The German dealers are attempting to work a corner on sugar and have succeeded in making borrowers pay 10% more for to-day's delivery.

The memorial services at St. John's Lutheran Church, in New York City, on the 24th, by Rev. A dispatch from Memphis, on the southern decoration day, says "Business is suspended to-day for the memorial services at Elmwood. Since eight o'clock the streets have been crowded with people. The procession now forming is the largest ever seen here, except, perhaps, at the funeral services of Gen. Lee. The ex-Federal soldiers have almost to a man turned out, and in the ranks are seen tattered battle flags of both the Federal and Confederate armies.

At 10 o'clock the close of the war has been commemorated by the burning of the blue and gray flag presented here to-day."

A Washington dispatch says the Secretary of War has granted permission to the Southern Memorial Association, with their friends, to enter Arlington Cemetery the first of June for the purpose of decorating the graves of Confederate soldiers, with liberty to use the grand stand, where the exercises, including an address, take place.

Originally there had been interred at Arlington Cemetery Confederate soldiers, but 129 were removed to family burial grounds. The Confederate graves at the Girardwood and Congressional cemeteries will also be decorated the same day. The decoration of Union graves in the several cemeteries will take place the 29th of May.

A dispatch from Jefferson City, Mo., says "During a sermon delivered in the hall of the Arlington Memorial Association, by Rev. Mr. Prattman, he alluded to the desecration of the graves in several counties of the State, occasioned by grasshoppers. After the sermon and prayers were over, the congregation resolved to hold a mass meeting, with flowers in hand, in the clear, and resolutions were adopted setting forth that grasshoppers, chinch bugs, &c., were ruining the farming districts, and that Providence was sending a terrible warning to the State; that Commissioners be appointed by the Governor to look into the matter, and to report to the Legislature on the 1st of June next, and to request Gov. Hardin to issue another proclamation embodying in it the proceedings of this meeting."

Even Jeff. Davis may now be counted as re-elected. If the Left Centre adhere to its resolution there will be a strong majority against the Government and President Buffet will be obliged to form a coalition with the Legitimists and the Bonapartists minority.

Important Project.—Mr. James Douglas, General Manager and Superintendent of the Merchants' International Line of Red River steamers, passed through St. Paul Sunday for Moorhead, the headquarters of the company.

We understand that prominent capitalists have recently made a proposition to Mr. Douglas, which if accepted will have an important bearing on the transportation interests of the Red River valley. The proposition is that the Merchants' International Steamboat Company shall construct a boat adapted to navigation purposes on the Red River above Moorhead. It is stated that this river is navigable during the greater part of the year, and above Moorhead to within seven miles of Breckenridge, the terminus of the main line of the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad.

In case the Steamboat Company accept the proposition, a spur railroad track will be run from Breckenridge to the point where the proposed steamboat connection is to be made, and a direct rail connection to the St. Paul and Pacific with the Red River steamers, saving hundreds of miles.

Although the arrangements have not been fully completed, we understand that the negotiations have proceeded so far that there is but little doubt the plans contemplated in the proposition will be adopted, and that work will soon commence of extending the railroad track and building the boat, both to be completed in time for the Fall business. Should the project be carried out, it would prove of great benefit to merchants of this city, so largely engaged in the trade of Minnesota, the St. Paul & Pacific Railroad Company, and the general railroad connection of the State, as well as to the Red River Valley, as it will not only shorten the distance, but give both rail and steamboat competition, with close connections for freight and travel.

How a St. Paulite Chances Pickeral.—Mr. John McDermott, whose place of business is on Washburn street, adjoining the Opera House, had a narrow escape from drowning last week, while boating on Lake Johnson yesterday, in company with Mr. Patrick Powers, the proprietor of the Hotel at that beautiful watering place. It appears that the two gentlemen went out fishing, and through some unexplained cause fell in where the water was about twenty-five feet deep. There were a number of other parties on the lake at the time who witnessed the accident, and all immediately rowed to the scene of the disaster.

The drowning men had risen to the surface once and called for help, but their cries were answered at the spot. On their emergence a dozen willing hands seized their scalps and held on to them, pulling them to the surface. And here a novel scene displayed itself which went to prove the truth of the old adage, "Drowning men catch at straws." In this instance, the straws were no straws to grip at, but something more substantial. Mr. Powers had twined his arms lovingly around Mr. McDermott's neck, while one of that gentleman's arms encircled Mr. Powers' waist, and the other hand kept firm grip on a fine four pound pickerel which he clung to with all the force of a drowning man.

