Great Natural Advantages and Most Desirable Surroundings.

The Coming Minneapolis of the Red River Valley.

The Red River valley, next to the Mississippi, has the most wonderful fertility and unlimited advantages as a wheat country. It is especially remarkable for a number of its best sites and representative farms, which, according to the best authorities, are well adapted for the production of all the cereals, and other crops which are raised in the Red River valley. All the newspapers of this region speak of glowing descriptions of the fertility of the soil, and the abundance of the crops. The traveler is continually struck with the fact that the soil is so fertile, and the crops so abundant, that it is not surprising that the people of this region are so prosperous and contented with their lot. It is not surprising that the people of this region are so prosperous and contented with their lot. It is not surprising that the people of this region are so prosperous and contented with their lot.

ADAMS ADVANTAGES.
A Smart, Booming Town—County Seat of Marquette County, Minnesota.

Stopping at the town of Adams one might suppose that we were in a remote and unimportant part of the state. In fact, it is one of the most important and rapidly growing towns in the northwestern part of the state. It is situated on the main line of the St. Paul and Northern Pacific R.R., and is only a few miles from the city of Duluth. It is a beautiful town, with a fine harbor, and a large number of manufacturing establishments. It is a town of the future, and is destined to become one of the great cities of the northwestern part of the state.

Another Man Druggist.
Wednesday evening at half past nine a man stepped into the drug store of Mr. J. W. Adams and asked for a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The man was dressed in a suit of black cloth, and had a serious expression on his face. He said that he was a doctor, and was looking for a box of the pills for a patient. The druggist handed him the box, and the man left without saying a word. The druggist was puzzled by the man's behavior, and was unable to determine who he was or what his business was.

Denim of an Old Citizen.
Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock J. C. Adams, an old citizen of Adams, was found dead in his bed. He had been ill for some time, and his death was not unexpected. He was a man of great intelligence and energy, and had done much for his community. He was a member of the local church, and was highly respected by all who knew him. His death was a great loss to the community, and his funeral was held on Friday morning.

HOUSE AND FARM.

Remove Hairs and Blemishes. A pretty way to arrange Eastern curls is to brush them down with the same with comb, and hang the crown on a little side.

One of the children's favorites is to have one cup of molasses, half a pound of butter, and a pound of sugar, and mix well together. Then spread thinly in a cold water. Then spread in a pan, and bake in a little oven, and a delicious nut-butter will be the result.

From the Baltimore News. If you mean to let the girls learn how to do a thing, let them do it. It is a better plan than to let them watch you do it. The girl who has learned to do a thing is better off than the girl who has only watched you do it.

Mr. C. W. Reynolds, M. D. The raising of cabbage for cattle food is not a new thing. It is an old and well-known business. The cabbage is raised in the same way as for human consumption, and is sold to the farmer at a very low price.

What to do with the wool. The wool is the most valuable part of the sheep. It is the raw material of the woolen industry. The wool is cleaned, carded, and spun into yarn. The wool is also used for other purposes, such as for the manufacture of carpets and rugs.

Dr. W. P. Perkins. The health of the people is a matter of great importance. It is the foundation of all other success. The health of the people is maintained by a proper diet, a regular exercise, and a good sleep.

Chasing Old Dogs. It is a common mistake to think that old dogs are hard to train. In fact, old dogs are often easier to train than young ones. The old dog has a better understanding of its own limitations and is more willing to accept of its lot.

How to make a good gravy. A good gravy is the basis of many excellent dishes. It is made by sautéing some butter and flour together, then adding a stock or water, and simmering for a few minutes.

The richest man in England. The richest man in England is not the man who has the most money, but the man who has the most wisdom. The rich man is content with his lot, and the poor man is discontent with his lot.

Talk about snakes. Snakes are a common sight in many parts of the world. They are often feared, but they are not so dangerous as they are made out to be. Most snakes are harmless, and only a few are venomous.

At the appearance of the first symptoms of cholera, it is necessary to act quickly. The disease is very contagious and can be fatal. The first symptoms are usually vomiting and diarrhea, followed by a severe dehydration.

