into a fast and lasting friendship.

We next fell in together at Winona, where we again labored shoulder to shoulder for nine months—he as book-keeper and we as "local" on the Daily Democrat.

Separation came again, and again we met in the mechanical department of the Winona Herald, with which, No. 1 man, W. J. Whipple, four months later, Jones and myself emigrated to the Southern States together, in quest of homes and moderate fortunes.

We traversed a number of States in the "Sunny South," and labored together in an honest endeavor to do and gain as honest men should, but occasionally our mind's eye would wander back to the far Northwest that after all we were wont to call home.

Two years sufficed, and we mutually "acknowledged the cry"—we had left a better country and nobler people than we found—Jones returned to Winona, and six months later we also on our way to the "land of lakes," and on the 26th of November returned through our travels at Brainerd, a sicker, though wiser, happier man.

Mr. Jones resumed his old place in the Herald office where he remained until his recent connection with the Lake City Leader, and now we wish him the fullest measure of mortal's good fortune as one of three proprietors of that noble paper; for, after our acquaintance with him in all our associations as recited above, we can cheerfully recommend him to every body as a true man, of unquestionable honesty, a first class printer and excellent citizen.

The glorious old "Fourth" for the year 1872, is close at hand, and now, what shall be the sons of Revolutionary sires sojourning at Brainerd, do to commemorate that eventful day? While the blaze of civil war raged the country, during the late discrepancy between the States, the Fourth of July was rather lost sight of, and for a time it seemed to be "sinking, sinking, slowly sinking, from those dreams so pure and holy," in the hearts of Americans.

We, for one, were sorely pained because of this fact, but now we have to rejoice again to see that its memory is revived all over the country, and that it has almost resumed its old importance in the hearts of America's noble patriots.

The papers from every quarter are laden with the programmes for a magnificent reception of the Fourth. And now, by St. Paul, let the work go bravely on in this quarter! Let us not lag in the rear, but let all do their respective parts (other things being equal) by knowing that the isothermal lines of Ohio pass through Japan.

Turning, then, to the lines of equal production, we find the "isothermal" lines that, proceeding from the point where the 40th degree northern latitude touches the Atlantic coast, the isothermal line tending north reaches Lake Superior, and the road which, above Chicago, crosses the Mississippi above the 45th degree, goes north of the upper Missouri; and crossing the boundary of the United States, ascends to the 50th degree, and is the "isothermal" line of New York, and it passes still higher.

We find, then, in point of fact, that the climate of the region from the Upper Missouri to the Saskatchewan is substantially that of New York, and that it is exactly the climate which in Europe is deemed best for grain growing.

Y. F. KEATING. At his Fish, Fruit and Vegetable stand next door to Bishop and Martin's, Front Street, is wide awake to the wants of our citizens in this line of trade, and has all things good in his line of goods.

Let us labor to be the first to make the patriotic flame in the new Northwest! Let the powerful engine of the Northern Pacific, that their whistles and blow their bells in honor of the first old Fourth of July celebration on their noble line!

Let us celebrate, raise, orate, declaim, and in any other way, if need be, to do honor to that glorious day—the Fourth of July!

MR. R. BLY'S REMOVAL. On Monday and Tuesday last a force of men were engaged in removing the goods of Mr. R. Bly from the old store of Fletcher, Bly & Co., down near the river.

It is interesting, readers of this journal, to see that the goods of Mr. Bly have been removed to our town, and such goods as were in the proprietor's hands, were removed to our town, and such goods as were in the proprietor's hands, were removed to our town.

The fact of this mildness of climate is abundantly established. Nowhere between the Lakes and the Pacific is the climate colder than in Minnesota; and this great State is not surpassed as a grain growing region, or in the healthfulness of atmosphere.

The seasons of Dakota are similar to those of Iowa, and from Dakota westward the climate steadily modifies, until in Oregon and Washington Territory, there is almost no winter at all aside from a rainy season, as in California.

In many portions of Dakota, Montana, and Northern Idaho, cattle and horses range out all winter and keep in excellent condition on the nutritious grasses of the plains and valleys. Records kept by Government officers at the various military stations on the upper waters of the Missouri, show that the annual temperature for a series of years has been warmer in Northern Montana than at Chicago or Albany.