Mr. McDermott, who would not let go of the pickerel, and Mr. Powers, who would not let go of the neck, were both rescued, and the pickerel, which was a fine specimen of the species, was taken to the city limits of the city of St. Paul. Mr. Lockwood, an old gentleman who resides with his brother on a farm about one mile and a half from the city, was passing home when in a lone part of the road he was accosted by two men, one of whom, presenting a revolver at his head, said "old man, I want your money, shell out." Mr. Lockwood struck the pistol and knocked it out of the villain's hand, when the other ruffian drawing a knife struck him in the right leg, inflicting a long gash, and then knocking him down. He then put his hand in his pocket, and abstracting his pocket-book, containing about $300, made off with his companion, leaving their victim lying on the ground. Mr. Lockwood managed to make his way home after some time, and his brother came to the city and communicated the facts of the case and endeavor to obtain some clue which would lead to the arrest of the thieves, but up to the present without any success.

Attempted Murder and Suicide.—A horrible affair is reported to have occurred ten miles south of Lewis, in Cass county, Iowa. Daniel O'Connor, a wealthy farmer, on the 17th attempted to violate the person of his own daughter, 13 years old, but failed from physical impossibility. With a drawn knife he threatened the girl with instant death if she revealed the crime. She secretly went to a neighbor, a mile away, and told the facts. A warrant for his arrest was issued and officers set out, arriving at his house Tuesday morning. Soon after they entered the house the report of a pistol was heard in his bedroom. When the officers broke in the door he was lying on the floor shot through the left breast. He did not speak, and expired in twenty minutes. It is supposed he heard the voices of the officers, and shot himself to avoid arrest and exposure.

Last and True to the Remains of John C. Breckenridge.—The funeral of Gen. J. C. Breckenridge was observed Wednesday at Lexington, Ky. It was attended by an immense throng of people, anxious to pay the last sad honors to the memory of a great and good man. The officers of the State led by Gov. Letcher, were present in a body, as also Senators Stevenson and McCrory, and many other distinguished men. The funeral was conducted by the Knights Templar, of which order Gen. Breckenridge was an exemplary member. No such outpouring of people has been known since the death of Henry Clay.

There is little doubt that the subject of tree-planting has excited a general interest throughout almost every section of the State, and particularly in those regions where timber of all the lavish gifts of nature, is alone wanting. Now that the practicability of the heretofore untried problem of tree-planting upon the prairies has been fully demonstrated by the energy and enterprise of the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company, (Main Line) the people, not only along the line of that road, but throughout the State, are being stimulated to accomplish by individual exertion, what they are aware has been most successfully done by corporate enterprise. As a consequence, in every section, each and every land owner in the western regions, has gone into the business on his own hook. The general interest thus excited will certainly be productive of immense benefit to the State and in a comparatively brief period.

L. B. Hodges, the energetic Superintendent of the Treeping Department of the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, the gentleman who is in charge of the general system in this State, and has accomplished more than any other man in demonstrating its entire practicability—say him as to the amount of work done this spring and elicited the following facts: The farmers, notwithstanding the unusually cold spring, and other dispiriting circumstances, incident to the general depression of business, have taken hold of the matter in dead earnest, and in the regions along the main line have set out not less than 300,000 young trees this season. Last year they cuttings about a million, the parent of the man, but this spring many of them became "enthused" and set out at least 8,000 young trees each. A sort of a generous rivalry sprang up amongst them, and they vied with each other as to who should be declared to be the champion planter in the neighborhood. Hart Barton, son of Hon. A. A. Barton, of Northfield, Minn., Hodges says, to his knowledge, was the first to plant a tree, and he set out on Saturday, the first inst., 9,720 cuttings. And so with many others who, although planting a less number, were no less spirited and enthusiastic in their work.

The company, on Arbor day, planted 100,000 young cuttings, and during the season which closes on the 15th inst., not less than 500,000 trees were planted. Mr. Hodges further ventures the opinion that in twenty years the now treeless prairies of the State along the line of the St. Paul and Pacific Road will be the best timbered section of the State. Incredulous as this may now appear, the prediction is not at all improbable when we take into consideration the present condition of the prairies on the prairies on the subject, the remarkable success which has thus far attended all experiments, the surprising rapidity and vigor of growth of the young trees, and last but not least, the fact that the timbered section is being daily but surely depleted to supply the pressing demands from all parts of the State, and elsewhere. The matter under consideration, the conclusion of Mr. Hodges is far from probable.

Crop Prospects.—Hon. Pennock Pusey has arrived home in St. Paul, from several months absence, principally passed in Wilmington, Del., with occasional visits to Philadelphia and New York. Mr. Hodges says, to his knowledge, Pusey in this city and State will be glad to learn that he has passed a very pleasant winter and that he has been, and is now, in the enjoyment of most excellent health.