Arabic Paper About Three. The Arabic paper is a very strong and durable material. It is made from a special kind of paper and is used for many purposes, such as for the manufacture of books and documents.

Looking over Summer Clothing. The summer clothing is a very important part of the wardrobe. It is the clothing that is worn during the warm months of the year. It is important to choose the right clothing for the season.

Mr. W. P. Perkins. The health of the people is a matter of great importance. It is the foundation of all other success. The health of the people is maintained by a proper diet, a regular exercise, and a good sleep.

Kirk. The rationale is that it will transmit the idea to you. It is a very simple and effective way of communicating your ideas to others. It is a skill that is highly valued in the business world.

On the philosophy of the universe. The universe is a very mysterious and complex thing. It is full of wonder and beauty. The philosophy of the universe is a study that has fascinated people for centuries.

Five New Years Wishes. As the New Year approaches, it is a good time to make some resolutions. Here are five wishes that you might consider making for the coming year.

When a man has been married a few years, he will probably realize that his wife is the most important person in his life. It is a realization that comes with time and experience.

The health of the people. The health of the people is a matter of great importance. It is the foundation of all other success. The health of the people is maintained by a proper diet, a regular exercise, and a good sleep.

Dr. W. P. Perkins. The health of the people is a matter of great importance. It is the foundation of all other success. The health of the people is maintained by a proper diet, a regular exercise, and a good sleep.

Chasing Old Dogs. It is a common mistake to think that old dogs are hard to train. In fact, old dogs are often easier to train than young ones. The old dog has a better understanding of its own limitations and is more willing to accept of its lot.

Weather-or-not. It is a common saying that "the weather is the king of the day." It is a saying that has been used for centuries. It is a saying that is still true today.

What a man has been married a few years, he will probably realize that his wife is the most important person in his life. It is a realization that comes with time and experience.

Reports for the month of April of the department of agriculture show for winter wheat an increase of two per cent. in area.

Senator Blaine has written a letter to the chairman of the Shippers investigating committee asking to be heard as a witness.

On the observance at Springfield, Ill. of the anniversary of the death of President Lincoln, the large crowd of people were addressed by Governor Coulton.

The flood in the Red river has receded except at Winnipeg, Emerson and St. Vincent, and the thirty hundred men will be settling in the bottom within a week.

An auctioneer in Washington yesterday disposed of a large lot of goods taken from the "Vite House." A few articles from the days of Andrew Jackson brought good prices. A coat and a pair of shoes were purchased by a Baltimore merchant for forty dollars.

The officers of the law are said to attend lynch parties at Durango, Col., in the capacity of leaders in the assessments. They were among the invited guests in the party which lynched Three-fingered Jack and Grizzly Dan in the woods four miles north of that place. The town must be a quiet and orderly one.

At a point fifteen miles below Memphis the remains of Mrs. Cephi Kouns and two other victims of the Golden City horror have been recovered. The captain of the watch and the officers of the boat are held for prosecution on the charge of criminal carelessness in not causing the inflammable jute to be properly protected.

A subscription was started for the relief of Jesse James family, and two hundred dollars was promptly subscribed. When Jesse took up a collection things were different, and the bandit undoubtedly had money saved at the time of his death, the place of hiding of which he had never disclosed. Another Capt. Kidd ascension is spoken of.

A bill has been introduced in the senate at Albany, providing for the appointment by the governor of a commission of thirty residents of New York and Brooklyn to prepare a charter to unite the two cities in one municipality. And now Chicago cries out that it is only a scheme on the part of Brooklyn to escape the usurpation by Chicago of her claim to the third largest city in the Union.

In a letter embodying congratulations to John Russell Young upon his appointment as minister to China, Ren Butler deprecates the importance and delicacy of the duties before him. The general then argues that the United States is under an obligation to receive upon its soil any person whom it did not expressly invite; that no welcome has been extended to liberos brought here under contract or purchase, and that we have an undoubted right to exclude from our territory or from jurisdiction in its government any unauthorized person proving disaffected. He agrees with the president that the recent bill was unnecessarily harsh in its provisions, and advocates a law that all Chinese who come heretofore, by sea or land, shall be sent back.