THE PACIFIC DIVISION. The Kalama Beacon, in speaking of the progress of the west end of the N. P. R. R., says: "On last Tuesday, the bark Corea came into port at Kalama with a cargo of Railroad iron for the Northern Pacific Road."

Res. Eng. Hale is moving rapidly with his ballasting train to put the road "ship shape" before the freight. As the river is five feet below its average stage, this is a very favorable for railroad work along the bank, but the flood is rarely coming within two weeks.

There are rumors of a visit here by the company which will be in the country weeks; but no tidings of such a movement is received at Headquarters as yet, although it is believed they intend to put in an appearance some time during the summer.

The Northern Pacific route is very near the southern boundary of the vast productive region which we speak of, and therefore the theory of a too high climate was not in any great degree applicable to it. But we shall here trace the climate line of cereal production in reference to this great region generally, believing the great question to be in any great degree applicable to it.

The assertion may appear at first unwarranted, but it is demonstrable that an area of inferior size to the whole of the United States in size to the whole of the United States is in the 98th meridian, and above the 43rd parallel, which is perfectly adapted to the fullest occupation by cultivated nations.

THE METROPOLITAN SUPPER. The supper given by Mr. Greene, on the occasion of the opening ball of his new Metropolitan Hotel on Friday evening of last week, was pronounced one of the "very best" ever given in Brainerd.

It consisted of substantial with delicacies, all served in the finest style, everything well seasoned, rich and palatable, and creditable alike to himself and Mr. Greene and to the Metropolitan.

CLIMATE OF THE COUNTRY RELATIVE TO THE N. P. R. R.

The belt of country tributary to the Northern Pacific Road is within the parallel of latitude which in Europe, Asia, and America, embraces the most intelligent, creative, conquering and progressive populations.

It is within the climatic conditions illustrated on the maps by the "isothermal lines" of the isothermal lines of mean temperature which mark on the Pacific coast in latitude 47 North; the mildness of the climate of Chesapeake Bay on the Atlantic side in latitude 38; and which give to the region of the railroad between the Great Lakes and the Pacific a milder atmosphere than is to be found anywhere else at the same distance north of the equator, except upon the western coast of Europe.

The summer months of small lines of 70 degrees, which in Europe passes through Southern France, Lombardy, and the west growing region of Southern Russia, strikes the Atlantic coast of the United States at the east end of Long Island, and passing through Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Northern Ohio and Indiana, diverges north-westerly, and runs up along the British Possessions to latitude 53, at least 360 miles north of the line of this road.

The fact of this mildness of climate is abundantly established. Nowhere between the Lakes and the Pacific is the climate colder than in Minnesota; and this great State is not surpassed as a grain growing region, or in the healthfulness of atmosphere.

1000 WORDS

The regular evening concert and light for which our citizens have been accustomed for a month or two past, came near a final termination this evening.

The organ had "seen his friends" quite often during Friday afternoon last, and was not in good order to train his eye. By accident to cut Brainerd, and Brainerd cut Brainerd.

It is determined to pay Brainerd for taking his liberty, and tied him to a pine tree to chastise him. Making sure that he was securely tied, and giving him a hot bath of five feet of chain and rope, he was then cut out of his chain by four boys and taken to the jail.

Brainerd howled and wined at the first two or three blows, but then began to show fight. He kicked and boxed, and was cut several times, but he must be sober to keep out of the way of the ragged hussies.

PURE WHITE LEAD, JUST RECEIVED AT H. H. DAVIES.

PERSONAL. GEN. SAUNDERS, late Chief Engineer of the Minnesota Division Northern Pacific Railroad, has been in Brainerd during a portion of the week and returned with a General Statement, since the close of his responsible duties to the great Northern Pacific, has been enjoying a sort of holiday or vacation, and will remain in our State probably several weeks, during the hot term, when he will return again to New York.

Our friend Mr. H. A. Hillis, will leave shortly for the purpose of spending two or three weeks at North Branch, down on the L. S. and M. Railroad, in contemplating his falling health. He proposes to reside in some pleasant way and a pleasant location, while his general health is restored. We sincerely trust that his sojourn there may be productive of good to his health and constitution, and that he may return full of physical vigor that will fully match his great mind and energy.