In a short conversation with a reporter Mr. Pusey gave a very discouraging report of the prospects of the State, as respects the present year. He said that Michigan appeared to have suffered the least of the States named, and Indiana next, though in these States he did not think there would be a half crop, while in the others he doubted if the crop would reach a third of the general average.

Reaching Chicago Mr. Pusey found that city greatly excited over the subject of grasshoppers, the advance guards of which had already reached the city limits, and were reported as committing great havoc with the grain fields of southern Illinois. He is of the opinion, however, the continuance of these pests, either in Illinois or at any point east of the Mississippi, will be of comparatively brief duration, from the fact that the birds will rapidly make way with a goodly proportion of them, and that the other great plagues of the southwest whence they came. Their appearance has, notwithstanding, created a decided panic in all that section, and much anxiety is felt as to the extent of damage likely to be sustained to the growing crops.

From these facts, in connection with the terrible destruction of growing crops by the grasshoppers in Missouri and Kansas, Mr. Pusey is of the opinion that the crop of grain will be very largely below that of last season, and that as a natural sequence, there must soon be a very decided advance in the price of wheat, and his advice to Minnesota farmers who have not yet sold their surplus of last year's crop, is to hold on, and await the advance in price which is now, he believes, only a question of a few weeks.

Sale of Short-Horses.—A number of short horns belonging to Avery & Murphy of Port Huron, Mich., were sold at Dexter Park, Chicago, on Friday. The notable sales were Peri 2d of Lyndale to S. W. Byron, of Irvington, Ill., $1,025; imported Michigan Dairy, to same, $1,000; imported Michigan Casket, to same, $1,735; Miss Wily 24th, $2,475, and Miss Talley 25th, $1,725, to Col. Simmes, of Paris, Ky.; Rose of Fairholt 4th, to Col. Robert Hillway, of Alton, Ill., $1,750; and a pair of short horns, to J. R. Barber, of Port Huron, $2,400.

of the party seemed to have been sunk in considerations which should alone accustom the hearts of men who aspire to be considered good citizens.

Now that the practicability of the heretofore untried problem of tree-planting upon the prairies has been fully demonstrated by the energy and enterprise of the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company, (Main Line) the people, not only along the line of that road, but throughout the State, are being stimulated to accomplish by individual exertion, what they are aware has been most successfully done by corporate enterprise. As a consequence, in every section, each and every land owner in the western regions, has gone into the business on his own hook. The general interest thus excited will certainly be productive of immense benefit to the State and in a comparatively brief period.

L. B. Hodges, the energetic Superintendent of the Treeping Department of the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, the gentleman who is in charge of the general system in this State, and has accomplished more than any other man in demonstrating its entire practicability—say him as to the amount of work done this spring and elicited the following facts: The farmers, notwithstanding the unusually cold spring, and other dispiriting circumstances, incident to the general depression of business, have taken hold of the matter in dead earnest, and in the regions along the main line have set out not less than 300,000 young trees this season. Last year they cuttings about a million, the parent of the man, but this spring many of them became "enthused" and set out at least 8,000 young trees each. A sort of a generous rivalry sprang up amongst them, and they vied with each other as to who should be declared to be the champion planter in the neighborhood. Hart Barton, son of Hon. A. A. Barton, of Northfield, Minn., Hodges says, to his knowledge, was the first to plant a tree, and he set out on Saturday, the first inst., 9,720 cuttings. And so with many others who, although planting a less number, were no less spirited and enthusiastic in their work.

The company, on Arbor day, planted 100,000 young cuttings, and during the season which closes on the 15th inst., not less than 500,000 trees were planted. Mr. Hodges further ventures the opinion that in twenty years the now treeless prairies of the State along the line of the St. Paul and Pacific Road will be the best timbered section of the State. Incredulous as this may now appear, the prediction is not at all improbable when we take into consideration the present condition of the prairies on the prairies on the subject, the remarkable success which has thus far attended all experiments, the surprising rapidity and vigor of growth of the young trees, and last but not least, the fact that the timbered section is being daily but surely depleted to supply the pressing demands from all parts of the State, and elsewhere. The matter under consideration, the conclusion of Mr. Hodges is far from probable.

Crop Prospects.—Hon. Pennock Pusey has arrived home in St. Paul, from several months absence, principally passed in Wilmington, Del., with occasional visits to Philadelphia and New York. Mr. Hodges says, to his knowledge, Pusey in this city and State will be glad to learn that he has passed a very pleasant winter and that he has been, and is now, in the enjoyment of most excellent health.

In a short conversation with a reporter Mr. Pusey gave a very discouraging report of the prospects of the State, as respects the present year. He said that Michigan appeared to have suffered the least of the States named, and Indiana next, though in these States he did not think there would be a half crop, while in the others he doubted if the crop would reach a third of the general average.