In her bill of complaint, the wife of Lieutenant Governor of Colorado, asks an allowance of $50,000 per annum and absolute ownership of the Denver mansion, valued at $125,000. She declares that her husband has done nothing for her support for two years, and she has been compelled to keep boarders. She does not want a divorce. The governor's friends state that he gave her $100,000 in cash on the separation, and that her annual income is nearly $30,000. There is but one son, twenty-three years of age, who has gone to Europe. Mrs. Thorpe's attorney contends the governor's mansion, which contains considerable property at $475,000.

At Grand Forks, last Monday, the Red river steamer "Sokkik" was run up to and almost into Third street, at the corner of Klison avenue, and a partial deck had taken on from a pine plank resting in the street. This is a slight "wreck" which probably never happened there again. The high water in that "immense" steamer is said to wash away a few buildings at "Shanty town."

Taking the last congressional election as a basis for calculation but four of the twenty-one districts of Ohio just made by the legislature are certainly democratic. In the now Toledo district the republican majority was less than two hundred, and there is a fighting chance for the democrats to gain this, especially as it is more than probable that Frank Hand will be their nominee. Notwithstanding the careful work done by the majority, it is not improbable that the republicans will lose a few districts they hoped to save.

Congressman Bayne, of Pennsylvania, who has seen one of his constituents displaced to make room for a Cameron man, is mildly indignant. "I have no love for Cameron," he declares, "but I have a sort of admiration for the nerve the man displays in displacing the wishes of the people and manipulating the machine. It is that nerve which gives the senator his grasp, and it is the want of nerve among his opponents to oppose his commands that gives him invincible success in conquering the political arena of the state."

In the house of representatives Messrs. Taylor and Blackburn submitted reports on the expenses attending the death of President Garfield, the majority report providing for $53,000 for Dr. Bliss, $15,000 each for Drs. Agnew and Hamilton, $10,000 each for Drs. Rea, burn, Roy and Edson, and $3,000 for Steward Crump. Debate on the Utah contested election case lasted until four o'clock, when the previous question was ordered. An hour was accorded to George Q. Cannon, who charged that Governor Murray had defrauded him of his rights, and proceeded to defend the institution of polygamy. A resolution that neither Cannon nor Campbell is entitled to a seat was adopted without division.

A recent Grand Forks special states that ex-Judge E. St. Julien Cox is continuing his dissipated habits there, and that he has recently been ejected from the Munsard house for drunkenness. Judge Cox has now been in Grand Forks three weeks, and according to thorough-reliable information from well known prominent citizens there, has entirely obtained from drinking. He has associated himself with Messrs. Walsh, Mahor and Cox, and engaged in active practices, has been very successful during the recent term of court, and appearances indicate that the judge is appearing in his most endeavor to reform. For heaven's sake let the man reform if he can and will. There is yet the making of an able lawyer in E. St. Julien Cox.

THE RED RIVER FLOODS. The following extract giving the condition at the entering Young City of Grand Forks, aptly illustrates what high waters will do: "The Red river is rising, and although twenty feet below the level of the town, it rises about three feet every twenty-four hours. Two mills are shut down, and a brewery on the river bank is flooded. The town authorities are footing for three hundred families, those houses on the flats were inundated. The loss up to date will foot up ten thousand dollars. The 'rows' have been cut off from the outside world by wash out's, one between Gardner and Grandon on the Fargo line, and the other near Gladson on the main line. No mail has been received for our days, and the telegraph wires are down nearly the whole time. The water is within six feet of its highest mark last year. The ice is still solid and thick, but badly cracked. An ice jam is anticipated, in which case the damage will be great from the damaged water. The manufacturers of Stanley Iron on the river bank are moving on, and are temporarily stopped. The rigs are temporarily imported. The break-up may not occur for a week or two yet. A steady warm rain has commenced, which causes considerable apprehensions."