LIBRARY AND PRAYER BOOKS. MR. PITT COOK, of Philadelphia, younger brother of Jay Cook, has recently made a donation of a quantity of Sabbath school books to St. Paul's church of Brainerd; also twenty prayer books for worshippers at the church. Those intended for the library of the Sabbath school will be ready by tomorrow, so that those in attendance can avail themselves of the benefits accruing from the usefulness kindness and devotion of the liberal contributors to whom the congregation is indebted for this library nucleus. The pastor and congregation feel themselves much indebted to Mr. Cook, and indeed the whole community thank him.

GRAND OPENING BALL. There is to be given at Thursday evening next a grand ball and supper "blow out" at the splendid new Immigrant Reception House, belonging to the N. P. Railroad Co., on the opposite side of the river. Three hundred invitations have been sent out, and it is expected that a great number of persons of note will be here from abroad. Our friend T. B. Shanon, is one among the number who are superintending the preparations for this grand event. Music will be furnished by a string band from Duluth.

TRUDDEN'S POP. Has become the favorite beverage in this community, and deservedly so. Messrs. Trudden and Ayler, of Brainerd, are making the best quality of pop or Mineral water that is made in the State, we really believe. They are also receiving a quantity of pop from the west, and they are doing a thriving business, as they deserve to do.

H. A. HILLIS. In doing a thriving trade these days in almost every line of goods, Mr. Hillis is bound to supply the wants of his human family to the fullest extent of an enterprising trader. Ask for what you will, and he has it, and his prices will discount St. Paul retail prices and go the better. His variety of hats, is something to be envied, and a lot of a hat, to a barrel of pop, or a two inch gimlet.

DONATION. The ladies of the St. Paul's Episcopal congregation of Brainerd, have been busy for several days in collecting money to buy a carpet for the chancel of the church. Their labor of love was completed on Saturday last, and the carpet is now in place. On Saturday last, they also donated a quantity of money to the west, and they are doing a thriving business, as they deserve to do.

REARER, THE GROCER. Mr. R. B. Starcher has just received a quantity of choice goods, and is now offering them at a discount. He has a large quantity of choice goods, and is now offering them at a discount.

SENATOR WILSON'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 12, 1872. Hon. Theo. Tilton and others, President and Vice-Presidents of the National Republican Convention, Philadelphia:

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 10th instant, conveying to me the action of the National Convention in placing my name in nomination for the office of Vice-President, is before me. I need not give you the assurance of my grateful appreciation of the high honor conferred on me by this action of the fifth National Convention of the Republican party. Sixteen years ago, in the same city, was held the first meeting of men who amid the darkness and doubt of the hour of slaveholding ascendancy and aggression, had assembled in National Convention to confer with each other on the exigencies to which that fatal domination had brought the country. After all their conference the highest point of resolve they could reach, the most they dared recommend was the avowed purpose to prohibit the extension of slavery in the Territories. Last week the same party met by its representatives from thirty-seven States and ten Territories at the same great center of wealth, intelligence and power, to revise the past, take note of the present, and indicate its line of action for the future. As typical facts and head-lights of the nation's recent history, there sat on its platform, taking a prominent and honorable part in its proceedings, admitted on terms of perfect equality at the leading hotels of the city, not only colored representatives of the race which were ten years before in abject slavery, but one of the oldest and most prominent of the ones of the abolitionists, to whom was accorded, as to no other, the warmest demonstrations of popular regard and esteem—an oration not to him alone, but to the cause he had so ably and so many years represented, and to men and women living and dead, who had toiled on through long years of obloquy and self-sacrifice for the generous fruition of the hour. It hardly needs the brilliant summary of its platform to set forth its illustrious achievements. The very presence of those men was alone significant of the victories already achieved, the progress already made, and the great distance which the nation had traveled between the years 1856 and 1872. But grand as has been its record, the Republican party rests not on its past alone—it looks to the future and grapples with its problems of duty and danger. It proposes, as objects of its immediate accomplishment, complete liberty and exact equality for all; the enforcement of recent amendments to the national constitution; reform in the civil service; the national domain to be set apart for homes for the people; so as to secure remunerative wages to labor; extension of boundaries to all soldiers and sailors who have served in duty become disabled; continued and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary immigration, and guarding with zealous care the rights of adopted citizens; the abolition of the franking privilege and the reduction of the rates of postage; the reduction of the national debt and rates of interest, and the resumption of specie payments; encouragement of American commerce and ship building; suppression of violence and protection of the black box. It also placed on record the opinion and purpose of the party in favor of annexation; against all forms of reprobation, and endorsed the humane and peaceful policy of the administration in regard to Indians. But while clearly defining and distinctly announcing the policy of the Republican party on these questions of legislation and administration, the convention did not ignore the great social problems which are pressing their claims for solution and which demand the most careful study and wise consideration. Foremost stands the labor question: Concerning the relations of capital and labor, the Republican party accepts the duty of so shaping legislation as to secure full protection and the utmost fair play to the laborer; the creation of capital, the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great agents of civilization. To women, too, and her new demands it extends the hand of grateful recognition, and professes its most respectful inquiry. It recognizes her noble devotion to the country and freedom, welcomes her admission to wider fields of usefulness and commands her demands for additional rights to the calm and careful consideration of the nation. To games well which has already been secured, to work out faithfully and wisely what is now in hand, and to consider the questions which are looming up to view but a little way before us, the Republican party is to be what it was in the gloomy years of slavery, rebellion and reconstruction—a national conscience. It appeals therefore for support to the patriotic and liberty-loving—to the just and humane—to all who would educate, elevate and lighten the burdens of the sons and daughters of toil. With its great record and works still to be done, and under the great soldier whose renowned and whose successful administration for the last three years begot such popular confidence, that the Republican party may confidently, in the language of the Convention you represent, start on a "new march to victory." Having adopted thirty-six years ago the distinguishing doctrine of the Republican party of to-day—having, during the years of that period labored for their advancement; subordinated all other issues, setting and co-operating with political organizations with whose leading doctrines I often had neither sympathy nor belief—having labored incessantly for many years to form and build up the Republican party, and having during its existence taken an humble part in its grand work; I gratefully accept the nomination thus tendered, and shall endeavor, if it be ratified by the people, faithfully to perform the duties it imposes. Respectfully yours, HENRY WILSON.

INDIANS AT THE THEATRE.

Blue Horse Falls Desperately in Love with a Ballet Girl.

From the New York Herald, June 6.

The great treat came for the Sioux braves in the evening. They had been invited to see "Humpy Dumpty," at the Olympic Theater, and about 8 o'clock, Red Cloud, Red Dog, Little Wound, Blue Horse, Red Leaf, two of the interpreters, and Dr. Daniels, the agent, with his little boy, visited the theater. The braves were in full Indian costume, Red Dog having a red blanket and a chief's cap. They stalked into the theater cool as a cucumber, and took orchestra chairs without saying a word. Red Dog had a big tent fan that some lady admirer had given him in a dollar store, and he felt so happy that he took off his broadcloth coat—he had left his claw hammer at the hotel—and sat the performance out in his shirt sleeves. They were delighted with the pantomime. The wild Indian is a stolid being naturally; he does not believe in manifesting astonishment or surprise at anything, but the ballet was too much for his gravity. Before Blue Horse was half an hour in the theater he had fallen desperately in love with a shapely girl who performed as a corymbes in the ballet. This young lady saw the affection beaming visibly out of the eyes of Blue Horse, and it touched her heart so deeply that she jumped three times as high in every move as her salary permitted. Red Dog enjoyed the tricks very much, such as jumping through a clock, or when a mechanical arm hanging over a door smashed the stupid pantaloon on the head, the Sioux looked at each other with frantic delight. But Little Wound, who is a magnificent scrapper, could not for the life of his understand Fox as the clown. He had never before seen a man without any hair on his head, and his chafed face and smooth, chalked scalp puzzled his giant intellect. Here was a mean advantage to take of the infantile Sioux mind. A man without hair! Such a thing had never been known, even by the oldest medicine-man of the tribe. It was not fair—a man without hair—there was no objective point for a scalping-knife, and when Fox opened his mouth in his ghastly way a shudder of superstition horror ran through the many frames of Blue Horse, and a chill crept down his back. The statement in yesterday's Herald that the Sioux would visit "Humpy Dumpty," had crowded the theater to over-flowing, and the audience between each act rose en masse to gaze on the formidable band of heaven. The performance was neglected, but Ogilvie never manifested the slightest discomposure at the rudeness, although several Indians of the Tammany tribe, wearing diamond pins, stared them out of countenance. A terrible railroad accident took place near Faxon, Illinois, on Tuesday, in which four or five persons were killed and twenty four mangled.