Reaching Chicago Mr. Pusey found that city greatly excited over the subject of grasshoppers, the advance guards of which had already reached the city limits, and were reported as committing great havoc with the grain fields of southern Illinois. He is of the opinion, however, the continuance of these pests, either in Illinois or at any point east of the Mississippi, will be of comparatively brief duration, from the fact that the birds will rapidly make way with a goodly proportion of them, and that the other great plagues of the southwest whence they came. Their appearance has, notwithstanding, created a decided panic in all that section, and much anxiety is felt as to the extent of damage likely to be sustained to the growing crops.

From these facts, in connection with the terrible destruction of growing crops by the grasshoppers in Missouri and Kansas, Mr. Pusey is of the opinion that the crop of grain will be very largely below that of last season, and that as a natural sequence, there must soon be a very decided advance in the price of wheat, and his advice to Minnesota farmers who have not yet sold their surplus of last year's crop, is to hold on, and await the advance in price which is now, he believes, only a question of a few weeks.

There is little doubt that the subject of tree-planting has excited a general interest throughout almost every section of the State, and particularly in those regions where timber of all the lavish gifts of nature, is alone wanting. WADENA AFFAIRS.

BRO. HARTLEY—Ought we to apologise for our "outwardness" last week? Perhaps you may have thought that the extreme heat for the past several days had caused your "Prairie Rose" to wilt; but nary a wilt in ours. You see our reasons for not putting in our usual appearance last week are two-fold: First, "surprise," second, we're "grangering."

Our "grangering" has been mostly on "laters." Please don't think we have been to any midnight games when dressed in cabbage leaves and an ear of corn in our ear, we were made to perambulate around to show music, and thus become a granger in due form—no, we refer entirely to operative grangerism.

As to news, we haven't any; all our good people are busy putting in their various crops, and things don't happen worth a cent.

Crops are looking very nice, and no prospects of "hoppers."

We will try and hunt some items for our next.

Until then, we are, yours, bloomingly, P. R.

CAS we not get up a party in Brainerd to go to St. Cloud on the Fourth of July, and have the best time of the season.

ST. PAUL. PERGUND HERSELF.—Day of judgment; it don't come like a thief in the night, but on a bright, summer day, bearing living death to five. Rapp, Kelley and Rose, three convicted murderers, sentenced to life imprisonment. Hillger, the child tamperer, also goes up for all his life. Lee, Dayton Bluff rapist, gets 30 years in penitentiary, which is as good as a "lifer." Good sentences as far as they go, but a little judicious hanging would have refreshed the community. Numerous minor sentences passed.

Charles Gilroy, for larceny, was sentenced to three months imprisonment in the County Jail.

Henry Brown, for larceny of horses and wagon, one year in the State Prison.

James Kennedy, ex-Constable of the Fifth Ward, six months imprisonment in the County Jail.

John Proctor, convicted of larceny in a dwelling house, was sentenced to three years in the State Prison at hard labor.

Andrew Johnson, for larceny from the person, six months in the County Jail.

Gustave Grotkinsky, larceny of property worth $107, one year at hard labor in the Penitentiary.

The County Attorney then moved that the cases against Sophia Rapp and Geo. Lautenschlager be continued, which motion was granted.

Other indictments found against Frederick Hillger and James Kennedy were continued until the next term of the court.

George Norton, convicted of larceny, and fined in a small amount, was allowed until Saturday to pay his fine.

Henry Balburne, convicted of larceny, will not be brought up for sentence until Saturday, until which period the court adjourned.—Dispatch.

We have distributed every year for three years over 250,000 sample bottles by Druggists in all parts of the United States. No other Manufacturer of Medicine ever gave their Preparations such a test as this. Go to your Druggist S. V. R. Sherwood, and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it—two doses will relieve you. Sample 10 cents each.

THE ST. CLOUD HOTEL ENTERPRISE.—J. E. West, of St. Cloud, has introduced a new class of shares in his Grand Hotel Enterprise and Fourth of July celebration, called Class No. 1. The prizes in the new class will be shares in the other four classes A, B, C, and D, which are more particularly described in his charts about town. Having about $10,000 worth of the original shares unsold, Mr. West has concluded—in order to insure the drawing and celebration as advertised—to give them away in this way: $5.00 invested in this new class will entitle you to a chance in the best and most decidedly liberal distribution ever offered, besides free admittance to all the entertainments of the day, and a good dinner. Those who attend will enjoy one of the most elaborate Fourth of July Celebrations ever given in this or any other State in the Union. The fireworks in the evening will excel anything ever gotten up before. Shares in any of the five classes for sale at this office. 1-w
