EDITORIAL NOTES.

Twenty-nine railroads have failed and been sold out during 1881.

W. G. VAN HORN has assumed the management of the Canada Pacific. Samuel Beckley has just died in Flint, Michigan, at the age of 109.

Rhineland boasts of more secret cities in the North American continent than any other city.

The Massachusetts legislature elect Bishop president of the senate, and Noyes speaker of the house.

Ms. Worcester of the Pioneer Press, gets his work in big on (F. H. Hall) calling him a "Yahoo" and a "wreck."

Southern falls into line as an independent state, and it is to be hoped that the back of Bourbonism in this section will soon be broken.

The present attempt to send a message to Congress is a renewal of the alarming prevalence of nepotism and the necessity for immediate legislation looking to its suppression.

An English criminal lawyer remarks that Mr. Garfield's death is being made the subject of a howling farce, and that Guinness is only one of the clowns.

A contract legislation is now shown to the lady hand leaders and is being allowed to make a session in Dublin with Miss Parnell in the chair without interference.

Ex-Senator Sawyer thinks that he has taken notice after all about the money in the cabinet.

He had about as much as he can get of the money in the cabinet.

The new State of Texas, is indignant at the interference published as having been taken by him.

His name is intertwined, and the publication is false from beginning to end.

It has taken the independent movements in Texas what is defeated by 75,000 majority.

Garret's change of base on the Fitz John Porter case is the leading sensation in Washington and the opinion seems to prevail among those who are not his worshippers that it is the result of a dicker with the democracy where by the ex-president is to be put upon the retired list.

The government is experiencing the greatest difficulty in getting efficient postal service from the railway companies, who will not run upon schedule time.

Fines have been imposed in several instances for this delinquency, and it seems that their severity will have to be increased in order to make the companies come to time.

The assistant United States district attorney, Mr. Taggart, is of the opinion that Gutless has a right to be present during the arguments, and he thinks that it would be hard to prevent him if he should attempt to address the jury, giving Cooley, the candidate, his authority. He adds that Gutless has the case as such a peculiar one that there are really no precedents.

The senate investigating committee engaged in investigating the treasury contingent fund have found that a sleigh and bells were bought by the previous administration, and charged up as a wagon.

They will try to learn where the sleigh and its thinking apparatus was, as it was not accounted for in the treasury department of business in the treasury department and was probably diverted to objects of pleasure.

The chase of the hushers after the Ashland menagers was an exciting affair. As stated yesterday, an attempt was made to put the prisoners on the Mountain Girl, but the mob being so near, they were thrust on board the ferry boat and the mob boarded the Mountain Girl and gave chase.