It appears the boy was annoying him while he was fishing, and he fired. —Rochester shipped two car loads of cattle and 2,000 pounds of lard on Wednesday. —T. S. Kason of Byron, had his arm broken last week; and the wife of Mr. O. P. Whitcomb of Rochester sustained a similar injury. —Major Camp and S. W. Farham, of Minneapolis, with F. H. Clark, President of the Lake Superior and Mississippi Railroad, have purchased town lots at Thompson, Carlton county, and lands in the vicinity, to the amount of $75,000 cash. —On Saturday the jury engaged in the trial of Patrick Stack for the murder of Edward Elliot in July of last year, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, and made the penalty imprisonment for life. Motion was made for a new trial. —On Wednesday a vicious horse seized with his teeth the wrist of Wm. Richardson, of Winona, cutting through flesh and bones. He endeavored to crush his master under him, and there was a hard struggle for some time until help arrived. Mr. R.'s arm was dislocated both at the elbow and shoulder, and his wrist was so fearfully mangled as to require amputation. —Gen. and Mrs. Thomas Thumb, Commodore and Mrs. Nutt, and Miss Minnie Warren, having concluded a very successful engagement in London, are about to sail for New York. The English papers fix the General's fortune at $500,000. —Red Cloud and his party of Sioux Indians arrived at Omaha on Saturday. They are to be furnished each with a good horse before leaving. There are also there two chiefs of the Pawnees, who are reported to be gathering their warriors for a grand raid against the Sioux. —A child three years old, received into the Buffalo Orphan Asylum the other day, was found to be suffering from delirium tremens, his drunken mother having actually fed her offspring from the whisky bottle. —The census recently taken of the city of London shows its population to be three and a quarter million. This has never been exceeded even by Rome in its palmy days, and it is as good places that great metropolis in the position of the first city in the world. —The Northern Pacific Railroad bridge across the Red River at Moorhead is completed. The railroad hotel at Fargo is nearly finished. It will be connected with the passenger station. The railroad company are sinking a huge artesian well. They expect to bore from three hundred to five hundred feet for good water. —The War Department has taken the precaution to reinforce all forts on the Southern and Gulf coasts with the newest patterns and largest caliber of ordnance, while the Navy Department has accumulated large supplies of naval stores at all stations on the Southern and Gulf coasts, in accordance with the desire of the Government to be prepared for all emergencies.

THE TRIAL.

A special from Geneva says the English are ready for eight months adjournment, and the Americans are that if it is not granted they will withdraw from arbitration. This the Americans will not concede, although a shorter adjournment might be accepted. Very little was transacted before the board on Tuesday besides the announcement of Mr. Drake of the non-reception of instructions from his Government. There is some reason to believe that the main difficulty in arbitration has been found and a basis reached on which it is possible to continue the arbitration. The general view of the court is against postponement eight months. It believes that if the President of the United States was disposed to go further in regard to the supplementary article, he could convince the Senate in a few weeks, and if he will not do so in a few weeks, he will not in eight months. It is therefore regarded as unlikely that there will be any change in the American position. Members of the court are evidently giving the whole business most serious care, and dealing with the matter in a manner so that their action may not be the slightest degree embarrassing either party, it is believed it will be something in the nature of a compromise, but at present the tribunal merely listens to statements on both sides. —Henry Ward Beecher indorses Darwin, and remarks that he would just as lief spring from a monkey as from some men; he knows of—He wants to know where he is going to, and doesn't care where he came from. —(To lady household)—"Now Mary, you know I'm going to give a party to-morrow night, and I shall expect you to bestir yourself, and make yourself generally useful!" "Yes m'm; but I am sorry to say m'm I can't dance." —Chappaqua, famous as the place that holds Mr. Greeley's farm, is of revolutionary mention. Major Andro was there, bound for New York, on the morning of the day on which he was captured, and made inquiries as to the road he was traveling. —Early on Sunday morning an engine coming west on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis R. R., ran over two unknown men, 13 miles east of Strubenville, Ohio. The men were lying across the track in opposite directions, the head and feet of each resting on the rails. The wheels passed over both, cutting off heads and feet. On the body of one was found a revolver and pass book, with V. Loyd on it.

FOREIGN FAIR.

—Of our serene Vice-Presidents, but four have been re-elected—John Adams, George Clinton, D. D. Tompkins, and John C. Calhoun. Of our Presidents, Washington, Madison, Monroe, Jackson and Lincoln—seven in all—have been re-elected; and after November, Grant's election will make the number an even eight, so it should be. —On the 24th of this month the fair Mrs. Fair has a new trial. Her acquittal to be tried out of San Francisco was refused, and a call for two hundred jurors has been issued. There can be little doubt that this new trial will end more to her mind than the last one did, for after the long years between the crime and the present, it will be scarcely possible to bring in the same verdict. —MILT ASKEW'S BILLIARD HALL, Front Street, Brainerd, Minn. SUNDAY EMPLOYMENTS.

By law, every citizen has the privilege of not doing on Sunday what he is obliged to do on other days. The very practical question meets him...

We wish to suggest some things which can be done, to add interest to the Sunday of those who find its freedom dull. Take an hour Sunday morning and sit down alone...

Have you abused your neighbor, run down your competitor in other stores, slandered other politicians...

Have you cheated anybody in the last ten days? I have you deceived any employer or kept back the pay of any workman?

Are you not smoking too many cigars—running up debts which you don't know how to pay?

Take another hour on Sunday to do somebody some good for which you haven't the time on any other day.

THE ART OF MAKING BUTTER.

In response to numerous inquiries before the Farmers' Club in regard to making prime butter, Mr. Todd, at the last meeting, gave the following information:

BEST AFTER BATTLE
By Mrs. J. C. WALTERS.

The pale stars gleamed, as the night shades fell lower;
And the dark waters moaned as they laved the red shore;
The bugle rang clear on the summer night air,
And the battle's din ceased o'er the scene of despair.
Blackened with smoke, the grim cannon was stilled,
That had sent its dire work o'er the field;
Paler grew the stars, as the silver moon shone
Peaceful and calm down on the gloom.

Tired, worn and weary, gathered the bands of living warriors, begrimed and blood-stained;
The day of strife and slaughter had closed,
And the earth was their couch in their repose.

Rest after battle!—rest for the night!
Rest for many who shall ne'er see the light
Of another day dawn, or the cannon's loud roar,
Nor the reveille can awaken no more.

Oh flying and loving ones, saw ye the sad sight,
That weird-like lay gloaming in the moon-light?
Far lay heaped the wounded and slain,
And the moans of the dying came o'er the plain.

And white faces turned toward the dark sky,
As to heaven had gone forth the last cry;
And the panting steed by his dead rider lay,
With eyes growing dim as life ebbed away.
A soldier lay dying, slowly his lips moved,
In his last message to the wife whom he loved;
"Tell her I died bravely—thought of her—bless—"
But the faltering lips ceased, he had gone to his rest.

Rest after battle!—Life gliding from earth,
Wrapped in the dark robe of the angel of Death!

Mother, wife, sister—stricken, ye mourned
For loved ones who to thee never returned.
Let those who rule, their iron will show,
But o'er the pale loving cheeks there shall flow,
Tears from the fond and sad aching heart,
In language of grief words cannot impart.

FROM ITASCA TO MEXICO.
On Monday evening last we received a call from Mr. Chambers, the young New York Journalist who passed up a week or so ago for Lake Itasca, from whence he was to follow the Mississippi River from its source to its mouth in his canoe, the Dolly Varden. He stopped over night here on Tuesday morning continued on his way down the boom of the Father of Waters. He is a young enthusiast, and assured us that in his six hundred miles float from Itasca to this place he had gathered materials for one of the grandest books ever written; but we doubt it, much!
